VACANT LAND IS A DEAD ISSUE

While at various times since the war began ,real estate in Peterborough took a spurt which promised to be lasting, but had a relapse. The present movement, according to one who is in close touch with realty conditions, seems to be steadier.

He stated this morning that the movement was more general and on a larger scale than last year. The movement seems to be confined almost exclusively to improved property and vacant lands seem to be a dead issue in the movement.

Seventy Thousand Telegraph and Telephone Operators May Strike To-morrow.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, June 10.—Only eleventh hour concessions by operating companies can prevent the strike to-morrow of some 70 thousand telepgraph and telephone operators, S. J. Konenkamp, the International President of the Commercial Union of America, said to-day after the receipt of additional reports from locals in various sections of the country.

It is not expected that Canada will be directly affected by the expected strike of operators in the United States but serious inconvenience will no doubt be caused by interruption in international telegraphic transmission.

KINMEL RIOTS TRIAL CONCLUDED

Seventeen Acquitted Out of a Total of Fifty Prisoners.

LIVERPOOL, June 9.—The general court-martial arising out of the Kinmel Park riots concluded its sittings. It began hearings on April 16 and continued without intermission. Altogether thirty-eight cases, involving fifty prisoners, almost all of whom were charged with mutiny and many with other offences, were heard. The court acquitted seventeen prisoners, convicting the remaining cases ,although in six they did not convict of mutiny, but on minor charges. Higher authorities.

How American Women May Keep Faces Young

"The American smart woman ages early, far earlier than the English woman," says Christian Miller, F.C.I., the famous English expert. She adds that our climate "so exhilarates that you over exert yourself and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and withered looking and soon forms wrinkles.

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure mercolized wax, which causes the faded, lifeless cuticle to flake off in minute particles a little each day, until the fresh young skin beneath is wholly in evidence. Every druggist has this wax; one ounce usually is sufficient. Spread on at night like cold cream, washing in the next morning.

GOOD RULES FOR BUSINESS MEN.

Don't worry; don't overbuy; don't go security.

Keep a high vitality; keep insured; keep sober; keep cool.

Stick to chosen pursuits, but not to chosen methods.

Be content with small beginnings and developments.

Be wary of dealings of unsuccessful men.

Be cautious, but when a bargain is made stick to it.

Keep down expenses, but don't be stingy.

Make friends, but not favourites.

Make plans ahead, but don't make them in cast iron.

Don't tell what you are going to do until you have done it.—Exchange.

THE CHAMPION COW SOLD FOR $26,000

WOODSTOCK, June 10. — Rolo Mercena Dekol, the world's champion butter producing cow, has been sold for $26,000. The Holstein, which was owned by J. Beryl Hanmer, the youthful Oxford dairyman, was taken to the National Holstein Sale held in Philadelphia, together with her calf and three other animals from the farm of Mr. Hanmer. The champion was sold to a Kentucky man. Her four months' old calf was sold at the same time for $7,100.

At the same sale A. E. Hulet, of Norwich, sold a cow for $3,000 and her calf for $1,500.

Rolo Mercena Dekol made her world's record this Spring. Under Government supervision she gave 738.70 pounds of milk in seven days, or the equivalent of 37.93 pounds of butter. In the 30-day test she gave 2,925 pounds of milk, of the equivalent of 200.34 pounds of butter. It was expected that the champion cow would bring a much larger price, but possibly the fact that Mr. Hanmer is not very well known in the States as a breeder of high-class Holsteins had something to do with what is considered a small price for a world's champion.

Some people believe in nothing—or at least only in what they can understand, and it amounts to the same thing.

GRAIN MARKET

The general trend of the market is towards easier prices, though for the present there are no sensational developments in any way. The effect of the [illegible] report issued on the whole favorable, but it will soon be time to introduce the crop damaging insects of various hues, and it takes very little of that sort of talk to turn the market. Winnipeg oat market quotations, through Logan and Bryan's offices, show an easier tone to oats and barley. Local cash quotations unchanged.

SAD DROWNING AT HALIBURTON

LINDSAY, June 10.—A drowning accident occurred at Haliburton on Sunday morning at 1.45. A middle-aged woman named Miss Lydia Walling, in a demented state, left her home for a row on Head Lake.

Whilst on the lake a thunderstorm came on and she made for land. In the dark she mistook a large boom for land and climbed out.

Her brother, Ben Walling, missing her, went towards the lake and heard her crying. He went out after her, but was too late. The boat was recovered after daylight and the lake was dragged and the body recovered at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Reeve Curry and . Dean. Sixty men and twenty-five boats were engaged in the search for the body.

The deceased had been ill for some time, and it was the intention of her relatives to take her to a hospital on Monday.

She was a niece of Mrs. Adams, Cambridge Street, and was also a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Comeybeare of Lindsay.

WHOLESALERS SAY CLOTHING PRICES WILL NOT BE REDUCED

COST OF LIVING COMMISSIONER MAKES A STATEMENT WHICH MANUFACTURERS ALLEGE IS OVERDRAWN — SHORTER HOURS AND HIGHER WAGES GIVEN AS REASON.

The statement of Cost of Living Commissioner, in which he declares that staple clothing prices should decline in Canada, has aroused the wholesale clothiers of Toronto. Mr. J. C. Johnston, of Randall & Johnston, Limited, Wellington street, in an interview, said that he could not understand where the Cost of Living Commissioners had secured the information which he had tabled with the Minister of Labor and which affirms a glut in the market.

Mr. Johnston stated that his firm could not secure twenty-five per cent. of its requirements in the Canadian market, and consequently was forced to go to Britain, and the United States. He produced price lists of Canadian manufacturers, which showed that there had been an increase of fifteen cents and up, on a yard of cloth during the last few months, and also lists from firms in the Old Country, where the increase ranged from 11s 4d to 12s 5d and 15s 5d to 17s 5d between May 13 and the end of the same month.

These British firms gave as their reason for the increase, the shortening of working hours. They formerly had a sixty-six-hour week, which had been reduced to fifty-six and would be brought down to the forty-eight-hour basis shortly.

The business of his firm, Mr. Johnston said, had never been so good as at the present time. They had never received so many special orders. These facts, the shorter hours and the greater demand, he thought, went to disprove the assertion that there was a glut of the market, and that the middlemen were loaded with old stocks which they intended to hold for the former high prices.

Falling Off in Production.

Mr. Johnston believed that the shorter hours which had been granted the tailors and reduced the production of clothing by about ten per cent. Asked whether he considered a drop in the price imminent, he replied that he did not look for any change for a year, at least.

Concerning the American cloth manufacturers he stated that while he was forced to buy some of their goods they were not of the same excellent quality which was found in British goods.

The substance of the above was well borne out by statements made by Mr. A. M. Hobberlin, of the House of Hobberlin, Ltd. He said that his firm had received demands from the union of tailors for an increase of from 15 to 25 per cent. "The cost of material is rather rising than failing," he declared.

Hobberlin's, Limited, maintain an office in the Old Land, and the firm has been advised by this office to do its purchasing in the States, where the prices were lower.

Personally, Mr. Hobberlin said he would welcome a drop in the price of clothing.

Thos. Birrell, of the Punchard Birrell Company, stated that there had been a drop in the price of cloth immediately after the signing of the armistice; but there had been an increase since. No clothing is being made in Toronto for England, but clothing for Roumania is being manufactured here, the order for this having been obtained by the Canadian Trade Commission in England.

"I do not agree with the article, and I do not understand how it came to be sent out," said John Macdonald, of John Macdonald and Co. It appeared to him to be absolutely wrong. Houses his company had standing orders with had asked that the contracts be cancelled and to take delivery of goods several months later than was agreed upon, as the goods were not in stock, Mr. Macdonald did not see any reason for blaming the middleman.

Other manufacturers said that there had been no drop in prices in England, and they did not anticipate any in Canada.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts, 1,884 cattle, including 800 held over from Monday; 288 calves, 445 hogs, 96 sheep and lambs.

Trade was a little more active yesterday, and the 800 cattle held over from Monday, together with yesterday's receipts of 595 fresh cattle, were taken by the packers at practically Monday's prices, or 5 decline of from 50 cents to $1 from last week. A few odd lots were still held over for today's market.

Calves firm, extra choice selling up to $17 to $17.50.

There was but a light run of hogs, but packers' bid prices were 75 cents lower than last week's closing prices, or on the basis of $20.25 f.o.b. Most of the hogs were held over, and there was some uncertainty as to the ultimate settlement.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. THE PAPUAN OIL FIELDS

British and Australian Governments Arrange to Develop Them.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, — Great Britain and Australia will share in the benefit if oil in payable quantities is found in Papua, where initial developments have been most promising. Recognizing this community of interest, the Imperial Government and the Commonwealth have agreed to expedite the development of the Papuan oil fields on a mutual basis, each government contributing £50,000 for the testing of areas which are considered likely to hold oil. British experts who have been associated with the opening up of oil wells in other parts of the empire will be sent to Papua. — Christian Science Monitor.

GETTING INTO CIVIES.

If He Is Satisfied With Fair Quality He Can Buy Outfit for $70.

How much does it cost a soldier to become a civilian?

The average business man, thinking in a very business-like manner usually says with pursed lips and a calculating tilt to his head:

"Oh, about $50 ought to do it, if the soldier is careful!"

But by that he means that the soldier should go around and hunt "hand-me-downs" and buy the cheapest he can find.

Remembering that the returned soldier has been dressed to suit somebody else's taste for the past several years, and that his natural instinct on being discharged is to dress in such a way as to look as snappy as possible, the following tables make a rather alarming figure:

The list does not include such expensive sundries as cuff-buttons, handkerchiefs, collar pins, rubbers, braces, garters, and so on.

The list headed "Fair Quality" are the average cheapest article in which a man could look half decent. Ties, of course, can be bought for 19 cents on bargain days. The same with other items. The list headed "Best Quality" are the prices asked in many of the swankiest shops for the very latest thing in style, and there are many soldiers who are going right after that very thing in order to make a big impression and land a good job.

	Fair Quality.	Best Quality.
1 Hat	$ 4.50	$ 8.50
1 Overcoat	20.00	50.00
1 Suit	20.00	50.00
1 Boots	4.50	10.00
3 Shirts	4.50	10.50
6 Socks	3.00	12.00
1 doz. collars	2.50	3.50
3 Ties	1.00	6.00
3 Underwear	6.00	24.00
1 Gloves	1.00	2.00
1 Scarf	1.00	4.00
1 Umbrella	1.00	4.00
	$69.00	$185.50

And $69.00 and $185.50 make the war gratuity of from $100 to $400 look pretty starved.

OUR WAR FIGURES.

Canada Enlisted 384,823 Men, and Sent 460,000 Overseas.

Speakers can speak about Canada's war effort, and writers can write; but so much has been said and written that cold figures have, for a change, an invigorating quality. The following hard facts speak for themselves.

Canada enlisted 384,323 men. Four hundred thousand of them went overseas. 184,323 stayed at home.

Canada's total outlay for the war to the end of 1918 was $900,000,000.

The national debt before the war was $336,000,000.

It is now $1,200,000,000, or one billion, two hundred million dollars.

The Canadian army discharged, up to September 20 last, 70,560 officers and men, for reasons ranging from battle wounds to incompatability of temperament. Medically unfit, 1,957 officers and 38,500 other ranks were discharged.

Canada sent 4,953 of her soldiers to the British army as officers, 3,985 of whom enlisted in the ranks in Canada.

War loans in Canada have totalled $756,000,000, or $100 per head of population.

Canada has borrowed $307,000,000 in the United States.

Credits on behalf of the Imperial Government for $650,000,000 have been established by Canada.

But the savings in Canadian banks have increased since 1914 by $275,000,000.

Canada has given $40,000,000 to the Patriotic Fund, $18,000,000 to the Canadian Red Cross, $6,000,000 to the British Red Cross, $4,500,000 to the Y.M.C.A., $3,000,000 to the Belgian Relief Fund.

Canada produced 55 per cent. of the 18-pounder shrapnel shell used by the British army in the last six months in 1917; which, to anyone who was present at Hill 70 or Passchendaele, for instance, is saying something!

When Silence is Deadly.

Silence is commonly the slow poison used by those who mean to murder love. There is nothing violent about it. No shock is given. Hope is not abruptly strangled but merely dreams of evil and fights with gradually stilling shadows. When the last convulsions come they are not terrific. The frame has been weakened for dissolution. Love dies like natural decay. It seems the kindest way of doing a cruel thing.—George Meredith.

A Look Ahead.

Simon had just paid a long delayed bill at the grocer's, partly in response to many urgings and partly because he happened to have the requisite ready money. The grocer, an old friend in spite of his persistence in dunning, thanked him heartily.

"Good for you, Simon," he said graciously. "You deserve credit for paying up this way."

"I know it," replied Simon, "and I wish you'd give it to me sooner another time."—Youth's Companion.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Failing Hair and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Composee) and a little Menthol Crystals. These three, mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and 1-2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft clean cloth and draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again, rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear. You will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

WAR AND CRIMINALS.

Toronto Police Court Frequenters Have Reformed.

That the increase in crime in Toronto during the past year and especially in the past six months is in no way related to returned soldiers, but is due entirely to the hard times and lack of employment, is the unqualified opinion of the Toronto police.

An idea is prevalent among unthinking people that the rude and rough life of a soldier is conducive of mischief when the soldier is set free in civil life. As one returned soldier puts it, "the gentle civilians imagine that we have been turned loose in France like a collection of wild animals to hunt and tear down the Hun. And that consequently we will come home with the characteristics and habits of tigers and wolves."

But in war, law is a more rigid and all-embracing thing than in civil life, by far. In the army, a "crime" is a breach of the least of the orders governing the soldier's daily life. If he does not get up in the morning when the bugle blows, he is "crimed." He is tried and convicted and sentenced. Imagine the employer sending out for a policeman when the stenographer arrives ten minutes late at the office! If a soldier wears his cap on the side of his head, or forgets his belt or puttees, or overlooks an officer passing, or was too busy to clean his boots, or neglected to shave or get a hair cut, he is charged, just as solemnly and wordily as in any police court, with a "crime."

It is no wonder, therefore, that Mr. Arthur Webb, clerk of the Toronto Police Court, observes "that soldiers have been conspicuous in the police court by their absence." No man who was fairly a soldier, who received the stiff army training day and night for any reasonably long period, but would normally have his personal discipline stiffened.

One murder was committed by a returned soldier, but as was shown in the investigation, the soldier was drunk and had been unbalanced by wounds. The other crimes against civil law in Toronto by soldiers are practically negligible. Although no statistics are made on the subject by the Toronto police, it is considered a fact that the army has had a beneficial effect upon the young men who formerly were mischief-hunters. Instead of running to cliques and "gangs" of mischief-hunters, the young men of Toronto who are practically all in khaki, run to soldier's cliques, where personal character, while a rough and ready thing, is manly, decent, "white."

Over against the absence of war-made criminals is an ever-increasing number of war-reformed crooks. Four years ago, a certain wayward young fellow who had several police court appearances to his credit suddenly found himself faced with a mighty serious charge. He pleaded for permission to go to the war, which then was young. And he went.

About eight months ago he returned to Toronto, smashed, weak, but with a little bit of medal ribbon "for gallantry" on his breast. He is now foreman on the loading department of a big warehouse, is going strong, making [illegible] every day. There is no doubt about it in his old police friends' minds, that the war has given that man a new point of view.

There is also an oldish man, formerly a notorious loafer, a frequenter of all the city's disorderly houses, a perennial court case, who is now a commercial traveler, smart, alert, his war-whitened hair lending a distinction to his whole snappy bearing. If four years ago that man had been shown a photograph of himself as he is to-day, he would have sneered and laughed the world to scorn.

The list of such cases is a long one, but can't be studied in its true light till all the troops are home and have been given a chance to shake down into civil life.

A New Coat-of-Arms.

The Canadian Government is considering adopting a new coat-of-arms for the Dominion—one which shall represent all the provinces in the Confederation. The present coat of arms is representative of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick only, for those were the original provinces; and since it was adopted, in 1868, Prince Edward Island and British Columbia have entered the Federation, Manitoba has been constituted, and finally Saskatchewan and Alberta have been carved out of what were the Northwest Territories. When a design emblematic of these nine provinces has been chosen by the committee and approved by the Government it will be submitted to the Royal College of Heralds in England to be registered. A royal warrant declaring it the official arms of Canada will then be issued.

To give your typewriter a thorough cleaning, why not use a gasoline torch?

First take the typewriter outdoors and remove the ribbons. The platen should be either taken off or covered with paper. Having filled the torch with gasoline, pump up a good pressure and open the needle valve. A fine jet of gasoline will be projected with such force as to reach the most inaccessible parts of the machine.

One filling of the torch, if it is a good-sized one, is generally enough. After the washing has become dry, it is a good plan to spray the working parts with a good lubricating oil.

Needless to say, cleaning with a gasoline-torch should be done in the open air, and one should not smoke. —Popular Science Monthly.

The Political Hammock.

"Do you find public office an easy berth?"

"I shouldn't exactly call it a berth," said a member of Parliament thoughtfully. "It's more like a hammock; hard to get into comfortably, and still harder to get out of gracefully."

To Remove Mildew.

It is best to get at mildew stain right away before it has injured. First, try this mild treatment: Soak the stains overnight in sour milk and then place in the sun without rinsing. Repeat the treatment several times if necessary. If this does not remove them all, try lemon, moistening the stains with lemon juice and allow it to remain in the sun. If the stains are very persistent go to the druggist and ask for a few crystals of potassium permanganate. Dissolve one teaspoonful in a pint of water and apply a little of this to the stains with a medicine dropper or a clean cork and allow it to remain in five minutes. Remove any pink stain left by this chemical with a little oxalic acid. If used with care permanganate does not as a rule take out color, but try it first on an unexposed portion of the skin.

"What Sugar is That?"

OVER the tea cups, women frequently ask this question. Ever since the Sugar-rationing period of 1918, housewives have displayed a keen interest in the subject of Sugar. For it was then that they obtained new light on the source of that Sugar which they had found to be most satisfactory for table use and for preserving and baking.

When Canada was without any of her usual supplies of raw Cane Sugar from the West Indies, Canadian homes were still supplied with Sugar. On asking her Grocer where it was coming from, the Canadian housewife learned that this Sugar she was getting—and that she found so satisfactory—was Sugar refined from Canadian Sugar Beets.

DOMINION CRYSTAL SUGAR

Women who use this brand have found it to be all that Sugar should be. And it is with great satisfaction that they realize that a Sugar so fine is "Canadian from the ground up." It is a matter of pride that we are able to produce our own truly Canadian Sugar from our own Canadian-grown Beets.

You should know more about this product. You should read the whole interesting story as told in our beautiful Book "Sugar from Beet to Bowl." A copy of this Book will be sent to you if you write requesting it. It explains fully how the juice is extracted from the Beets; how the juice is purified by filtering; how this juice is converted into sugar crystals; and how the sugar turns from brown to white. To read this Book, is just like taking a trip through one of our modern refineries. In those refineries we do refine from raw Cane Sugar, but our pride is in the product we make from Canadian Sugar Beets—there is none better.

Most Grocers have Dominion Crystal Sugar in 20 pound bags as well as in the larger bags and barrels. Most Grocers take pride in selling this superior and truly Canadian product. Ask your grocer for it.

OUR ARCTIC EXPLORER

PEN PORTRAIT OF VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON.

He Had a Narrow Escape From a Business Career, But Became an Adventurer and His Exploits Culminated In the Discovery of the Blonde Eskimos.

THROUGH the medium of the American-Scandinavian Review the reader is presented with an interesting pen portrait of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the famous Arctic explorer, who is acknowledged to be the foremost scientist-explorer of the world. The writer, John Holmes, prefaces his sketch of the explorer's life and personality as revealed to him in a recent interview by a few introductory remarks, in which he refers to the affinity between the ancient Norse Vikings and the modern explorer—both possessing in an unusual degree a fundamental desire for travel and adventure. Although by parentage an Icelander, Stefansson is by birth a Canadian. The famous explorer Mr. Holmes found to be "a modest, soft-spoken person with the mild and unaffected manner often characteristic of men who have accomplished big things."

"There is a touch of the academician in his speech and gestures, and the only scars he bears of his battles with the North are patterns of furrows around the eyes, such as you might find adding good humor to the countenance of any Western rancher who has lived much in the open where the winds are never still. He is of good, medium height with a well-knit frame and the fair complexion and light-colored hair characteristic of the Icelanders, perhaps the fairest of the Scandinavian peoples.

"He gives no such impression of dynamic force or physical vigor as his great fellow explorers, Amundsen, Shackleton or Peary, when the North Pole discoverer was in his prime. Yet I believe that Stefansson has commanded as large expeditions as any of these men, and he has undoubtedly tramped greater distances around the top of the earth than any other man. I wondered at first wherein lay his strength, and almost before I knew it I had my answer.

"In the course of our talk I thoughtlessly questioned the literalness of something he had said about his polar experiences. Well, I struck flint at once. He thought, of course, that I doubted his word, and I am glad he did. I caught a glimpse of his reserve strength when he was roiled, of the steel under the velvet.

"Stefansson belongs by right to the select log cabin class of famous men, now becoming almost as rare as buffalo fur coats. He was born in 1879 in an immigrant's cabin on the shore of Lake Winnipeg, north of the Canadian city of that name. His parents were among the first Icelanders to venture from their native island to try their fortunes in the New World. They moved in a prairie schooner across the line into what was then the Territory of Dahoka, when the future explorer was eighteen months old, and settled in a farming colony of Icelandic immigrants near the hamlet of Mountain, Pembina County. Here Stefansson grew up on his father's farm twenty miles from a railroad. The country was wild enough to harbor a few Indian bands, and every now and then the colony was stirred by reports of impending raids. Sitting Bull was still alive, and to the Icelanders he was a sort of American troll, which never materialized, however, in their midst.

"The environments of Stefansson's early youth were those characteristic of a Western frontier community, bare in comfort, abounding in hard work and almost stripped of cultural advantages, except such as may be found on the bookshelves of the most poverty stricken Icelander, the saga classics, a few epic ballads, rimur—and, of course, the Icelandic poets.

"Does any nation owe as much to its classics and its poets as the Icelanders? Without the sagas to kindle their spiritual life they would have reverted to semi-barbarism centuries ago. Stefansson devoured his father's little library and the libraries of his neighbors, attended country school, worked on the farm and put in four summers as a cow puncher on the Dakota plains. He lost his father when he was fifteen, and the additional responsibilities thrown on his shoulders by this bereavement caused him to take a plunge into business the following year. He made a brave attempt to clean up a small fortune in hay. The farmers of the community had gone wheat mad, he explained. They would raise nothing but wheat, and they gladly gave young Stefansson liberal orders for hay to feed their horses and milch cows through the winter. Stefansson hired men to put up enormous quantities of hay on the range adjoining the farm community, but before he could deliver a ton North Dakota was swept by a blizzard that has never been equalled in the history of the Northwest. Not a wisp of hay could be delivered, and Stefansson went broke.

"Stefansson considers his failure a narrow escape from a business career. But he had other escapes. The log cabin tradition almost pulled him into politics. The pulpit reached out and nearly collared him. Stefansson dodged both callings. The inadequate country schools had not enriched his knowledge a great deal, but they had at least given him a thirst for education, and when he was eighteen he entered the preparatory department of the University of North Dakota. With a capital of $57, his summer savings, and arrayed in a brand new suit of store clothes, which cost $7, and a pair of $1.35 shoes, he set off for the state metropolis of Grand Forks. That journey was a memorable event, for, at eighteen, he had never before ridden in a railroad train.

"He then proposed to sail around Alaska to study the Pacific side of the Polar regions. Stefansson preferred a short cut across the Continent to the Mackenzie delta, and induced Harvard and Toronto universities to finance this trip. He traveled by Hudson Bay steamers down the Mackenzie, tramped part of the way, and arrived on the shores of the Arctic Ocean in a light overcoat and a blue serge suit. 'And I knew just exactly what I was doing,' said Stefansson. 'I was going to live with the Eskimos, learn their language and study them; and I did. I could never have done it effectively by putting up my own quarters, dressing as a white man and living like a white man. I got my furs, caught fish and killed game, cooked it myself in the Eskimo huts, ate delicious meals, whenever I was hungry, and stayed for eighteen months.'

"His second Arctic exjedition kept him in the Far North for fifty-three months, from 1908 to 1912. This expedition was under the auspices of the Government of Canada. It was on this trip that Stefansson found the blond Eskimos, showing unmistakable signs of European origin, and believed by many to be the remnant of the lost Norse colony of Greenland. In the course of this expedition Stefansson added many new features to the map of Northern Canada, exploring one river, the Horton, more than five hundred miles in length. He commanded the Canadian expedition of 1913-18, from which he has just returned, one of the most elaborately and expensively equipped polar expeditions ever undertaken. He explored and mapped about one-fourth of the 1,000,000 square miles of the hitherto unknown polar region of the Western Hemisphere, found new islands, corrected the outlines of others on the map and established the non-existence of one island, the discovery of which had been announced some years ago.

"There remains but one thing more to tell of Stefansson, and considering the fact that I have already stated that he is an Icelander, it seems almost superfluous to mention that he started out to be a poet. He contributed verse to the college literary monthly in his undergraduate days, and even achieved the distinction of having his translations of Icelandic poems published in an Eastern magazine. I have read some of his verse written many years ago, and I can testify to its merit."

WHEN SORROW COMES.

Life no doubt is paved with enjoyments, but we must all expect times of anxiety, of suffering and of sorrow, and when these come it is an inestimable comfort to have some deep interest which will, at any rate to some extent, enable us to escape from ourselves and keep us from brooding.—Sir John Lubbock.

TO SURVEY FOOTHILLS

KINGSTON, June 9.—Dr. J. C. Gwillim, professor of mining engineering in Queen's University, has been asked to undertake a survey of the foothill country and to make a report of the result of his investigation. The survey is with the view to ascertaining whether Alberta has iron ore in commercial quantities.

Why Can't I Get to Sleep?

Thousands of people all over the country ask this question but still continue to toss night after night on a sleepless bed and it is impossible for them to get a full night's refreshing sleep.

Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease, has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quiet ned except by the pernicious use of opiates or narcotics. Or again, you have heart palpitation, and sensation sinking, a feeling you are going to die, or perhaps you wake up in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and the only way that you can get relief is to sit up in bed.

To all who suffer in this way, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer an inestimable boon. They bring back the much needed night's rest by improving the tone of the nerves, strengthen the heart, enriching the blood and making the whole organization act in harmony—then you slee as peaceful as a child.

Mrs. James Latimer, 39 Leinster St., St. John, N. B., writes: "At night I could not sleep. I had to sit up in bed, my heart beat so fast and when I walked up stairs I would get all out of breath. A friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I can sleep all night, and am not out of breath after walking."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of pric by The T Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

COLLECT RELICS OF CZAR.

VLADIVISTOK — General Diterichs has brought here the relics of the Romanoffs which were collected during his investigation of the murders at Ekaterinburg. He showed me personal jewelry, belongings, and diaries which were being sent for safety abroad. The diary of the Czar was removed to Moscow.

There is no longer the slightest doubt as to the manner of the death and disposal of the bodies. Czar Nicholas, is wife, Alexandra, and the children were flung, naked, down deep shafts in a neighboring forest, whence they will be exhumed in the springtime. The bodies were stripped and the clothes and other effects burned near the shafts. The quantity of jewelry broken and partly signed, and recognized as belonging to the Imperial family, was found amid the ashes and in swampy ground.

The murders were unquestionably ordered and planned by the Jewish group of the Moscow Soviet, and everything was done to remove all traces of the crime and of the victims; but compromising documents and numerous other pieces of evidence have been discovered which will be handed over presently to the law officers. Not a single member of the Czar's suite was spared.—London Times.

Weighs Eighteen Tons—Presented by British Columbia to London.

A new landmark will shortly appear above the trees of Kew Gardens near London. Already there is of course the famous Pagoda, but the new landmark will rise many feet into the air above the Pagoda. It is the giant flagstaff weighing 18 tons, and 215 feet long, presented by the British Columbian Government to Kew Gardens, some four years ago. Arriving in London by the R.M.S.P. in December, 1915. It was afterward towed up the river to Kew, and is now about to be erected by Canadians in the gardens. Its first use, so it is said will probably be that of flying the Flag of Victory and Peace in the forthcoming peace celebrations.—Christian Science Monitor.

Lunar Vegetation.

Professor Pickering of the Harvard astronomical observatory declares that there is nothing less true than that the moon is without air, water or vegetation. There are certain large lunar areas that darken toward lunar noon and fade out toward lunar sunset. They correspond in some degree to the so called Martian seas, and Professor Pickering sees the term "fields" to describe these plains or slopes, which he believes to be covered with vegetation. He is convinced that the dark fields to be seen during the lunar summer do not owe their blackness to shadow, for you can see them at full moon when shadows are absolutely invisible. The blue-black color of the fields and canals, he argues, can therefore be owing only to a discoloration of the surface that comes alike on slopes and levels in the lunar summer, and that is invisible in the spring and autumn. We know of no mineral that acts in that manner, and the only possible explanation seems to be that it is the result of a covering of vegetation.—Youth's Companion.

Pimples Broke Out All Over Face, Arms and Neck

While the skin is the seat of the irritating, unsightly pimples, the real disease is in the blood.

Medicated lotions and powders may allay the itching and the irritation, but never cure, no matter how long and faithfully continued, and the condition is often aggravated, and the skin permanently injured by their use. The disease is more than skin deep; the entire circulation is poisoned.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually cures blood and skin troubles because it goes direct to the root of the disease and stimulates and restores normal, healthy action to the different organs, cleanses and enriches the blood, and thus relieves the system of all poisons and secretions.

B. B. B. cures permanently because it leaves none of the original poison to ferment in the blood and cause a fresh attack.

Miss E. M. Davidson Daysland, Alta., writes: "Last summer I was greatly troubled with pimples breaking out all over my face, arms and neck. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles the pimples had almost all disappeared. I shall always recommend this remedy to anyone afflicted with skin troubles."

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural colour is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

AN IDEAL GENERAL.

Late Gen. Lipsett Idolized by His Men.

Apropos the discussion of Canadian high commanders arising out of Sir Sam Hughes' charges in Parliament, Maj.-Gen. Louis James Lipsett, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., commander of the Third Canadian Division, who was killed just before the armistice, was about as splendid an example of the ideal general officer as could be found. He commanded the division for nearly three years, and in that time won the affection and sincere esteem of tens of thousands of Canadians.

Gen. Lipsett won his way into the hearts of his men by two means; his personal bravery, and his personal interest in the men.

It was not only before battles that Gen. Lipsett was to be found in the front line. He was an indefatigable "strafer," and in order to keep his twelve battalions up to concert pitch all the time, he spent every hour he could spare from his documents and the machinery of administration, up in the line, studying the ground, speculating on raids, and keeping in touch with the spirit of the troops. In the infernal mud and corruption of the Somme, he was an ever present visitor in the heart of the fight. In the unspeakably filthy trenches in which the corps spent the winter of 1916-1917, around Neuville St. Vaast, Gen. Lipsett braved the mud three and four times a week to cheer the troops with his shy smile. And at Amiens, in August, 1918, no third division man will ever forget the sight of Gen. Lipsett, with his orderlies, galloping cheerily along the shell-swept roads and over the green fields, not more than a thousand yards from the front of the battle.

He was a practical believer in the army regulation that staff officers should be personally acquainted with the ground and the progress of their battle. And as he walked around the shell-swept battle ground, the fear was that his bravery was too big for a general. The third division felt they could not spare "Louis" Lipsett, and it was with trepidation that the troops watched him striding about the countryside. In fact, it was a common saying among the men that Gen. Lipsett was bound to "get it" sooner or later. Alas, he "got it" only a few days before the finish of the great war in which he had played so noble a part.

Quite unexpectedly, after the battles of Arras in August, 1918, word came that Gen. Lipsett was to leave the Third Division of Canadians and go to take command of the Fifth Imperial Division. Of course, it was intended as a boost for Gen. Lipsett, as he would be having command of a force in the British army, which was his life's profession. But neither the Third Division nor Gen. Lipsett could see it that way. He came up early in September to the neighborhood of Vis en Artois, where his battalions were in rest, and called for battalion parades. He visited the battalions in turn, and there were tears in his eyes and in his men's, too, as he made a typically shy, bashful speech to them in farewell.

"For three years," he said, "I have done all in my power to command you as efficiently as you responded to command. It has been a great privilege to command you splendid men, and I desire to thank you with all my heart for the honor you have bestowed upon me as your commander."

And the battalions, formed up in hollow square, presented arms, and then cheered themselves horse, remembering how this shy, brave young general had spent his days in eliminating all chance out of the men's war.

He had a great memory for names and faces, and knew even the newer lieutenants by name, and many of the old non-coms.

Gen. Lipsett was only 44 when he was killed. He was a professional soldier, born in Wales, and belonged to the Royal Irish Regiment. He came out to Canada in 1911 as a staff officer on the Canadian permanent force with the rank of major. At the outbreak of the war he raised the 8th Battalion, "Black Devils," in Winnipeg, and commanded them in France through the Canadians' first battle at Ypres.

It is said that he would certainly have been chosen corps commander after Byng if he had been Canadian-born.

The Third Division has the one big regret that "Louis" Lipsett, the fair-haired and blue-eyed young man who made the division one of the finest in the whole British army, was not with them when the came home.

Saved Millions of Dollars.

Canada has few sons of whom she has more reason to be proud than Gen. A. D. McCrae.

Few men even in the West have crowded more adventure and work into a comparatively short life than this versatile general, who first opened his eyes on the world in Glencoe, Ont., forty-three years ago. At nineteen he left his humble home to seek fortune in Duluth, and acquitted himself so well that, while still in the twenties, he had built up one of the biggest insurance businesses in the West, and had established a group of rural banks.

He did more than any other half-dozen men to plant settlers in the West; he became the head of big industrial enterprises from lumbering to whale fishing, until while still in the thirties he was one of the richest men in Western Canada. When the war came and the Canadian Government needed horses the task was committed to McCrae, and he did it so well that he was next entrusted with the organizing of supply and transport, saving millions of dollars by checking waste.

On his appointment as quartermaster-general in 1916 he did still more brilliant and useful work on a large scale, notably by the clever disposal of surplus and obsolete stores at many times the price they would have fetched now.

In appearance Gen. McCrae is tall, well-built, and soldierly, with a strong, clean-shaven face, keen eyes and a resolute mouth and chin. He looks what he is—a man of clever head and iron will, who always knows what to do and how to do it, and sees that it is done.

London's Shortest Street.

The shortest street in Great Britain is Mansion House street, E. C., which has but one address in it and whose length is but a very few yards. Short as it is, however, it has won world-wide fame as being the very busiest street in these islands—nay, one may truthfully say, in all the world—for vehicles pass through it at the rate of some 2,000 an hour for twelve hours at a stretch day after day.—London Express.

Easy.

Reason and Experience had a dispute as to which of them is the more necessary.

"No matter what situation arises, it is only necessary to bring me to bear upon it," said Reason, "and the solution is bound to come."

"After which," said Experience, smiling gently, "it remains for me to demonstrate that your solution is wrong."—Life.

Why the Hen Cackles.

"The accepted theory that a hen cackles after laying an egg because she is proud of herself is a mistake," said a naturalist. "The explanation of the rooster's answering crow as one of congratulation is also a mistake.

"The cackle is a relic of bygone days when fowls were wild. Then a hen, desirous of laying an egg, retired from the rest of the fowl community. By the time she was ready to join the other fowls they had wandered some distance, and she did not know where they were. She then cackled, and the rooster, hearing her, answered with a crow and thus informed the hen of the whereabouts of the tribe."—Chicago Herald.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

In Times Like These

By GERALD ST. ETIENNE

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Leonore surveyed herself in the long mirror and smiled with gratification. She was going to make a very pretty nurse. The blue of the uniform was especially becoming to her style of beauty and matched her eyes wonderfully. The white starched collars and cuffs made her look "just too stunning for anything"—there was no use trying to tell herself that they didn't. Just wait until she had passed the probationer term and won the right to wear a cap; wouldn't she make the other nurses fade into oblivion? What the uniform lacked in headgear she endeavored to make up for in crimps to her pretty blond hair. At last, when everything was satisfactorily adjusted, she started out the corridor with a "bring-on-your-millionaires" look in her face.

Leonore was just like lots of other girls. She had entered the hospital to take a course of training with the thought that all was sunshine and pretty uniforms. Although she would not have confessed it, uppermost in her mind had been the thought that after about the first month she would be instrumental in saving the life of some handsome young millionaire, who in gratitude would throw his fortune and his heart at her feet. It required the first day to take all those silly notions out of her head.

"Take those crimps out of your hair! Don't let the superintendent see you with those. It is positively against the rules," one of the nurses warned Leonore before she had a chance to report to the head nurse for duty. With a pout on her lips she hurried back to her room and flattened out the crimps with a pint of water.

"I don't know how to take temperatures," Leonore announced to the head nurse the first thing, expecting of course to be put in charge of a patient at once.

"Certainly you don't," the head nurse smiled, not unkindly, "and you won't be permitted to learn for some time, either. Scrubbing out the operating room is the first thing you will do."

Poor Leonore! Never had she worked so hard as she did the first week. Every night she went to bed too tired to be homesick, but by the end of the week she was taken ill. In bed, off duty, she had a chance to think. She hadn't as much as seen a patient and she had been there seven whole days. She had scrubbed everything scrubable in the place, though, she was sure of it. The smell of soap and warm water was ever with her. Her hands that had often been lily white were swollen and red. Her arms were chafed right up to the elbows, and her best uniform was ruined. She wasn't a nurse, she was a charwoman. She just would not stay. The people at home couldn't suspect her to. The thought of home brought the tears that had been trying to come forth for hours. After an hour of weeping she felt better, but the resolve to go home was still with her. She hated to let the head nurse know that she had been beaten by the work though. She would just tell them she was going home for a few days.

"Why, we are so short of nurses, we can't possibly spare you," the superintendent said when Leonore interviewed her.

"Don't help it; I'm going anyway, even if I can't come back," Leonore started to sob. She hoped the note of rebellion in her tone would win her instant dismissal, but probationers were too scarce for such indulgence on the part of the superintendent.

"Come back as soon as you are better," the superintendent gave in. But when Leonore was gone she was almost sure she would not see her again.

There was no one to meet Leonore at the station. By the time she reached home she was tired and worn out, but not too tired to sob out the whole miserable tale in her mother's arms.

"I knew it was too much for you, darling," her mother comforted. "You don't have to go back to that horrid hospital."

"Have you seen Gerald this week?" Leonore asked as soon as she was rested. "Hasn't he been in every day?"

"He was in last evening," her mother answered, "but the poor, dear boy looks so worn out."

"How does he look in uniform—stunning, wonderful—doesn't he?"

"Yes," Leonore agreed, and he must be having a ripping time. A soldier's life is the life, mother. I wish I could have stayed until he got in uniform. I am going out to the camp this very afternoon."

Three o'clock found Leonore in the car on the way to the soldier's training camp. Her cheeks were flushed with the expectation of the welcome she would be sure to get, for Gerald was madly in love with her. But they had quarreled. It was the first time she had remembered that since she left to go to the hospital. Gerald had objected to her going into training; he had said her place was at home, and that a nurse's life was the life of a dog. She had persisted that he was all wrong and had left for the hospital the day he was to report for military service. Now she knew that he was right, though, and could acknowledge that she was in the wrong. Her welcome would be a pleasant one, she felt sure of it. As the car drew near the camp she pictured what a fine time Gerald was having—glorious parades before applauding admiring people, dances, parties, receptions in his honor and in honor of the uniform he wore. Oh, it was wonderful, she knew it was.

Leonore held her head very high as the guard escorted her to where Private Gerald Montgomery could be found. She felt sure she would find him partaking of afternoon tea with some of those Red Cross girls, and smiled at the thought of the envy they would feel when they saw him kiss her.

"Why Leonore." It was Gerald, but a very different looking Gerald than Leonore had expected. He was in a very untidy looking uniform and his sleeves were rolled away up, displaying red arms and hands. In one hand was a knife and in the other he grasped a potato, half peeled.

"Come right over here," Gerald said reassuringly, for he could see that Leonore was confused. As in a dream she followed him over to where he had been sitting on a box peeling potatoes. A half bagful was before him and a large pan of peeled ones were by his side.

"I am on fatigue duty," he explained. "Gee! it's great fun. Why, today I scrubbed out the cook house, chopped wood and helped make bread. Isn't it a great joke? Think of me, an ex-banker, doing such work! Why, six months ago I would have scorned at such a thing. But do you know, Leonore, I see things differently. In times like these we have to all do our things to help set the world right, no matter whether it's work we have been accustomed to or not. I see all your arguments now about the hospital, and do you know, little girl, I think it is wonderful—your going there? If one only sets his mind to it, big tasks become awfully small and lots of fun. When are you going back?"

"Tomorrow," she laughed gayly. "And, do you know, I think it's wonderful of me, too."

"Completely Discouraged"

Is the feeling of thousands of women who are "run-down" so low that work drags, head aches, back aches, dragging down feelings, dizzy, pale and weak, little things annoy and "everything goes wrong."

Look the other way just a minute and see what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for more than a million women in the last fifty years.

What it has done for others it can do for you.

A helping hand to lift up weak, tired, over-taxed women—that's what you'll find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives you just the help that you need. To be had in liquid or tablets. Tablet form, 50 cents, at all drug stores.

It is a medicine that's made especially to build up women's strength and to cure women's ailments—an invigorating, restorative tonic, soothing cordial and bracing nervine; purely vegetable, non-alcoholic, and perfectly harmless.

TILLSONBURG, ONT.—"A few years ago I had a severe nervous break-down. I would have pains in my head and would suffer with backache. I was ailing for about two years. Had doctored but did not seem to get cured of the ailment. At last I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did me more good than any medicine I ever took. It built me up and I felt better in every way than I had for two years previously."—MRS. L. HEATH.

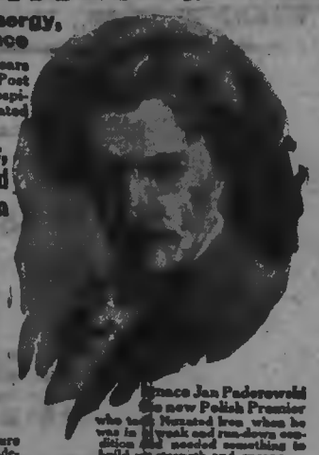
To Obtain Renewed Energy, Power and Endurance

Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, for 16 Years Adjunct Professor New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Says That In His Opinion Nuxated Iron is

The Most Valuable Tonic, Strength and Blood Builder Any Physician Can Prescribe.



Ignace Jan Paderewski as new Polish Premier who took Nuxated Iron when he was in a weak and run-down condition and needed something to build up strength and energy.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, one of the greatest musical geniuses of the age, at a time when his untiring work for Poland overtaxed his strength and impaired his health had recourse to Nuxated Iron to help rebuild his wasted forces and restore his old-time health and strength.

"With the tremendous strain imposed by over two years of almost ceaseless work in the cause of his fatherland, of which he is the foremost figure today, it is easily understood why Paderewski sought the sustaining tonic benefits of Nuxated Iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of the virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. Thousands of men and women are impairing their constitutions, laying themselves open to illness and literally losing their grip on health, simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron. Iron is absolutely essential to enable your blood to transform the food you eat into muscular tissue and brain. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles or withstand severe strains. To help make strong sturdy men of blood and iron there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Mr. Paderewski says: 'I am using Nuxated Iron very frequently and consider it as an excellent tonic.'"

A prominent New York Surgeon and Former Adjunct Professor of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, says: "If people would only realize that iron is just as indispensable to the blood as is air to the lungs and be just as particular about keeping up a sufficient supply at all times, there would be no more need to be far less disease resulting from anæmia, weakened conditions.

"Nuxated Iron, by enriching the blood and creating new blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed energy into the whole system whether the patients be young or old. In my opinion Nuxated Iron is the most valuable tonic, strength and blood-builder any physician can prescribe."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day, after meals, for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Sold at McDermid & Jury drugstore and all other druggists.

RECORD LOST IN ANTIQUITY

Windmills Probably in Use Since First Mankind Acquired Power of Cohesive Thought.

When first Aeolus set the sails of windmills in motion is not known, but there were mills in Europe when Caedmon sang of the dawn and doom of the world in the monastery on the wild coast of Britain. There is something fantastic and inhumanly large about the great rotating arms, which has impressed the imagination of men. Pantagruel beheld the giant devouring all the brass pots and pans of the Tohu Bohu islands for lack of windmills, his customary fare; and on the other side of the Pyrenees the Knight of Sorrowful Countenance, beholding those 30 or 40 giants of the plain of Montiel, recommended himself to Dulcinea and charged, with what consequences to himself and Rosinante all the world knows. Unfortunately for Don Quixote the windmills of La Mancha have sails which nearly sweep the ground.

As if every mill must have its quaint story, the one which used to stand on the Thames side, at Battersea, was said to have been originally the packing case in which the emperor of Russia intended to carry off Battersea church to his own country. Battersea refused to part with its church and the packing case remained where it had been deposited. On that small section of the coast of Holland between Amsterdam and Zaandam mills are to be counted by the hundred, gayly painted mills, as is the fashion with the Dutch, though the white mills of the softly gray East Anglian coast are not unknown. A landmark in the country is the great white mill outside Bergen op Zoom on the road to Tholen. Painters have not failed to record their sense of the poetry of windmills in landscape. Drubigny painted mills at work in a windy sky with running water in the foreground. Old Crome's white windmill against a gray sky is one of the world's famous pictures, while Brangwyn has a glorious engraving of a windmill in full motion in a glowing midday sun in his book dedicated to Belgium.—Christian Science Monitor.

He Knew the Cashier.

Young Leslie Harris, on his initial visit to a Pico Heights church, was extremely interested when his father started to take up the collection.

Unable to stand the strain, he deftly eluded his mother and attached himself as convoy to papa, following him down the aisle with his eyes growing larger and rounder as the money flowed in.

This method of obtaining wealth was new to him, but he thought he knew its destination and as the ushers reached the rear of the church and turned for the solemn march to the pulpit his voice rang over the room. "Give it to me, dad; I can take it to mamma!"—Los Angeles Times.

One's Own Interests.

The woman no longer young who is earning her livelihood should make it a point to save a certain portion of her salary weekly, no matter how small it may be. Systematic saving leads to habits of thrift and gives the person dependent upon her own efforts a feeling of security. Furthermore, the woman past her first youth will do well to pass by many dress fads of the hour. Fashion is as wavering and as changeable as an April day, and the woman who must toil on alone will assuredly serve her best interests by clinging to quiet, conservative effects.—Exchange.

Special Pleading.

Mrs. Pester—You never pay me any compliments on my appearance as you did when we were first married.

Her Husband—That's all right. I paid fully in advance then.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS BEFORE BREAKFAST IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER IS TROUBLING YOU.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver troubles, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat, and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

TANLAC BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

This is an age of big business, and although the public has become accustomed to big figures, the story of the marvelous growth and development of Tanlac forms one of the most interesting chapters of America's latter day commercial history.

Four years ago very few people had ever heard of Tanlac—Today it unquestionably has the largest sale of any medicine in the world. In the brief period of only four years time this now famous remedy has leaped from obscurity to the very pinnacle of success. It's fame, in fact, has long since spread beyond the limits of the continent, and numerous inquiries regarding it are now being received from many foreign countries.

Very few people, however, fully realize what a really wonderful record Tanlac has made. Indeed, if it were not for the unquestionable facts and figures given out by the largest and best known drug firms of the country the story of its success would be hard to believe.

Up to January first, the total sales of Tanlac amounted to approximately twelve million bottles. The demand however, is increasing, for during the first ten weeks of this year over one million bottles were sold and distributed in the United States and Canada, the exact figure being 1,306,189 in three months.

At this rate, therefore, the sales for the present year will amount to more than five million bottles. This will mean that 17,000 bottles of Tanlac will be sold during every day of the year, or 2,100 bottles for every hour of the average working day.

These figures are too stupendous for the average mind to grasp, but one may visualize what twelve million bottles means by imagining them laid out in a single file end to end. Thus laid they would make a track of Tanlac from New York to Chicago, and on to Denver, Colorado; or they would form a double track of Tanlac from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Piled end on end they would tower 135, times as high as Pikes Peak, or rise 13,333 times higher than the Woolworth Building in New York, the tallest building in the world.

The demand for Tanlac has become so great that its sales instead of being measured by the gross as other preparations have been, is now reckoned by the carload, and even by the train load. In proof of this it is a noteworthy fact that the leading drug jobbers everywhere now buy Tanlac almost exclusively in car load lots.

To supply the Pacific Coast trade alone requires from forty to fifty car loads per year—Jobbers of the Middle West are selling from seventy to eighty cars per year. One jobbing concern alone, the Evans-Smith Drug Company of Kansas City, Missouri, is selling at the rate of twenty car loads of 24,000 bottles each per year. In a letter dated April 19th, Ulus M. Price of that company says: —"In figuring the amount of Tanlac sold since taking this agency, we find that we are now working on the thirteenth car, having sold more than a quarter of a million packages in eight months."

The well known drug firm of Hessig-Ellis Drug Company, of Memphis, Tennessee, has sold over forty car loads since the introduction of Tanlac in that state four years ago. Mr. R. R. Ellis, President of that company is authority for the statement that the demand for Tanlac has been greater than any other five medicines combined.

Within the past ninety days, ten carloads of Tanlac have gone to supply the demand of British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba.

Mr. Charles McHay, President of Lyman Brothers & Company, Limited, of Toronto, one of the oldest and best known jobbing concerns in Canada says: "We have handled in Ontario Province, Canada, five car loads of Tanlac since October, 1918, while our total purchases have amounted to 12 cars within the past two years."

The Owl Drug Company of San Francisco, the largest retail druggists on the Pacific Coast, state that they have sold more than 180,000 bottles at retail, which surpasses the remarkable record of the Jacobs Pharmacy Company of Atlanta, who have sold approximately 80,000 bottles at retail.

Tanlac is widely advertised, it is true, but such unprecedented and rapidly growing demand could not be brought about by advertising alone. One bottle is sold in a neighbourhood through advertising, but ten more bottles are sold in that community after the first bottle produces results. People are always willing to talk about their ailments, but they are more than willing to tell others of the medicine that helps them.

Tanlac is composed of the most beneficial roots of herbs known to science. The formula complies with all national and state pure food and health laws of both the United States and Canada; and absolute merit and merit alone is responsible for its phenomenal and unprecedented success.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Limited; in Fowlers' Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle & Son.

FARMER SHOULD BE BEST EDUCATED MAN IN WHOLE COUNTRY

GETS WONDERFUL NEWSPAPERS AND IS READING—RURAL MAIL HAS HELPED.

OTTAWA.—The poor down-trodden farmer on the back line concessions is rapidly becoming the best educated man in the country according to A. A. Wright, manager of the Renfrew Creamery, and it's all due to the rural mail delivery, he told the cost of living committee last week.

Mr. Wright, a long-bearded old gentleman who was formerly member for South Renfrew, entertained the committee to-day with his view of the modern newspaper, which he credited with making the farmer more up-to-date.

'The good farmer with seven cows will produce more butter fat than the poor farmer with 14 cows," he declared.

Mail Delivery Has Helped.

After making the assertion that "the greatest fatcor in improving the farmer is the rural mail delivery," he went on to explain. Formerly the farmer got one or two weekly papers and a religious periodical. These were his sole sources of information. Now he gets not merely one daily paper but often three or four. He has two hours' break in the middle of the day's work when he fills his mind with the wisdom of these newspapers. In addition, the rural mail delivery brings along to his wife several magazines.

"No other man," declared Mr. Wright, "will be so well educated in the future as the farmer, no woman so well educated as the farmer's wife. There may be men more learned, but not so well educated. The women have time after the children go to bed to read, and they do read. The farmer's wife doesn't like your wives come to the House of Commons and sit in the galleries, but reads at home instead. Reading is the farmer's only diversion, and he uses it to the full."

Newspapers Are Teachers.

"Can the farmers read the editorials in the best daily papers without being educated?" he asked. "You can't walk in the rain without getting wet."

H. C. Hocken: "What effect has reading on Colin MacGregor's milk supply?"

Mr. Wright: "He has better cows. He gets all kinds of information from the papers and illustrations which help him to be a better farmer."

Mr. Wright was very indignant when it was suggested that political editorials wouldn't help the farmers. He would have the committee know that the editorials dealt with a vast number of other matters as well. "The newspapers have editors who deal with a vast number of matters and do so in a masterly manner," was his tribute.

It Helps Others Will Help Me

With This Belief Many Thousands Have Learned the Exceptional Value of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

You hear people talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You read about it in the newspapers. You wonder if it would benefit you. And while you are hesitating others are using it to great advantage.

This treatment for the restoration of the blood and nerves is so different to most medicines that you may not realise why you can be so certain of benefit from its use.

In order to maintain the vigor of the nervous system an abundance of pure, rich blood is necessary. When the nervous system becomes exhausted and you are easily tired and suffer from headaches, sleeplessness, irritability or indigestion, it is because the blood is failing to supply proper nutrition to the nervous system.

By forming new, rich blood, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food naturally and certainly restores the vigor of the nerves. Since it works hand-in-hand with nature, it cannot fail to be of benefit, and there is no reason why it will not help you just as it has the writer of this letter.

Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites Box 205, Jordon, Ont., writes: "For about a year I was troubled with nervousness, and took doctors' medicine, but it did not seem to relieve me. I could not sleep nor content myself to do anything. I had severe headaches, was tired all the time, and afraid to stay alone. I also tried several nerve medicines until almost discouraged. At last I discovered Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found relief in this. I had only taken one box when I began to feel better. I continued using this treatment' until my nerves were restored to perfect health. I think the Nerve Food splendid for nervous troubles of any kind, and cannot recommend it too highly."

(Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vineland, Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites, and her statements are correct.")

HEALTH BOARD DECLINE LIABILITY

Dr. E. R. Wood Instructed to Treat Patient at Government's Expense.

Dr. E. R. Wood in a communication to the Board of Health last night stated that he was treating a patient for venereal complications who was unable to pay for the treatment, and as his need for medical attention is immediate he asked that the city pay the medical bill. The Board at a previous meeting was not entirely satisfied that the city was liable to pay the bill, and Dr. McCullough, the Provincial Health Officer was communicated with and replied that the local Medical Officer of Health should examine the patient and report to the Provincial Board of Health.

Chairman Buller objected to the city paying $5 and $10 accounts coming in from all sources for such cases.

"There are too many twists and turns," he said. "If the Medical Officer isn't receiving sufficient salary he should ask for more and look after everything," opined the Mayor.

His Worship suggested informing Dr. Wood that as the patient is a returned soldier that the city was not responsible. Dr. Wood was the soldiers' medical representative in the city he should look after the case at the government's expense.

The matter was allowed to drop until Dr. C. H. Amys, M.O.H., who was not present, is consulted.

There Is MONEY In WANT ADS. For You

NOW as never before! The great readjustment of all business following the sudden termination of the War offers you a WIDE OPEN OPPORTUNITY to Sell or to Buy.

There exists in nearly every line a SHORTAGE of MERCHANDISE which creates a big field for WANT AD. ADVERTISING of USED Machinery, SECOND-HAND AUTOMOBILES, HOUSEHOLD GOODS, etc., etc.

The RENTING SITUATION, too, is a complete reversal of WAR CONDITIONS. On one hand Manufacturers are CLAMOURING for Factory Space for Peace Time purposes, and with others there is a corresponding FERMENT to UNLOAD factory space rendered useless by the ending of the War. And so it is with Houses and Rooms, Stores and Storage.

All this means MORE CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING.

Furthermore, there exists a badly balanced condition in the DEMAND and the SUPPLY of LABOUR of ALL kinds. This offers great possibilities for HELP WANTED and SITUATIONS WANTED WANT ADS.

There also exists an ABUNDANCE of WANT AD. business created by the desire to BUY and SELL Businesses, Farm Lands, Real Estates, etc., etc.

CATTLE CASE TRIED TO-DAY

BURLEIGH RANCHING COMPANY CLAIMS $600 FROM MR. LEAHY FOR LOSS OF FOUR COWS AND IMPOVERISHING OF OTHERS.

SALE OF FARM INVOLVED

The Burleigh Ranching Company's action against Michael Leahy of Peterboro and formerly of Douro, was the first case on the County Court list to be opened for trial yesterday. It was still in progress at noon today and Judge Huycke humourously expressed the hope that it would be concluded before Sunday. The interchanges between the opposing solicitors, Mr. G. N. Gordon and Mr. F. D. Kerr lent the only interest and bright spots to a rather wearisome case.

The company of which S. A. Conklin is manager claimed $600 and costs for Leahy's alleged failure to take care of thirteen cattle which he agreed to feed and stable for the company for the consideration of $3 a month per head. Four of the cattle died after Mr. Leahy sold the farm to Roger Moloney and the plaintiffs are seeking $300 damages to cover their loss and another $300 for the depreciated condition of the rest of the herd.

Mr. Leahy had just bought the Stephen O'Reilley farm and had intimated to Conklin that he might resell it. The O'Reilley family were occupying it when the cattle arrived from W. J. Northey's farm in Smith on March 14th last. They had been on straw at Northey's and Mr. Conklin desired to improve their feed. Leahy agreed to feed them ensilage and straw. The defendant testified that he was at the farm when twelve of the herd arrived driven by two youths Lennox and Graham of Lakefield. One of the cows had fallen on the way and was left at another farm In Leahy's opinion they couldn't have walked another mile. Some of them were staggering and were too tired to take heavy feed that afternoon. That night of March 14th three of the twelve had not begun to eat. They had been driven from Northey's over an icy, slippery road. Mr. Leahy stated that when the boys brought the thirteenth cow he concluded that there was not much chance for four of the herd surviving. He gave Lennox a message for Conklin to come out and examine the cattle, but Mr. Conklin sent back the reply that he was too busy and couldn't go.

In his own behalf Mr. Conklin explained that he had cattle winter-feeding with thirty or forty farmers On March 17th Leahy sold the farm to Rogers Moloney for $15,000 and the latter agreed to take care of the cattle until Mr. Leahy notified Conklin of the sale.

Pressed by Mr. G. N. Gordon as to why he did not go to Lakefield to inform Mr. Conklin of the condition of the cattle, Mr. Leahy said that he thought it was Conklin's place to come to the farm and see them. Besides he said Conklin had promised to go out to inspect the stables. When the sale was effected Mr. Leahy requested Mr. Thompson Bredin, who with Mr. Storey had acted as the agents for the two parties, to notify Mr. Conklin that the farm was then in the possession of Moloney.

The defendant did not meet Mr. Conklin until March 25th when Conklin called at Leahy's home in Peterboro. He asked if the cattle were being fed, and Leahy replied that Moloney was feeding them. Leahy didn't know whether any of them had died up to that time or not. In his evidence he stated that Conklin told him he would go out to the farm at once and see the cattle. Mr. Gordon is solicitor for the Ranchinug company and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

Board of Education Grant An Increase in Salary for School Teachers of City

NEW SCHEDULE WILL TAKE EFFECT AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR—REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING WAS HELD LAST EVENING.

THE REPORTS PRESENTED

In view of the increased cost of living it was decided at the regular meeting of the Board of Education last evening to adopt an amended schedule for the salaries of the school teachers in the Collegiate Institute and in the Public Schools.

Following the presentation of the revised schedule Mr. E. G. Patterson objected to the clause providing for an extra allowance for the principals of schools of over 10 rooms, stating that such a provision would give rise to dissatisfaction especially in the case of the proposed new school in the South Central District where there will in time be 18 to 20 rooms. He advocated the elimination of the $50 per each room clause.

Mr. J. M. Greene thought that a teacher qualified to undertake the care of the extra number of children should be entitled to the extra money.

In answer to a query from Mr. J. W. Worth as to whether more discretion would be used in the engagement of a principal to supervise a large school than a small one, Mr. Mowat stated that the qualifications for a principal of a school of four rooms were the same as required for a principal of a 25-room school.

Art Instructor	600.00	750.00	50.00
Music Instructor	600.00	750.00	50.00

The above amendment to the salary schedule to go into effect January 1st, 1920, but no teacher to receive in September, 1919 less than the new minimum salary. The increase of salary in January, 1920, will be according to new schedule less increase of September, 1919. Next regular increase September, 1920, and thereafter annually on the 1st of September.

THREE SCHOOLS AFFECTED

The schedule of $50 increase for each room over 10, will Mr. Mowat reported, affect three schools, Central, Queen Mary and King George.

The entire amendment brings the city schools up to the standard of any other town in Ontario.

Increase for Janitors.

Mr. A. A. Fowler stated that he was perfectly in sympathy with the increase in salaries for the school teachers and thought that the janitors of the schools were also entitled to consideration.

On his motion, dating from Jan. 1, 1920, the janitors' schedule will be amended to a basis of $105 per class room for all rooms up to 8, and $60 per class room over 8.

Mr. Patterson objected to the fixing of the schedule on account of the unsteadiness of the labor market. He predicted that in the fall labor would be much cheaper than at present.

Satisfactory Work.

The report of the Deputy Minister on the inspection of the Household Science Department of the schools, by Inspector Locke, pointed out a number of improvements necessary, and stated that satisfactory work was being done in all directions. It was pointed out, however, that in the 2nd form of the Collegiate Institute the girls have no opportunity of taking Household Science, and that there is work enough in this branch of education for another centre and another teacher, to extend the Household Science to all the city schools.

The report on the Manual Training was along the same lines, also drawing the attention of the Board to the fact that Form II. boys were prohibited from taking the work, and that there was work enough for a new centre and teacher. The matter was left to the Committee on Appointments.

School Attendance.

The report of the school attendance for the past month was:

	Ont roll.	Ave.
Coll. Inst.	345	328
Central School	520	476
Queen Alexandra	334	307
King Edward	535	491
Queen Mary	510	470
King George	333	313
South Central	413	378

Fire drill has been practiced in all the schools during the month.

Trustees Association.

"I understand that a Teachers' Union is in sight which will demand a fixed minimum salary," Mr. J. W. Worth commented in recommending strongly that representatives be sent to St. Catharines to the meeting of the representatives of the Boards of Education which will be held in June 25th with the object of forming an Urban Trustees' Association.

No action was taken in the matter.

An application from Miss Moffat, for a position as Household Science teacher was received, also five applications for positions on the Public School staff.

The payment of the following accounts were confirmed:

S. Jordan	$5.00
Miss M. A. Smith	5.00
R. N. Jones	20.20
C. Barrett	10.00
R. J. F. Pullyblank	1.50
Jason Elliott	7.00

Filling Vacancies.

The matter of filling any vacancies that may occur on the staff at the end of the present term was referred to the Committee on Appointments with power to act.

Property Committee.

The Property Committee reported that as authorized the committee advertised for tenders for the fuel required for the ensuing year and awarded the contract to Messrs. H. B. Taylor and Son.

The Building Committee reported, and recommended as follows:

1. That Mr. Melvern F. Thomas, consulting engineer of Toronto, be engaged as engineer on the heating, ventilating, plumbing and electric wiring and fixtures, for electric power circuits.

2. That the agreement with Mr. Thomas, appended hereto, be approved by the Board, and forwarded for his signature, and that the chairman and secretary be authorized to execute the same on behalf of the board.

The agreement appended embodied Mr. Thomas' willingness to confer with the architect or chairman of the Building Committee at any time it may be found necessary. Payment will be made on a basis of 5% on contract price.

The Board purposes sending Mr. Blackwell to Toronto immediately to confer with Mr. Thomas.

School Repairs.

3. That Mr. Walter R. L. Blackwell, architect be paid the sum of $300.00, on account of services rendered, under his agreement with the Board.

The Property Committee was authorized to make the necessary re-

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

DEALING WITH THE GERMAN COUNTER PROPOSALS—TURKS ON THE WAY.

AUSTRIAN NOTE

(United Press.)

(By F. S. Ferguson.)

PARIS, June 11. — The big four and the allied experts continue to wrestle with the problems contained in the reply to the German counter-proposals.

Indications to-day were that the chief difficulties in reaching an agreement were furnished by the questions of reparations and shortening of the period of admission of Germany to the League of Nations.

The naming of a specific sum of indemnities may not materialize, according to the latest information.

The French are opposed to this concession, and after advocating such a plan the British experts were said to have switched to the original idea of leaving the matter in the hands of a special commission. The French press is wrought up over the idea of including the Germans in the League sooner than at first planned; some of the newspapers declaring that France will not be a member if Germany is taken in immediately.

Eight Turks are en route here on board of the French battleship "Democratic." They are coming merely as experts" not being vested with any plenary powers. They will be quartered at Vaucresson, between Versailles and St. Cloud. The Turkish delegates it is understood, will seek to place the responsibility for Turkey's part in the war on the Young Turk party.

It is said that they will agree to the separation of Armenia and other sections of the Ottoman Empire, but will object to the Greeks occupying Smyrna.

REFUSES REQUEST.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 11. — The reply to the German counter proposal agreed upon by the peace conference heads refuses the German request for a mandate for the former German colonies, it was learned to-day. A lengthy memorandum gives reasons for the refusal and explains the operations of the league of nations on colonial matters.

NOTE OF PROTEST.

(Special to Examiner.)

ST. GERMAIN, June 11. — Chancellor Renner, the head of the Austrian peace delegation, has forwarded to the allies his first note of protest against the terms of the treaty, it was learned to-day.

Fail to Agree.

Although agreement is still lacking on important features of the Allied reply to the German counter proposal, it was stated that a decision would be reached in a comparatively short time. It is indicated elsewhere, however, that there may still be considerable delay before the treaty is again submitted to the enemy delegation. France is standing out against immediate admission of Germany into the League of Nations. It is because of Germany's "arrogant attitude" that France is resisting such action at present, it is said. France would not oppose admission of Germany at a later date.

(Canadian Press.)

TEXT NOT CHANGED

PARIS, June 11. — The reparation portion of the reply which has been completed and has reached the printer does not fix the total sum which the Germans must pay. The text of the treaty itself is not changed but the reply contains assurances to Germany regarding the method of reparations process, explaining that it is a workable arrangement.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 11. — Austrian note complains strongly against the disembarkment of Austria, particularly the separation of Bohemia and Tyrol. The note says that Austria cannot survive the loss of her industries. It is added that the Austrian delegation is prepared to send immediately observations on territorial clauses of the peace terms.

Changes in Treaty.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS June 11.— There is some discussion in general conference circles whether a plenary session will be called to consider a reply to German counter proposal, or whether the Big Four will send it directly to Versailles without reference to other nations. No indication of the procedure to be adopted is permitted to come from the Council of Four. While the treaty is textually unchanged, the reply reads into it new constructions, definitions and explanations on certain clauses which, in the belief of some elements of the conference, become virtually part of the treaty itself, entitling consideration by all parties involved.

Would Strive to Reduce Cost of Living By Decreasing Taxation on Necessaries

BRING FOOD PROFITEERS TO ACCOUNT, URGES DR. BELAND IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS—GET TOGETHER AND CARRY ON.

THE FARMERS

OTTAWA, June 11.—Dry-as-dust trade returns and shopworn tariff arguments were relieved by a delightfully sparkling speech from the lips of Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, former Postmaster-General; in the resumed debate upon the Budget yesterday afternoon.

It was the first speech delivered in Parliament by the heroic member for Beauce since his return from the prison camps of Germany, in which he spent several years in exile and captivity, and he was vigorously applauded on both sides of the House. Voicing sentiments of gratitude for the sympathy and interest shown him by the people of Canada when he was in the hands of the Huns, he spoke with the eloquence and charm of a Laurier—indeed, his effort was quite reminiscent of the great Liberal Chieftain. What he said came from the heart, and members on both sides of the House irrespective of party, gave repeated evidences of esteem and affection.

Tribute to Britain's Navy.

The House was profoundly stirred also by the gallant doctor's magnificent tribute to Belgium, while his appreciation of the glorious war work of the British navy was an epic. Dr. Beland discussed domestic issues at some length, and appealed to the Government to give the farmer a fiscal policy which would invite people on the land and help them to create wealth for the country. He pointed out that the farmer and the manufacturer were both here to stay, and the country's policy would have to be so shaped that both could "carry on".

Good to Manufacturers.

In the past the manufacturers had received advantages in the gift of the different Governments of Canada ads. They had accomplished much for Canada, and, perhaps, for themselves also (Applause.) He strongly supported the McMaster low tariff amendment calling for "free" agricultural implement street article which are necessary in the making and maintenance of a home and ratification of the reciprocity agreement of 1911. He would reduce the cost of living by decreasing tariff taxation on necessities and bringing the food profiteers to account.

"No Quarter to the Profiteers."

"I would give no quarter to the profiteers. They are just as dangerous as the sedition-mongers," he ex-

MONARCHISTS PLAN REJECTED BY THE EX-KAISER OF GERMANY

BERLIN, June 11.—Former Emperor Wilhelm declines voluntarily to offer himself as a sacrifice for the sins of Germany. The ex-Kaiser did not encourage the plan conceived in a circle of his personal friends here to relieve Holland of the question of his delivery and at the same time do something for his own reputation by boldly offering to stand trial before a neutral high court.

The person who went to Amerongen on that alleged mission and whose identity cannot be disclosed, has returned with a report that his mission was unsuccessful. He is said to have found the ex-Kaiser so optimistic that nothing could happen to him, and aside from that in such a nervous condition, that he was unable to put the idea over.

The idea has not been abandoned entirely, but it is said the originators of the scheme are very sceptical.

The plan was for the ex-Kaiser to call upon the heads of two neutral Governments to create a high court made up of European neutrals, before which he was voluntarily to place himself on trial to answer the charges made against him by the Allies.

It was believed this plan would be welcomed by the Allies as a way out of a difficult problem not only for them but for Holland as well. It was further believed that the idea would appeal to Wilhelm's sense of the dramatic to offer himself as a sacrifice for what is being visited upon his people. The small monarchical circle that initiated the plan is keenly disappointed, as it had hoped it would revive the monarchical spirit in Germany, which admittedly is all but killed out by the manner in which the ex-Kaiser left.

Mounted and Unmounted Police Were Unequal to the Occasion

CHARGE WINNIPEG MOB—HEADS WERE BROKEN ON BOTH SIDES—WAR VETERANS VOLUNTEER ASSISTANCE—NUMBER OF MODIFICATIONS.

(By W. R. Plewman. Copyright 1919.)

WINNIPEG, June 11.—For three hours yesterday afternoon mobs of strikers and strike sympathisers dominated the intersection of Main and Portage, the principal corner in Winnipeg. They easily overpowered the point man or traffic constable on the island in the centre of the road and foot police who tried to render help, and they gave battle to squadrons of special mounted police in mufti every time the latter came charging by.

The "mounties" were quite unequal to the occasion, being overwhelmingly outnumbered. No good purpose was served by their frequent charges, which only served to add to the fury of the mob, which really was demonstrating in sympathy with two hundred members of the police force who had been dismissed during the night for failing to sign a pledge not to affiliate with the Trades Council or go out on a sympathetic strike.

The two hundred police on horseback and the twelve hundred police on foot who were sworn in to take their places, with fifteen hundred more in reserve, were appointed to take the places of the dismissed men. Appearing in mufti, with a white armlet and blue lettering, the new force failed to command the reppect given the regular blue-uniformed men.

A great outcry for the use of the troops is being raised, but the civic authorities are reluctant to make a drastic move invoking martial law.

Heads Broken on Both Sides.

They say that while many pieces of concrete and innumerable brick bats were hurled at the special police, and some heads on both sides were battered, not more than a dozen persons were at all seriously injured.

Comrade Bray and Comrade Parnell, of the striking Veterans, were at the City Hall during the afternoon offering any assistance in their power in the maintenance of order, and at six o'clock they went away after seeing Major Lyle and Major Gray, satisfied that martial law would not be set up unless more serious disturbances occurred.

Hurrying back to Victoria Park to announce the result of their mission, Comrade Bray said: "We have secured a number of modifications. The mounties are to be taken off the street altogether and special foot police are to go out in pairs instead of in fours, and keep their sticks out of sight as much as possible. They are to carry a number on the armlet so that changes can be laid if anything goes wrong. We on our part pledge ourselves to give every assistance we can. So, boys, whepever you see a bunch of fellows gathered together, ask them to move on and help the cause."

"Yes," said another member of the committee, "or the Riot Act will be read. Our daily meetings in parks and elsewhere will be forbidden and it will be all up with the strike."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT LAST EVENING

BUGGY WAS DEMOLISHED—OLD COUPLE THROWN OUT

A serious accident took place last evening at 9 o'clock at the corner of Water and Murray streets, when Mr. and Mrs. Martin, an aged couple, driving north on Water street to their home on Smith street, just east of the canal bridge, had their buggy smashed into by a car driven by a young girl in company with Mr. Max Sloane, 518 Chamberlen street. The old couple were thrown clear of the buggy, but were picked up and taken to the home of Dr. C. H. Amys, where it was first feared that Mr. Martin's hip was broken. Reports this morning are more favourable, but the doctor cannot yet ascertain whether any bones are broken, because of swelling.

The buggy was completely demolished and was taken in tow, together with the horse, which escaped uninjured, by P. C. Harry Young, to Moloney's livery stable, Chambers street.

A FIRM STAND.

The decision of the Winnipeg Police Commission to discharge the police force of the city because they refused to accept the city's ultimatum to sign a pledge not to participate in sympathetic strikes, may seem to be a drastic step, but there was no other stand that the commission could take and still be faithful to its duty in protecting the interests of the general public. The Winnipeg police, like their brethren in other cities had the right to organize for their own protection and to give them an opportunity to take advantage of collective bargaining, but beyond that they were utterly unjustified in forming an alliance with any other body of men that would require them to abandon their duty and leave the city unprotected. The Winnipeg Commissioners have shown a commendable firmness in dealing with the matter and the exhibition of back-bone they have given is of value for its moral effect, not only in Winnipeg, but throughout the country. All contracts between a corporation and its employees who are engaged in public utilities, should have a non-strike clause. The public have no right to suffer because of a difference of opinion between a few manufacturers and their employees

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS.

Canada needs a vast sum of money to meet her war obligations, and to carry on her ordinary business, which are in themselves great and weighty reasons why the sale of War Savings Stamps should be much greater than it has been up to the present. This method of raising money for public purposes, which affords a safe and profitable investment for small savings, has been used with most successful results, not only in Great Britain and France, but also in the United States. Since this scheme was introduced in Canada, however, it cannot be said to have been a brilliant success—probably because there has never been a real campaign to bring the War Savings Stamp method squarely before the people of the country.

In Ottawa last week there was conducted by the Rotary Club a campaign to educate the public in these purchase of these stamps. The drive met with results that were surprising. The Rotary Club started out with the idea of securing 10,000 people who would agree to purchase the War Savings Stamps, and on the first day of the campaign succeeded in getting no fewer than fifteen hundred citizens who agreed to become subscribers.

The same plan might profitably be followed in other cities—under the present hit-and-miss method the War Savings Stamp scheme is not gaining the popularity it should have.

IN SIGHT AT LAST.

Tenders are being advertised for the construction of the city's new bathing house—the culmination of several years' persistent agitation by the newspapers, and of the efforts of a number of public-spirted citizens who, in the face of frequent disappointments, have perserverod until at last definite action has been decided upon. The site selected by the committee is at the foot of Maria street, East City, on the river just north of the C.P.R. bridge, and directly opposite the boat houses, where for many years the youngsters have been accustomed to swim. The spot is a picturesque one, and the water is shallow for some distance from the shore and therefore safe for children. There is no stagnant water and yet the current is not swift enough to be troublesome. The new civic swimming place is centrally located, being only a couple of minutes' walk from George street, so that it is easily reached by bathers from all parts of the city. At the same time it is to a considerable extent secluded and altogether seems a very suitable site for the municipal bathing beach. Work will be rapidly pushed ahead and in a short time, it is expected that the dressing rooms will be available for use. The hundreds of bathers who make use of the river will be delighted to learn of the early prospects of patronizing the city's new bathing place.

Now that this matter has been disposed of, the Council should consider the advisability of appointing a caretaker at Inverlea Park, where the bathing house erected by the Nicholls Park Board is extensively used. Inverlea is popular with bathers in the north end of the city and the conditions at present, with no official to see that the children are kept out of dangerous places while in the water, or out of mischief while on land, are far from ideal. The Park Board have stated that they are unable to meet the expense of paying a caretaker. They have done their share in erecting and throwing open a bathing house for the public's accommodation and are reasonable in their opinion that they might be relieved of the responsibility of maintaining an official on duty during the summer months.

THE COMMUNITY AND THE SQUARE DEAL.

No good citizen can be opposed to labor in any struggle to obtain the rights of the community. We are all workers; if not we may as well get off the earth. The worst piece of legendary bunkum on record is that man was "doomed to eat bread in the sweat of his brow." The plain teaching of all human perfectibility is that unless men work hard the race degenerates, and that real civilization is worth the united efforts of all men whether working by hand or brain or both in the struggle against nature.

But labor must have right conditions. No class in the community has any right or should have any power to enslave another class.

To prevent exploitation labor became organized. The crime of the thing was in the motive, forced upon labor at a time when the evolution of machinery within the factory and of trade competition in the markets of the world evolved man himself into a competitive machine. Hence the importation of cheap labor, the sweatshop and class warfare. All which was long ago. But the results remain. The community is now face to face with the results as never before. At a time when most wages are phenomenally high and the cost of living criminally higher, organized labor in certain groups demands a shorter day and higher wages, along with the right of "collective bargaining." Groups of employers maintain that they cannot concede their demands.

There are reasons. Contracts were taken under certain conditions. You may change the conditions but you can't change the price fixed in the contract. An eight-hour day in Canada can't complete in foreign markets with a nine-hour day elsewhere.

Also wages that have been are not now always sufficient to maintain decent living under criminally high prices for all we have to consume. An eight-hour day on general principles is long enough. And collective bargaining should be an elementary principle till something better takes its place.

And capital knows this as well as labor.

The community knows it as well as either.

The community who knows that its best interests are conserved when labor gets the square deal and the maximum of all betterments in conditions. The community once represented by that amiable old gentleman, Mr. Public Opinion, is always glad when a strike is over with betterment to the men who strike, even though the community pays for the improvement in the increased price of commodities. The community has never yet gone back on organized labour in that regard—for one very good reason that labour itself is a very great part of the community.

We have to remember this obvious thing because nowadays organized labour has begun to use the community not as public opinion, but as a thing to be gagged and throttled that organized labour may get what it wants. Because a certain group of trades can't agree with a fixed group of industries the community must be paralysed; citizens must go short of food, of light, of water, of transportation, of newspapers, of letters of telegrams of most of the utilities which alone make an urban community possible. In the old days of Mr. Public Opinion the sympathetic strike was an ultimate device. Groups of related industries only were struck. Now the sympathetic strike is extended to everything. The average citizen in Canadian cities is not primarily interested in whether a fixed group of industries concede certain things to a fixed group of workers. He is interested in the square deal. He has supported labour in other days in the struggle for the square deal. And he expects in return from organized labour just the sort of square deal he has been handing out. He objects to the thumbscrew, because this is not the Middle Ages, and labour knows it just as well as anybody can tell him.—Canadian Courier.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

June 9, 1919.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As a ratepayer, may I through your columns, make request of the Police Department for the rigid and thorough enforcement of the Noxious Weed By-law. The city, as well as offending land owners, should be immediately compelled to observe this regulation.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

RATEPAYER.

CAR STARTED BEFORE PASSENGERS ALL ON

What might have been a serious accident occurred at the corner of Charlotte and George yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Harry Beatty was transferring from a Charlotte to a George street car. One little girl climbed on, and as Mrs. Beatty lifted the other to place her in the car, the car started, taking only the one. The mother called and the car went some distance before stopping. The little girl became panic-stricken and jumped, falling on her back on the pavement. Although badly shaken up from falling she was not seriously hurt.

"CLEAN, SANITARY AND COMFORTABLE"—ANOTHER CASE DISPOSED OF—JUNE SESSIONS.

W. G. Howden's action for $500 against Herbert Hunt of Harvey township, for alleged misrepresentation of the register of a stallion Hunt sold to the plaintiff, was settled in court yesterday afternoon after the trial had made some progress.

The Ivison case against the G.T.R., which was adjourned until December, was withdrawn late yesterday afternoon upon an announcement that a settlement had been effected.

Following is the report of Grand Jury:

To His Honor Judge Huycke:

May it please your Honor.

Your Grand Jury have the honor to report—

It is a matter of great satisfaction in these times of general unrest that this county is so comparatively free from crime of a serious nature. The war now happily coming to an end has and will necessitate a large amount of readjustment and will require sane judgment and earnest consideration on the part of those having to do with affairs of government. In support of this the highest ideals of citizenship will be called into play to support the hands of your legislators.

Your Grand Jury would compliment the county authorities on the excellent appointments of the present court house. Every provision seems to have been made for the effective and adequate carrying on of the duties for which the building is used and your Grand Jury esteem it a privilege to subscribe to the good judgment and taste with which the county authorities have carried out this work.

Your Grand Jury were particularly attentive and interested in your honor's remarks regarding the erection or bringing into being of some suitable memorial to perpetuate the memory and deeds of those who fought nobly in the cause of liberty. We do not feel able to even suggest what the memorial should be, but that such should be instituted we heartily agree and would submit that the matter be carefully considered by some regularly constituted composite body, that the desire of the citizens of both the city and county might be carried out with satisfaction and in agreement with the wishes of the people.

Your Grand Jury have visited the various institutions coming within their province.

We wish to express our approval of the excellent condition in which the county jail is found. The various sections were found to be clean, sanitary and comfortabl, and the welfare of the inmates being well coonsidered.

The Nicholl's Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Isolation Hospital, Children's Shelter and Protestant Home were visited and we wish to pay a tribute to the excellent work being accomplished in all these institutions. Every attempt is apparently being made by those in charge to carry on their work with fidelity and zeal, and these institutions are a credit to our country.

The House of Refuge at Lakefield, was visited and everything found in good condition. Some minor repairs were noted as necessary, but these will doubtless have the attention of the council on their annual visit.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO HARRISON, Foreman.

ALBION KNITTING WORKS SECURES OLD WEST WARD SCHOOL BUILDING

TORONTO CAPITAL INVOLVED IN LOCAL INDUSTRIAL PROJECT.

Peterboro is practically assured of a new industry in the course of a few weeks in the form of a knitting works which will be operated under the name of the Albion Knitting Works in the old West Ward school building.

The company, which contemplates taking over the school is a newly formed organization and it represents Toronto capital. Mr. R. P. Parker, who has been in the city, in conference with Mr. S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, stated that at the outset the company will employ 12 hands, and the product of the factory will be principally bathing suits and jerseys.

While nothing definite is as yet settled, the company is going ahead securing plans for improvements with the object of converting the building into the factory, and last evening the Board of Education took the necessary steps toward providing the building when the committee recommended that the Board lease to R. F. Parker or the Albion Knitting Company the old West Ward school property (not including the house and lot adjoining) for the term of four years free of rent other than taxes, the leasees to make all necessary repairs and alterations at their own expense and to have the option of purchasing, at any time during the currency of the lease, for the sum of $3,000.00, the building to be used for the purpose of manufacturing knitted goods. All repairs and improvements to be made under the supervision of the properety committee and to become the property of the Board at the expiration of the lease.

BOWL CRASHED THROUGH PLATE GLASS WINDOW

A bowl in the bowling alley at the premises of Jake Soloman, Water street, took unto itself wings this afternoon, but a fatality took place when the bowl struck a Crown plate glass window shattering it in pieces and creating a noise like a twenty-fourth of May demonstration.

BIG DOUBLE BILL AT THE GRAND THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Should a young girl be made to suffer for a "scarlet strain" in the life of her mother? Would you marry a girl over whom hung a cloud because of a supposed misstep in the career of one of her parents? These two questions are asked and answered in "The Scarlet Shadow," Mae Murray's newest Universal Special attraction, which comes to the Grand Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The little sister star of "Modern Love," "Her Body in Bond," "Danger, Go Slow," and "The Bride's Awaking" is seen as Elena Evans, a lovable little maid, on whose good name is cast a perpetual shadow because of a "scarlet strain" which her maiden aunt alleged existed in the life of her dead mother. On this account the aunt kept Elna a virtual prisoner, guarding her day and night from contact with the world, fearing that the "scarlet strain" of the mother would assert itself when the daughter came face to face with the temptations of the universe.

But one day a romantic young college boy invaded the sanctuary the aunt had built around Elna, persuaded her to go to the movies, and to partake of a sinful chocolate ice cream soda. It was then that life began to take on complexities for the girl, for the first visit to the outer world changed her whole life. It took her from Greenwood, a little New England village, to New York, the whirlpool metropolis. What occurred there is graphically inscribed on the silver sheet in "The Scarlet Shadow." Lots of things happened, and with lightning-like rapidity, and the big situations that pile on fast one on top of the other only serve to display the versatility and emotional powers of Mae Murray.

HORSE ENTERED FOR $500 BOUGHT IN FOR $6,000

That racing in England has revived to an extent that surpasses all expectations is the opinion of Andrew Jackson Joyner, who for several years prior to the war trained the horses which carried the colors of Harry Payne Whitney on the British turf.

"To show the interest in racing over there," he said recently, "it is only necessary to consider the takings as the English term receipts, at the Chester Spring meeting of three days. They average £19,000. That was about $95,000 a day of our money, and more than $280,000 for the meeting.

"And, in line with the racing situation, valuations of thoroughbreds are soaring. At one of the Spring meetings a plate that was entered to be sold for $500 was, and when put up at auction brought $6,000."

CITY LEAGUE GAME IS STOPPED BY THE RAIN

ORIENTALS WERE WELL IN FRONT OF DE LAVAL WHEN SHOWER AT END OF FOURTH INNINGS PUT A FINISH TO THE FUN—SEPARATOR GANG LUCKY TO ESCAPE AS ORIENTALS HAD THEIR BATTING TOGS ON.

De Laval were a very lucky team to escape a trimming in last night's City League fixture with Orientals, a heavy shower at the end of the fourth innings making further play impossible. The Orientals were leading 8 to 3 when the deluge came, and looked like easy winners. As it is, however, all their run-getting was of no use to them, for the rain prevented the game going the legal length and the fixture will have to be replayed.

With Kirn on the rubber for them, the Orientals were in better form than they have been for several weeks, and they started out as if they were going to hand De Laval a beating to remember. Manager Solomon trotted out two new players just back from overseas, Catcher Nicholson, who originally hailed from Cobourg, and Outfielder Sam Clancy, who played in the City League here in 1915, and both made good. Kirn only allowed De Laval one hit in the four innings played, while Prest was given a warm reception and was very poorly supported.

In the first innings Cherrett went all the way to third when Neary dropped his high fly to centre. Heenan flied to Legon, but Cherrett came home on the squeeze play on Pelan's bunt. Cavanah's wide throw gave the batter a lift, but he was out stealing. Then Collins singled through short and stole second. McCarney singled in the same place, and when Legon threw high to the plate, Collins scored and McCarney went to third. Clancy doubled to centre to score McCarney. Kirn fanned.

There was no further scoring until the third, when De Daval counted. Legon hit through short for two bases and counted when Murray let Nicholson's throw to stop him stealing, get away.

The Orientals had a lot of fun in the fourth. Kirn drew a pass and Murray cracked a single off Prest's shins. Prest threw bad on Nicholson's intended sacrifice bunt and the bases were full. Cherrett's perfect bunt caught the De Laval gan gasleep and Kirn scored. Heenan hit to Dugan, who threw badly to the plate and Murray and Nicholson came home. Cherrett was caught between third and home when a squeeze play went wrong, but finally reached the counting station when Bergoine dropped the ball. Phelan's sacrifice bunt scored Heenan. Collins walked and stole second, but McCarney rolled to Prest, and Cavanah made a nice catch of Clancy's foul fly.

Rain was falling heavily when De Laval went to bat in their balf of the fourth and the ball soon became hard to handle. Bergoine was hit, and Legon, running for him, stole second. Cherrett took Barrie's fly. Rose hit to Cherrett, who threw to Murray to get Legon, but the runner got the verdict. Rose stole second. A wild pitch scored Legon. Cavanah fouled out to the catcher. Rose came in on a passed ball the fourth ball to Neary, but Murray threw Legon out.

Here is the score as far as it went. These figures will, of course, not count in the official averages:

REFEREE CHOSEN FOR BIG FIGHT

WILLIAM ROCAP WILL BE THIRD MAN IN THE RING.

(Canadian Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.— The selections of Wm. Rocap, sporting editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, as referee for the heavyweight championship fight between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey in Toledo on July the Fourth was announced early to-day by Major A. J. Drexel Biddle. Major Biddle, as President of the Army, Navy and Civil Board of Boxing Control, was requested by Tex Rickard, promoter of the fight, to name a referee. Himself a fight promoter, and former amateur boxing champion, Mr. Rocap has for many years been a close follower of both professional and amateur boxing. He has refereed a number of important matches, the most recent one being between Kid Williams and Pete Hermann in New Orleans. He is President of the National Athletic Club of this city. Approval of Tex Rickard's action in requesting the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control to select a referee was voiced by sporting authorities and others interested in the Independence Day match. All agreed that Rickard, promoter of the contest, had made a move to place boxing on a higher plane than it ever enjoyed before.

BRIDGE CONTRACT SENT TO TORONTO

WAY PAVED FOR ANOTHER INJUNCTION THREAT.

City Solicitor C. R. Widdifield drew up a contract today and forwarded it to the Russell-Townsend Company of Toronto, for acceptance. In the contract was incorporated a provision made by the City Council that if the city accepts the Russell-Townsend tender of $228,600, the company must protect the members of the Council against any legal action that may ensue under the impending injunction. City Clerk Armstrong had a short talk with one of the members of the Russell-Townsend Company, but Mr. Armstrong did not indicate to the press whether the Russell-Townsend Company regarded the contract with the special provision with favor or not.

A reply either accepting or rejecting the contract will likely be received by the Mayor to-morrow from the Russell-Townsend Company.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

The Peterborough Central Ontario League team will practise with the Orientals at Riverside park to-night. A full turnout is expected. The management of the Petes invites any left-handed pitcher in the city to turn out and help the team to-night by letting them have some batting practice against a southpaw. Boyer, the Belleville twirler, who will be stacked against them on Saturday is a portsider and the Petes have had little chance this year of hitting against a left hander. Daynard, of the War Veterans, the only southpaw pitcher in the City League, is slated to work against Matthews-Blackwell to-morrow night, so will not be available for to-night.

Mr. Alex. Kay, of Peterborough, is umpiring the Oshawa-Lindsay Central League game in Lindsay to-night and a number of Peterborough fans will take in the battle. It should be a great pitching duel between Scott for Lindsay and Patton for Oshawa.

Sam Clancy made an impressive reappearance in the City League last night after four years' absence Huphunting. He cracked out a pretty double on his first trip to the plate and would have got another on the next time up if the De Laval outfield had not played deep for him.

As last night's game was called before it went the legal length, the performances of the players do not count in the official averages. The De Laval team will not worry any, for with only one hit in four innings off Kirn their batting averages looked to be in for a general reduction. Cherrett, of the Orientals, was the chief loser, as he had two hits in three times up. It did not matter any to Collins, the League leader, who is hitting .600. He maintained that average in last night's game, so that he was all right whether the game counted or not.

The Great War Veterans and Matthews-Blackwell teams will clash tomorrow night in the City League series. The Vets claim they are going to take the first fall of the season out of the Packers. Daynard, the G.W.V.A.'s left-hander, will likely do the heaving for them.

No fewer than twenty-seven members of the four local City League teams served overseas during the war. A number of others were in the army here but did not get over.

SPORTING COMMENT

OSHAWA PLAYERS ON THE CARPET

Umpire Alex. Kay, of Peterborough, who handled the game on Saturday at Oshawa against Belleville, has forwarded to Secretary Dedman a written report of the game. In part he says:

"Mr. Nott, of Oshawa, had received instructions from you in regard to the number of his players, and before the commencemeat of the game I asked for the required document, with the following results:

Bruce Thompson — Not now in Oshawa; threw his arm out and returned to his home in Kingston.

C. H. Blanchard — If they ever play him they will let the opposing team protest if they want to.

Walter Schults—Enclosed find his declaration.

R. D. Patton—Enclosed find his declaration.

Walter Gerow—Belleville had his slip filled in properly in regard to what team he played with.

"The game was a good fast exhibition of ball, and they had the largest crowd that ever attended a game in Oshawa, and Oshawa fans and management are tickled, and are going to Lindsay about 300 strong."

THE COLLEGE HAS BEEN EXONERATED

Methodist Controversy Will Be Allowed to Drop.

(Special to Examiner)

WINNIPEG, June 11.—Wesley College Board has been fully exonerated in connection with dismissal of Rev. Dr. Bland, now of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Irwin according to report of special committee of the Saskatchewan conference, which has been presented to latter body in session in Moosejaw. As result of the finding it is expected long drawn out Methodist controversy will be allowed to drop.

INCREASE IN PRICE OF BEER

PETERBORO DEALERS NOTIFIED OF NEW PRICE SCHEDULE

From to-day two pints of beer will cost the thirsty one 25c. or 15c. a pint, instead of the old stand price of 10c. a pint. The raise is due to a circular received this morning by the local hotels and wine dealers, signed by fifteen brewers, to the effect that "in view of the continued increase in the cost of all materials used in the manufacture of beer as well as the price of containers, during the past year, it has been found necessary to make a change in the prices and terms on all temperance beers."

Here They Are.

Price of pint bottles of beer is increased from 75c. to 85c. a dozen, an increase of 10c., or less than a cent. a bottle, and $1.75 for a dozen quarts. Barrels of beer are increased from $9 to $10.

Mr. P. J. Kenny stated that he was of the opinion that it was just a holdup. The brewers tell the hotel men to reduce the size of the glass to meet the increase, but the hotelmen think that the glass is small enough now. "They are only taking advantage of the hot weather," stated one dealer.

REPAIRS TO SAM'S PRIVATE COACH

"LION OF LINDSAY" COSTS COUNTRY A LOT OF MONEY.

OTTAWA, June 11.—Expenditures by the Government on private cars, particularly Sir Sam Hughes' private car, "Roleen," were probed by the Public Accounts committee this morning. Col. Winters stated that the car was formerly a Pulman and was purchased in Chicago for $9,752 in 1912. Repairs to the extent of $1,500 were then made, and after the car had been used for five years, further repairs, costing $27,848, were made. Experts on the Railway Commission staff said at the time that the charges were not excessive. The car was practically rebuilt. It was pointed out that private cars built to carry Royalties had cost only $35,000, but they were built before the war.

WILL BE PLAYED ON MONDAY NIGHT

Last night's game between Orientals and De Laval, called on account of rain at the end of the fourth innings, will be played off on Monday night next, instead of on Friday of this week.

This will leave Friday open for a final practice of the Central Ontario League team before the game in Belleville on Saturday.

The young man who hustles for a job will get his name on the pay roll quicker than the one who applies for a position.

OAK HALL

A SUMMARY OF FARM CONDITIONS

FRUITS OF ALL KINDS ARE LIKELY TO YIELD WELL:

The following is a summary of reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The quick germination of seed and the tremendous growth of vegetation have been remarkable during the past week or ten days.

Recent heavy rains have much relieved the baked conditions of clay soils, but a considerable acreage of heavy land is likely to remain more or less unworkable for spring crops. Owing to the lateness of the sowing season a good deal of buckwheat and millet, and some peas and oats for pasture, will be put in. A larger area of corn is also being planted, and the seed is said to have sprouted well.

Sugar beets and mangels have started nicely, and turnips are now being sown.

Clover is also making generous growth, and will be ready for cutting about the end of the month. Alfalfa will get the first general cut next week.

Fruits of all kinds are likely to yield well. Early strawberries will get their first picking this week. Halton reports that growers will be getting from 18c. a basket upwards.

Cattle are doing well on the grass, but prices for beef have declined, and sales are consequently low. Dairy cattle, however, are in strong demand at from $100 to $200, according to herd or individual performance. The milk flow has increased with pasture, and cheese is now being boarded at from 30 1-4 to 31 1-2c. a lb. for the better makes.

Hog Prices.

Working horses have suffered greatly from the intense heat of the last two weeks. Many animals were prostrated, some of which died, the largest number of fatalities being reported from Lennox and Addington, Frontenac, and Leeds and Grenville.

Sheep have done well this season. Elgin reports that more wool than usual is being sent to Guelph.

Fodder supplies will be sufficient for present need, although hay is very scarce and dear.

York reports that farmers' sons and others returning from overseas are helping out the situation to some extent.

Tractors are increasing in popularity. The Lennox and Addington representative reports that twelve were sold in Napanee during the last week, and claims that there will be one hundred in operation in that county before the end of the present year.

WILL GIVE CHILD BACK TO MOTHER

PROPOSED BY-LAW DISCUSSED BY CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

At the monthly meeting of the Childrens' Aid Society, held yesterday afternoon, Mr. C. H. Pennefather tendered his resignation from the Board on account of his removal from the city. No action was taken.

Suggested a By-law.

In the interests of illegitimate children, Dr. D. C. King asked that a by-law should be suggested to the City Council whereby foster homes for such children should be licensed and under the supervision of the Medical Health authorities. Several cases of neglect to children taken into homes were quoted. Dr. King was instructed to gather data available on the subject to present to the Board of Health. He, the President, Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. Knox will approach the Board of Health with object of having the by-law passed.

Those Present.

The members present were: Rev. C. J. Phelan, Dr. King, Mrs. J. J. Knox, Mr. E. A. Peck, Mr. G. W. Powell, Ald. Edgar, Mrs. Stecker, Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Kimberly, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Mrs. Evans.

Return Child.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield, city solicitor, made an eloquent appeal for the restoration of a child, who was made some time ago a ward of the Society, to the child's widowed mother, who has a chance to return to England to her husband's people, who reside in Birmingham. Mr. Powell reported that the boy had been placed in charge of the Shelter as his mother couldn ot control him. On motion of Ald. Edgar, who contended that the child's place is with his mother, it was decided to let him return to the mother directly arrangements satisfactory to the society can be made for his transportation. Rev. C. J. Phelan urged that the past should be forgotten and the child returned to the mother.

Two Applications.

The matron's report showed 9 children in the home at present, 13 in the Shelter during the month.

Mr. Powell reported 2 applications for children durin gthe month.

Coal For Shelter.

Alderman Edgar reported five tons of nut coal bought for the Shelter from the city and that the furnace coal would be bought from the same source presently.

PONTYPOOL CHURCH CLOSES CAMPAIGN

OBJECTIVE REACHED—LAST OF SPECIAL SERVICES.

The opening services of the Pontypool Methodist Church were brought to a successful conclusion Monday evening after every objective had been reached.

Large crowds enjoyed Rev. Wm. Higg's sermons on Sunday; and another treat was added yesterday in the visit of Mr. Jas. Dyer of Toronto soloist and entertainer.

Captain Andrews, a former pastor spoke words of congratulations to those who had carried along the project of church building. Enthusiasm ran high when the pastor, Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, B.A., brought out the clock which marked the progress of the campaign, which aimed to get $8,000 promised on a three year's scheme. Last week left a balance of $450 to which had to be added about $600 interest. The young people had their innings this time and subscribed well. A great cheer greeted the latest arrival from overseas Pte. J. Kirby, whose subscription moved the clock passed the objective, and it still went on, until, after including a moderate amount for the 3 successive anniversaries, the grand total stood at $8590. Then the doxology was sung, for feelings ran high, and gratitude to God was greatly evident.

The Trustees of the new church, are W. H. Pollard, J. W. Glenney, W. H. Hooper, Wm. Ridge, John Aldread, Robert Beggs and F. E. Cain.

The church has a spacious basement and one of the features of the auditorium is the circular window donated from the old Charlotte street Methodist church. A shed has been built in the rear and included in the scheme.

ANOTHER BIG MOTOR PLANT FOR ASHAWA

As a part of the expansion policy of the General Motors of Canada, Limited, an assembling plant will be erected in Oshawa by the Oldsmobile Company. Plans have been drawn up for a building 400 by 80 feet, four stories in height, of reinforced concrete construction. Trucks as well will be assembled at the new Oshawa plan. A second building is to be erected by the General Motors Company that will be used for shipping purposes. A third building will be constructed as a combined enamelling plant. Some of the present buildings and equipment will be increased materially.

MILK REPORTED BELOW STANDARD

MILK TESTS FOR THE PAST MONTH —BOARD INDIGNANT.

Two milk dealers were below the standard test in the report submitted at the Board of Health last evening by Sanitary Inspector Stapleton, and the members of the Board were indignant that such a condition should exist at this time of the year when plenty of pasturage is available for cows.

Mr. Stapleton was given definite instructions to remind the dealers whose milk is below the 3 per cent. standard that it must not occur again.

HOT SPELL HITS LOCAL HOSPITAL

Isolation Hospital to be Equipped With Electric Fans.

The recent hot spell evidently was not discriminating, as the matron of the Isolation Hospital asked that two fans be installed in the institution as the patients suffered greatly from the heat. The Board decided to ask the different electrical dealers of the city for prices on two twelve inch oscillating fans.

The Board decided to ask Miss Bertha Maury, formerly matron of Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, who went overseas and is now completing a special course in Toronto, whether she intends to return to the city and take her former position at the hospital. Her position is being kept open for her until the Board especially requests an early reply.

Two residents on Gilchrist street asked that a sewer be constructed there—Referred to the City Council.

WELCOME HOME FOR NORWOOD VETERANS

ANOTHER LARGE RECEPTION HELD IN NORWOOD FRIDAY NIGHT.

NORWOOD, June 11.—The large auditorium of the town hall was again filled with citizens on Friday night when sixteen Norwood soldiers were formally welcomed back to their old home town.

The hall was suitably decorated and the band assisted in making the evening a success by rendering a varied program of patriotic numbers.

The proceedings were opened in a novel manner, by the band playing "The Maple Leaf," during which the returning veterans, led by the High School Cadets, chairman and speakers, marched through the main door at the rear of the audience, up the aisle, and took their places on the platform to the ringing cheers of the large gathering.

The following were the heroes welcomed:

Capt. H. O. D. Wilkins,
Lieut. Webb,
Lieut. Earl Cummings
Corp. James Baskin M.M.,
Corp. W. J. Stares,
Corp. Ed. Bettis,

Pte. P. Killingbeck,
Pte. David Starke,
Pte. Wesley Stevenson,
Pte. Geo. Walker.
Pte. Cecil Watson.

The list also included five other returned men, who far various reasons were unable to attend. These were:

Sgt. A. Wellman,
Pte. H. McMaster,
Pte. Stacey Bush,
Corp. L. Norris,
Pte. G. Digby,
Pte. Frank Hendren.

DR. GEORGE CLINTON WAS IN THE CITY

INSPECTED A SECTION OF THE KAWARTHA LAKE DISTRICT.

Dr. George Clinton of Belleville, district officer of health with headquarters in Belleville, was present at the meeting of the Board of Health last night after making an inspection of a number of summer residences in the Kawartha Lakes which were reported to be in bad condition. The doctor was asked for his opinion of an ideal location for a sewage disposal plant but he referred the Board to the Provincial Health Board. He stted that the plans for the plant must be approved of by the provincial board before debentures are issued.

The doctor also referred to instances where sewage connection should be made and that the Sanitary Inspector has the power to prosecute all citizens who refuse to connect with the city sewage system. All that is required is the signature of the Medical Officer of Health.

Dr. Clinton—"The cost can be included in the man's taxes for a period of five years. That is a statutory law."

"There'll be some trouble if you enforce that," stated Mr. Stapleton "On cheap houses the landlords will raise the rents to compensate themselves for the cost of installation."

"It is in the interests of public health", said Mayor Duncan.

Economical—
Because It Covers More

EVEN if this paint were sold at a price half as high again as any other—it would still be the economical paint to use on your house. Its sheer covering capacity it has no equal. A gallon of it goes so far that you'll buy less of it and yet do more with it.

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT

This paint is guaranteed to possess as its important basis the above formula which we inscribe on every can.

The result of such a formula is all that you could ask in brilliancy of color and in proper "body"—a paint which gives a fine lasting finish, excelling all others in "covering capacity" and in durability. Paint with B-H "English" Paint—and your home is protected for years, where a coat of ordinary paint will last but a few months.

57TH CHAPTER GARDEN PARTY

Yesterday afternoon and evening "Athol Place" the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Eastwood was the scene of a brilliant social function when, under the auspices of the 57th Chapter I.O.D.E., a garden party was held on the grounds. The lawns presented a gala and festive appearance with their tasteful decorations of flags of the Allies interspersed with gay Chinese lanterns while the tents and prettily decorated booths completed the alluring scene.

The Booths

At intervals on the lawns booths containing attractions for young and old were prettily arranged. On entering the gate a tent with posters containing the information that black magic was practiced within was supervised by Dr. Violet Dover, who foretold the future for scores of young people. The prettily decorated candy table was supervised by Miss Maud Rush who had great difficulty in meeting all the orders for the good things she and her assistants had provided. The iced drinks were under the convenorship of Mrs. E. B. Clegg the tea, Mrs. E. F. Mason, the flowers Mrs. Manson Comstock, and the fish pond Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Gordon Hall acted as treasurer at the gate.

Bridge Prize.

Mr. C. R. Whitfield was in charge of the bridge tables and Miss May Denne won the prize for the afternoon.

In the evening in spite of the threatening skies and intermittent down pours of rain the occasion was well patronized and the 57th band with a splendid programme provided an irresistible attraction. Mrs. Eastwood, who made a charming hostess invited the guests to sit on the spacious verandahs when the weather forbade their wandering about the lawns.

Those Present

A few of those present were Mrs. J. H. Eastwood Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Carnegie, Miss N. Perry, Mrs. B. D. Hall, Mrs. J. THE STRIKE SITUATION

SERGT. F. COPPINS, V.C., BADLY BEATEN UP AND NOT EXPECTED TO RECOVER.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, June 11.—Steps were taken to-day by Mayor Gray to prevent a repetition of the clash last night when a crowd of strikers pulled Sgt. Frederick Roppins, V.C., special constable, from his horse and beat him so severely that he is not expected to recover. Additional special constables were sworn in to take the place of policemen who were discharged because they refused to sign an oath not to go out on a sympathetic strike, and the Mayor said he believed that sufficient mounted constables were now in service of the city to prevent any further disorders of a serious character. Further desertions from their ranks were to-day admitted by strike leaders, and it was announced that an attempt would be made to-morrow to run street cars which have been out of service for three weeks.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM M.P., ON THE ORDER PAPER

ENQUIRIES INTO WAGES PAID LABOURERS ON TRENT CANAL

OTTAWA, June 11. — Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has put questions on the order paper, asking if labourers on the Trent Canal at Peterborough are receiving 29 1-2 cents per hour, while the district rate is 45c.?

If returned soldiers are in some cases paid less for same work on the canal than others?

If positions in outside civil service announced as open remain unattended so long as to be useless to soldier applicants?

CAUSES OF THE SOCIAL UNREST

Resolution Endorsed at the General Assembly.

(Canadian Press.)

HAMILTON, June 11.—That selfish and vulgar display of wealth at a time when all our resources are required to meet the needs of the world, was one of the chief causes of social unrest and industrial discontent in Canada at the present time, was the text of a resolution submitted to the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day by a committee appointed to report on that subject. Thos. Stewart, of Halifax, was appointed convenor of statistics and joint clerk of assembly in place of the late Rev. Dr. Somerville. The Assembly endorsed a movement to make Thanksgiving Day in Canada the same date as that of the United States.

SPEECH COST HIM SIX DOLLARS WORD

Fine Was Raised $100 in Short Space of Time.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 11.—The usual or minimum fine for neglecting to report for war duty is $200, but Frank Boyd, in the police court to-day, opened his mouth and "spake." After his little speech, Boyd was fined $600 and costs or six months. Boyd's oration, which came between the ordinary $200 an dthe extraordinary $200, was short. "As I am a Christadelphian I did not think that it was my duty to report." These fifteen words, presumably, cost the conscientious one about $6 a word.

WOULD STRIVE TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING

claimed. He thought immigration should be restricted for the time being to farm laborers and domestic servants. He regretted very much the Siberian Expedition and he had not found anyone in Canada to approve of it. The situation in Eastern Russia was serious. Japan had armed about 2,000,000 men when about one-quarter of that number would have been sufficient. Whom were Canadian troops to fight? Nobody knew. It was a political error. It was a military mistake. There was criticism, too, of the War Times Election Act. The franchise in the hands of the Government, Dr. Beland declared, might be as dangerous as the sword in the hands of the despot.

Returning Soldiers First.

With the war over, said Dr. Beland, Canada's soldiers were now returning to their hoes. We extend to them a warm welcome, but we find that they are not the same as when they went away. For four years these men had been learning the arts of war—had been devoting themselves to destructive instead of constructive work. Now they were asked to return to the arts of peace The task of returning them was not an easy one. They could not be regarded in the way the country would regard immigrants. Their point of view was different, and their needs were greater. What the Government should do was to help as many of these men who desired to become farmers to settle on the land. Agriculture was of paramount importance to Canada at the present time. The financial assistance which the Government offered to soldiers who wished to settle on the land was not sufficient incentive. The farmer wanted free agricultural implements. He wanted the admittance of things necessary to make a home. He wanted these things because he needed them.

Farmer and Manufacturer.

The farmer and manufacturer, said Dr. Beland, were both in Canada to stay. While he was not prepared to take up the cause of one as against the other, he was inclined to think the manufacturer had been given the best of it by the past Governments. The manufacturer, it was true, had achieved great things for the country, but he had also achieved great things for himself. Dr. Beland expressed the view that the reciprocity agreement of 1911 would prove acceptable to the people of Canada now.

Dr. Edwards—Did the reciprocity agreement provide for free agricultural implements?

Dr. Beland—It provided for a very substantial reduction in the tariff on agricultural implements. He then went on to refer to the efforts of the Government to obtain new markets by advancing credits to Roumania, Greece, France, Belgium, and, he understood, Italy. He advised the Minister of Finance to go easy in advancing money to Roumania and Greece. They were too near those countries which were in a state of unrest bordering on revolution.

Meeting High Cost of Living.

Dr. Beland hoped that when the Finance Minister issued his new loan it would be subject to taxation. In regard to the cost of living Dr. Beland said there were three ways of meeting it. First, increased production; second, reduced taxation on consumption, and, third, bringing the profiteer to account. He instanced the recent rise in the price of butter and asked why the Government had not intervened to have butter released from cold-storage. There were dangerous agitators in the country. No quarter should be given to them. But no quarter also should be given to the profiteers.

THE TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE EFFECTIVE

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT SIXTY THOUSAND OPERATORS WILL LEAVE THEIR KEYS.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, June 11. — The nation-wide strike of Union commercial telegraphers called by S. J. Konenkamp, International President of the Telegraphers' Union became effective at 7 o'clock this morning, central time.

The companies against which the strike is called include the Western Union Telegraph Co., the Postal Telegraph Co., American Telegraph and Telephone Co. and a number of smaller companies in various parts of the country.

The union officials estimated that sixty thousand telegraphers would leave their keys during the day, and that on June 16th more than one hundred thousand electrical workers would go on strike.

The officials of the telegraph companies asserted that no such number of employees were involved.

The issues involved in the strike include the right to organize and bargain collectively, wages and working conditions.

(2 O'clock Despatch.)
(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Only 166 persons, including 121 operators, out of forty thousand employed by the Western Union throughout the country, were absent from duty at noon to-day, the officials announced in a statement announcing the complete failure of the strike called by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS.

(Special to Examiner.)

NEW YORK, June 11. — Conflicting claims with regard to the progress of the telegraphers' strike called for to-day throughout the United States, were made by the leaders of both parties.

In New York, the Western Union traffic officials declared that 21 out of the morning force of 313 men in the main office were absent when the shift when on duty. There was no interruption of business at the Postal office, it was declared by the operating chiefs. Union pickets at the Postal Office, however, asserted that 100 men of the night shift walked out leaving but four operators at work. One hundred per cent. of the Chicago Western Union working force reported for duty to-day, according to E. T. Jones, Chicago, Chief Operator. No trouble or delay of service was anticipated, said Jones. The officials of the Postal declined to make a statement as to the number of men out, saying all information would be issued from the New York office.

"It looks like a strike to me," said one of the officials of the Union this morning. "But of course it all rests with other people whether or not they are going to avert a strike."

On the other hand the representatives of the Telegraphers' Unions declared at noon that strikers would number sixty thousand by nightfall, including many thousands in the Western Union.

THREE VAGRANTS IN POLICE COURT

CLAIMED TO BE MEMBERS OF THE JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS

Arthur Fleming, of Oakland, California, appearing to be about 20 years of age, and two younger companions, some time members of John Robinson's famous circus, decorated the police court docket this morning on a charge of vagrancy.

The boys told a story which fell on credulous ears. They were members of the circus, and when the main show was over in Toronto the boys went to a restaurant, but on returning to the grounds found that the whole camp had disappeared. They immediately made preparations to catch up to the show and jumped the first freight train east. They worked hard in the box cars for the ride, hauling bags of potatoes and other odd jobs under the direction of the brakeman. They arrived in the city yesterday afternoon about four o'clock and after wandering around the city repaired to the City Cafe on Charlotte street, and after consuming a hearty meal, ordered an extra piece of pie each from the obliging Oriental. When the waiter had returned the boys had disappeared, but were arrested last night at the C.P.R. station by the police. They stated that they were on the look-out for the next freight train going east.

The Chief stated the circus was liable to return the boys to the United States as they were under bond, but one boy stated he was not anxious to return to the sawdust ring, but was looking for another job.

Going East.

The magistrate discharged the boys, but stipulated they must leave the city at once, and they said the first freight train toward Montreal, where the circus is now displaying its wares, would see the last of them in Peterborough. They recovered their empty wallets, rolls of string, bits of glass and other valuable assets from the desk sergeant and made a beeline for the station, but not before Crown Attorney Hatton quietly slipped them a prepossessing green back, evidently believing in Robbie Burns when he wrote, "A man's a man for a' that and a' that."

The tone of communications from Great Britain is warmly in favour of the preference granted to Empire-made goods, says the Canadian Trade Commission.

ADMITTED SHE KEPT BABY FARM

Mrs. Florence Gill Was Fined $100 or 90 Days.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 11.— Mrs. Florence Gill, who has received much publicity in the Women's Court, admitted having kept a baby farm without a license and was fined $100 or 90 days. To the charge of abduction, she pleaded "not guilty" and went to a jury. Two other charges, a maternity case and adopting a child without the consent of the Children's Aid, were withdrawn by the Crown. Mrs. Gill was not granted bail by the Magistrate, but will ask Judge Coatsworth for a bail order. The babe sought for in the Gill case is still missing.

Defective Electric Wiring

You cannot be too careful who does your work, because of the danger to life and property caused by faulty or imperfect workmanship. The lowest price for a given amount of work is at once open to suspicion, because that job is going to be skimped SOMEWHERE. We suggest that you adopt the "Time and Material Method" of having your Wiring installed. CROP PROSPECTS GOOD IN ONTARIO

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 11. — Ontario will not have sown this year as large an acreage of spring grain as last year, according to the crop report from the Department of Agriculture issued to-day, based upon reports from the Department's direct representatives. Heavy clay lands have suffered much from baking, but the recent rains are reported to have somewhat relieved soil conditions. Spring sowing has been much delayed by a consequence. To make up the shortage in the acreage needed to spring grains, buck-wheat, millet, corn, etc. will be planted in large acreage as a supplementary crop. Fall wheat has begun to head out and a good crop, both in grain and straw, seemed assured. There will only be an average crop of hay this year. Fruit orchards promise to yield well, although the intense heat of last week was very severe upon strawberries and smaller fruits.

UFA CAPTURED BY BOLSHEVISTS

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, June 11.—Bolshevik forces on Monday captured Ufa, one of the cities recently taken by troops of Admiral Kolchak after three days of sanguinary fighting, according to a Russian wireless despatch received here to-day. The message adds that Bolshevik airplanes participated in the fighting against Siberians for the first time.

MARRIED.

McLAUGHLIN—NEILL — On Friday morning, June 6th, at Chapel Kingsbury Hall, London, Eng., by Rev. George Jackson, Jean Afflick Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neill, to Captain Hugh J. McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McLaughlin, of Toronto.

WEDDING BELLS

HENDRY—STEWART.

The home of Mrs. J. Stewart, Cavan Township, near Fraserville, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday, 10th June, at 7 p.m., when her daughter Luella became the bride of Thomas Hendry, of Peterborough. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. M. W. Leigh, B.A., of Fraserville, and the Wedding March was played by the bride's sister Edna.

The bride, who was given away by her brother Richard, was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe de chine, with ornamentation in gold, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her sister Florence, in a charming pink gown, assisted her, and Robert Hendry, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

After the ceremony and congratulations, an appetising wedding supper was provided for the thirty guests present, from Oshawa, Hastings, Millbrook, and Peterborough. Many useful and beautiful presents were left for the happy couple as souvenirs and expressions of goodwill.

The evening was spent in music and singing, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hendry motored to Peterborough, where they will reside.

DRUMMOND—RUSH

All Saints Church was thronged with many interested spectators this morning at 11 o'clock when the wedding was solemnized of Helen Dayman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Rush to Mr. Arthur Price Drummond Utica, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Drummond of Montreal, Quebec. The ceremony was performed by the rector of the Church, Rev. R. B. Grobb. Looking very pretty in her travelling suit of sand colored cloth with touches of navy and hat to match and wearing a corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses, and lillies of the valley, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Sidney Rush to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Maggie Flowers. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude Rush, who wore a charming costume of sunset rose with slate blue trimmings and a corsage bouquet of ophelia roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. George E. A. Drummond of Montreal. During the signing of the register Mr. Chandles sang "Oh, Promise Me".

Immediately after the ceremony amid showers of confetti Mr. and Mrs. Drummond left by the 11.50 for Montreal from whence they will motor to New York. They will reside in Utica.

The church had been charmingly decorated for the occasion with carnations and white flowers by the firends of the bride. Mr. John Brightman and Mr. Herbert Rush were ushers.

OBITUARY

The Cork, Ireland, Daily Examiner of May 27th, contains the following obituary of the late George Baylor, of Duntahane, Fermoy, Cork Co., Ireland. The deceased was the oldest brother of the late Mrs. William Menzies, this city.

Death of Veteran Fermoy Nationalist

Deep and sincere regret has been felt in Fermoy by the news of the death of Mr. George Baylor, R.D.C., Duntahane, especially by sterling Nationalists of the old school of constitutionalists, by whom Mr. Baylor's demise is regarded as a personal loss of a great and irreparable character. Although of a different religious persuasion from the majority of Southern Nationalists, the deceased gentleman enjoyed the friendship and confidence of his colleagues in the many strenuous agitations against British misrule since the inception of the heroic struggle against landlordism in the middle seventies down to the present day. Mr. Baylor, was ever a staunch and prominent Home Ruler, and his influence and his purse were always ready to support the principles which he so ardently advocated. He was a great friend of the late Rev. Fr. Kennedy, and the Irish Parliamentary Party had no truer friend and follower in the South, and no meeting of Nationalists in Fermoy was considered complete without his presence. For upwards of forty years he represented the Fermoy Electoral Division on the Poor Law and District Council Boards, being elected time after time without opposition. True, a few years ago, when party politics were in a fever of excitement, he was defeated by a small majority, but at the first meeting of the newly-formed Council was unanimously co-opted a member. In private life Mr. Baylor, was a decent, honourable, straightforward gentleman, a good neighbour, and a generous and constant friend to the poor. As a farmer on a fairly large scale, he adopted the most successful and up-to-date methods, and the store of knowledge he had acquired from ripe and varied experience was always at the disposal of his fellow-tillers of the soil. Mr. Baylor's death even though at an advanced age, is much lamented throughout the Fermoy district, and has occasioned a void which it will be indeed difficult to fill. The funeral took place from Dunatahane to the family burial place at Castlehyde on Friday, and was in every respect symbolic of the esteem, popularity and respect in which the deceased gentleman was held, all sections and creeds in the town and district being represented. Very Rev Canon Abbott officiated at the obsequies, and a number of beautiful wreaths were placed on the grave. The chief mourners were — Mr. George Baylor (nephew-. Mrs. M. Cone (niece), Dr. R. S. Baylor, solr; Messrs William Baylor and Thomas Baylor. Among the general public were—Messrs. E. J. Quinlan, J.P., Chairman Urban Council; Thomas Magnier, J.P., P.L.G.; Thomas Rice, U.D.C., P.L.G.; James Barry, P.L.G.; John Daly R.D.C.; Denis Stack, R.D.C.; W.J. Magnier, solr.; D. L. O'Gorman, J.P., M.C.C.; Peter O'Neill, Clerk of Union; etc.

At the weekly meeting of the Fermoy Board of Guardians held on Saturday, Mr. Denis Stack (chairman) presiding, Mr. M. Riordan referred to the death of their colleague, Mr. George Baylor, and said he proposed the adjournment of the Board as a mark of respect to his memory, and that the sympathy of the Guardians be conveyed to the relatives. Mr. Baylor was one of their most respected and oldest members and a Protestant, and the least they could do was to adjourn the business. The Chairman said he was very sorry the occasion had arisen. He would second the motion.—The motion was then passed and the meeting adjourned.

HONOR LIST WITHOUT PEERS

King's Birthday Awards Few—Vesta Tilley Now Lady de Frece.

LONDON.—The Prime Minister's list of honors in celebration of King's birthday, constitutes a record for an occasion of the kind in that it does not record a single elevation to the peerage, a single admission to the British or Irish Privy Council, nor a single baronetcy.

The explanation is understood to be that it has been cut down to the lowest practicable minimum in view of the hope for the conclusion of peace, which will doubtless be followed by bestowals of the usual kind.

Meanwhile, the Premier's list records no political awards at all, but is largely made up of rewards to civil servants for long and faithful service.

The new knights announced include Walter de Frece, who is thus rewarded for services he rendered at the Ministry of Pensions. He is a well-known theatrical manager, and controls a big circuit of vaudeville theatres. His wife, who becomes Lady de Frece, is best known as Vesta Tilley, the popular male impersonator on the vaudeville stage.

Remember this! Paint insurance on your buildings is just as important as fire insurance.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS & VARNISHES

Fire may never come, but the deteriorating effect of the weather on buildings of every kind is certain, unless protected by paint.

Unprotected wooden surfaces crack and become open and porous, then decay and rot starts. This means expensive repairs, which can all be avoided by the regular use of paint.

Examine your buildings now—A little money spent in painting at once may save you much larger expenditure a little later.

Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared, is the ideal paint for outside use. It is made of the purest and best materials, thoroughly mixed and ground by powerful machinery according to special formulas, the result of years of experiment and experience in paint making.

PRESIDENT OF THE C.P.R. DEALS WITH MANY ISSUES OF THE DAY

(Special to The Examiner.)

FORT WILLIAM, June 11. — Speaking before 140 of Fort William's most prominent business men today at the Canadian Club luncheon, President E. W. Beatty, K.C., of the Canadian Pacific Railway dwelt at length upon the government ownership of railways. He said that we needed apology for speaking on a matter which was engrossing serious attention of all thinking Canadians what is to be ultimate end of Canadian Railways and under what method of administration to be managed. The officers of the C. P. R. were entitled to have some knowledge and some views on the subject, as the system possessed 13,770 miles on Canada, of which 850 were west of the Great Lakes.

Mr. Beatty said that government ownership of railways have much to recommend it, in theory and government, till it has been determined whether government management is feasible or even possible. They had recently had the benefit of the results of experiments in Great Britain and the United States, the American systems broke down when put to the test, both physically and financially. The deficits were enormous and the efficacy and character were lessened to an alarming degree. As a result of that experience he thought it was safe to say that vestige of desire for government operation of those utilities has departed from this majority of the American people.

Inside Factors.

Mr. Beatty stated that it might be said his own views were prejudiced and they were prejuriced to the extent that they were the result of eighteen years intimate asso in with the workings of one railway company, and an appreciation from inside factors contributed to its efficacy and success.

It had now reached an efficiency in all ranks which he hoped it would now be easier to maintain, but it couldn't have been developed, not maintained without the enterprise, loyal initiative and esprit de corps of the officers and men of the company. There was something which gave rise to that spirit which came from within the organization and he would need to be assured that the spirit would be prevoked before he would cast vote for a permanent policy of government owners and operation. It was not possible in his opinion, to divorce the responsibility for operation from those upon whom rested the responsibility for the results. In theory, it might seem reasonable, but in practice he was convinced it would be found impossible to persuade those who voted the money for those enterprises to exclude themselves entirely from the administration of the properties for which they supplied the money.

Adduce Evidence.

The crux of the whole thing lay with the ability of the governments to carry on enterprises such as that with the same competency and efficiency as private owners. He was not attempting to persuade his hearers to his views that they were not unalterable, but he had not yet found anyone who could adduce evidence of the success of a government operated system in former days, or in other countries where similar conditions prevailed.

Before they adopted a similar policy of which would saddle them with the principals of public ownership and operation of their systems, they should, he thought, be very sure of this ground. Last summer the railways of the country were threatened with very serious labor troubles, wage adjustments, were made and rates raised, but the individual difficulties due to unrest did not thereby disappear. The railways, in conjunction with the government and Labor Unions adopted a course without precedent in the history of Canada.

Their heads sat around a table, discussed the best method to adopt, and in the end constituted what was known as the railway board of adjustment No. 1, composed of six representatives of the Labor Unions and six railway executives, to settle disputes, in some cases involving half a dozen minor differences, each one of which might have precipitated a strike, had been determined by the board, and in no case had there been an absence of agreement and in no case had either the executives or the men complained that substantial justice was not done.

Wage Scale.

Mr. Beatty said they were all aware of the high scale of wages now existing in this country, and of the prevailing unrest. As representing a company whose operating expenses had increased by $34,000,000 in the short period of two years, he had some experience of the manner in which those rapidly increasing costs affected large enterprises, they were all disposed to attribute those things to the high cost of living, but, few, if any of them knew what was responsible for it, or what its ingredients were.

The recent announcement of the investigation by the government was undoubtedly the first step to be taken because if those costs were improper, they should know where the unfairness rested; if they were otherwise they must take a means to ensure their ability to meet those higher standards of living.

Mr. Beatty closed an interresting address by saying that conventions will be held this summer in the west for the purpose of developing the natural resources of the three western provinces and of establishing of industries there in order that they might be more selft-contained.

Last Words.

His last words were: "in dealing with this question, gentlemen, please remember that your prosperity is the railway's prosperity and that their interests are always your interests."

This morning the president, together with their railway officials including A. D. Mactier, Montreal, J. J. Scully, North Bay, D. C. Coleman, A. E. Stevens, Winnipeg, S. W. Crabbe, Schreiber, A. A. F. Hawkins, Fort William, were taken for a sail around the harbors in the tug Pratt by the leading citizens of Fort William and Port Arthur.

The president's special left for the East immediately after the luncheon at four o'clock this afternoon. He arrived here Sunday evening at 6.45 by special train from Winnipeg and was taken for an automobile tour of the two cities during the evening.

KLIM

Of Course, You'll Like It!

That is one advantage Klim has over other milks sold in tins. It has the natural flavor that you have always been accustomed to. Klim is powdered separated milk. It is rich in proteins and carbohydrates, which are the body-building parts of milk. In its dry powdered form, Klim remains sweet and fresh until all used. No bother. No waste. Think of the convenience of having a tin of Klim always ready for use. Make it into liquid by simply adding water. It whips to cream in a whip or egg-beater. It is a necessity! FOREST BALLOON SERVICE TO STOP FIRES AT START

It is safe to predict that destructive forest fires will soon go out of fashion as a result of the many preventive measures being taken. Quite the latest is the forest balloon service. Experiments at any army balloon school have shown that the innovation is entirely practicable, and most efficient when in the hands of trained observers, who can spot a blue wisp of smoke miles away. The observer's telephone will be an essential part of the system that will spread the fire alarm through the great forests.—

MAXWELL-CHALMERS IN CANADA NOW HEADED BY GEORGE W. PARKS.

New Chief of Big Progressive Institution has had Wide Business Career.

A SIGNIFICANT STEP.

Plans Outlined by the New Executive Mean Extension of Strictly Canadian Policy.

The announcement that George W. Parks has been elected President and General Manager of both the Maxwell Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and the Chalmers Motor Company of Canada, Limited, reveals what is perhaps the most significant development that has taken place this year in Canadian automobile circles. The great expansion of the business which will come under Mr. Park's direction, will be along the lines of the past-formed policy of the company to be a dominant Canadian factor in Canadian business. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been invested in Canadian plants. An increasingly large percentage of both the Maxwell and Chalmers cars has been manufactured in Canada. With the election of Mr. Parks as president of the Canadian companies the policy of making the Maxwell-Chalmers organization in Canada a separate identity will be further emphasized. At the same time the Canadian company will continue to enjoy all the advantages and facilities afforded by the nine large factories operated by the parent company in the United States.

GEORGE W. PARKS.

Mr. Parks has had a broad and extensive business experience. In his younger days he gained valuable training in the sales department of a New England amnufacturing concern. Later on he was junior partner and subsequently owner of a manufacturing business in Rhode Island. Withdrawing from this business, he organized the George W. Parks Co., a manufacturing concern, which enjoyed splendid business until the outbreak of the world war. The "non-essential" character of this business prompted him to close down this factory and since that time he has been devoting his whole time to war work. Thus the career of Mr. Parks has included manufacturing, salesmanship, organization and management, and should qualify him admirably for guiding the development of the Canadian institution with which he has become identified.

"I have faith in Canada — in its wonderful future," said Mr. Parks, in the first interview he gave as head of the Maxwell-Chalmers Canadian institution. "I feel that there are great possibilities for any business in Canada, especially in the automobile field. That is the big reason I have for linking up my destiny with those of the Maxwell and Chalmers cars in Canada. I hope to see this business grow to one of the outstanding industries in the Dominion, buying its supplies in Canada, financing its operations and doing its banking in Canada, marketing its vast output in Canada."

BORED THROUGH CAR BOTTOM AND TAPPED BARREL OF RUM

COBALT, June 10.—Joe Taillon has pleaded guilty —to an ingenious theft of rum destined for Jack Tars in the British navy, whose base is at Esquimalt, B. C., and the police are also searching for one C. E. Fisher in connection with the robbery. Both men were employed here by the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, Taillon as janitor and Fisher as operator. In a car shipped from Halifax to the coast were 11 barrels of rum. The car happened to be held here on account of the embargo on goods going west, and while in the yards an entrance was made into one barrel by boring through the floor of the car. The police were notified and Chief Constable Swan of the T. and N. O. and Provincial Inspector Rowell discovered a 36-gallon gasoline drum filled with the liquor, hidden in the muskeg south of the station. They traced the robbery to Taillon, who was arrested. Fisher has disappeared.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Troublesome Tenant

By AGNES G. BROGAN

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

July 14th.

Mr. Amos Giles.

Dear Sir: I have been greatly inconvenienced since moving into the house rented from you a week ago—by a leakage in the roof directly over the cook stove. Also, the stove cannot be made to cook. Will you kindly send your agent, immediately upon receipt of this, to attend to the matter, and oblige, the new tenant?

BELINDA BRIGGS.

Lyndenville, July 15th.

Belinda Briggs.

Dear Madam: I understand that my agent stated, when renting the house, that it was offered at present low figure, because of its impaired condition, the understanding being that occupant could afford needed repairs because of the decided reduction in price. This is still condition of agreement. Truly yours,

AMOS GILES.

Lyndeaville, July 16th.

Mr. Amos Giles:

No one could possibly agree to have rain pouring on their victuals at any low figure. The deceiving man who rented your house, suggested merely, that desired alterations might be accomplished with the reduction of rent. What are you going to do about it?

B. BRIGGS.

July 17th.

Belinda Briggs.

Dear Madam: Will send man to fix roof. Any further difficulty will have to be remedied at your own expense.

A. GILES.

July 20th.

Dear Mr. Giles:

It is now the bedroom roof which leaks. Damp sleeping rooms are bad for rheumatism. Will you send your workman over again as soon as possible? BELINDA BRIGGS.

July 20th.

My Dear Mrs. Briggs:

It will be impossible for me to attend to any more repairing. Why can't you send your husband up to fix the leak? A. GILES.

July 21st.

If I had a husband, he never would have rented this house. Only a lone woman could be so imposed upon. I am going to move out.

BELINDA BRIGGS.

July 22nd.

Miss Briggs:

Some other place will probably be more conducive to the improvement of your rheumatic condition. My agent failed to inform me that he had rented the place to an elderly woman living alone. Will you forward key at once, as I wish to take possession of the house myself. A. GILES.

July 22nd.

Mr. Giles:

Enclosed find key. Would like to add, that I might have made my complaint less peremptory, had I known that you were an elderly invalid. You were pointed out to me only this morning at the post office.

May I suggest the south bedroom as the most healthful in your house?

Sincerely,

BELINDA BRIGGS.

P. S.—Have taken for the summer, the small cottage across the way.

B. B.

July 29, Lyndenville.

My Dear Miss Briggs:

Pardon what may appear impertinent curiosity. Was it not the white cottage opposite, which you had rented for the summer? And was I not given to understand that you live alone? Yet this afternoon, a young and beautiful girl suddenly faced me from the window seat of my own living room, beneath which she explained, she had left her music while occupying this house; possessing the music, she passed out of my house and directly over to yours. I may also add that I have inadvertently noticed the young woman from time to time in your garden. Was it by your authority, Miss Briggs, that she came for the music? Respectfully,

AMOS GILES.

July 29th.

Dear Mr. Giles:

Am returning answer by messenger. I, Belinda Briggs, went for the music; I must be your "young and beautiful girl." I never told you that I was old or rheumatic, but merely mentioned the fact that damp is injurious to rheumatism. I'm working out here on a book of children's stories and my bulldog is my sole companion. But this is very perplexing. It was a youngish man who faced me at the window seat today, you, I did not see at all. Perhaps my spinsterish name made you think me old, that's why I like to call myself just—

LINDA.

July 29th.

Miss Linda Briggs—by same messenger:

The youngish (make it young) man who faced you today at the window was your late landlord—though I'm not a "dead one." In fact—I never felt so in love with life before. Old Amos is my grandfather, and I guess he handed over this old rookery to me, in compensation for his ancient name. I hoped to sell the house and cut short my enforced stay in the village. But now—I want to have my car sent out—and linger in this beautiful spot. I confess I never realized its full glory until today. May I come over to apologize for my rudeness? Please say yes. Yours, A. GILES.

Mr. Giles—again by same messenger:

You may come. The bulldog approves. "LINDA!"

STOP HEADACHES BEFOREHAND

You never had a headache when you were well.

To keep well is to keep clean, inside.

To relieve headache, and to prevent it, keep the liver active and industrious and the bowels as regular as a clock.

Two generations of healthy, vigorous people have done this by taking one pill at bedtime, regularly—a larger dose when nature gives the warning.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bears Signature

CARTER'S IRON PILLS will help this condition.

A "Joker."

A "joker" is a word or clause of innocent appearance, inserted in a bill before the Congress in such a way as to make the bill mean something which some who voted for it did not think it meant. Thus members are sometimes entrapped into voting for a bill which they would have opposed had they understood its real purport.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL FOR SINN FEIN MEMBER

DUBLIN, June 9. — Lawrence Ginnell, Sinn Fein member of the House of Commons for West Meath, was yesterday sentenced at Hullingar to four months imprisonment for inciting disaffection and boycotting of the police in a speech.

Lawrence Ginnell was arrested on May 30, in connection with a speech delivered at a forbidden meeting at Athlone, on May 5, which was broken up by British troops. Several persons were wounded in the clash between the troops and those attending the meeting.

MILBURNS' LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

Act as a stimulant to the sluggish liver, clean the furred tongue, sweeten the foul, obnoxious breath, and clear away all the poisonous accumulations from the system by causing the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day, thus preventing as well as curing constipation, sick headaches, bilious headaches, water brash, heartburn, and all diseases arising from a lazy, slow or torpid liver.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old-fashioned purgatives.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N.B., writes: "I have been using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies, but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers, as I think they are a valuable remedy."

When you go to your dealer and ask for Laxa-Liver Pills, see that you get the genuine "Milburn's." Price 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

TIMELY RESCUE IN HASTINGS—GENERAL NEWS FROM HASTINGS

HASTINGS, June 11.—A drowning accident was narrowly averted on Saturday morning, when Miss Josephine Blue, town, while bathing, was caught by the current and was rapidly being drawn to her death, when fortunately Dr. De La Matter, who resides on the river bank close by, seeing the extreme danger to which the young girl was exposed, hastily ran and jumping in, saved her from a watery grave. She was taken to the doctor's office, and everything done to resuscitate her, after which she was taken to her home. She is none the worse for her trying experience.

A Concert.

Under the auspices of the local Chapter of the I.O.D.E., the Murray Street Baptist Choir of Peterborough gave a grand concert in the Town Hall on Friday night, before a very appreciative audience. Those present report an excellent programme of readings, vocal and instrumental music.

Mr. Asa Huycke, of Peterborough, was in town on Friday.

Owing to the concert on Friday evening, the Council meeting was withdrawn.

Half-Holiday.

The local merchants have decided that beginning with Wednesday last, the half-holiday will be observed for the months of June, July, and August.

A large number from Hastings and vicinity went to Peterborough on Saturday to take in the circus. A large crowd is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomson are moving into their new residence on Front Street, recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Buck.

Occasional showers have materially assisted in reducing the extreme temperature of the past week.

Lost a Horse.

Mr. John Buck and Mr. W. Buck each lost a horse last week from sunstroke.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Doherty are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter.

Mr. Alex. Fleming, of Trenton, spent Sunday in town.

Miss Carrie Hayden, of Port Hope, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Greenley and daughter Helen, of Toronto, are holidaying with friends in town.

Mrs. D. Merrill, of Percy, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver.

Mrs. Birdsall has returned from Montreal, where she attended the convention of the I. O. D. E.

Mr. E. Pettigrew has moved his barber shop into the Howard Block, into the premises formerly occupied by the late Mr. John Tracey.

Mrs. Malcolm Baker and Mrs. T. Kelly spent the week-end with friends in Peterborough.

Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Hess spent Sunday in Smithfield with Rev. and Mrs. Anderson and family.

The House of Eddy

A Factor in Canadian Life

IT is probable that not a day goes by in which the House of Eddy does not make life more comfortable and convenient for you. Eddy Products—Eddy Conveniences—are woven into the very fabric of Canadian life. You light the kitchen fire, or the gas-grate of a morning—or perhaps your pipe, and the comfortable glow springs from the end of an Eddy match-stick.

Eddy's Products are Products of Convenience

Eddy's Indurated Fibreware Pails, Washtubs and Washboards are widely used on the farm and in the cities. Your butter was shipped in an Eddy Butter Tub, which kept it free from taint or odor. Eddy Milk Pails play their part in keeping your supply clean and sweet. Your purchases from the store are sent home in Eddy Paper Bags. It is highly probable that the newspaper you are now reading is printed on paper which was made at Hull—by Eddy.

Eddy's Matches, Indurated Fibreware, Paper and Paper Specialties all contribute to make Canadian life more convenient. Since 1851 the House of Eddy has been bending its energies toward this one end.

AprOl has become a regular item on the grocery lists of the people who trade at these stores. They have tried it and proved it to be "the best" Oil.

Are you one of the down-to-date housewives who is using this "Economy" Oil—AprOl—and thus helping to save butter and lard?

If you have not already tried it—the sooner you procure a bottle, the better pleased you will be.

You will wonder just how you ever managed your cuisine without it.

Then, too, it is so convenient—and so really inexpensive—that it is indeed a household necessity.

AprOl is the only Fat that is equally suitable—and practicable—for all Table and Culinary use. It is—

The Oil that's Better for All culinary Uses & Purposes in every way

The Oil that so many housewives are now talking about—the Oil that makes delicious dishes more delicious—that saves time and makes cooking a pleasure.

Because of the absolute purity of AprOl, the quantity of fat ordinarily used can be diminished by about half, when AprOl is employed.

To those accustomed to using Olive Oil, AprOl will be a boon, for, owing to scarcity and price conditions, pure Olive Oil is practically out of the question.

REMEMBER! AprOl is a pure, unadulterated Table Oil and a perfect "Economy" shortening and frying medium—the Oil that is made from the ripe kernels of Apricots and Peaches.

Let us divide our Profits

50-50 with you. A 1c to 4c Coupon—like the above—with every bottle of AprOl. And every AprOl dealer redeems these, in trade, at full face value.

And read, here, what your neighbors say:

"I can certainly say that AprOl makes the most delicious boiled mayonnaise I ever tasted; I could never use Olive Oil and used butter instead, which ofttimes curdled and at all times dried on sides of bowl. AprOl keeps perfectly fresh two weeks or more. Try it on Waldorf Salad (apple, walnut, celery)." (Signed)

"I was very much interested in the sample of AprOl which you gave me the other day. I took it up to the house, and they used it both in salad dressing and in cooking; and we have all enjoyed the rather different flavour very much; it seems to make a perfect mayonnaise and salad dressing; and its nutty taste makes it a welcome variation on the standard Olive Oil, which in other respects it seems to equal in every way. I should fancy that it would find a ready sale as soon as people have tried it." (Signed)

"I have tested your AprOl in many ways and find it very excellent for cakes, puddings, and salad dressing, and would recommend it to anyone." (Signed)

"Having used AprOl in frying eggs, making mayonnaise dressing, and also plain cake, I find it very superior as a shortening; for where I always use ½ cup of butter I use less than ¼ cup of AprOl. It is, therefore, more economical and gives better results. AprOl is certainly a first-class shortening." (Signed)

"I have used AprOl for salads, cakes and frying purposes. In using it for salads, I find the flavour much more pleasant than Olive Oil. I have also tried it for cakes, and find that, by using it in the proportion of half the quantity of butter, it produces exactly the same results. For frying purposes, it is an excellent substitute for butter, especially when frying pancakes, etc. (Signed)

"I am sending a few words to express my appreciation of AprOl. Not only have I found it most useful in cooking—for it adds a delicious flavour to the article cooked in it—but it is decidedly better than oleo or lard for culinary use. During the recent epidemic of influenza I gave it to my young daughter, as well as taking it myself, and I attribute to its use the curing of both of us of an exceedingly bad cold. Neither of us could retain Olive Oil, but AprOl not only was retained but was also very pleasing to the palate. I now recommend AprOl to my friends for culinary, table and medicinal uses, and cannot speak too highly of its delicious flavour." (Signed)

STORY OF BOY LED ASTRAY—WAS IN JAIL AT AGE OF FIFTEEN—LIFE STORY WRITTEN BY MAN WHO WILL DIE TO-MORROW.

Frank McCullough's life story written by himself and delivered to his counsel, Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C. describes his various activities since he left home at the age of 14 to the last days spent in the death cell at the Toronto jail.

"I am not a murderer, nor have I the instincts of one," says the condemned man.

I was born in Otsego Co., New York, on a farm within five miles of Coopertown, named after the famous author of "The Last of the Mohicans."

My parents were honest, God-fearing people of good old Yankee stock, and my proper name is LeRoy Ward Fay Swart. When I was a little over 11 years of age my father's home was by some accident burned to the ground, so he sold the old farm and moved to Jersey City, N.J., where he obtained work as a carpenter on the Pennsylvania Railroad. I have two sisters and a brother, all of whom are younger than myself, the oldest being at this time twenty-two. While we were in Jersey City I attended Public school until I was thirteen, and then we moved over to Brooklyn, N.Y., where I continued my Public school education.

Read Lurid Tales.

I enjoy reading very much, and, as most young boys of that age, read what are termed dime novels a great deal, and when I was a few months over fourteen I became imbued with the glamor of the life of some of these fictitious heroes, and ran away from my home.

Dupe of Tramps.

I had about $10, the proceeds of a boyish stamp collection, and with it I purchased a ticket on one of the Hudson River boats to Albany, N.Y. Incidentally, my people made several efforts to find me, but I did not communicate with them for a year.

Well, in Albany they were erecting a new educational building at the time. I got work as a water boy and worked for seven months or more. I quit there and went to the railway yards, and beat my way to Erie, Pa., where I was taken in charge by a couple of real tramps, and they in a few weeks initiated me to the duties of a "look-out" while they performed various burglaries and robberies.

I was with them about four months and was arrested one night in Kansas City, Mo., for investigation, and I admitted being implicated in these crimes. It was the first time in my life I had been in trouble and I was but one month over fifteen years of age. But, nevertheless, I was sentenced by Judge Latshaw to ten years in the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo.

I had no lawyer of friends. The other two men promptly vanished. I was in such a state of mind I did not know what to do. There was only three days 'interval between my arrest and my sentence. Had I had a lawyer, I would have been sent to the Reform School at Moodville.

Wrote to Mother.

Well, after I had recovered what little sense I had, I wrote a letter to my dear old mother and told her that I was going on an exploring and prospecting trip with some men and that she would not hear from me again for some years. I was taken to the pen., and did not write again for over two years. After that time I had begun to have a glimmering of more mature sense, so I sat down and wrote the whole thing to her, and their efforts were successful in getting my sentence reduced to five years. I was released on the 15th day of October, 1914, and my number was 12,222.

In U. S. Army.

Being ashamed to go home then, I went to Joplin, Mo., and enlisted in the United States army. The Mexican trouble was raging at the time and I was shot in the right leg. I was in the army for two years and three months. After my discharge I came to Canada and received work at Banfield's munition plant, with the intention of joining an overseas battalion, as that was before the United States had entered the war, and as I had studied hard during my incarceration and having had previous field experience, I thought I might be able to pass for a commission in one of the Canadian units.

Here to Enlist.

My leg, however, not being completely cured (the bone had been somewhat shattered). I was turned down for a time, and after working here a few weeks I happened on one of my fellow-prisoners from Missouri and again I got into trouble.

Sent to Burwash.

I was sent to Burwash for one year. The first week I was there I gave my word to the superintendent in charge that I would not run away, and was made a trusty (without any guard) and finally after nine months, was paroled. I came back to Toronto and went to work for the Dominion Ship Building Co., and worked steadily there until late in July, when I went to work for Barker's Bread Bakery, as a driver, as the hours were shorter and more pay was given. Then, again, I ran across the man of whom I spoke before, and another young man from Ottawa, and I fell once more into the crooked path.

Never Carried Weapon.

But I never carried a revolver or other dangerous weapon in my life, except when in the army, and I have never broken my word, and I will endeavor to tell the facts regarding this terrible tragedy the best that I know how.

I went up to Ottawa to visit this man Johnson, and while there we burglarized a store and shipped the goods to Toronto. We arrived here ourselves on Sunday morning. Johnson went to a friend's house to stay, while I went to my room. We met that afternoon and Johnson showed me a revolver that he had purchased from his friend. I remonstrated with him about it in his friend's hearing, but to no avail. We parted company then until the next day when we met as usual and going to the livery stable of Mr. Cross we hired a rig and took some of these stolen goods around to the store and sold them.

The Shooting.

The next day we did the same and one of the proprietors of the store notified the police and when we returned the horse and wagon. Detective Frank Williams was waiting for us.

Mr. Cross took the rig on down to his stable and we returned with the detective. He had come between us grasped us by the shoulders. We turned sideways so as not to let go of little back office of Cross's. Johnson went through the door first, then Williams, then myself. He was turned sideways so as not to go of us. The office was dark and as soon as Williams was inside Johnson pulled the revolver and fired. Williams let loose of me and attempted to grapple with Johnson and he fired once more.

Tried to Stop Pal.

I cried, "quit that, you fool," and jumped at him and grabbed his arm with one hand, the right, and the gun with the left, just as he fired once for the bullet going into the roof and the fire burning my left hand. He let go the gun and went through the next office, through the front door and away.

Questions Evidence.

In the meantime Williams had pulled his "billy" and jumped on me. We wrestled a little while and that is when Cross came to the door. The whole thing had only taken a matter of seconds till then, and Cross was mistaken at my trial, as the evidence at the inquest, his own evidence, will show, for he had taken the rig to the back of his wagon shed, a distance of perhaps 200 feet from us, and was unhitching the horse when the first shot was fired, and all three were practically simultaneous, as the evidence shows.

Anyhow, I was endeavouring to stop Williams from beating me, and pushed him through the back office, when he hollered to Cross to jump on me. He did so, and put both arms around my neck and tried to pull me over backwards, while the detective continued to beat me from the front.

Had Forgotten Gun.

I was trying my darndest to ward off the blows, and Cross was chocking me. In fact, I had forgotten all about the darned gun when it went off, I swear, by accident, and God knows, it is the truth if no one else does. Whereupon Cross shifted one of his arms around my right arm by the elbow in order to hold the gun, I suppose. Anyway, Williams hit me one right over my left eye, and I must have pulled the trigger again, but I do not remember. All I do know is I felt myself falling, but he only stunned me for a moment, I guess, for I staggered to my feet and attempted to run, but was tripped by someone before I had gone 40 steps, and, well—that is all, excepting, God forgive me, and God rest Frank Williams' soul.

Not a Murderer.

"I am not a murderer, nor have I the instincts of one, thank God, although I am convicted as one, and if I have to die on the gallows, my conscience is clear as to that, and I will die as a man, I hope. I do not fear death myself, thank to the best Christian man I ever met, the Rev. Bertram Nelles, of this city, God bless him.

Carried No Weapon.

"All I will say in regard to my escape from here is this. In the circumstances who would not have done the same? If the thing had required violence I would not have gone, and during my brief freedom I had two opportunities to get firearms, but would not take them, in fact, would not even carry a penknife, and if by any chance God sees fit to have mercy on me, and I am granted commutation of sentence, my word is given to NEVER do any wrong again.

"I will close this epistle now. God help my poor old mother, brothers and sisters. My father is dead, may he rest easy. And God have mercy on me. His Will Be Done."

Blew Kisses to Crowd in Riverdale Park.

A curious crowd congregated on the south side of Riverdale Park last evening in the hope of catching a glance of McCullough, in the death cell. They were rewarded by his appearance at the window. Greetings and signals were exchanged by the prisoner and the watchers, and he did not appear to realize that he now stands in the shadow of the gallows. Indeed, he appeared to be quite cheerful.

"He signalled and blew kisses to the people," said a witness of the scene, "and then he took a newspaper and by signals spelled out the question "any news?" He certainly acted in a strange way for a man who is to be hurled into eternity on Friday."

INFLAMED GUMS— THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth-base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS.

That if you are wondering what kind of flowers you can grow in a piece of poor soil, he would like to recommended godetias, snapdragons, cockscombs, the sand verbena and the summer cypress. Sow the seeds of these flowers out of doors immediately. Godetias are especially good for cutting. There are red, pink and white varieties. The cockscombs make a brilliant showing when planted in a bed. The summer cypress or kochia is most commonly used for a low, temporary hedge. If you have a sands spot where nothing else will grow, try the portulaca. It revels in heat and sand, but opens only when the sun shines.

The Perfecto Baby Comfort is the only sanitary Soother on the market. It costs perhaps ten cents more than any other Soother, but the difference may save Baby's life.

Lazy men are dead to the world, but they remain unburied.

If a man has a bee in his bonnet he is reasonably sure of a lively hood.

You can't judge a man character by the high standing of his collar.

A man's wife may not know what he suspects about her, and he may not suspect what she knows about him.

It is a wise fool that can keep his lack of wisdom to himself.

Greatest Rule of Health

You sometimes hear it said that the most important Rules of Health is "Daily movement of the bowels."

Constipation begins with the bowels but it does not end there.

You must also consider the way it effects the liver, the kidneys, the digestive system, and in fact the whole human body.

Headaches, backaches, aching limbs, indigestion, billiousness, kidney derangements, appendicitis, and the most serious diseases imaginable often have their beginning with constipation of the bowels.

There is one treatment which has a direct and combined action on the bowels, the liver and the kidneys and gets these organs into good working order in remarkably quick time, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They afford relief quickly, but they do more than that. They positively cure constipation and insure lasting regularity of the bowels by setting the liver right.

Mr. M. Lock, 30 Home street, Brockville, Ont., writes: "For many years I have been troubled with constipation and have tried a number of remedies, but without obtaining much benefit. About a year ago I started using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and have found them to be the best medicine for constipation that I have ever used. I would strongly advise anyone troubled with this complaint to try the same remedy."

Mrs. R. Childs, Harriston, Ont., writes: "I suffered from constipation and kidney trouble for some time. One day I bought some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to see if they would help me, and to my delight, I received great benefit from them in a short time. They are a splendid medicine, and I always keep them on hand as a household remedy."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so universally used as a treatment for constipation and liver and kidney troubles that you can obtain them at any dealers; one pill a dose; 25 cents a box. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

UNMARRIED WOMEN PROPOSE TO BUILD MODEL COMMUNITY HOUSES

LONDON GIRLS UNABLE TO MARRY THROUGH DEATH OF YOUNG MEN WILL BUILD A DISTINCTLY FEMININE VILLAGE.

AN ADAMLESS EDEN

LONDON.—The establishment of an Adamless Eden from which perchance even boy cats will be excluded in favor of feminine felines, is projected by a group of London bachelor girls, who have announced that they will bring their plans before the Municipal Housing Commission.

The original organisers of the project, six in number, have not as yet disclosed their identity, excepting to a prominent architect and contractor who have been asked to develop their community plans. The girls anticipate that they will be husbandless, and they are arranging matters strictly on that basis. Each of the original six will have a cottage with living room, two bedrooms, bath and kitchen. The houses, according to their stipulations, will all face a central common area, which will be maintained as a private park, each of the six being responsible for a share of the upkeep. They specified a central heating plant in their first plans, but finding that arrangement too costly they have now decided in favor of a furnace for each little bungalow. The girls have already purchased a block of land in the south-eastern section of the city, and other bachelor girls will be permitted to join in the arrangement if their credentials are good, and if they comply with moderately framed building restrictions.

It is strictly bachelor girl enterprise, they say, although there may be a compromise that will permit of the employment of a male person to attend the furnaces.

Deputation For Toronto

Chairman J. G. Richter, of the local Housing Commission will summon a special meeting to appoint a deputation to proceed to Toronto to interview Provincial Commissioner Ellis, regarding proposed changes in the Government regulations. It has been found in London that very few of the applicants under the scheme are able to pay more than $15 a month, and that is not sufficient to meet the charges on the cheapest house authorized by the provincial authorities. City Building Inspector Piper, has been engaged for some days in drafting plans of houses which he thinks could be built for $1,800. If these are not acceptable to Commissioner Ellis, London will probably withdraw from the provincial scheme to go into business with funds procured from private sources.

New Positive Treatment to Remove Hairs

(Beauty Notes.)

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every bit of hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE PEARSON.

On May 29, 1919, there passed away in Smith township, in the community commonly known as "The 16th," Florence Wilkinson, the beloved wife of George E. Pearson. The deceased was twenty-six years of age and leaves to mourn her loss her husband and two young children, Iva aged four, and Raymond aged three.

Interment was made in Lakefield cemetery on Saturday, May 31. A short service was conducted at the home of Rev. E. M. Cook, and a fitting address given by Mr. F. A. Northey, who spoke of the high esteem in which the deceased was held, and of the worthy place she had filled in the church and community.

Mr. Geo. E. Pearson wishes to thank the many friends who showed kindness and help in this time of great sorrow.

ENGLISH DRAMA NEVER BEFORE IN SO DEGRADED A CONDITION.

LONDON—Frank criticism of the British drama was the keynote of all the speeches made at the inaugural meeting of the British Drama League here, the well known actress, Lena Ashwell, inveighing against the "rottenness, lowness and futility" of the present-day theatrical entertainment. Henry Arthur Jones, asked by a representative of the Daily News for his view of the position, replied at once: "The English drama on the whole has never been in so degraded a condition as it is today."

Pale Cheeked Women Told About Restoring A Rosy Complexion

A few years ago the girl with pale, drawn cheeks scarcely knew what to do in order to restore her fading appearance. At that time there was no blood-food medium made that really would put color and strength into systems that were more or less worn out.

To-day it's different. The blood can be quickly nourished, can be made rich, red and healthy. All you have to do is to take two Perrozone Tablets with a sip or two of water after meals. The effect is almost magical.

Mothers look to your children. Are they ruddy and strong—do they eat and sleep well, or are they pale, weak, and anaemic?

FERROZONE will rebuild them. Take your own case—is your blood strong and rich? Have you that old-time strength and vigor, or are you somewhat under the weather?

FERROZONE will supply the strengthening elements you require. It is a blood forming, nourishing tonic that makes every ailing person well.

FERROZONE is a marvellous remedy, it contains in concentrated form certain rare qualities that especially fit in cases of anaemia, poor color, thin blood, tiredness, and loss of weight.

Every day you put off using FERROZONE you lose ground. Get it to-day; sold in 50c boxes by all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

DEBATE ON THE BUDGET

HON. T. A. CRERAR PUTS QUESTION TO PARLIAMENT IN VIGOROUS SPEECH ARRAIGNING PROTECTIVE BUDGET—WOULD RAISE REVENUE BY INCOME TAX, INHERITANCE TAX AND TAX ON UNIMPROVED LAND VALUES.

AN ADMISSION

OTTAWA, June 12.— Hon. T. A. Crerar emerged from the Budget debate in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon with at least five scalps to his credit. He was heckled by a number of protectionists, whose jabs he countered with knockout blows. Dr. Edwards of Frontenac, usually a pretty shifty fighter, was the first victim. Then Burnham of Peterborough interrupted, and was politely told that if he would reflect a minute he would see the point. Lalor of Haldimand got inquisitive when the ex-Minister said there were hundreds of abandoned farms in Ontario, and Gauvreau of Temiscouta suggested that "the Dominion Canners keep quiet." Sexsmith of Peterborough asked a question about cream separators, and was told that his "poser" was "too elementary in its simplicity to require an answer."

Finally the Chief Conservative Whip, Mr. Middlebro of South Grey, went forth to lay out the Western David. Mr. Crerar had been speaking about the increase in the cost of clothing and the responsibility of the tariff for adding to its price. Mr. Middlebro interjected: "Will the hon. member tell us how many bushels of wheat it will take to buy a suit of clothes?"

Quick as a flash Mr. Crerar replied: "With wheat at 80 cents a bushel in 1914 the farmer could purchase a suit of clothes for 38 bushels. In 1918, with the added cost, he requires to get $2 a bushel for 39 bushels to purchase the same clothes. Furthermore, the wage earner could get a suit of clothes for nine days' work at $2.50 a day in 1914. Now he has to work nine days at $5.50 a day to get the same clothes."

Discrimination is Poor Policy.

Mr. Crerar lost no time in saying what he thinks of the Budget. "Frankly speaking," said he, "the present Budget is, in my opinion, a protectionist Budget. By what method of reasoning is the 7 1-2 per cent. duty removed from certain articles and left on others? Removal of these duties means no less protection to the manufacturers in Canada, because an arrangement has been made with railways for a reduction in freight rates to offset what they lose by the reduction of 5 per cent. on agricultural implements. The railways in turn are compensated by the reduction of 7 1-2 per cent. in the duty on bituminous coal. What is the discrimination made in favour of the Western farmers and against the farmers of the Maritime Provinces? (Prolonged Opposition applause.) This concession in the Budget is merely an attempt to satisfy people in the West in such a way that the manufacturer does not suffer and the farmers of the East are discriminated against. Such actions cause dissension and difficulties. It is poor policy to mix freight rates with tariffs."

Why the Protection?

Mr. Crerar said there were hundreds of abandoned farms in Ontario, that agriculture was backward in this Province, and the remedy was cheaper processes of production. He went on to show that Canadian implement manufacturers exported eight millions dollars' worth of their products to other countries in one year, and asked why, if they could compete abroad, they could not compete in the home market without protection. He pointed out that there are eleven cream separator manufactories in Canada, including three which are devoted exclusively to that article, and all were selling Canadian cream separators in the United States in competition with American manufacturers. Another industry which competed in the foreign markets with the manufacturers of other countries was the binder twine industry, which in 1918 exported seventeen million pounds of binder twine in competition with the world.

Strike at High Cost of Living.

The ex-Minister showed that the tariff is a potent factor in the cost of living, and expressed the view that one of the most effective means of striking at the high cost of living would be through the customs taxes. He said the great majority of Canadians were working people, who were earning their living in the humble walks of life. The things they needed most — food, clothing and shelter—were taxed to the tune of over 25 per cent. Why was the 30 per cent. duty needed on boots and shoes if the Canadian manufacturers did not take advantage of the opportunity it afforded to charge that much more for their products? Was it necessary to have,

FIGHT IN PROSPECT OVER THE DISTRIBUTION OF INTERNED VESSELS

ITALY IS PROVIDING THE CHIEF OBSTACLE—SIGNATURES OF BRITISH AND FRENCH WERE OBTAINED SEVERAL WEEKS AGO—PORTUGAL WANTS A REAL NAVY.

(By Lowell Mellett—United Press).

PARIS, June 12.—America's title to interned German ships appeared today to be somewhat endangered. Complications in the shipping question, which appeared easily solvable six weeks ago, are tieing up the final award to America. These disputes involve France, Italy, Japan and Brazil. Italy apparently is providing the chief obstacle, though without furnishing any reason. The signatures of the British and French were obtained several weeks ago to an agreement for ships seized in her ports. Italy also announced her readiness to sign, but when it came to affixing her signature, she always held off on some pretext or another, without denying propriety of America's position. France signed the agreement, contingent on being allowed to buy a number of German ships interned in Brazil, but Brazil asked all cash for ships, while France wanted to pay part cash and part in securities. Japan is withholding her assent until arrangements are made for her to obtain a certain amount of tonnage from America, which is expected to be easily arranged. Great Britain meanwhile is standing on the agreement, despite the protest of British commercial interests. Portugal is now presenting claims for a part of the German navy as reparation for her naval losses. The general understanding is that Portugal's losses were limited to a few minesweepers, but her claims include light cruisers, destroyers and various other craft.

NOT ENOUGH HELL IN THE PREACHING

"LAYMEN ARE LAZY AND CHIEF DELIGHT OF CHURCH IS PAYING OFF MORTGAGES"

WINNIPEG, Man., June 12.—Methodist preaching has not enough "hell" in it and the devil is not mentioned frequently enough to induce repentance, speakers at the laymen's conference in connection with the Manitoba Methodist conference said at a Broadway Methodist church. The 1920 type of Methodist church organization and results, was sharply criticized. Speakers said the operation of the Methodist church finances in some instances was criminal. Laymen were classed as lazy. Some of the other criticisms were: "The pastor has to do all the work, churches show no conversions, the chief delight is paying off mortgages instead of bringing souls to the penitent bench, sermons don't tell enough about heaven."

CONCESSION TO HUN WILL ANGER BRITAIN

LONDON TIMES INDIGNANT OVER RUMOUR OF LLOYD GEORGE'S ATTITUDE.

LONDON. — The following editorial in the Times gives an indication of the way the British people will receive the making of concessions to the Germans in the treaty:

"Astonishment and anger would fill the overwhelming majority of the British peoples could they credit the rumors from Paris that the Prime Minister is weakening over the allied demands in the face of the German counter proposals. Nothing could be more discreditable to a British statesman than such weakening. Nothing could more fatally impair his credit in this country or the credit of the Empire, with our Allies and with the world.

"There is strong ground for belief that Mr. Lloyd George has of late taken up an attitude towards the Germans far less consistent than that of President Wilson and of M. Clemenceau. We expect and the people of the country expect, the British Prime Minister to be at least as firm in his treatment of the enemy as his two principal associates in the leadership of the Peace Conference."

In Parliament Andrew Bonar Law was asked if Lloyd George was at variance with M. Clemenceau and President Wilson over the question of modification of the terms of peace in the direction of favorable terms for Germany, and replied:

"If there were any truth in that statement it would be the last thing it would be right for me to speak about."

REAL ESTATE IS FAIRLY ACTIVE

Good Properties Are Changing Hands At Higher Prices.

Real estate has speeded up in the city to a greater extent during the past few weeks than in several years and property of the better class is selling fairly quickly. Houses valued at from $3,000 to $10,000 are being disposed of to new comers to the city who are unwilling to build while building and labor is so high and who are confident enough in the future of the city to put some money into real estate. In one real estate office alone the manager has two prospective buyers for property valued at $10,000. Most of the larger deals are being put through in the West end of the city. At each of the real estate offices it was found that there are few or no houses to rent at present.

No business places are changing hands at present.

SAYS HUGHES FIRED TWO SHOTS AT HIM

ARNOLD MASON EXHIBITED BASKET HE CARRIED ON HIS SHOULDER—TWO HOLES IN IT.

Charged with having shot at Arnold Mason on March 25th 1919, with intent to "disfigure, main or wound", Henry Hughes, pleaded not guilty when he faced a jury at noon today. Mason was engaged by Clifford Felion to cut pulpwood in Dummer township on land adjacent to the scene f Fred Greenwood's experience as related in the preceding trial on an indictment of intimidation of which Hughes was found not guilty.

"I was walking along the road on the ninth line of Dummer near Hughes' house on my way home from work about six o'clock", the witness related to Crown Attorney Hatton. "The first thing I knew I heard an explosion on my left hand side. I looked quickly and saw a gun pointed at me through the fence."

Mason said he recognised Henry Hughes, who was kneeling behind the fence. After running about forty-five feet a second shot was fired. Witness said he was carrying a basket slung on his axe over his shoulder. When he reached home he looked at the basket for he had felt it away when the first shot was fired. He discovered two slits or holes on one side of it where he believed two shots had penetrated. There were no marks on the other side because he was carrying a granite tea jar in that end of the basket which he had been using only a week. He also found two brown marks on the end which smelt of powder. There were no marks on the axe handle. Mason said he had seen Hughes for the first time bout a week before the shooting. He identified the prisoner as the man he had seen with the gun behind the fence. Mason told Mr. Wearing he had met no person on the road.

Heard Two Shots

Mrs. Vina Storms, the next witness said she was on her way home from Salter's beyond the Hughes house about six o'clock. She couldn't recall what day it was, but she had met Mason who had said "good evening" to her. She heard two gun shots, but didn't know from what direction the sound had come. She went in to speak to Mrs. Hughes, and while there Mr. Hughes entered with a gun which he put away.

"What did he say to you," Mr. Hetton asked.

"Nothing," replied Mrs. Storms.

PUT MAIL BOX IN THE DOOR.

The Post Office Department is issuing circulars to residents in towns and cities that have free delivery requesting that a mail box be placed inside all front doors and a slot provided so that all letters may be left without the postman having to wait till the door bell is answered. In the case of registered mail, of course, delivery will be personal as before, but the work of the letter carriers could be expedited by a slot in the door that would allow him to leave letters, cards and papers.

THE STRIKE IN WINNIPEG

CONSTABLE BADLY BATTERED UP BY A MOB—PROPOSAL FOR SETTLEMENT REFUSED.

A STREET FIGHT

(Copyright.)
(By W. R. Plewman.)

WINNIPEG, Man., June 12. — Events moved rapidly in Winnipeg yesterday, but they were not of a pleasant nature. Efforts at a settlement made by the heads of the great Canadian Railway Brotherhoods broke down completely owing to the refusal of the metal trades employers to accept the mediators' proposal of collective bargaining.

A special foot constable in mufti, wearing a distinguishing armlet, was badly battered, and shot in a battle between four specials and a mob of a couple of hundred strikers, and Chief of Police Donald McPherson, for six years the head of the police force, and sixteen years in the city's service, was dismissed, and Deputy Chief Newton appointed acting chief.

The day as a whole was quiet and rain which fell at intervals during the afternoon, helped to maintain order.

Cavalry on the Job.

Many special police were crowded in a building near Portage and Main ready to deal firmly with any rioters, and the writer saw cavalry exercising on Broadway and moving into the Northwest Mounted Police headquarters, near the Fort Garry Hotel, not far from a strategic corner and at the critical hour, but nothing untoward happened.

The battle in which a special constable was shot and wounded in the leg, took place right under my hotel window. Hearing some shouts I looked out and saw a crowd dashing here and there while four constables fought for their lives, making frequent rushes at their assailants.

These four specials had a beat of three blocks extending westward from the Royal Alexandra, a pair being on each side of the wide street. They had started out about 4 o'clock wearing distinguishing armlets whereas the men out earlier in the day wore none. They had been out only an hour when they were attacked. As they strolled up and down they were badgered by a mob whose numbers grew each time the specials went by. Finally when one pair of officials was standing outside the hotel at the corner a stout man came up and said, "Let me see that." With that he tore away the armlet. The constable immediately struck, and the fight began. Others joined in and the second pair of specials from the opposite corner ran to the aid of their comrades.

Laid on the Wood.

Three of the specials managed to gain safety inside the hotel but Morrison, who lives at 48 Ruby street, was cut off from his comrades and surrounded in the centre of the street intersection. At first the ring was wide. Bareheaded and wielding his club lustily Morrison dashed first in one direction and then in another. He got in some telling blows, and when an automobile came along he tried to climb in but the machine would not stop. At last two of the crowd ran up from behind and pinned his his arms to his side, and two others pounded his face. Just then another car came along and halted ten feet away. A shot rang out.

Taken to Hospital.

The men holding Morrison allowed him to fall on the ground and then stood back for four or five feet from their victim, who lay motionless. A few seconds later a big man picked Morrison up as though he were a child and placed him in an automobile unmolested, and the car drove off with three or four hanging on to the sides. Morrison was taken direct to an hospital.

Some witnesses nearer than myself (I was six stories up and about 200 feet away) say that two men kicked Morrison when he was prostrate, and one of them was pointed out to me in the crowd twenty minutes later. The man who shot Morrison was a chauffeur for F. W. Drewry, a brewer by the name of Oich Smith. He saw a big Austrian with an unlifted club club ready to hit the prostrate constable, he said. He fired low, was nervous, and hit the constable in the leg. No arrests have been made as a result of the fracas.

REPLY OF BELA KUN, THE SOVIET MINISTER, CONSIDERED UNSATISFACTORY

WAS ASKED TO CEASE HOSTILITIES AGAINST THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS OR SUFFER THE CONSEQUENCES—BOLSHEVIKI GAINING STRENGTH.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 12. — While the text of the reply of Bela Kun, foreign minister of the Hungarian Soviet Government to a telegram from M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, demanding that he cease hostilities against the Czecho-Slovak, or suffer the consequences, has not been published in Paris, it is apparently unsatisfactory. Official denial is made of Bela Kun's statement that he had been invited to the peace conference.

Military reverses suffered by Admiral Kolchak's troops in south eastern Russia, have caused some uneasiness in conference circles the strengthening of the Bolshevik holding Moscow, and the interruption of the advance of the Esthonians against Petrograd is also a source of uneasiness.

The Bolshevik peril, which was apparently on the decline a few weeks ago ,is again commanding attention from all the delegations here. No effort is being made to conceal the menace that the Hungarian Bolshevik offer to Poland as well as Czecho-Slovakia.

Part of the British troops which recently arrived at Murmansk, are participating in operations against Petrograd, according to reports from Archangel. They are now near Petrogavodsk .

Bolshevism and discussion of the position of Bela Kun, the foreign minister of the Hungarian Soviet government, figure prominently in the deliberations of both the council of four and the council of foreign ministers to-day.

The Turkish peace delegation which reached Toulon yesterday, arrived here this morning to get the Turkish peace terms. There was no official reception.

ADVISES HUNS TO SIGN PEACE TREATY

OPINION OF GOVERNOR HABER OF GERMAN COLONIAL OFFICE

(By Carl Groat.)
(United Press.)

BERLIN, June 12.—Governor Haber of the German colonial office, just back from assisting the peace delegation in Versailles, declared to-day his personal view is that the treaty should be signed regardless of the Allies' reply to counter proposals. "I believe it is doubtful if the present Government could sign the treaty without fairly strong modifications, if it wants to remain in office," Haber added. "But it ought to sign anyway, as the Entente is ready to send its forces into Germany." Of course the question of signing or not signing is up to the Government, but the Versailles group has made no recommendation one way or the other. Personally, I believe the Cabinet should take the responsibility instead of passing it on to the National Assembly."

A BIG VOTE FOR WINE AND BEER

BIG LABOUR CONVENTION BEING HELD IN ATLANTIC CITY

(By Main Johnson.)

ATLANTIC CITY, June 12.—Canadian delegates to the American Federation of Labour from Kingston Ottawa and Montreal, represented by Messrs. Noble, P. M. Draper and L. France, respectively, all voted or wine and beer, when the Federation by a vote of 26,000 to 4,000 declared against bone dry prohibition and in favour of wine and beer. Toronto, represented from its Trades and Labour Council by James Simpson, did not record its vote. Mr. Simpson says his reasons for not voting were that he considered it an American issue relating to the action of Congress, and secondly he pointed out that if he had cast his vote it would have been for prohibition and would therefore have been contrary to the expressed opinion of the Toronto Trades and Labour Council. The Federation decided to cancel its Saturday sitting and to go to Washington instead, to present the views of the organization to the Capital. It was stated on the floor of the convention that the expenses of the delegates on the Washington trip would be paid by the brewery workers' union and not by the brewers, as had been alleged.

WAS AWARDED PRIZE FOR ART

Peterboro Girl Successful at Whitby Ladies College

At the graduation exercises at the Ontario Ladies College Whitby held this week Miss Pearl Burnham daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burnham, was awarded the highest marks in art taken at the College and carried off the prize, a splendid picture valued at $50 donated by a well-known artist of Toronto. A special significance is attached to Miss Burnham's winning of the picture in the fact that one of the competitors was a student of the Boston school of art before attending the Whitby College, while Miss Burnham entered the competition with no previous training.

ADMIRAL BEATTY SPEAKS OF THE JUTLAND BATTLE

WHAT SAVED THE HUN IN THE GREAT BATTLE.

During his brief stay at Naples, Admiral Sir David Beatty said to an interviewer that if the war had continued 1919 would have seen the U-boat menace almost entirely eliminated owing to the measures the Allies had in readiness. He was greatly satisfied with the way in which the campaign was carried on in the Adriatic. The Italian Fleet had been on a level with its great traditions. The sinking of the Dreadnoughts Szezni Istvan and Viribus Unitis gave proof in particular of the bravery and daring of Italy's sailors. Admiral Beatty declared that the super-Dreadnoughts, in his opinion, would retain their usefulness in future, as squadrons of such vessels were necessary to gain decisive results from a naval battle. "Battle-cruisers of high speed will also be of great use. Their number will surely increase." The correspondent asked Admiral Beatty about the conduct of the German fleet at the battle of Jutland. He answered that as a seaman he must loyally acknowledge the enemy's conduct of that battle. The German ships were well manoeuvred, their fire was exact, and the discipline of their crews steady. The smaller craft sacrificed themselves freely to secure the retreat of the larger vessels towards Heligoland. The enemy command succeeded in saving the fleet from encirclement and reaching its base. "The enemy was enormously aided by favourable light and by mist, which prevented me from persisting in the pursuit. If the weather had been bright, despite the existence of great mine-fields and the non-arrival of big units of the fleet, I would have carried on." Asked about the value of the German submarines in the fleet action, Admiral Beatty said that few of them appeared during the Jutland battle. One of them was sunk. They had no effect on the regular development of manoeuvres or on the discipline of the crews. No damage during the action could be ascribed to them. However, if submarines were used in large numbers and of tonnage above 1,000 tons, some advantage might then be obtained from them in a fleet action.

AN APOLOGY

Some disappointment has been caused by an error in Mr. N. Sukloff's large advertisement a few days ago. All-over aprons were expected on the day the ad was printed, and were offered at 69c, also some ribbed stockings which were advertised at 25c failed to arrive as did the aprons and customers were disappointed at not being able to secure them. Mr. Sukloff regrets being out of these for a few days but they are now on hand and those who did not get them will find them at the store if they call.

WILL ARREST AGITATORS

NEW MOVE PLANNED IN CONNECTION WITH WINNIPEG STRIKE—DEPORT ALIENS

By Jas. T. Kolbert.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 12.—Possible disintegration of the general strike here was seen to-day in an announcement by a high military intelligence officer that several important arrests of the alleged agitators and trouble makers may be expected by Saturday. The statement was made following several secret sessions between officials of all branches of the government here. It was hinted that drastic deportation law enacted at Ottawa last week has been awaited by anti-strike leaders before beginning an offensive against undesirable aliens said to be at work here.

AN ATTEMPT TO CORNER RESOURCES OF UNITED STATES

DARING SCHEME IS LAID BEFORE SENATE BY "BIG INTERESTS"

By Carl C. Martin.

WASHINGTON, June 12. — An area of high prices such as the United States has never seen, would result from the adoption of the plan of world financing outlined to the Senate Foreign Relations committee by Wall street bankers. The Senators opposing the League of Nations predicted this to-day. They declared that the frank statements of Morgan, Vanderlip and Davison in the "treaty leak" investigation, showed that Wall street plans the formation of the greatest trust in history to be underwritten by the United States' government and to control not only the country's money but its industry as never before. The inevitable result of putting into Wall street's grip the whole country's financial and industrial resources, these Senators said, would be the elevating of prices of practically everything [illegible] of this country use. High prices, it was declared, would be "justified" on the ground that Europe's needs for raw materials, machinery and other American products causes shortages in this country.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

The Playgrounds Association was organized with the sole object of providing attractive and helpful recreation for the little folks of the city, who are compelled to spend their summers within the confines of Peterborough and who are not so fortunate as some of their companions who are able to enjoy their vacation at Stoney Lake, Chemong Park or some other similar holiday resort. The supervised playgrounds are designed to supply to the children who have to stay at home some of the pleasures enjoyed by those who get away. Experienced supervisors who know how to take care of little folks, and who know the games that please children and that tend to make them happier and healthier are placed in charge so that mothers need have no anxiety as to their youngsters. But this work cannot be carried on without funds. The Playgrounds Association members have sufficient confidence in their fellow citizens to believe that when the need is shown them they will respond readily to the call. For the last few days the newspapers have called the attention of their readers to the appeal of the Association and a number of citizens have already made subscriptions. More are needed, however, if the full programme is to be carried out. There are subscription lists at the newspaper offices. Drop in and leave a donation for this great work.

THE COST OF LIVING.

In his suggestion of a minimum wage of $5 per day as a solution to the present industrial problem, Capt. J. H. Burnham, M.P., is evidently thinking along different lines than the Financial Post. That publication cannot see any short-cut to reducing the cost of living. It believes that the two dominant factors in the cost of living are the value of labour and the supply of goods and, finds that the people of Canada have failed to realize that is is necessary in the present crisis to get along on cheaper foods and smaller allowances. On the other hand, as the Post points out, they insist on larger wages so they may compete for the short supply of foods and goods. As wages rise so do the prices, and therefore the only solution seems to be greater production and less extravagance. This view of the situation is utterly at variance with Capt. Burnham, whose remedy is bigger wages. W. J. Bulman, president of the Manufacturers' Association, takes the same stand as "The Financial Post". "Articles are dear now because they are scarce, and they will be dear until they become plentiful again," in his terse explanation.

TThere may be a considerable amount of truth in these statements, but nevertheless the general public is of the opinion that in many cases there have been large and unjustified profits exacted and that these profits have been a big factor in increasing the cost of living. It is all very well to declare that the present prices are brought about by irresistible economic forces. This may be true of many articles, but in the case of others there is a strong suspicion that huge profits have been responsible for the high scale of prices.

THE POWER OF ADVERTISING

Wrigley's manufacturers of the famous Spearmint, Doublemint and Juicy Fruit Chewing Gum, have issued a unique circular to their retail trade, which tells one of the most wonderful advertising experience that we have ever read. Wrigley's Chewing Gum has been introduced to the public in Canada, almost exclusively by newspaper advertising. Figures given in this circular show that Wrigley's is sold by more than 80,000 Canadian retailers, that it is advertised in 267 newspapers, magazines and farm papers, from Newfoundland to Vancouver. These publications have a total of 3,147,628 circulation each issue, which means 185 million Wrigley advertisements go out to the public yearly through these papers. With this tremendous urge, it is no wonder that the public has responded so heartily in buying Wrigley's Gum.

It is barely ten years ago that this message began to go out to the readers of the newspapers. Every year the sales have increased. Every year more papers have been used. Today the advertising is larger than ever and the selling cost less.

Recently a western editor made a comparison between Wrigley's advertising and the advertising, or lack of advertising, of some of his local merchants. He published a statement in his columns to the effect that Wrigley's spent more money with him in a month than some of his local merchants in a year, yet, his circulation was infinitely more valuable to the local man than it could be to Wrigley's. Wrigley's could only sell chewing gum. The local merchant has hundreds, or maybe thousands, of items that interest the purchaser once he comes into the store. Advertising is needed to arouse interest, to create the desire to buy, in order that the merchant may make the sale. Then he must deliver the goods or the service which will induce the customer to come again. So with Wrigley's, the chewing gum must be good or the customer does not wish another package. Wrigley's have wisely added good advertising to good chewing gum. They have told people that in Wrigley's the flavor lasts, that it benefits the teeth, appetite and digestion and to "Chew it after every meal".

It seems to us such an advertising story as this is of interest to every reader of The Examiner, whether he needs a page advertisement or a liner want ad. Advertising will help to sell goods, rent your house or get you a job.

TOO CLOSE FOR REVOLUTION

"I think that right along we were all far too closely in touch with one another for revolution to have been possible," says Sir Alfred Booth, head of the Cunard Company at present in America, discussing some aspects of recent labour troubles in Great Britain.

Sir Alfred has put his finger on one of the surest antidotes that exists against the poison of revolution. When one class is closely in touch with another class within the State there is little danger of the sort of militant misunderstanding that makes revolution possible. If we even partially realize the peculiar problems of our neighbor, if we can understand his difficulties in a measure as he understands them, we are not likely to want to burn down the house and confiscate his bank account when things begin to go wrong with us. If the Russian peasant for instance, had had any appreciation of the conditions governing the lives of the Russian bourgeoisie, if he had been able to realize that Utopia will not be established even when the whole of the earth's surface is divided into equal allotments, if he had not been mentally isolated and in consequence an easy prey for the high priests of resounding formulae the worst features of the Russian revolution would never have come to pass.

It has as Sir Alfred Booth says, been just this intelligent desire to get the other man's viewpoint coupled with the traditional sense of fair play which assumes in advance that the other fellow has a case if he is only allowed a chance to make it clear that has been the salvation of Britain in times of great social and industrial stress in the past. A compact, and fairly hemogeneous population geographically mutual understanding along, but it would never have existed at all had the right spirit not been there in the first place.

We in Canada have not the physical advantages which help toward this mutual understanding. We have an enormous country with a widely scattered population and, in consequence, an inevitable diversity of interest. But we inherit that tradition of fair-play without which no natural advantage can give us what we seek and which is so essential to us in Canada. We must exercise it, individual toward individual and class toward class, we must be "too closely in touch with one another for revolution to be possible" in Sir Alfred Booth's words. The employer must do his honest best to get the point of view of the employe; the employe must strive to understand the perplexities of the employer. Even the capitalist and the indigent laboser have, after all, a good deal in common as they will find it they try to discover it.

And they have got to discover it, all classes have got to discover a common meeting ground for their common interests if this country is to keep off the rocks that threaten all countries today and upon which some have already come to dismal wreck. Revolution is rooted in the unreason which deliberately blinds its own eyes to the just claims and rights of others in the State. Hang together or hang separately is still a pertinent warning.—Montreal Star.

Scott Had "Everything" And Lindsay Won From Oshawa By Four to Nil

EX-HILLCREST TWIRLER WINS SPARKLING PITCHERS' BATTLE WITH PATTON IN CENTRAL LEAGUE SERIES—BIG CROWD SAW EXCITING BATTLE AT LINDSAY—GRAYBIRDS CAME THROUGH IN GOOD STYLE—THE LEAGUE RACE IS A CORKER.

Lindsay	2	2	6
Oshawa	2	2	6
Cobourg	0	3	7

Games:
Saturday—Peterborough at Belleville.
Cobourg at Port Hope.

Last night the Oshawa crew, fresh from their victory over Belleville, invaded Lindsay chock full of confidence that they would tie a knot in the Greybirds. But when the smoke of battle had lifted from Lindsay's Exhibition Grounds, it revealed Cannon Ball Ed. Scott and comrades winners by the comfortable margin of 4 runs to 0—Lindsay moving up and Oshawa down one stage in the League standing.

It was just as prophesied a pitcher battle between the lanky Scott and Patton Oshawa's best pitching bet who has twirled the horse hide in Billings, Montana and other parts of Uncle Sam's domain and the ex-Hillcrest star carried off the honours. He had everything last night a hop on his fast one and a curve that broke fast and wide and some of the Oshawa gang might just as well have left their bats at home. Scott fanned twelve of them striking out the whole side in the fifth and getting a pair in the third and fourth while he only allowed four singles, one of them scratchy at that. Patton for Oshawa also pitched sterling ball, allowing only six hits and striking out nine men but good as his work was it was shaded by Scott's fine exhibition. Both teams performed steadily in the field with only one misplay each Lindsay's error doing no harm. The fielding feature was supplied by Schultz, the Oshawa first baseman in the fourth when with two Lindsay runner on he made a fine stop of Coombe's sizzling grounder that had all the earmarks of a hit. The play saved a pair of runs.

Over 1,000 fans saw the battle and there were enthusiasts there from all parts of the district. League President Sandy Lockington was up from Port Hope and among the Peterboro baseball men who were on hand for the clash were Arthur Johnston, Honourary President of the Central League and Jake Solomon, manager and Roy Cherret, captain of the Peterboro Central Ontario League team Alex. Kay of Peterboro was umpire in-chief and handled the game to the satisfaction of both teams and the crowd which is going some.

Lindsay broke into the scoring in the third innings when with one down McMahon doubled to left went to third on a passed ball and scored while Rowden was throwing Scott out at first. It was a slow grounder on which the Oshawa second baseman had not a chance to make a play at the plate.

Schultz's splendid stop after Hill had walked and Workman beat out a bunt in the fourth robbed Lindsay of a couple of counters but they came back in the fifth with a pair. Garnett started things with a clean single to right and after McMahon had flied out to Dobson. Scott singled to right sending Garnett to third. The big pitcher then stole second. Hall let the third strike on Stark get away and the batter was safe while Garnett scored. Scott came in on Bates' tap in front of the plate, Hall throwing the batter out at first. Hill's fly to Jacobi ended the innings.

The Gray birds made their total four in the sixth when Workman scratched a hit on a grounder that took a bad bounce before it reached Schultz. Coombs infield out advanced him to second and he scored on Carew's single through short.

Oshawa closest attempt at scoring was in the third. Wilson opened the innings with a smoking single to centre and stole second. Scott tightened up and fanned Patton and Hall. Then Rowden cracked one on a line to centre but a fast relay Hill to Scott to Bates nipped Wilson at the plate when he tried to score from second.

Oshawa got the first man on in the fourth when McMahon droped McComb's fly but Scott struck out Fair and Dobson and got Schultz on a fly to Carew.

Rowden singled with one gone in the sixth but the next two were easy.

The visitors had a chance in the seventh but could not come through with the necessary hit. Dobson opened with a single over second and advanced on a wild pitch going to third on Shultz's grounder to Coombes. Jacobi drew a pass and stole second but Scott got Wilson on a bunt and Patton was thrown out by Bates.

Herbie Workman, who starred in the old Midland League in the days of Dan McCabe and Bill Cinnaman played second base for Lindsay He had nothing to do in the field but collected two hits out of four line up.

Here is the score:

A MERRY OLD RACE IN THE CENTRAL LEAGUE

When Jake Solomon, the local baseball enthusiast, organised the Central Ontario Baseball League he sure started something. The old ball bug is buzzing all through the Midland district, and the closeness of the race, with five of the six teams practically all in a heap, has got the fans around the circuit crazy with excitement.

Lindsay was wild with delight over their victory against Oshawa last night, but the Scugog fans are not any more pleased than the Belleville Port Hope and Peterborough teams, who are all tied for first place.

On Saturday the Petes play in Belleville, while Cobourg invades Port Hope. The latter game is conceded to Port Hope, who won easily on Cobourg last week; but it will be a real battle at Belleville. The winning team on Saturday will be tied with Port Hope for first place, while the losers will be on an equal footing with Lindsay and Oshawa.

There is some great baseball ahead of the Peterborough fans, for Lindsay, Oshawa, Port Hope, and Belleville have all to play in Peterborough.

Through the peculiarities of the schedule the Petes are playing most of their away-from-home games first, the Belleville trip on Saturday being the third, while only Cobourg has played here.

Lindsay will be here a week from Saturday, however, and a record crowd will undoubtedly be out for the clash with the Greybirds.

WINNERS IN THE CHURCH LEAGUE

Two Fast Games of Ball Played Last Evening.

Two fast games of baseball were played in the Senior Church Baseball League last night. St. Luke's battled with St. James' at Central Park for 8 innings, but did not succeed in breaking a 10-10 tie. Williams twirled great ball for St. James', and the Anglicans placed Gilchrist on the mound. Mr D. Loomis, of the Y.M.C.A., umpired to everybody's satisfaction.

At the Oval St. John's team went down to defeat, 6-10. All Saints' administered the licking and were ahead at almost every stage of the game.

Batteries—St. John's: Green and Dewey; All Saints': Hopkins and Rootes.

Harold Copp was an efficient umpire.

BURLEIGH RANCHING COMPANY'S ACTION DISMISSED WITH COSTS

CLAIMED $600 FROM MICHAEL LEAHY FOR ALLEGED NEGLECT OF CATTLE—JURY WAS OUT NEARLY THREE HOURS—VERDICT IN FAVOUR OF DEFENDANT.

30 DAYS' STAY GRANTED.

After deliberating from 6 until 8.30 o'clock last evening the jury in the case of the Burleigh Ranching Company against Michael Leahy, brought in a verdict disallowing the company's claim of $600 for alleged neglect of a herd of thirteen cattle resulting in the death of four of them and depreciation in the value of the remainder. Judge Huycke accordingly entered judgment dismissing the action, the costs to be paid by the plaintiff company. Mr. G. N. Gordon was solicitor for the plaintiffs and Mr. F. D. Kerr represented Mr. Leahy.

The concluding evidence yesterday afternoon adduced but little evidence that was new and material.

Herbert Roseborough who said he had been a farmer in Smith all his life, testified that he had visited the company's ranch in Burleigh during the second week in November last year.

"I saw the cattle scampering over the rocks," said witness.

"Perhaps they were deer," remarked Judge Huycke.

Mr. Kerr asked witness what impression he gathered in regard to the condition of the cows he saw.

"They were a poor lot of cattle," Mr. Roseborough stated, and to this reply Mr. Gordon sharply objected.

Mr. Kerr sought to obtain the witness' opinion of the pasturage in the part of the ranch he visited, but Judge Huycke excluded the question, stating that the ranch extended over 16,000 acres, and that there might be patches of both ample and barren grazing land.

Another question sought to present Roseborough's general recollections of the appearance of the herd, but Judge Huycke disallowed it on the ground that there was nothing mentioned to indicate that the witness saw the particular herd that was delivered to the defendant Michael Leahy.

Similar questions were submitted to Percy McFadden but were also debarred.

"A Thin Bunch."

David Conroy of Ashburnham said that he noticed the cattle on the day of the O'Reilly sale, March 18th. They were the "thinnest bunch" of cattle he had ever seen, and for that reason he had enquired about their ownership.

"I wouldn't expect to find them much better than they were for cattle that had been fed on straw and water from December 1st to March 13th," witness said.

AT THE Grand To-day, Friday and Saturday

Thompson Bredin, a real estate agent specializing in farm properties, stated that Mr. Conklin, manager of the company had told him that he wanted to get in touch with farmers who would stable his cattle.

Witness brought Conklin and Leahy together early in March, and on the 17th Mr. Bredin participated in closing the transaction by which Leahy sold his farm to Roger Maloney. Witness had promised to give Leahy's message to Conklin about the sale of the farm.

Mr. Bredin said that he had tried to telephone to the Burleigh ranch, but the line was out of order, and he failed to communicate with Conklin.

When the evidence for the defence was concluded, Mr. Conklin was recalled. He declared that instead of being fed straw and ensilage in the morning and at night, with straw at noon, the cattle should have epsilage three times a day.

To Mr. Gordon he swore that Roger Moloney had sent him a message to the effect that the cattle were starving to death, that he was not feeding them because it was no business of his and that he had made no arrangement to feed them.

The plaintiff couldn't recall how long it had been since he had seen the cattle before being called to the O'Reilly farm in March.

It was stated that the Burleigh Ranching Company usually winters its stock on its property, but last summer the crop of marsh hay failed. Hence the company was forced to winter three hundred cattle among the neighboring farmers.

In the earlier evidence it was shown that Leahy had bought the O'Reilly farm in Douro a short time before, agreeing with Mr. Conklin to take care of the thirteen cows. Then only a few days after the cattle arrived, he sold the farm to Roger Moloney for $15,250, sent a message to Conklin to acquaint him of the transfer of the farm and arranged with Moloney to feed the cattle until the latter made his own arrangements with Conklin. The plaintiffs contended that the cattle had not been properly fed, and the defense declared that the cattle were in an impoverished condition when they arrived at the O'Reilly farm in March after having been dieted on straw and water at W. J. Northey's farm in Smith.

WOULD REFUSE TO SIGN PETITION

Barbers have a Busy Day on Saturday.

One barber when seen to-day by the Examiner, stated that if the petition circulated some time ago, and which was presented to the City Council, respecting the closing of barber shops at 7 p.m., instead of 8 o'clock was circulated again, he would refuse to sign it.

"It only shifts the load from the evenings to our already overloaded Saturday," he explained. "The farmer on standard time cannot possibly get to the city before 7 o'clock for a hair cut or shave because the barber shop is closed at 6 o'clock, according to his time. He has no recourse then but wait until Saturday, and on that day we have already more business than we can conveniently handle. Even for the city resident it is a hardship because he must either have an early evening meal, after quitting work at five o'clock, to reach the barber shop before seven, or he must go without until Saturday.

The barbers stated that the circulators of the petition stated their case by drawing attention to the fact that almost all workers quit work at 5 o'clock, and why should the barbers work longer hours than anybody else.

PARIS, June 12.—A semi-official French note stated to-day that the Allies' reply to the German counter-proposals has already been formulated and will be transmitted to Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau to-morrow.

From the same source it was learned that an announcement may be expected soon that the Big Four have definitely decided to refuse recognition of Admiral Kolchak's Russian Government.

GARDEN PARTY

At the residence of Mrs. Walter Naish, 208 Mark street, a garden party, under the auspices of the Ladies' Home League of the Salvation Army, was held last evening, and with the splendid weather and excellent attractions, the affair was a complete success. The lawns had been attractively strung with many coloured lights and flags of the Allies, while the pretty booths completed the charming scene. The booths were in charge of Mrs. Naish and Mrs. James, ice cream, Mrs. H. Hedge, treasurer, Mr. Willie Naish, candy and soft drinks. During the evening a number of the members of the Salvation Army Band rendered a pleasing programme, while. Mrs. Wand and Miss Grace Morgan contributed solos. Selections on a phonograph were also rendered.

The collection will be devoted to pay for knives and forks bought by the League.

Buy Paint NOW—and the BEST

Many people have allowed their homes to run down in appearance and are still putting off repainting thinking that paint will come down in price.

Even if paints were cheaper six or eight months hence, which is unlikely, because the supply of raw material has fixed the price far ahead and because thousands of house owners are exactly in your condition—bound to paint soon, remember that it is better to paint than repair. Your house can be painted more cheaply now than later.

JURY FOUND HENRY HUGHES NOT GUILTY OF INTIMIDATING GREENWOOD

CASE BEFORE JUDGE HUYCKE AND A JURY INVOLVED AN AGREEMENT TO CUT THE TIMBER OFF A SWAMP ON HUGHES'S FARM IN DUMMER.

HAPPENED IN MARCH

Henry Hughes of Dummer township, who looks all of his eighty years, was arraigned before a jury yesterday afternoon on an indictment of having intimidated with violence, Fred Greenwood, on March 18th, 1919. Another charge of having shot at Arnold Mason, with intent, completes the light criminal list before Judge Huycke in the General Sessions of Peace. Crown Attorney Hatton, conducted the prosecution and Mr. Joseph Wearing appeared for the accused.

Hughes lives in Dummer, about nine miles north of Norwood. His property of one hundred acres consists largely of ranching land, with a few acres under cultivation and a considerable area in wood. At the beginning of last winter, he sold the wood off a section of swamp to Clifford Felion for $20, but trouble developed when Felion began to chop trees on a nearby section which it is alleged was not included in the original agreement.

When Agreement Was Made.

Greenwood, nineteen years old, stated that he was of French-American birth. He spoke with a pronounced accent. He testified that he was present at the Hughes home when Felion obtained by a written agreement the right to cut all the timber in a swamp on the Hughes land for the sum of $20. The agreement was signed by Mrs. Hughes, because her husband couldn't write.

On March 17th, Hughes was the plaintiff in a lawsuit in Norwood in which Felion was the defendant, over the latter's alleged extension of his operations beyond the limits set out in the agreement. Magistrate Langley decided that the case was beyond the jurisdiction of his court and accordingly refused to hear it.

How Trouble Brewed.

The next day on March 18th, Greenwood was sent by Felion to cut wood on the ground Hughes disputed and about ten o'clock in the morning he heard a splash in adjacent water and looking up he saw Hughes who was pointing a double-barreled shot gun at him. The old man was about ten feet away, and so close that Greenwood noticed that both hammers were cocked.

Hughes said to him "Didn't I tell you not to cut here before".

Continuing his story, Greenwood said, "I told him, yes" and he said "Don't cut any more here or I'll shoot you."

I said, "You shouldn't shoot me, but Mr. Felion, I am working for Mr. Felion."

Hughes then said, "I don't want to hurt you, but if you don't get out, I'll shoot you."

"I knew Felion had bought all the swamp" witness said, "and I was there when Hughes showed us the line."

He admitted to Mr. Waering, that Hughes had previously warned him not to cut on that part of the swamp. He wouldn't have taken action against Hughes, if he had not been prompted by Felion, who told Greenwood that his business was damaged by the occurrence.

Witness said he wasn't very much frightened by the gun levelled at him. He didn't attempt to run away because he thought the old man might shoot, but he had an inspiration that safety lay in engaging Hughes in argument.

Felion's Evidence.

Clifford Felion stated that he had formerly lived in Belmont township, but had been cutting pulwood for some time in Dummer.

"I figured that I had bought all the swamp and had a right to cut on all the parts where we worked" said Felion.

To Mr. Wearing, Mr. Hughes had disputed our right to cut in that particular place.

"And you sent Greenwood there that day knowing that Hughes objected?

Felion—"I didn't think he'd show up that day, because we won the lawsuit the day before."

Mrs. Hughes was heard last night to enable her to go home on the C.P.R. "local" to milk the cows, as there was no one on the farm to attend to them. In her evidence she testified that she owned the property with the exception of the part of the swamp named in the agreement, which belonged to her husband. She declared that the agreement had been altered from its original form, the word "all" having been added by some person to give the effect of extending the area of swamp named by her husband.

Hughes swore that he had taken his gun along that morning to frighten Greenwood, but did not point it at him. Besides it was not loaded, for he had no cartridges that would fit it.

After Mr. Wearing and Crown Attorney Hatton had addressed the jury, Judge Huycke counselled them to shut out of their thoughts any considerations of sympathy for the accused, because he was an old man. His Honour intimated that Hughes should not have taken the gun with him that morning. He had no right to take the matter into his own hands. The courts were available for the settlement of disputes and disagreements and Hughes should have consulted a lawyer as to his rights before starting out to frighten Greenwood off the premises.

Verdict of Not Guilty.

The jury that heard this case, after being out about half an hour, returned a verdict of not guilty. Its personnel was as follows: Herbert Scott, Alex. Tait, M. T. Breckenridge, John Sheridan, Thos. O'Brien, Robt. Colon, Chas. Waldron, David Rose, R. Ferguson, Robt. Walker, W. Asling and John Coon.

a 30 per cent. tariff on textiles to allow the Dominion Textile Co. and similar concerns to make such huge profits?

"It Would Not be Policy."

But one of Mr. Crerar's best arguments against a high tariff was the following: "Rubber goods of the moulded type are required in almost every district of Canada at the present time. I have before me the prospectus issued by the K. & S., the Canadian Tire & Rubber Co. of Toronto. I find on looking over the document that this company has complied with the necessary statutory requirements regarding companies in the Province of Ontario. It sets out a very fine statement of its position in its appeal to the limited number of persons to whom the request was sent to invest in its bonds or stock. The whole case is practically summarized in one paragraph, which I shall read to the House. This prospectus states: 'At Weston, Ont., we have the only plant in Canada for making moulded rubber goods exclusively. Our capacity amounts to 3,000 pieces per day. This class of goods in the past has been imported principally from the States. It would not be policy to state our margin of profit, but believe that we are able to manufacture at United States cost. There is a protective tariff of at least 35 per cent. (and up to 42 1-2 per cent.) in our favour. We are thus able to sell at a lower price than any foreign competitor and still have a good profit. The quality of our rubber sundries is admitted to be the equal of the best imported goods."

Admitted in Evidence.

"Here," commented Mr. Crerar, "we have the frank admission of this concern that it can manufacture in Canada as cheaply as in the United States, and yet we find the goods that it is selling to the Canadian people protected to the extent of 35 per cent." (Applause.)

Mr. Crerar advocated the adoption of the method proposed by the Canadian Council of Agriculture as a means of raising revenue in lieu of the tariff plan, namely, by an income tax, by an inheritance tax and by a tax of unimproved values of land. What he considered his most radical suggestion was a direct tax on all unimproved values of land and natural resources. He had an ovation upon resuming his seat.

IF THE SHOE HAD BEEN ON OTHER FOOT

What Would Happen if Strike Leader Had Been a Jesuit Priest Instead of Methodist Minister.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, June 12.—"I notice that the Rev. Mr. Ivens, leader of the strikers in Winnipeg is a parson," remarked Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, during the budget debate yesterday.

"What kind of a parson? I don't know, but I want to put this is to the President of the Council, "Rowell," I would like to put it to a Massey Hall audience, I would like to put it to the Orange lodges: "What would have been his fate if he had been Rev. Father Drummond, a Jesuit priest, Mr. Speaker.

If this leader of the Soviet in Winnipeg had been a Jesuit he would have been shot before this."

PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL MAKES STATEMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, June 12.—In the face of statements by officials of the commercial telegraph companies that a nation wide strike of operators had failed, S. J. Konenkamp, the International President of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, announced that assurance had been given that New York Broker operators, some 3500 strong, would join the strike.

A PICTURE TO PLEASE ALL

BIG DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAMME AT THE GRAND TO-DAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Everybody Will Smile at the New World Picture, "The Beloved Blackmailer."

This picture portrays the laughable difficulties of an invalid in a health camp. It is considerable of a training camp for prize fighters. Love and adventure are the supreme factors of the story and thrills are never ending.

In the picture are seen wonderful scenery and dazzling waterfalls taken in the northern part of New York State, near Canada. The function of the camera is well defined in the filming of marvellous caverns in the mountains, streams of water falling more than five thousand feet in mid-air and protruding rocks which extend twenty-five feet into the open-air.

The actors, too, take their lives into their hands and their hearts into their throats when they run across a narrow path on the ragged edge of a jutty cliff. For sportsmen and those with real red blood in their veins, a good fight is staged by Carlyle Blackwell and Kid Broad, famous as a mitt swinger several years ago. The plot is splendidly pleasing.

SPECIAL ADDED FEATURE.

Mae Murray, star of such well-known successes as "The Bride's Awakening," "Her Body in Bond," "Modern Love," and "Danger, Go Slow," in her newest Universal special attraction, "The Scarlet Shadow."

She is seen as Elna Evans, a demure little country girl with love of frolic in her make-up, but who is constantly kept from contact with the world by a maiden aunt because of a supposed "scarlet strain" in the life of her dead mother.

The dull monotony of life in a New England country village ceases for her when an adventuresome college boy persuades her to sneak out of her room for a visit to the movies. Returning he crawls into her bedroom to help her in the window, and the maiden aunt discovers the pair in this compromising attitude.

Circumstantial evidence is against them, and the next morning she is marching the suspected culprits to the office of the justice of the peace for a hasty marriage, when the boy's uncle appears. He stops the wedding, but Elna is turned out in disgrace and comes to live in New York at the home of her young lover and his mother.

The boy soon forgets his love, but the bachelor uncle sees in the lovable Elna his heart's desire. The boy's mother is in love with the uncle and tries to marry off Elna to a pudgy patent medicine millionaire. Then, complications start that are not straightened out until the final fade-out, a tremendous climax being staged when Elna flings her diamond ring in the face of her portly fiancee at the dinner at which her engagement is being announced to the millionaire.

Supporting Mae Murray are Frank Elliott, Ralph Graves, Clarissa Selwynne, Willard Louis, Martha Mattox, and J. Edwin Brown. "The Scarlet Shadow" was directed by Robert Z. Leonard, who has produced all of Mae Murray's earlier successes.

ST. JOSEPH ON GUARD.

The story of an ingenious method of covering desertion adopted by two German soldiers was told me the other day (writes a correspondent). They were on duty in a church tower which was used as an observation post, and had to remain there for twenty-four hours. During the night they descended into the church and took from a niche a statue of St. Joseph. They carried it to the top of the tower, placed a German cap on the head and leaned it forward over the parapet so that the face was visible from below. Then they quietly took themselves away, and when the sun rose St. Joseph was still on guard. It was not till the officer climbed the tower late in the day that the clever fraud was discovered.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

RESOLUTION FAVOURS ESTABLISHMENT OF CANADIAN MERCHANT MARINE.

TOE ALIENS

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, June 12.—R. P. Howard, of Montreal, was to-day unanimously elected President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

W. J. Bulman, the retiring president, urged that Canadians should understand that Canadian manufacturer was not selfish and not an enemy of labour, but on the other hand, was one of the best friends the workers of Canada had. In Western Canada agitators with half-baked economic ideals were influencing the country, and the sooner the Government placed them where they belong, the better for Canada.

Many resolutions were carried, including one endorsing the creation of a Canadian Merchant Marine, and one against legislation that would place Canadian industries at a disadvantage in international competition.

Another was in favour of legislation which would restore tractor business to Canada, and one in favour of Imperial Preference. Another was for the punishment of aliens, and still another was against the acquirement by the Government of any more railroads.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

LINDSAY, June 11. — The branch meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Bay of Quinte Conference commenced its three day session here with one hundred and eighty five delegates in attendance. The president, Mrs. Grange of Napanee, was in the chair.

Mrs. J. K. Moore reported for the Peterboro district. They have 824 annual and 109 life members of the Auxiliary, 5 Light Bearers, 85 Circle members and 289 Band members, making a total of 923, an increase of 115 over last year. The total receipts for the district for the year were $2438.93.

Mrs. J. W. Wager of Peterboro, reported for the Tamworth division of the Napanee district. They report a total membership of 844 an increase of 110. Total receipts were $2177.32, in increase of $466.04.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. George Carton and Miss Pearl Carton left this afternoon for Toronto, where they will reside.

Staff-Sergt. Frank Nelson returned from Vladivostock, Siberia, last evening on the 5.40 G. T. R. train after serving in France in 1915. His home is at 364 Smith street. He served six months in Siberia with the Canadians.

Several cottagers at Chemong Park have already opened up their summer homes for the season, including Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tully, Mr. and Mrs. Eccles, of Erie, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pattie of Montreal, Rev. and Mrs. Gay of Toronto, and Dr. and Mrs. McLeland.

Mr. Dick Simons, son of Mrs. E. Simons, of 311 Rubidge Street, is spending a few weeks at his home. Mr. Simons is a member of the Gus Hill Musical Comedies Company, and has been for the past winter in New York. His visit in the city is his first in three years.

Prof. J. G. Kaiser, of the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Baumer, 867 George Street.

Mrs. Walton Rouly and little son, of Aylmer Street, have returned from a month's visit in Rochester and Buffalo.

J. J. Moloney, formerly of the Canadian Engineers, left yesterday for Vancouver, after making a month's visit with his mother, at 228 Park street. He enlisted in Vancouver in April 1916, and was two and a half years on active service, with the C.E.F., in France and was also in the army of occupation in Cologne, Germany. He has nothing but good words to say of the treatment the Canadians received in France. They were well fed, well clothed, and treated kindly, and he considers the French a most hospitable and generous people.

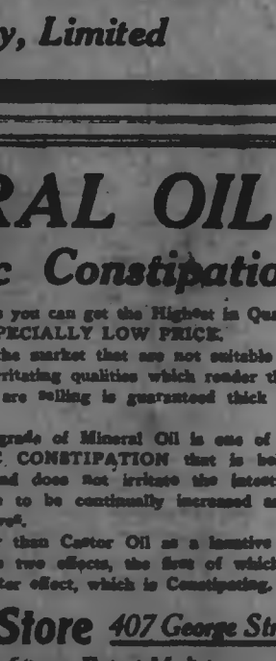
STYLE

HAVE you ever observed that some women do not look well dressed no matter how expensive their clothes? They seem to lack that something called style.

Style does not come from the clothing one wears, but from the figure that is underneath the clothing.



Some women naturally have a stylish appearance. It is the poise or balance of the figure that gives the easy, graceful movements when walking, stooping, turning, in fact doing anything that calls for the slightest muscular exertion

Modart Corsets
Front Laced

are poise designed. They are designed to bring out the latent beauty of form which is every women's inheritance, and to add every possible touch of smartness. There is a style in a MODART for each type of figure.

A trial fitting of the MODART Corset, which is free by our corsetiere, will prove to you their comfort and distinctly smart style.

MINERAL OIL
For Chronic Constipation

By buying this product from us you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

DEFENCES REDUCED

WARSHIPS SURRENDER

(Special to the Examiner.)

STOCKHOLM, June 17.—The outer defences of Petrograd have practically been reduced and Allied forces are advancing upon the former Russian capital, according to despatches received from Helsingfors to-day.

Kronstadt, the great naval base, lying 30 miles west of Petrograd, was set on fire by the artillery bombardment on Sunday, it was reported. Shortly afterwards seven Bolshevik warships left their anchorage and surrendered to the British squadron. At about the same time, the big fortress of Krasnaya Gorka hoisted the white flag ,followed by several lesser forts. Allied troops were immediately landed to the eastward of Krasnaya Gorka and began marching upon Peterhoff (twelve miles west of Petrograd), according to the despatch. Up to Saturday, it was said, more than 22,000 Bolshevik prisoners had been taken in the Petrograd region, in addition to 807 machine guns, 97 field guns, six armoured trains and a vast quantity of materials.

WAR MEMORIALS WILL BE DISCUSSED

GREAT WAR VETERANS HELD REGULAR MEETING LAST EVENING.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Great War Veterans Association, fourteen candidates were received into the membership of the Association, including Captain James Rollins, L. Briscoe, E. Firth, John S. Mason, Roland Hill, Martin Kennealy, R. Smith, R. Harvey, A. M. Milgate, T. Rose, J. E. Rich, J. Read, F. Russell and H. Strickland.

War Memorials.

In order that the sentiments of the dependents of those who made the supreme sacrifice during the war may be ascertained in the matter of War Memorails, and data collected to place the views of those directly connected before a public meeting, which will be called presently to consider the question, a committee consisting of Captain Rollins, Comrade Williamson and Comrade Stanley, was formed.

Sergt. Whatley urged the importance of striking the committee at once and of having a suitable memorial in the city to those who offered their lives in the cause of Democracy.

Crosses for Veterans.

Upon the unanimous decision of the War Veterans to accept General Williams' offer to place wooden crosses at the grave of every veteran who died in service in this district since the war, Secretary Whatley requested that every person who had a relative dieain the district of Peterboro, who served since 1914, to kindly send in the name, rank, number, date of death and year of death, as soon as possible to the Secretary.

An expression of deep gratitude to General Williams for his generous action in donating the crosses, was made at the meeting.

Secretary Whatley is at present endeavouring to make arrangements to have the cross which has been sent exhibited.

No Delegate.

It was decided that no delegate from the local Association will be sent to the coming convention at Vancouver, and the matter of proxies for this district, including Lakehurst and Norwood, will be left with Comrade Captain Jackson.

Captain Rollins Initiated.

When introduced, Captain Rollins spoke briefly commending the Veterans who came back in the earlier stages of the war, for their part in forming the association and securing the splendid quarters. He concluded by thanking the Association for the honor they had accorded him in placing him on the committee to look after War Memorials.

LAST NIGHT'S STORM DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

GARDENS WERE RUINED AND TREES UPROOTED IN MANY SECTIONS.

DAMAGE TO WIRES

Peterborough district was hard hit by the storm last evening, especially in the north end, where gardens and fruit trees were ruined by the downpour of rain and the wind. At Mr. Miles Hamilton's home at Auburn, twelve trees, all of which were old and firm rooted, were torn up, one fine maple being torn out by the roots and thrown in front of the verandah. A number of fruit trees were also ruined. The heavy rain practically flooded everything about the house and garden.

All owners of gardens report serious loss through the storm, which found easy prey in the young and much cherished tomato plants which had not previously been staked up. The gardeners report that the phenomenal growth caused by the exceptionally warm weather and rain has made the plants tender and more easily destroyed by wind and rain than the ordinary crop.

Utilities Affected.

The Utilities suffered considerable damage from the storm, several lines in the north end being cut down and two transformers burned out. Several fuses were knocked out of commission and sections of the city went without light for some hours. The Commission expects, however, to have everything fixed up by this evening.

Sunday Damage.

Fraserville and Bailieboro came in for their share of damage by the storm on Sunday evening, when the heavy rain beat the fall wheat crops down badly, but the farmers are optimistic enough to rest assured that a few days of fine weather will bring them up to practically as good standing as before the storm.

MANY INJURED IN SERIOUS WRECK WEST OF LINDSAY

(Special to Examiner.)

LINDSAY, June 17. — The spreading of the rails by a new heavy engine, that was making its first trip over this division is accounted the cause of a serious wreck at Ops station this morning at 9.30 o'clock when two coaches of the west bound train from Port Hope to Toronto, by way of Peterboro, rolled into the ditch, after they had been dragged along the ties for a distance of forty rods.

Ops is three miles west of Lindsay and the accident occurred about 140 yards east of the station. It appeared that the train was not due to stop there but was speeding at a fairly fast rate.

Only the front wheels of the engine remained on the rails. The big driving wheels of the engine and the tender crunched the ties to kindling wood. The baggage car and the smoker both bumped along the entire reach of the accident, the latter being tilted to one side, but remaining fairly upright.

It was little short of a miracle that there were no fatalities in the passenger coaches. Both of them were toppled into the shallow ditch, and the last one turned completely over. Passengers were thrown about in utter confusion, hurled either from their seat and thrown in all directions. Conductor Buller, of Toronto, found himself at the bottom of a tangled pile of struggling people near the rear door of the end coach. He picked his way out by first separating himself from his passengers and crawling through the top. His head hit the hat rack when the coach overturned in its somersault into the ditch, which fortunately was comparatively shallow.

THE INJURED.

The list of injured, nearly complete, is as follows:

Rev. G. Brown, Barrie, collar bone fractured, scalp wounds and concussion of the brain.
Rev. F. W. White, Plainfield, scalp wounds.
Mr. Deacon, Collingwood, scalp wounds.
News Agent Noyes, bruised hip and side.
Pte. Rhodes, returning to the Convalescent Hospital, Whitby, suffering from shock.
Edward Powers, Emily, ankle bruised.
Mrs. E. E. Sharpe, Lindsay, bruised chest and internal injuries probable.
Conductor Buller, Toronto, scalp wounds and side injured.
Mrs. Joseph Glass, Lindsay, wrist cut.
Mrs. Gould, Uxbridge, scalp wound.

None Seriously Hurt.

Most of the passengers in the last car bore marks of their experience, but it is understood that there are no injuries that will have fatal consequences.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Barrie, was unconscious for a time. An unknown woman is also on the injured list.

Doctors White and Blanchard were rushed in automobiles to Opps Station, and a special train was sent up to bring the passengers back to Lindsay, where the injured were at once taken to the Ross Memorial Hospital.

PUNISHMENT FOR THOSE RESPONSIBLE

By Lowell Mellett.
(United Press.)

PARIS, June 7.—The war was a crime deliberately plotted against the life and liberties of the people of Europe. It has brought death and mutilation to millions. Starvation, unemployment and disease stalk across the continent. For decades the peoples will groan under its burdens and disorganization. Punishment of those responsible for bringing on these calamities is essential on the score of justice and as a deterrent to others who may be tempted to follow their example." In these words the Allied Peace Commissioners published to Germany and all the world the enormity of Germany's crime and the reasons why she must pay the penalty. This is but a brief paragraph of the Allies' reply to the counter proposals submitted to the Germans yesterday, but it epitomises the spirit of stern justice evident throughout the document.

LIBERAL MEETING SATURDAY NEXT

IS CALLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF SELECTING DELEGATES TO ATTEND THE ONTARIO LIBERAL CONVENTION.

All Liberals of West Peterborough are asked to attend a mass meeting to be held in Victoria Hall, No. 282 1-2 George street, on Saturday next, June 21st, at 2 o'clock p.m., which is being held for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the Ontario Liberal convention which is to be held in Toronto on the 26th and 26th days of June, and also to select delegates to attend the Dominion Liberal convention at Ottawa on the 6th, 6th and 7th days of August. At this mass meeting ladies are specially invited to attend.

Mr. W. T. R. Preston and local Liberals will address the meeting, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance at the meeting.

WOMEN ARE INVITED TO ATTEND MASS MEETING

AT WHICH DELEGATES ARE TO BE APPOINTED FOR TORONTO AND OTTAWA CONVENTIONS.

The Liberal women of the West Riding; both in the city and out of it, are specially invited to the mass meeting to be held by the Liberals of West Peterborough on Saturday afternoon next at Victoria Hall for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the Toronto and Ottawa Liberal conventions.

Women are taking a keen interest in the public affairs of Canada, and having been given the franchise, it is hoped the Liberal women of West Peterborough will make themselves conversant with public questions of the day.

Mr. W. T. R. Preston will be present and address the meeting.

Pollitt's Beacon Shows of 10 cars, with 6 special feature shows, a merry-go-round and Ferris wheel and about 20 concessions will make the Exhibition grounds on July 1st the liveliest place in the province.

READY FOR THE WORD

ALLIED FORCES WILL RENEW HOSTILITIES UNLESS TREATY IS SIGNED.

A DEMONSTRATION

(By Fred S. Ferguson, United Press.)

PARIS, June 17.—With peace or war to be determined by 7 o'clock on Monday evening, the tension in Paris to-day recalled that preceding the opening of hostilities in August, 1914. Count Brockdorff-Rantzau was en route to Weimar to-day with a retinue of seventy-three German Peace delegates to present to the National Assembly the Allies' reply to the counter-proposals, submitted at Versailles yesterday evening.

A DEMONSTRATION.

The feeling of the French people was illustrated by the fact that when the Germans left the Hotel des Reservoirs for their special train at 9.45 last night, a crowd of 4,000 gathered outside, hooting and insulting the enemy representatives.

This was the first demonstration against them in the weeks they have been in France.

The latest advices from Berlin and Weimar reiterate that Germany will not accept the revised treaty unless it contains important modifications. Through unofficial press reports the German Government has been apprised from time to time of alterations, and in this way already is in possession of the main concessions.

The optimism in Allied peace circles which had been so noticeable in the last few days, had changed to-day to a feeling of uncertainty as to whether the Germans will find the modifications sufficient to warrant acceptance. This attitude was reflected by the public, which eagerly scanned every printed word touching on the situation. There were no demonstrations in the streets, and the people went about their business as usual, but the air was electric with a nervous tension as the citizens silently considered one great question: "Peace or War."

To the eastward, beyond the battle-scarred regions over which huge armies fought and re-fought for four years, the armies of Marshal Foch wait on German soil for the word that will send them marching to Berlin, or reduce them to the status of a mere police force. To the northward the great ships of the British Navy, their movement shrouded in mystery, were known to be preparing for a quick descent upon the all but unprotected German coast if the verdict is war. To Paris, a little company of men, most unmartial in appearance, had before them the plans for an economic blockade that will strangle Germany into submission if her leaders choose to continue the struggle.

The long months of weary consideration of details and technicalities of a Peace settlement were over, so far as Germany is concerned, when Paul Dutasta, secretary of the Peace Conference, handed the Allies' reply to the Germans yesterday—an incident entirely devoid of ceremony—the negotiations for the most momentous peace in history formally were brought to a close.

The Germans were given just seven days to a minute in which to make known their decision. The verdict rests with them.

HUNS HAVE RECEIVED ALLIED REPLY

BERLIN, June 17.—Berlin was advised by telephone this evening that Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau had received the Allied reply to the German counter-proposals, and would leave for Weimar at eight o'clock. The news that the Entente had replied to Germany was made public here last night.

The German delegates are due to arrive in Weimar on Tuesday afternoon, the minor members of the delegation and expert attaches will come to this city direct from Versailles.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN SHOULD GERMANY FAIL TO SIGN TREATY WITHIN THE TIME SPECIFIED

PLAN DESIGNED TO GIVE GERMANY A DEATH BLOW IN THE SHORTEST POSSIBLE TIME—WILL BE ONE OF THE MOST DECISIVE CAMPAIGNS IN HISTORY.

CUT GERMANY IN TWO

Following is an authoritative outline of the Allies' plans for the invasion of Germany in case the enemy refuses to accept the Peace terms. The details were obtained by Henry Wood, who represented the United Press on the French Front during the War, through consultation with eminent French critics and military authorities.

(By Henry Wood. Copyright, 1919, by the United Press.)

PARIS, June 17.—If Germany refuses to sign the Peace treaty, the Allied armies will launch immediately one of the greatest and most decisive campaigns in history. While the public generally is inclined to think of an advance into Germany under present conditions as little more than a triumphal parade, in which no resistance will be met, Marshal Foch has been obliged to be prepared for any emergency. The Allies would move forward with every detail worked out for a campaign extending from the Dutch to the Swiss frontiers—designed to give Germany a death-blow in the shortest possible time—against the maximum force which the unified Allied command knows that the Germans might throw into action in a crisis.

CUT GERMANY IN TWO.

The Allied campaign, according to the highest French military critics and authorities, would embrace three great routes of invasion, designed to break down all possible defence, seize most of the important points in Germany and cut that country completely in two.

The Allies' left wing, consisting of the Belgian Army, with the British protecting its right flank at Cologne bridgehead, would drive eastward from Dusseldorf into a network of railways, of which Posen, only a day's march away, is the centre. With the British Army in a position to execute a flanking movement from the south, should this be necessary, Germany would lose at the outset not only her great Krupp ordnance and munitions works at Essen, but the entire surrounding mineral basin.

This would open the way immediately to Minden, where Germany has constructed a great fortress for defending her plains from entrance through Westphalia. Without doubt Germany would make her supreme resistance against the Allies' left wing before Minden. Simultaneously, however, the Allies' right wing, composed exclusively of the bulk of the French Army, would drive out from Alsace-Lorraine front, where they have the advantage of a great depression before them extending for eighty miles, and which would lead them directly up to Germany's big southern fortress at Ulm. Here the Allied military authorities figure that Germany would have to make her principal resistance along the Danube, between Ulm and Ingolstadt. With these two sections in progress, the big decisive stroke would be smashed home by the Allied centre, composed of the American Army, centred at Coblenz, the French Tenth Army at Mayence, and the French Army now in Bavarian Palatinate. The Allied centre has before it the great route of invasion of Germany by way of the Valley of the Main, which flows into the Rhine below Frankfort.

A TEN DAYS' MARCH.

The Main Valley leads directly across Germany into the mountains on the Bohemian border. Although the meandering of the river makes this route long, it is only a ten days' march across Germany at this point. This drive would separate completely the northern from the southern half of Germany. German military strategists have long considered this Germany's most vulnerable point, and for that reason figured that in the event of a French invasion, Southern Germany must be defended by Austria; but with Austria no longer able to aid her, Germany's weakest point would be thrown open and exposed to the Allies' thrust. Eventually linking up of the Allies' centre with Bohemia would give them complete control of Silesia, which, after Essen, constitutes the region most vital to Germany's existence. As a consequence, caught on the north by the British Fleet, on the south by Bohemia, cut in two by the Allied Armies, and with her great productive centres lost, Germany would be completely crushed.

Whatever resistance Germany might be able to offer to the Allies in their drive along the Main Valley would, according to French military authorities, be in the vicinity of Wurzburg, where the rocky, forest-covered mountainous heights of Rheen constitute a strong natural barrier which the Germans long ago recognised and fortified accordingly. However, with the Americans descending on Wetzlar from Coblenz, the French Tenth Army on Hanau from Mayence, and the French Eighth Army on Wurzburg from Mannheim, the Allies would have in their possession all the leading routes and starting points for the encirclement and capture of the Massif of Rheen.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

Back of this position is another natural defence, in the forest of Thuringe, and still back of that is the big fortress of Erfurt, built to defend the entrance to the Plains of Saxony. While this central and principal action would be in progress, the Allies' wing would continue its drive from Essen in the direction of Minden, and the right wing from the fortress of Ulm would push on toward Nordlingen.

Against such a plan of action, Germany, in its present disorganised state—without a fleet to protect it from the British Navy, without sufficient artillery or other material—would be unable to put up a serious defence. Nevertheless, the Allied military authorities are taking no chances, and the campaign as planned provides for the overcoming of the maximum resistance the Germans might make.

ORGAN INSTALLED AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

A particularly fine programme is being presented at the Grand Opera House the first three days o fthis week. "A Gamble for Love," the great English racing picture, on a stupendous scale, is shown, with a star cast. There is also another feature picture showing the sinking of the Lusitania. It is from the vivid pen picture of that terrible crime given us by Windsor McKay, who gained fame from his book.

An organ has been installed in the play house and is under the direction of Mr. Cyril Dewey, son of Mr. Richard Dewey. The music blends in beautifully with the rest of the orchestra, and Mr. Dahn, the manager, is considering installing the organ as a regular fixture.

TO INVESTIGATE SUPPOSED SMALLPOX

As a precautionary measure the Board of Health at last night's meeting decided to have an officer of the Provincial Board of Health come to the city and diagnose a number of cases which the local health officials suspect is small- pox. A number of shacks have been constructed at the Isolation Hospital to isolate these few cases from the rest of the patients.

REV. WILLIAM IVENS WAS GARNERED IN WITH A NUMBER OF OTHERS AS A RESULT OF EARLY MORNING ROUND-UP.

LITERATURE SEIZED

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, June 17. — In the early hours of this morning many men prominently associated with the leadership of the strike, were quietly arrested by special police at their homes and spirited away in automobiles to some place in the country presumably Stony Mountain.

Following is an official list of those said to be taken into custody:

R. B. Russell.
Rev. William Ivens.
R. E. Bray.
George W. Armstrong.
Alderman John Quinn.
Ald. A. A. Heaps.
Four agitators of Russian nationality.

Beyond expressing indignation at the presence of representatives of the law at their homes, the men taken into custody submitted to arrest quietly. It is understood the prisoners were not taken to any of the city police stations.

The blow of the Dominion government against sedition in the west fell between three and four o'clock this morning. It was announced that arrests were also to have been carried out in Calgary and other western points at the same time.

Simultaneous with the arrests the Labor Temple, from which the strike has been dictated, was raided by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and literature said to have been of Bolshevik nature, was seized. The building was thoroughly searched, and any doors that could not be opened were broken down. Books and papers of all sorts were taken, and thrown into waiting automobiles.

CORDON OF POLICE.

The raid was conducted by Inspector Gref, of the city police force, and Inspector Mead of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. For the purpose a cordon of special constables, numbering several hundred were placed around the building.

The following is the occupation of those said to have been arrested:

R. B. Russell, secretary of Metal Trades Council and one of the inner circle of the Strike Committee.

Rev. William Ivens, editor of the Western Labor News and pastor of the Labor Church.

R. E. Bray, leader of the pro-strike parades, which visited the Parliament buildings on a number of occasions recently.

Moses Charitonoff, arrested in 1918, on a charge of sedition, convicted, sent to jail, then released on technicality of Russian birth.

Moses Almazoff, Extreme Socialist, Russian.

Mike Berenzuk, admirer of Bolshevist theories, Russian by birth.

RUTHENIANS ARRESTED.

(Special to Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, June 17. — Between two and four o'clock this morning, the Dominion government, assisted by the civic authorities, arrested six prominent strike leaders, and many others. Most of them were awakened in their home. The men known to be arrested include R. B. Russell, James Winning, Rev. William Ivens, R. H. Bray, Ald. John Queen, Ald. A. A. Heap, George Armstrong and a man named Charinoff, editor of a Ruthenian paper, "The Working People," whose arrest some time ago attracted considerable attention.

The Labor Temple on James Street, and the Ruthenian Labor Temple in the North End, were both raided by large forces of the Northwest Mounted Police and special constables, and the papers seized.

A DRASTIC MOVE.

A new stage has been reached in the Winnipeg strike situation. The arrest at the instance of the Dominion Government of all the prominent strike leaders this morning is a drastic step, the effect of which can not yet be estimated. It may utterly crush the strike and the "One Big Union" policy of it may only serve to further arouse the anger of the strikers and steel their resolve to resist. The authorities in deciding to apprehend the men who have been directing the strike have had plenty of time to weigh up the situation and to decide as to whether the strike was merely a demonstration designed to improve the condition of the labouring classes or rather an attempt to upset the social system of Canada and substitute the principles of Lenine and Trotsky. Apparently the second diagnosis of the situation has been accepted as the real one, and accordingly the leaders, including several Labour aldermen, Rev. Mr. Ivens, editor of the Western Labour News, and Bray, the returned soldier who headed several parades to call upon Premier Norris for his resignation, have been placed in custody. Bolshevik literature is said to have been discovered at the Labour Temple, a find that will be used by the authorities as proof of their contention that the strike is really an attempt at social revolution. The result of the unexpected move will be watched with intense interest in all parts of Canada.

REPATRIATING THE SOLDIERS

In referring to the necessity of a change in the administration of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment yesterday, the resignation of Comdr. Bell and Lieut.-Col. Bell was instanced as a sign that conditions in the department were far from satisfactory. The resignation of Prof. Haultain, the chief vocational officer for Ontario, is another proof that it is time for a change. When three such officials as these think it necessary to withdraw from their positions because it is impossible to get the department to carry out any of their recommendations there is undoubtedly something wrong, and it is about time the Government realized that the department entrusted with the all-important task of repatriating Canada's soldiers is far from operating with the smoothness that should characterise its work.

If Sir James Lougheed is too busy in the Senate or lacks the ability to administer the affairs of this department the Government should lose no time in selecting his successor. If no action is taken the whole staff of the department will soon have resigned. Three of the chief officials have already thrown up the sponge, and the conditions are such that those who desire to do their duty by the returned soldiers are compelled to resign, despairing of accomplishing what they realize should be done.

THE OVERSEAS CLUB.

The objects of the Overseas Club are so important in their relations to the welfare of the British Empire, and Mr. Francis Jones, F.R.G.S., is such an eloquent speaker, and so enthusiastic in regard to the subject upon which he is to be heard locally, that the citizens should forget the attractions of outdoor events, and endeavor, if possible to be present at the Board of Trade rooms on Thursday evening. Mr. Jones comes from the heart of the Empire to deliver a message of importance to the people of Canada. He proposes to tell the wonderful story of what the Overseas Club has done, and what it plans to do. Such objects as the promotion of British trade within the Empire, the conservation of the manhood of the Empire, and the inducements of the Britisher to locate in the Overseas Dominions, should have the support of every patriotic Canadian. The work of the Overseas Club has been such a factor in the development of a better understanding between the different parts of the Empire, that it is to be hoped that Peterboro will soon have an energetic and flourishing branch in this city, following upon the visit this week of the Special Commissioner of the organization. Meetings on summer nights are not as a rule largely attended, but in this particular instance the importance of the occasion should be sufficient to ensure a representative attendance.

THE WITLEY MUTINY.

The people of Canada will regret to learn of the great damage done by Canadian troops at Witley Camp, England, during a demonstration of dissatisfaction over the delay in repatriating the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who are still overseas. It is unfortunate that conditions have arisen that have resulted in this outrage, which will tarnish the splendid reputation that has been won by Canada's fighting men. A series of strikes had interfered with the sailing of several of the transports, and under the circumstances, the dissatisfaction of the troops, who are longing to get home, is easily understood but it will be a matter of deep regret that in giving vent to their discontent, the mutineers went to the lengths they did. The burning of half the camp at Witley is a crime for which the ring-leaders should be severely punished. As might be expected, it was a comparatively small body of malcontents who caused the trouble. The majority of the soldiers in camp had nothing to do with the affair, and it is a shame that the good name of Canada's soldiers should be injured by such crimes as the burning of barracks and the wanton and wilful destruction of valuable property. The soldiers undoubtedly have grievances, and serious ones, but it must be said that they could have adopted an equally effective if much less destructive method of demonstrating their feelings.

FRANK McCULLOUGH.

It might be said that man has his existence within a kind of moral corral. This fenced-in space is made up of pickets and according to the number of pickets erected is the person safe from wandering astray. There always are the conventional pickets of the law, a formidable barrier, but there are also self-erected sections of the fence which make it easy or difficult to get between the pickets and dash off beyond the law of heaven or earth. One of the strongest sections of the inclosure that restrains the brute in man is that which could be labelled "Thou Shalt Not Kill." It guards a section of the outside that leads to a prison and a gallows or electric chair, and as a man is constituted is the fence high and strong or low, and weak. A man of intelligence for instance, who realizes that heredity or circumstances have given him an uncontrollable temper will make this part of the corral so strong and forbidding that he is certain to find it impassable when the deadly impulse to slay comes into his mind. Not only has the law made this section of the barrier forbidding, but the man himself has strung barbed wire of his own devising along the top. He feels that, come what may, he will never try to break from the fence at that section, because death lies at the passage, and death by violence, death imposed by the community, is the worst fate that can strike the heart of a human being.

Frank McCullough was one of the men who pulled down so many of the pickets in his moral inclosure that the law found it necessary to make the barriers high. When, like a hunted animal, he sought to break through the pickets that guarded the avenues of theft and robbery, he found the law had reinforced these sections and discovered the weak spots in his character that must be guarded. When he ran smash into the law's newly-erected protection and the law was coming for him to tie him up short for a while, he saw the only way out was to break through the section of the fence labelled "Thou Shalt Not Kill," weakened in his attacks on other parts of the structure. So he burst through the last avenue of escape. He killed in order to clear himself of the fate that pursued him. It was then he set his feet on that road which ended in a sudden drop to "the next life" Friday morning.

McCullough would not stay within the law's inclosure and he paid the penalty. The community has made this inclosure and members of the community have left it at their peril. It is not a matter of choice, or many would be following the course of McCullough. Many men have had murder in their hearts than Frank McCullough, but they did not dare to be sent on a certain road that is travelled only by the perpetrators of the ultimate sin. And perhaps it is in the realization of the capacity of man for wrong-doing that the community, knowing human nature, refuses to make the punishment for the great crime less drastic and destructive than it has been. Whatever the humanitarianism of the situation may be, the community believes that potential murder exists and when it expresses itself but for the fear of the gallows. And while the community, or a section of it, pleaded for the life of McCullough to be spared, the truth is that the thrill of the man's escape and the pseudo-love affair interwoven through his prison experiences appealed to people with the same interest as did the dashing figures of crime on the high seas or high road.

The people who asked for a commutation of the sentence of Frank McCullough may be derided as sentimentalists, and there are frequently cases when the sympathy shown for murderers is sickening, but from the bottom of the human heart wells up a surge of feeling for the poor unfortunate, who as a boy seeking adventure, fell in with tramps and was packed into a penitentiary at 15 years of age and given a thorough-going education in crime while other boys in different spheres of life were attending collegiate institutes and being guided by fathers and mothers to other destinies. What would Frank McCullough have turned out to be had he been reared in another environment? What would Frank McCullough have been if a calloused judge had not "send him down" for fifteen years? Perhaps that judge may still be alive, and it may be the part of justice that he should receive marked copies of the newspapers pointing to the wonderful success in crime achieved by the boy he passed into the great university of crime, with only a thought perhaps that this miserable creature before him was delaying his lunch hour or his motor car ride. A distinguished student, indeed! The horror of that thought and the revulsion it arouses against the man responsible is almost as great as the horror of McCullough's crime.

REV. C. A. G. SPENCE.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence, of Apsley, and formerly of Peterborough, has been in Toronto the past week writing his examination for priest's orders. He passed successfully and was ordained priest on Sunday last at St. Alban's Cathedral by the Lord Bishop of Toronto.

Before he left for Toronto, Mrs. Philip Tanner, on behalf of the congregation of St. Stephen's, Chandos, presented him with a magnificent embroidered white silk stole, accompanied by the wishes of the congregation for his success at his ordination and the hope that he would be spared to minister for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Tanner also made him a personal gift of a beautiful surplice.

"AFTER HIS OWN HEART" NEXT HAMILTON PLAY

CLEVER ROMANTIC COMEDY WILL BE SHOWN AT THE GRAND THEATRE.

"After His Own Heart", a clever romantic comedy-drama in which Hale Hamilton plays a dynamic role thoroughly suited to his versatile talents, will be shown at the Grand theatre soon.

The play, adapted from the story by Ben Ames Williams and published in the All Story Weekly, tells of a young millionaire who loses his vast fortune through the dishonesty of an unscrupulous trustee.

A mysterious letter comes to him offering him the sum of $250,000 for a month of his time, but it does not disclose what he is expected to do in return. In great need of the money he accepts although it is much against his better judgment. A limousine is sent for him and he is taken to a mysterious house where an amazing and terrifying plan is proposed to him. What this is and its surprising outcome will be shown in the gripping play in which Mr. Hamilton is seen in the best work of his career.

Among the noted artists in his supporting cast are Naomi Childers William V. Mong, Mrs Louis Frank Hayes; Harry Carter, Herbert Pryor and Stanley Stanford. The play was directed by Harry L. Franklin and produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director general.

DR. FRANK BOHN.

The lecturer on the fourth day of Chatauqua will be Dr. Frank Bohn who created such a tremendous interest on the circuit last year. It will be a great pleasure to welcome Dr. Bohn to our town, knowing his reputation as a speaker and his knowledge of the great questions of the day.

Dr. Bohn has spent the year largely in Switzerland and has been in attendance at various conventions of Socialists, combatting Bolshevism and forwarding the interests of the Allies. His subject, "Revolutionary Europe," will be of intense interest.

During the past year he has contributed articles to the "New York Times" and other leading papers and magazines, and no one has been quoted more frequently and more copiously that has he as an authority on all great international questions.

NAPOLEON AS NEWS CONTROLLER

Modern governments employ trained journalists to praise them in the public press. Napoleon Bonaparte tried a different scheme. He was his own propagandist and assumed all the duties and responsibilities which are nowadays delegated to a committee. But what a sad failure! At the beginning of his career he made no attempt to hide his intentions. "A Sovereign," he stated, "must confiscate public opinion and use it to his own advantage." Twenty years later, an exile on St. Helena, he dictated a few sad words of commentary: "My son will be obliged to rule with the help of a free press." Whatever his original ideas upon the subject, the great Emperor could not put them in practice until he had been appointed commanding general of the French armies in Italy in the year 1796. It was a time when freedom of the press ran riot in revolutionary France. Delivered from the restrictive laws of the old regime, every political party, every political leader, printed a little news-sheet of its own.

Napoleon wrote often to the directors and asked that steps be taken to protect his reputation. The Paris press, so he argued, was helping the Austrians and the Sardinians, and something must be done to counteract this evil influence. He suggested the foundation of an official newspaper, reflecting the opinions of the French Government. The directors listened patiently, failed to answer the letters of their Commander-in-Chief, and did nothing, until General Napoleon, in despair, began to print his own newspapers. In the year 1797, the Courrier de l'Armee d'Italie appeared in Milan. A few weeks later it was followed by La France vue de l'Armee d'Italie.

The next year Napoleon transferred the scene of his activities to Egypt. As soon as he reached the shores of the Nile, the Courrier d'Egypte appeared, printed in Cairo, originally in the French language, but soon followed by editions in Arabic for the benefit of the native, who must be impressed by the glory and fame of the foreign conqueror. From that moment on Napoleon is master of the printed word in his adopted country. After the coup d'etat of XVIII. Brumaire the freedom of the press was a dead issue in France. On the 17th of January of the year 1800, Napoleon restricted the number of newspapers that were to be printed in France to exactly 12. The others were suspended for an indefinite period of time.

Not contented with his fame on the field of battle the great General fought his quarrels on paper and concentrated his efforts upon a single sheet, the Moniteur. This journal was not a new enterprise. It had made its first appearance early in the year 1789 as an independent newspaper. After 1801 it became the defender and expounder of the Napoleonic theories of government and administration. It printed the official decrees and the official announcements and was to be found on the table of every Imperial office-holder. When a serious question was before the public, Napoleon himself wrote or dictated editorials and articles. As a source of inspired information the paper was never surpassed, not even by the kept press of Bismarck.

A little later the ruler of the French found himself in a bitter fight with the French cardinals and finally with the Pope. Then he started a publication strictly for home consumption, the Bulletin de Paris, followed shortly afterward by the Journal des Cures, which first appeared at the precise moment when all other clerical journals were suppressed.

Wherever the Emperor went he was followed by copies of his inspired newspapers. When the snow of the Russian plains and the tenacity of the Russian armies had turned his glorious Moscow campaign into complete failure, he hastened back to Poland, and from Wilna and Warsaw tried to influence French public opinion by short and crisp notes telling of his plans for the future and lying gloriously about the actual conditions of the present. Not until he had left French soil did his activity as a newspaper man cease. And when he returned from Elba he resumed his work as unofficial editor-in-chief of the old Moniteur. For 100 days Europe was obliged to read this official organ if it wished to know what the hated Corsican had to say upon all subjects from war to the administration of museums and the final destiny of conquered provinces.

The suppression of news was maintained at all hazard, but even Fouche and his spies could not prevent the ultimate spread of the truth. And two days before his death (3rd May, 1821) Napoleon confessed that he had been wrong. "I tried to give France liberal ideas, but I failed. In the beginning I felt that I was obliged to suppress news. Afterward it was too late"—a commentary which ought to have served as a warning to all who have since flattered the French Emperor by an imitation of his most unsuccessful and disastrous methods.

ISSUES PRESS FOR EARLY PEACE

PARIS — In the French Peace Delegation there is a definite idea amounting to almost the precision of a calendar, as to when the peace treaty is to be signed.

According to what one plenipotentiary told me, the Allies will do all they intend doing in the way of revising the Treaty and answering the German counter-proposals in time to present the final terms of Brockdorff-Rantzau next Friday. Another week will then be given to the Germans finally to decide to sign or not sign. So, if anybody after the last six months still has the courage to indulge in the pastime of fixing definite dates, June 20 is as good a date as any to name for the day on which the treaty will be signed.

The French delegates consider the refusal by the Germans to sign a contingency so remote as to be negligible.

There are various facts, aside from the French delegates' prediction, which make it reasonable to suppose that we really are approaching the finish. Each member of the Council of the Big Four has special and most urgent reasons peculiar to himself and to his own country to make an early conclusion of the Paris business. As everybody knows, President Wilson is most eager to get home and resume the normal duties of the Presidency. In Italy the session of the Parliament will begin on June 19. Orlando wants to arrive in Rome as soon as possible after, that date with the completed treaty to show to his Legislature. And, it may be said parenthetically, the Adriatic question is not yet settled by the Big Four.

In England and France there are serious social and labor difficulties, which make it more than ever incumbent on Lloyd George and Clemenceau to get the peace-making business finished.

In France there is good evidence for supposing a close connection between the question of the peace treaty with Germany and the labor strike situation. I was assured today by Deputy Longuet, who is a grandson of Karl Marx and leader of the French element which is the nearest approach in this country to Bolshevism, was in Switzerland five days ago, where he had a long interview with the secretary of Brockdorff-Rantzau.

Pro-Germanism of Radicals.

There are also reports that Germany has been urged by radical groups in England, France and Italy not to sign the peace treaty, and has been assured that her refusal would be the signal for revolutionary movements in those three allied countries. In support of that is the fact of the sudden and unexpected insistence on the part of the labor leaders in France that the peace terms are too severe on Germany, and that is given as one of the reasons that is not likely to win for the industrial workers the sympathy or the support of the peasants and bourgeoise. At least, that is the bourgeoise opinion expressed to me today by a French statesman.

"The plan of the Internationals," he said, "is a good one so far as Germany is concerned, and a big improvement on the original plan threatened by Germany to turn Bolshevism loose in her own territory for the sake of spreading it to France and England. Now, thanks to the help and support from certain French and English elements themselves, Germany hopes to keep her own territory free from anarchy, while it is turned loose in ours by our own people working in behalf of Germany.

"But the plan will not work. Of the 8,000,000 industrial workers in France less than 1,000,000 are now on strike. I think they have made a great mistake in thinking they would have the support of the army should serious trouble begin. The soldiers are not in sympathy with them, because it is contrary to human nature for them to be, in the existing circumstances.

"For example, a soldier who has been in the trenches four years has received 1 cent a day for the first two years, 5 cents a day for the last two. He has been in danger of death all the time. A million and a half of his comrades have been killed. During these four years the metal workers, although of military age, have been safe at home, working in munitions factories, getting up to 40 or 50 francs a day. Now, the metal workers' clamoring for more pay is not going to awaken any enthusiasm on the part of these troops.

"Neither have the strikers any sympathy or support from the 16,000,000 peasants of France, nor from the bourgeoise. The workers, the bulk of whom do not subscribe because the peace terms are too severe on Germany, but declare they are striking because of the high cost of living, are increasing that cost every hour of the strike for themselves and for all the rest of France. They are making a vicious circle.

French Workingmen's High Wages.

"On the other hand, the workingmen of France are now receiving higher wages than they ever dreamed of before the war, and Parliament has enacted an eight-hour law. So, as there is no true economic reason at this moment to justify the strikers, it is not difficult to believe that the workers have been deceived by their leaders, who are working incidentally for Germany, but with the ultimate end of overthrowing existing conditions in England and France, Italy and Germany.

"The great mistake of the French Government during the war was to yield to such big wages to mobilized munitions workers. Every demand was granted without an instant's hesitation or examination in order to prevent any delay in the making of war material. So these men, who formerly had earned 8 francs a day, found themselves getting 40 or more. Furthermore, many of them, taking advantage of the moratorium, paid no rent. The effect of all this on these suddenly prosperous workers, who were themselves safe from the dangers of battle, but living in a country excited by war, was too much for the proverbial French thrift. They spent the money as fast as they got it for food and drink they did not need, and for amusements. They saved nothing.

"The French peasant who during the war had no immunity from battle service, is better off than the French industrial worker, because he has not lost his sense of thrift by going through an orgy of profiteering in wage-grabbing.

"Fortunately these peasants, of whom there are 16,000,000, are not in sympathy with the cause of the strikers, so I don't think the International labor leaders are going to succeed and overthrow the French Republic."

This Leaves the Skin Free From Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks.)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on the hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment be certain you get delatone.

LENNOXVILLE OLD BOYS.

A grand rally of the graduates of Bishop's College School is being arranged for the 23rd and 24th of this month. In view of the fact, that the members of the School who have been overseas, will nearly all be back and that the institution has every reason to be proud of the record the school has made in the war, and also that many have not had an opportunity of seeing the splendid new school building erected through the generosity of Commander J. K. L. Ross, himself an old boy of the school, it is considered that the present is the opportune time in which to have a large reunion of this nature.

It is felt, moreover, that the Esprit de Corps which has always existed between old B.C.S. boys the would over, should not be allowed to wane, and that neither time nor the call of a commercial age should serve to sunder those ties with an old Alma Mater.

It is a trite truism, generally appreciated too late, that school days are the best days of one's life. Attempts such as this now being made by the old boys of Bishop's College to renew those "dear dead days," even for a short time, have always a special appeal for the public mind; especially will this occasion touch a responsive chord in the breasts of all the old boys of Lennoxville wherever they may be throughout the Dominion, compelling them to arise and make their ways to the old school for the great reunion. Invitations have been issued by Mr. W. S. Atkinson, representing the Old Boys Association, but as it has been impossible to get in touch with many it is hoped that all who learn of the old school rally will make special efforts to be present. Mr. W. S. Atkinson, of Etchemin, Quebec, has all the information that might be desired.—Quebec Telegraph

LIMB LOST AND LIFE LENGTHENED

Other conditions being equal, a man who had lost one leg was likely to live longer than if he had not lost it, and if both legs were amputated he would probably live longer still, declared Col. Openshaw, when the Princess Royal opened Church Army Hostels for Limbless Men at Kensington. The physiological reason advanced for his statement was that the heart had to carry the blood to the extremities, and would continue to work longer if the legs were taken away. He added that it was demonstrably true that a legless man could be a better swimmer than before his loss.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."
As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $1,425.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

He has been the only occupant of the office of secretary-treasurer since the board assumed its present form.

CHIMNEY KNOCKED OFF SCHOOL HOUSE.

During the severe electrical storm that passed over this section on Sunday night, Jackson's school house, in Ops Township, was struck by the lightning. The chimney was demolished, and a portion of the roof badly shattered. Damage to the extent of $50 was done. Jackson's school is a very fine structure and is one of the best schools in the township.

STONEY LAKE THIS SEASON

It is gratifying to learn that the prospects are for a bumper season at Stoney Lake, this year, and which is indicated by the many applications that have been received by the hotels in that district up to the present.

The fleet of steamers of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co., that has operated in this district so satisfactorily in the past will be in commission again this year, with Capt. Frank G. young as manager.

The summer cottages are being taken up very quickly and reservations at the hotels are quite brisk. As the upper lakes are well stocked with fish, those wishing to spend either all or part of their vacation casting the rod and trolling are afforded ample opportunity for this pastime.

BERRY PRICE

Canners Contract to Pay 20 Cents Per Quart.

Under their present contract with the fruit growers the Dominion Canners are bound to pay 20 cents per quart for strawberries, the contract, however, being subject to change overnight. Last year's highest contract price was 14 cents. The continued hot spell has not injured this year's crop yet.

The retail price will be governed by that paid by the canners, and is certain to be higher than 20 cents.

PETERBORO SENT SIXTEEN RECRUITS

INSPECTOR BEYTS HAD A VERY FRUITFUL VISIT HERE.

Peterborough sustained all past records for recruiting in her response to the call made through Inspector Beyts for recruits for the North-West Mounted Police Foce, sending in all 16 recruits West. Besides those who went, several have since signified their desire to enlist from the city, and will probably follow the Inspector to Belleville, where he is at present recruiting.

The city's record is especially outstanding in comparison with the records made by the cities visited by the Inspector up West where, during two weeks' campaign, which included Hamilton and St. Catherines, he secured only two men.

It was stated at the Employment Bureau this morning that a return visit from Inspector Beyts would doubtless be worth his while.

STAGNATION OF THE LITTLE LAKE WATER CAUSED BY BOOMS

BOARD OF HEALTH TAKES STEPS TO PROMOTE A CURRENT—NUISANCE IS DISCUSSED.

The police reported at a meeting of the Board of Health last evening that they were unable to get the services of the Medical Officer of Health when a doctor's services were required in police court cases.

Dr. Amys moved, seconded by Mr. J. Murty, that Patrol Sergt. A. Blade, of the police force, appear before the Board at its next regular meeting.

Sergt. Blade, in a communication, said the police were instructed by Chief Thompson to call Dr. Amys when occasion demanded, but it was usually difficult to obtain his services.

Dr. Amys in reply stated that he had refused only two calls emanating from the police station, and that he had never refused indigent cases reported by Relief Officer Miller. Dr. Amys was of the opinion that he did not have to respond to every call made by the police.

To decide the question and get a clear definition of Dr. Amys' duties, the City Clerk was instructed to supply each member of the board with a copy of the agreement between the city and the Medical Officer of Health.

Grant and Thorpe submitted prices for two 12" oscillating fans for use in the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, but Dr. Amys' and Mr. Murty were authorized to get further information as to prices on oscillating fans; also the authority to purchase tables and other necessary furniture for the Isolation Hospital.

Sanitary Inspector Stapleton reported to the Board that the water in the Little Lake was becoming stagnant and that dead fish were frequently seen floating on the surface. He thought the only remedy was to ask the McDonald Lumber Estate to move a number of booms, under lake to allow of freer circulation of the water, which would do away with the sluggishness.

The suggestion was acted upon and the McDonald Estate will be asked to move a numbe rof booms, under the direction of the Sanitary Inspector.

Dr. Amys reported that he had received a number of complaints from citizens of nuisances created by a George street factory.

Action was immediately taken by the board, and on motion of Dr. Amys, seconded by the Mayor, the company will be requested to keep as clean as possible their premises, "to stop polluting the river, and abate the odors from the plant, as complaints have been made by citizens respecting the same; and that this Board express the hope that the company will comply with the request, and if not the Board will have to take further steps to abate the nuisances."

Power was given the Mayor and the chairman to engage a new caretaker and also a new cook for the Isolation Hospital.

The delegation will consult Miss M. Price, the matron of the hospital, on the matter.

Why Actresses Never Grow Old

Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dear old public than the perpetual youth of our feminine members. How often we hear remarks like, "Why, I saw her as Juliet forty years ago and she doesn't look a year older now!" Of course allowance is made for make-up, but when they see us off the stage at close range, they need another explanation.

How strange women generally havent' learned the secret of keeping the face young! How simple a matter to get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply it like cold cream, and in the morning wash it off! We know how this gradually, imperceptibly, absorbs old cuticle, keeping the complexion new and fresh, free from fine lines, sallowness or overredness. We know, too, that this mercolized wax is the reason actresses don't wear freckles; moth patches, liver spots, pimples and the like. Why don't our sisters on the other side of the footlights learn the reason, and profit by it?—Theatrical World.

THE HUNTER STREET CAMPAIGN

The union evangelistic campaign in the big tent on Hunter Street continued last evening with a swing and a spirit that gave promise of increased interest as the meetings progress. Evangelist Kennedy gave a telling description of the events centring around the transfiguration of Christ on the Mount. The wonderful character of this event was effectively brought out. According to the speaker it was the greatest conference that has ever been held in the world's history. There were present representatives of the old and the new dispensations, as well as the Lord from Heaven. An effective description of the characteristics of the Apostle Peter was given. It was said that although Peter's words were generally wrong, his heart was always right, and for this reason he appealed to many readers of the Scriptures in a manner that none of the other Apostles do.

The song books being used are new ones in Peterborough, and contain numerous hymns that are pretty sure to become popular throughout the city during the next few weeks. A solo was rendered last evening in excellent form by Miss Kidd. The tent is so large and well lighted that it makes an excellent impression on all who attend. It is high and cool. Rev. Messrs. Pogue and Thomas assisted in the services last evening. The St. Andrew's Church choir will lead the singing this evening.

NUGGETS FROM KENNEDY'S SERMONS.

Prayer is not coaxing God, but laying hold of God's willingness to do the thing He wants done.

It is not wonderful that God should answer prayer, but it would be a wonderful if He did not after promising to do so.

In so far as God has power with you in your daily life, will you have power with God when you pray.

A man must abandon his sin or lose in his prayer.

Some people pray, "Thy Kingdom Come", then live in a way that hinders its coming.

Prayer is heaven's heaviest artillery.

Prayer is the means by which we become labourers together with God, in running this world in the interests of the human race.

Prayer is joining forces with God against satan.

Prevailing prayer is securing the object asked for not, something else.

Few men would succeed in business if they were as indefinite as when they pray.

If God were to call on some people when they are praying and ask what was wanted, they would say, "Why Lord, I was only saying my prayers."

A train would soon be on the siding if it did not stop for coal and water.

Prayer is insisting on God's rights down in this world.

The only right way to pray is in Jesus' name. His credit alone is good in heaven. No use asking at the bank for money if you have no money there.

When praying, the more alone we are the nearer God we are.

Always better to shut the door when you use the telephone.

Prayer is not merely talking about prayer, God must be touched by prayer before we can touch one fellowmen.

DECISIONS MADE BY COURT OF REVISION

The followng applications were dealt with by the Court of Revision last night:

R. G. Sturgeon asked for the remission of part of the business taxes on Charlotte street.—Not granted.

W. J. Green wrote that the Quaker Oats Co. had paid the business taxes and asked that the percentage be remitted.—Not granted.

Mr. Green also reported that the Nicholls Hospital had bought No. 40 Argyle street. The Board ordered that $61.07 of the taxes be remitted.

Wm. Weatheratone asked for the remission of his business taxes as he had not been in business for several years.—Granted.

Harold Morrow requested that $20.13 taxes for 1918 on rooms occupied by the Gospel Hall be remitted. —Granted.

Mrs. Hattie Clegg asked for the remission of seven months' business taxes for 1918 of E. B. Clegg & Co.—Not granted.

EDGAR BURNHAM'S ACTION DISMISSED

EACH SIDE PAYS ITS OWN COSTS UNDER JUDGE HUYCKE'S DECISION.

Edgar Burnham's action to recover $500 from Mrs. C. H. Ackerman for damages to his automobile in a collision at the corner of Park and Hunter Streets on June 11th, 1918, was dismissed without costs by Judge Huycke this morning. An exception was made of the costs of the adjourned hearing of this case last December, when it was first set down for trial, but was laid over until June because of the illness of the plaintiff.

Mr. S. T. Medd, who represented Mrs. Ackerman, argued this morning that the costs of that adjournment should be assessed to Mr. Burnham, and referred to an affidavit to the effect that Mr. Burnham returned to work last December while he court was still in session.

Mr. Gordon explained that Mr. Burnham and his wife were both taken ill with influenza, and the plaintiff was unable to attend the December court. When he did get up, four days later, it was against his doctor's orders.

Mr. Medd replied that the plaintiff should have notified the defendant of his illness and thus have saved the defendant the expense of coming from Ottawa and also of bringing expert witnesses.

Mr. Gordon stated that Mr. Burnham was taken ill too late to inform the defendant of the necessity of an adjournment.

Judge Huycke said he would consider Mr. Medd's contention, and also hear any additional evidence in regard to Mr. Burnham's illness. His Honour stated that if he concluded that the plaintiff had imposed on the court he would order that the costs of the adjournment must be paid by Mr. Burnham. But if he were actually ill and unable to attend the court each party would pay its own costs of the adjournment.

THE JURY'S VERDICT.

The jury's verdict was set out in the answers to the following questions prepared for their guidance by Judge Huycke:—

Were the damages to the plaintiff's car caused by the negligence of the defendant? Ans.—Yes.

If so, in what did such negligence consist? Ans.—Brakes not properly adjusted; being on wrong side of the street.

Could the plaintiff, by ordinary and reasonable care, have avoided the accident? Ans.—Yes.

If so, what could or should he have done to so avoid it? Ans.—He should have applied the brakes and tried to stop.

At what sum do you assess the damages? Ans.—$150 to the plaintiff.

John McColl, Foreman.

Referring to the questions and answers, Mr. Gordon intimated that the jury was of the impression that they were providing $150 damages for the plaintiff. The majority of the jury proposed to award $350, but they compromised at $150. However, by their finding that Mr. Burnham had been guilty of contributory negligence, the granting of damages was precluded.

Judge Huycke stated that the jury had found that both parties had been negligent. The defendant had very properly offered compensation to the plaintiff and the plaintiff improperly refused it.

IRRITABLE NERVES RESTORED AND HEALTH REGAINED IN A SIMPLE WAY

The man or woman who is rundown, not feeling up to the mark, perhaps irritable, nervous or sleepless can well afford to learn about the wonderful results the newly discovered blood-food is giving to folks that use it.

There is wonderful power in this new blood-food, and every weak, pallid person can be quickly nourished back to health that uses it as directed.

After each meal, with a sip or two of water, you simply take two little chocolate-coated tablets, sold in all drug stores under the name of "FERROZONE."

The effect is noticeable at once. You feel happier, brighter, more contented. That old-time feeling of weariness departs— you forget your "nerves" and no longer get irritable or cross over trifling annoyances.

There is a reason for this change and that reason consists of the fact that Ferrozone contains blood-making materials you can get in no other way.

Ferrozone makes the blood tingle and sing with new vitality. This ensures lots of nourishment and strength being applied to every part of the body.

No wonder the eyes brighten and the cheeks radiate colour and happiness: With abundance of strength, a keen appetite, good digestion and plenty of sound sleep—all the result of Ferrozone—you quickly feel as if life held new charms and pleasures.

BUSINESS FOR PROFIT NOT FOR GLORY OF GOD

BRUTAL CANDOR OF A SHERBROOKE MANUFACTURER.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, June 17.— Before the Cost of Living Commission to-day W. R. Paton, of the Paton Manufacuring Co., manufacturers of tweeds, of Sherbrooke, P.Q., admitted that the profits of his company increased from about seven per cent. in 1914 to over seventy-two per cent. in 1918-19. When Mr. Paton was asked if it wasn't due to the public to lower the prices, he said: "Our mill was not built for the glory of God or anybody else. It was built for the benefit of shareholders."

GERMANS BITTER OVER THE NEW PEACE TERMS

(Canadian Press.)

WEIMAR, June 17. — The new allied terms reached here late last night and the first apparent effect upon the German leaders who remained awake to wait for the terms was that of depression. A report passed rapidly through Old Castle, where the government heads are residing temporarily, that the signing of the peace terms by Germany, was highly improbable. No one would talk for publication, but every official and every member of the foreign office available, expressed the deepest pessimism and resentmest at the alleged cruelty of the terms.

The Germans were especially embittered over the false report that a French mob had stoned helpless German delegates at Versailles.

DEATH BEATS EXECUTION.

Austrian, to Be Hanged June 20th, Dies in Jail.

MONTREAL, June 17. — Death beat the execution of the law by five days, when Saturday, in the infirmary of the Bordeaux jail, tuberculosis claimed Julius Zazefsky, an Austrian Pole, who, at the March term of the Court of King's Bench, was sentenced by M. Justice Desy to hang on June 20th for the murder of Peter Dishkent, an Austrian, on the night of December 18 last.

GOLD WATCHES PRESENTED TO THREE RETURNED SOLDIERS BY THE RESIDENTS OF WESTWOOD

RECEPTION WAS HELD LAST EVENING—MR. F. D. KERR, OF PETERBORO GAVE INTERESTING ADDRESS—A GOOD MUSICAL PROGRAMME

Almost every community in the country cherishes a roll of honour, consisting of men who have heard the call of King and country and responded and on their home-coming the pent-up admiration for those who have risked life and limb for everything they hold dear breaks out spontaneously and some of the most interesting affairs of this kind are being held almost weekly in and around Peterborough as well as in the rest of the Dominion.

Westwood, distant from Peterborough only sixteen miles, is not lacking in this attribute, and as her sons return from "over there," the people from that part of the country gather in the town hall to give them a rousing welcome and make them feel 'at home.' These occasions for Westwood have been numerous, and last night's welcome is only the forerunner of several more, as still seven of her sons have yet to cross the seas from Blighty.

Although the weather was threatening, with the lightning flashing in the east and the thunder rolling ominously over three hundred people congregated in the town hall at Westwood last evening to see, hear and admire three more of General Currie's men.

The Veterans.

Corporal Rendall Dixon went through all the great battles in which the Canadian corps was engaged for the last four years, and miraculously escaped unscathed. His elbow mate sitting next to him on the platform was not so fortunate. Pte. Sam Wilson was badly wounded at the battle of Arras, losing one eye, a terrible wound in the shoulder and one side of his cheek was shot away so that new skin had to be grafted by the army surgeons. He has been in hospital for a year and is still under the jurisdiction of the military doctors. He enlisted in Toronto with the 109th Battalion.

Pte. William (Billy) Wilson, a brother of Sam's, completed the trio who sat on the platform last night under the beneficent and kindly eye of Mr. William Knox, President of the Asphodel Patriotic Society, under whose auspices the home-comings and receptions are held.

The hall was gayly draped with the French tri-colour, plentifully interspersed with Union Jacks and shields of white, on which were inscribed, "Welcome Home" were in evidence everywhere.

Peterborough Represented.

There were a large number from Peterborough present who enjoyed the varied programme exceedingly, and it was noted that they were the last to leave the hall in spite of the lateness of the hour. Nobody suggested that the luncheon provided by the ladies had anything to do with this lingering faculty, but simply that loquacity is a permanent characteristic of Peterboroughites.

In the congregation were many returned soldiers, including at least two from Siberia who returned home on the Monteagle, and they witnessed with pleasure the glad hand that was extended to their recently returned comrades and also the admiring eyes of the feminine gender.

Thirteen Return.

Thirteen Westwood boys have already returned home and seven have yet to cross the seas. One of those returned had the misfortune to be taken prisoner by the Germans and although later released he succumbed shortly after reaching home from the effects of Spanish influenza, which completed the work commenced by the Huns while he was in Germany. At least six have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Mr. Knox extended to the boys a hearty greeting and asked them to take their place on the platform, and their appearance was the signal for a spontaneous outburst of hearty applause.

United Choirs.

The United Methodist and Presbyterian choirs of Westwood sang to advantage "Soldiers of the King" which was punctuated by claps of thunder and the patter of rain, which commenced again in earnest.

Sidney Warr's solo, "Just as the Sun Went Down," was greatly appreciated, followed by Mrs. T. Walsh, of Westwood, who gave two recitations, one of the French habitant type and the other an amusing example of the recent ludicrous censorship.

Comstock's orchestra, one of the finest musical organizations in the county filled the next number and the music was so much appreciated that an encore was demanded. This orchestra at one time contained seven instruments, all the Comstock family, but Father Time has removed the father and now the orchestra is composed of Miss M. Comstock on the piano, Miss Ruby Comstock on the guitar, and Mr. Lou Comstock playing the violin.

Address by Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, always active in welcoming home Canada's returned heroes, gave a short but excellent speech which did not lack humor. He spoke of the significance of the Red Cross of St. George and the Red Cross of Geneva, which stands for mercy and all that is good and wonderful to the wounded soldier. Both have always brought relief and alleviation of pain and suffering. He said that the boys were not sent home by chance, but sent home to be an inspiration for the boys and girls growing up. "What they do in the future will help or hurt this community," stated Mr. Kerr. "The returned soldiers almost to a man are worthy of their wonderful conduct in France. Then, with that infinite grace and ease which is gained only at the Bar, but to the evident discomfort of the protegee, Mr. Kerr introduced to the audience Mr. G. A. Campbell, recently appointed manager of the Peterborough branch of the Union Bank of Canada. Mr. Campbell himself is a returned soldier, having gone overseas from Saskatoon with the 53rd Highlanders. He is fondly called "The Man From Glengarry," as that old Scotch county claims him as one of their own, and strangely enough Dr. Gordon (Ralph Connor), the writer of that famous book of Canadian deeds and exploits was padre of the battalion to which Mr. Campbell belonged while in France. Mr. Campbell shook hands with the men and spoke of the unrest in Canada to-day and said that everybody looked to the returned man to steady things.

The South Dummer choir sang a stirring Irish melody to the accompaniment of Miss Elsie Knox, followed by Mr. William Morris singing "Take Me Back to Dear Old Blighty."

Rev. J. Horwood, the Methodist minister at Westwood, spoke of the deeds of the Canadians and read the farewell message of the General of the Second Canadian Division on the eve of the breaking up of the unit.

The Presentation.

Following Mr. Horwood came the presentation to the three boys of gold watches by Miss Georgie Everett, Miss Eleanor Humphries and Miss L. Davidson. Mrs. Pooley read the address. Each boy briefly and modestly replied, thanking the society for the great and practical interest taken in them while "over there" and also for the reception.

Refreshments served by the society rung down the curtain on an evening which was heartily enjoyed by everybody and those who lived in the city made a vain attempt to recover the hour which was lost between standard and daylight saving time.

Time is saved by having a glass measuring cup in both the flour bin and the sugar bin.

PLUMBING CONDITIONS IN PETERBORO

(REPLY FROM MR. NEWSOME)

Toronto, June 13 1919.
To the Editor of the Examiner,
Peterboro, Ont.
Dear Sir,—

I first of all read your item regarding my visit and inspection of certain plumbing systems installed in your city. I may state that there are one or two slight errors in your version but in the main the story you published is true.

The paragraph ending with the reference to the London, England sewers should have read in something like the following:

"The Air in the London sewers is more pure than it would possibly be in some of the piping as installed in several places I have visited."

Secondly, In the next paragraph I think you will recall that I referred to the fact that certain manufacturers were well aware of those cities such as Peterboro, where the plumbing by-law is not rigidly enforced and therefore, shipped goods there that would not conform to the by-law.

Thirdly, under heading of "An Exception". I do not recall mentioning anything about "the room being finished in silver and gold" and the true explanation regarding the thickness of the pipe should have read as follows: "The nickel plated brass waste pipes were so thin that when a thread was cut on, the pipe was nearly cut through. Then when hot and cold water passed through, the expansion and contraction caused the pipe to break away.

Reply to Mr. McPherson's remarks:—

If you reported Mr. McPherson right, all I can say is that I am very much surprised at his opinion. All I can conlude is that if the plumbing work done in Peterboro is in the opinion of Mr. McPherson "first class", then I can assert without fear of contradiction from any practical sanitary engineer that he, Mr. McPherson knows very little indeed about plumbing work. In fact, he by his own expression has self-condemned himself as being far from practical. Such an opinion from a man assuming to express himself on the subject of sanitary plumbing work is preposterous.

If Mr. McPherson will make an oath, a statement to the effect that neither he or his employees have ever broken the plumbing by-law of Peterboro, and at the same time be willing to open his books recording every job done within the last 25 years, (at which date the present plumbing by-law was passed) then all I have to say is that the people of Peterboro owe Mr. McPherson a lasting debt of gratitude, and I would suggest that the city council start with Mr. McPherson's work first so that it be proved a good example of what sanitary plumbing should be. As to his expression that he "thinks I am crazy". Well, I am quite willing to grant any man a right to his own opinion, and particularly such champion for sanitary plumbing? As per the broken plumbing by-law of Peterboro.

In conclusion I may state that the property committee of the city council have asked me to send in a report as to conditions as I found them. This report will be in their hands in a few days, and if need be I will be only too pleased to assist that body in anyway I can in their endeavour to have conditions put right.

Yours very truly,
Edwin Newsome.

ORIENTALS WIN FROM DE LAVALS BY 7 TO 5

POSTPONED GAME IN CITY LEAGUE SERIES WAS VERY NEARLY STOPPED AGAIN BY RAIN--ORIENTALS GO INTO SECOND PLACE AS A RESULT OF THEIR WIN—NEARY'S WILDNESS MADE THE GOING EASY FOR THE WINNERS.

It looked for a while last night as if the weatherman was going to, for the second time, prevent the Oriental-De Laval game from being finished. At the end of the first innings, with De Laval leading by 4 runs to 0, the rain came down in torrents, but at the end of a half hour, Umpire Kay set the teams going again, on a watery field and the Orientals not only carved down the lead, but went out in front, winning the verdict by 7 runs to 5, the game being called on account of darkness at the end of the seventh.

The winners received valuable assistance in this exploit by the wildness of Pitcher Neary for De Laval who passed no fewer than twelve men and hit two others, besides contributing a couple of wild throws and a fumble. Under the circumstances it is a miracle that the Orientals' run-getting was confined to seven.

On the other hand, De Laval, after getting four easy runs in the first innings, mainly because a fly from Rose's bat was lost in the deep grass in left field, could not hit Kirn safely afterwards, while the Orientals fielded in great style behind their twirlet, Clancy being in the limelight with several pretty running catches. He came right in to the infield for one, juggling it several times, but finally freezing on to the sphere as he slid across the muddy diamond.

In the Orientals' half of the first Cherrett walked, stole second and went to third on Neary's bad throw. Collins hit to Barrie, who got Cherrett at the plate. Collins died stealing, Clancy walked, but Phelan grounded to Cavanah.

The De Lavals got four. Dugan walked and stole second, scoring on Bergoine's double to right. Nicholson missed the third strike on Barrie and the runner was safe. Both scored on Rose's fly to left which bounded past Kenneally and was lost in the long grass, giving the batter an easy home run. Cherrett tossed out Cavanah, Neary fanned and Fitzgerald flied to Cherrett.

Then down came the rain, and when the game was resumed half an hour afterwards the base paths were miniature lakes.

Orientals tied the score in their half of the second. Heenan walked and stole second, and McCarney also drew a pass. Murray's hit to right scored the pair and the batter went to second on the throw in. Kirn drove a liner into Cavanah's hands and Murray was doubled off second. Nicholson was hit and Cherrett singled to left. Collins walked. Manager Solomon, coaching at third, pulled an old trick on Neary when he asked for a look at the ball, and the De Laval pitcher obligingly tossed it over. Solomon, of course, stepped out of the way and let the ball go, Nicholson scoring. Cherrett came home on a wild pitch. Clancy was hit but Phelan flied to Legon.

In the De Laval half Campbell grounded to Phelan, Collins covering the bag. Kirn tossed out Fitzgerald and Dugan rolled one to Phelan.

Orientals took the lead in the third. Heenan was safe on Dugan's fumble. McCarney walked. Murray flied to Cavanah. Neary fumbled Kirn's bunt and the bases were full. Nicholson walked, forcing in Heenan. On Cherrett's bunt, McCarney was out at the plate, Neary to Bergoine. Collins flied to Fitzgerald.

For De Laval, Bergoine walked, Barrie flied to Clancy. Rose forced Bergoine at second, Collins to Cherrett, and Murray threw Cavanah out.

In the fourth the Orientals got another. With two out, Heenan singled to right and went to second on Fitzgerald's high throw, scoring when Bergoine threw high to third to stop him stealing.

For De Laval, Neary walked, but Fitzgerald hit into a fast double play, Kirn to Cherrett to Phelan. Campbell lined to Collins.

The Orientals filled the bases with two out in the fifth, but failed to score. De Laval went out in order and neither side got a counter in the sixth.

In the seventh for Orientals, Neary passed Kirn, Nicholson, Cherrett and Collins in a row, forcing in a run. Clancy fanned, and when Phelan also struck out, Nicholson was caught off third.

De Laval staged a rally in the seventh. Neary led off with a single to centre. Fitzgerald died, Phelan to Collins, and Kirn threw out Campbell. Murray missed Legon's grounder and Neary scored. Dugan singled to left and Bergoine walked, filling the bases. Barrie hit one back at Kirn, the pitcher deflecting the ball to Collins, whose throw beat the De Laval shortstop to the bag.

The score:

A MENACE TO LIFE AND LIMB

THAT'S WHAT THE INTELLIGENCER SAYS ABOUT THE BELLEVILLE BALL GROUNDS--THE PETES WILL SAY SO TOO.

As a proof of what the Examiner said about the Belleville ball grounds, here is the Belleville Intelligencer's opinion:

"Belleville league team is travelling upon its own feet and has not asked the citizens for one red cent but would appreciate a decent diamond to play the home matches on. Assurances were given early in the season that the civic authorities would put the corporation teams upon the local ball field, level it, roll it, remove two or three dead trees, and make the diamond a blessing instead of a curse and a menace to the life and limb of every ball player who ventures upon it in its present condition.

"The civic authorities have plenty to do and receive more censure than praise for their labours, but let them turn aside from the beaten path of routine long enough to make a good diamond so that the lovers of the game in Belleville can see our boys extend themselves to the extreme limit they are capable of and let everybody enjoy a first-class ball game."

And the Intelligencer might also call attention to the necessity of police protection for visiting teams. Under present conditions there is little enjoyment in playing ball in the Bay ofof Quinte town.

"Placing Canada on the map of trade" is the happy way in which Mr. W. B. Ramsay, Montreal, who represented a group of industry in London, and who has brought back heavy orders to Canada, describes the work of the Canadian Mission in London.

FIVE OF SIX CENTRAL TEAMS HAVE A CHANCE

Although the Petes lost in Belleville on Saturday they are still very much in the Central Ontario League race, which is about as even a contest as this district has ever seen. Port Hope, Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay, and Peterborough are all in a heap, and any one of the five has a good chance to win out. The Petes still have the edge, for they are the only one of the five leading teams to win away from home from any of the five. Belleville and Port Hope have turned the trick against Cobourg, but the Petes so far have been the only member of the big five to win against one of the others.

Belleville lost in Oshawa, Oshawa were beaten both in Port Hope and Lindsay, Lindsay were trimmed in Belleville. The Petes have played three of their hardest away-from-home games, and of the games to be played four out of six are scheduled for Riverside Park, so that there is a royal chance to win out.

The Lindsay Greybirds, with Cannon Ball Ed. Scott on the rubber, will be here on Saturday, and the game of the season should be the result. Lindsay are cocky over their win from Oshawa and expect to get revenge for the trimming the Petes inflicted on them in Lindsay.

To-morrow night the temporary leadership of the League will be settled when Belleville play in Port Hope. The teams are tied with three wins and a loss, so that the winner to-morrow night will go to the top of the heap for a few days. The five clubs are so evenly matched that it is difficult to even attempt to guess a winner, but if the Petes can win their four home games they should not be far away when the honours are handed out.

ORIENTALS AND PACKERS WILL CLASH TO-NIGHT

There promises to be a record City League crowd at Riverside Park to-night when the Matthews-Blackwell team, undefeated League leaders, will clash with the Orientals. The latter are fighting with their backs to the wall in to-night's game, as a defeat will make their chances of getting on even terms with the Packers very slim. It is a case of an iron man stunt for Pitcher Kirn. After twirling ten innings in the Central Ontario League game at Bellevilleo n aSturday and seven innings against De Laval last night, he will be sent back at the Packers to-night. Three games in four days is sure some test for a pitcher, but the Orientals are fighting in their last trenches and have to win to-night to have a chance for the City League honours. "Mossie" Huycke, former star pitcher of the 1918 Thistle team, will be on the rubber for the Matthews-Blackwell team. He and Kirn engaged in some great battles in that year, Kirn winning the rubber game. By a strange coincidence, Butcher, Hagerman and Swanston, who were team mates of Kirn four years ago, will be out helping his old rival in to-night's battle. The game is called for 6.45 o'clock, with Umpire Alex. Kay in charge. It should be a great battle.

	Won	Lost	To Play
Matthews.	5	0	7
Orientals.	2	2	8
De Lavals.	2	3	7
G.W.V.A.	0	4	8

TWO IMPORTANT MEETINGS FOR PETERBORO CITIZENS

COMMISSIONER OF THE OVERSEAS CLUB AND PATRIOTIC LEAGUE WILL ADDRESS LADIES THURSDAY AFTERNOON, MEN IN THE EVENING.

Two meetings which should be very largely attended by the citizens of Peterborough, will be held in the Council Room of the Board of Trade on Thursday afternoon and evening of this week.

Teh afternoon emetng is to be addressed to the women of the city at 3.30 o'clock and the evening meeting for men at 8 o'clock.

The speakers will be Mr. Francis R. Jones F. R. G. S., of London, England, Special Commissioner of the Over-Seas Club and Patriotic League, will speak on the origin and work of the Over-Seas Club and its future plans—including the promotion of British trade within the British Empire, the conservation of the manhood of the Empire, the influencing of British emigration into the British Dominions.

Mr. Jones for the past two years has been acting as Secretary at the Club's headquarters in London. He will also speak on War Time Experiences in London and give some account of his recent visit to France, Belgium and Germany as the guest of the Canadian Military Authorities.

THE WEATHER

The temperature yesterday did not reach the high mark prevailing for some days past. Eighty-eight was the highest. By way of variety, there was a severe thunderstorm last evening, which was accompanied by a wind of a cyclonic nature, and which, while lasting but a few minutes, did considerable damage. MAY DEFER STRIKE OF RAILWAY SHOPMEN

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, June 17. —The recall of the strike order issued to Canadian members of the railroad shopmen of America last night was a possibility to-day, it was learned in labour circles. Secretary Dickie, of the Union, has left Montreal to confer with executive officers of the United States' division at Atlantic City, and it is hinted here that he may be urged to call off the strike, due to start at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, so that the question of wages and hours both for United States and Canadian shopmen could be taken up at the same time at a later date.

THE INTERNATIONAL LIMITED IN MISHAP

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, June 17. — One hundred and fifty passengers and crew of the International Limited, G.T.R., eastbound, due here at 9.35 this morning, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injury when the train was derailed on the twenty feet high Sunnyside embankment just west of this city. The engine, baggage car and two coaches left the rails, but as the train was running on one of the centre track, all remained on the embankment and nobody was hurt. The accident is said to have been caused by a misunderstanding or misplacing of a signal to stop at a point where workmen were making repairs.

52ND BATTERY MAY BE ON WAY HOME

SAID TO HAVE EMBARKED FOR CANADA ON FRIDAY LAST.

Word has been received in this city that the 52nd Battery left for home on Friday last. This Battery has a great number of Peterborough enlistments and if it is the case they have sailed in a body, many homes in this city will be looking for the arrival of the battery the first of next week.

WANTS 100,000 FARMHANDS.

Kansas Lacks Labor to Harvest Her 200,000,000 Bushes of Wheat.

WASHINGTON.—Clarence Ousley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture reported to the department today from Kansas City that Kansas needs 100,000 laborers to help harvest the record-breaking wheat crop in that State.

Whether Kansas will save her 200,000,000 bushels—about one-forth of the country's Winter wheat crop—depends on her ability to get adequate labor within the next few days, Mr. Ousley said.

SEEKS ACCOUNTING OF INSURANCE PARTNERSHIP

The non-jury case of Samuel King vs. H. P. Lindsay, was opened before Judge Huycke this morning, Mr. S. T. Medd appearing for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. F. Strickland for the defendant. Both parties conducted an insurance partnership from January 1st to August 1st, 1918.

The plaintiff asks for an accounting of the partnership transactions, and of commissions received, and also that the partnership be wound up; also an allowance for the use of his automobile in the business, together with $76 and costs.

The defendant replies that there is $67.46 of a balance in favor of the plaintiff, which he has paid into court.

"THERE IS A TIGER WITHIN ME"

This is what Barbara Forbes discovered when she had her first pangs of jealousy over the intimacy between her husband and Blanche Orton. And she feared this might wreck her marriage, if she could not master it.

For Barbara knew she had no proof of grounds for her jealousy. She knew that her wild, ungovernable suspicions were entirely unreasonable. And suspicion of the innocent always ends in disaster.

But, on the other hand, what a pity it was that Neil, her husband—did not try to help her conquer the wild thing within her—help her by being over-particular to give her no cause to suspect him. Neil was so careless about appointments; often he did not even take the trouble to rectify a misrepresentation.

Yet Neil loved Barbara deeply. It hurt him to see her unhappy. And this being the case, it looks as though things were going to end happily, doesn't it?

But proof is surer than supposition so to find out conclusively read "The Promoter's Wife," which starts in THE EXAMINER shortly.

THE COST OF "FREE" SERVICE

Some typewriter companies offer "free" to users of their machines. Could anything be more absurd. It is impossible for companies to maintain employment bureaus and send "service men' 'to overlook machines at every whim of the stenographer. WEDDING BELLS

McFADDEN—GILFROY

The marriage of Miss Margaret Gilfroy to Mr. John F. McFadden took place yesterday morning, June 9, at St. Mary's cathedral, Rev. Father Doubleau performing the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a gown of georgette crepe with silver lace hat and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister in a becoming gown of crepe de chene with Leghorn hat, and carrying a basket of pink roses and marguerites. The groom was attended by Mr. James Ryan.

During the ceremony "Ave Maria" was beautifully sung by Mrs. Mahaney, accompanied by Mrs. Berube who played softly during the ceremony and the signing of the register.

The sanctuary was banked with palms and the altars looked beautiful with bouquets of roses and marguerites.

The groom's gift to the bride was a silver vanity case; the maid of honor a pearl necklace; the groomsman, a pair of gold cuff links, and the ushers, gold stick pins.

Mr. Frank Roach and Mr. Allan McKinnon were the ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mount Royal, only the immediate friends being present. Guests from out of town were Miss Agnes McFadden, sister of the groom, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. McGregor of Medicine Hat, and Mr. and Mrs. Spankie of Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. McFadden left for the west on an extended trip. Their many friends wish them every happiness.—Calgary Herald.

RECORD—MOUNCE.

In presence of a large number of friends, the wedding was quietly solemnised this afternoon at three o'clock, in Mark Street Methodist Church, of Bertha Record, daughter of Mr. Thomas Record, of Roger Street, Ashburnham, to Cecil Henry Mounce. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Thomas. The bride, who was unattended, wore a charming travelling suit of navy blue and small grey hat, and carried pink bridal roses.

Dry Those Tears

(BY H. F. GADSBY)

That mortal frame, known as Union Government, shows more signs of breaking up. It was never very strong, at any time, and its health has not improved since February last. Its ailment has been diagnosed as pernicious anaemia—it has no energy to do anything. Its days are full of trouble and so are its nights and that tells on a weak constitution.

Its best friends predict for it a short but fatal illness which it will bear with Christian fortitude and then good-bye. If all goes as per schedule it ought to be ready for the undertaker next spring or next summer. The funeral will be private, there will be no flowers, and almost the only mourner will be the Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell. Mr. Crerar has already signified his intention of being absent at the obsequies and Mr. Guthrie has a pressing engagement with the Exchequer Court which will prevent his following the remains to the grave.

Some critics are cruel enough to say that there will be no remains to follow because long before a funeral can take place the central figure will have wasted away to nothing. Meanwhile the patient is making a losing fight against human nature—the Grit and Tory corpuscles in its watery blood are wolfing each other—and only one result can be expected in its unfeebled state of health.

Ultimate recovery being impossible the question arises, Why doesn't some one kill it now and put it out of its misery? The answer is that it hasn't suffered enough. It must linger on a little longer to pay the penalty of its sins before it departs to that limbo where governments good or bad are eventually forgotten. If the poor, dying creature made one last appeal to the country—even with the War Time Election Act in its imploring hand—it would get knocked on the head by Grit, Tory, High Tariff, Low Tariff, Free Trade, United Farmer, Returned Soldier, Trades and Labor I.W.W. and Bolsheviks. All the discontents conspire to bash its skull in and nobody with a heart want to see it manhandled that way. It has worked hard—in spots—and it deserves a quiet death-bed. And a quiet death-bed it will have even if Quebec has to vote Conservative to save it from itself. It must have time to purge its soul, and be shriven—besides the Opposition is not quite ready.

It receives nothing but the gentlest treatment from those who have gathered around its bedside. Fred Pardee has said, "The best of friends must part, so I'll start now." The Hon. Mr. Fielding looks forward with moist eyes to the sad day when it will pass to that bourne whence no traveller returns. The Hon. Arthur Sifton gives fifteen minutes of something that may be a thanatopsis or an apologia—probably a little of both—which goes to show that the least said is the soonest mended when the end is in sight. And the Hon. Frank Carvell—what does he do? The Hon. Frank leaves himself free to criticise certain details of the budget—which means that the death-bed confession is not complete enough to suit him and that he may throw a few stones at the hearse.

Other members of the Cabinet indicate by their faint praise of the patient that the most they can be counted on for is to attend the services at the House. They will not follow the body to the cemetery—and much less will they jump into the grave after it. They remember their duty to the living—and what is going to be alive after Union Government is dead and buried is the two great political parties, Liberal and Conservative, High Tariff and Low Tariff, or whatever they may be called, and wise men will make their arrangements accordingly.

Already a look of resignation spreads over the vasted features of Union Government. It doesn't exactly fold its hands on its breast and say "now let me go" but it makes a little fluttering gesture in the budget which is not only a confession of repentance but a sign of extreme weakness. As a confession of repentence the budget says "High protection is wrong. The tariff mut be revised. The West has rights as well as the East. The rich men who own Canada must pay more of Canada's taxes." As a sign of extreme weakness it says "I do the best I can but strength fails me. So far as ordinary expenditures are concerned I'll pay as I go until I go for good but do not torture my last moment with the National debt." The ruling passion strong in death, as you will observe—passing the buck with its latest breath.

And to everybody's credit be it said this haunting spectre, the war debt, with its dreadful legacy of borrowing is only whispered in the dying Government's presence. It speaks no louder than the voice of conscience is usually allowed to speak. No reproaches—just a sad yielding to the irony of circumstance, and perhaps a suppressed sigh for the next loan "What will the Government do when it has to fall back on the banks?" Ah, yes—what will it do? Will it tax the next issue of Victory bonds? Will it tax previous issues so as to get after the big holdings of corporations and profiteers? These are the horrid thoughts which embitter Union Government's death-bed. How can it depart in peace with the thunder muttering in the distance?

Moreover it has a sin on its soul—so at least the East says—when it bribes the West with reduced freight rates which are not made general. The tariff is another dark thought with a Union Government that dies sixty per cent in the Tory West. At times its mind wanders and it babbles of East and West coming together by planting manufactures in the West which will take the curse off the tariff by making it everybody's orange. Being delirious it reveals secrets and the nurse has to turn people out of the room when it begins to tell of its past or rave of its plans to send Sir John Willison to Washington to get the reciprocity offer removed from the books and thus banish continual temptation to freer trade.

Dubious credits to Rumania and Greece, an inflated currency which fixes the high cost of living for years to come, a gold reserve which can never come back to normal until the paper money is digested—such are the black cares which oppress the departing spirit and cause the Government to moan in its sleep.

Of course there is an atmosphere of anxiety. Who is not anxious when there is a sick person in the House? But I think one of the Whips overstated it when he told me that he was going to buy a revolver to keep track of the pairs. The Government will not die just now. The Almost Persuaded crowd will let it go at that. They will no do anything to hasten the end but those who live in the West will not come back if they do not declare themselves on the tariff issue. They will confess themselves stand-patters and as Allan of Winnipeg said the other day, quoting from the Bible "Every dodblasted man who isn't with me is against me." It will not be necessary to vote for the McMaster resolution—which is perhaps not radical enough for Mr. Crerar and his Wee Frees—but it will be necessary to make an affirmation of principles and then refrain from voting altogether. If they do not follow either of these courses they will have the Indian sign put on them and that is their finish.

As I said before everybody is considerate of the dying Government which cannot "go West" yet, and so has to stay East. No harsh words, no loud threats, no violent scenes disfigure its last solemn moments. There are no regrets and no complaints—everybody is satisfied to let it die. It will leave no will because for the last eight or nine months it has had no will to leave. Read that last sentence twice.

The budget debate does nothing to disturb the brooding quietude of approaching dissolution. His McMaster's voice, attuned to minor key, fails to bring a flush to the faded cheek. Mr. Crerar and his little band do their speaking with bated breath—not wishing to crowd the mourners. The end will come soon enough. Mr. Crerar and his faithful few—including Dr. Michael Clark who can never stray far from Free Trade—have set out to be a leaven for the West but there is no reason why they shouldn't be nineteen on a division. According to the rules they cannot bring in an amendment to the amendment but they can divide the House on the budget and that will put them on record.

MORE GERMAN STUPIDITY.

Hans Ismps Sweet Good-bye Letter to Prisoners of War.

Craftiness and stupidity, so strangely mixed in all German propaganda, is once more evident in a farewell document issued to prisoners about to leave Germany. No cooing dove could voice itself more softly than the German authorities in their plea that the prisoners return to their homes with kind feelings towards their captors. So barbarous has been Germany's treatment of prisoners that some observers are justly enraged at this attempt to wheedle sympathy and gentle dealing for the vanquished foe at the Peace Conference. The document given to departing prisoners is republished by the London Westminster Gazette, which says that "as an example of effrontery to men who have learned by bitter experience the true nature of the German, it would be hard to parallel." It is called "A Parting Word," and begins as follows:—

"Gentlemen, the war is over! A little while and you will see your native land again, your homes, your loved ones, your friends. When you are already united to your families, thousands of our countrymen will still be pining in far-off prison camps with hearts as hungry for home as yours.

"You have suffered in confinement—as who would not? Your situation has been a difficult one. Our own has been desperate. Our country blockaded, our civil population and army suffering from want of sufficient food and materials, the enormous demands made upon our harassed land from every side—these and many other afflictions made it impossible to do all that we should have liked to do. Under the circumstances we did our best to lessen the hardships of your lot, to insure your comfort, to provide you with pastime, employment, mental and bodily recreation. It is not likely that you will ever know how difficult our circumstances have been."

With square-head clumsiness the authorities go on to admit that "errors have been committed, and that there have been hardships for which the former writers wish to atone." There have been "wrongs and evils on both sides." It is touchingly confessed, and "we hope that you will always think of that—and be just."

"You entered the old Empire of Germany; you leave the new Republic—the newest, and, as we hope to make it, the freest land in the world."

Health Shown by Finger Nails.

A French physician, Dr. R. Sabouraud, of Paris, has made the study of finger-nails his life-work. Among other things he has discovered that by means of your nails you can tell not only whether you are in poor health, but whether you are going to be ill.

Many people have noticed white markings on their finger-nails, but few realise that they are danger signals. According to Dr. Sabouraud, they signify either nervousness, skin trouble or the early stage of tuberculosis. They are often to be seen on the hands of people suffering from goitre.

Marbled nails are more frequent in women than in men, but with the latter they have more significance. They are not a grave symptom, for you will often find them on persons in good health. But they indicate a tendency to some trouble or other developing in the course of time.

In short, concludes Dr. Sabouraud the existence of marbled nails is a danger signal, not only demonstrating in the apparently healthy a latent weakness, but also in condition of poor health an augury that serious results may ensue.

Germs and All.

A Louisville woman who is sure what of all evils of hygiene and who brings up her small daughter according to the latest methods took the child on a day train to a nearby little town. The mother sighed as she glanced at the dusty velvet seat and cloudy windows. The youngster, however, folded her manicured fingers in her white piqué lap and apparently tried to absorb as little dirt as possible. Looking up from her magazine, the immaculate parent was horrified to find the small daughter's jaws working violently.

"What have you in your mouth?" she demanded at once.

"Gum," said the child.

"Where did you get it?" gasped the mother.

"There," she said.—Louisville Times.

THE MANLY ART.

"Padre" Was Referee at the Championship Boxing Contests.

If anybody has any idea that boxing will be tabooed by the muscular Christianity which has grown up with this war, he should have been at Brussels, Belgium, Saturday, March 15 at the Canadian Corps' championships and watched a clergyman referee the boxing contests. Yes, sir! the referee for the championship bouts was a beloved "padre," a Military Cross man and a major to boot—Rev. Major H. Beauchamp, M.C. That combined with the fact that a couple of battle front padres in the American army challenged each other to a game of medal clubs and that British, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand and American chaplains have openly encouraged the boys in every form of healthy sport, including boxing. The officer in charge of the boxing was a Y.M.C.A. boy, Lieut. Tommy Armour, of Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. There were plenty of men well-known in sport around Ontario on the list of officers. Major Jack Maynard, the Varsity rugby star, was referee of the rugby contests, and Capt. Jimmie Clark, M.C., of Toronto Central Y.M.C.A.; Capt. Billy Wood, of Brantford, the first Canadian Marathoner to finish in the 1908 Olympic Marathon—the race in which Tom Longboat quit — were on the Grounds Committee. Lieut. Ernie H. Knott, who used to manage the Young Toronto Lacrosse Club, was a scorer. Lieut.-Col. Jack Ralston, D.S.O., of Montreal, a well-known M.A.A.A. man, and Major F. O. Tidy, of Toronto, a judge of field events. The team events were competed at the Lobold Club, Avenue du Tennis, Uccle; the indoor events at the Palais des Sports, Avenue Louis Bertrand, Schaerbeek; and the swimming at the Bains St. Saveur Rue Montagne, Aux-Herbes-Potagers.

Virtue's Reward.

Two Hoosier teachers were travelling through Canada the other day. They had to take a very early train, and as a result intended to eat breakfast in the dining car. But there was no dining car on the train. Hungrily they faced the prospect of a day of fasting, for they would not arrive at their destination until late afternoon.

"We have just two cakes of chocolate," said one, taking stock of their possessions. "Will you eat yours now or wait a while?"

The second ate her cake then, trusting to luck to find a station lunchroom. But the first waited until noon and until a mother and two small children had settled themselves in the seat opposite the teachers.

Finally she took the cake of chocolate, eyed it in happy anticipation and, then unwrapped it. But lo, the two youngsters were against her knee, and they, too, were looking at it with happy anticipation. Of course it was divided between them.

Half an hour later the mother opened her grip and out came the family lunch of fried chicken, sandwiches, etc. But not one bite did the generous teacher get. "What was that about a cup of cold water?" she asked the other teacher hintingly.

The woman with the full basket stared at her coldly. Then she took a drinking cup from her grip and extended it. "You may have it," she offered, "but there's paper cups at the can."

Pretty Expensive Steak.

The highest known price ever paid for beefsteak was at Circle City, Alaska, a town that sprang up almost in the night during the Klondike gold excitement. The first steak to reach there sold for $40 a pound. It was a ten pound steak and was sent from a point fifty miles away. It was placed on exhibition and was such a curiosity that all the miners turned out in a body to see it.

Of course every one wanted a piece of the precious meat, and the prices offered might have resulted in a general mining camp quarrel had not some one thought of raffling the steak for the benefit of a hospital which a bishop was trying to establish for the miners at Circle City. Bids started at $5 a pound and rose quickly to $35. At last, in order to avoid possible trouble, it was decided to sell tickets at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2.50 for the privilege of drawing a slice. After $480 worth of tickets had been sold the drawing began, and to the relief of those in charge of the enterprise no serious consequences resulted.—Detroit Free Press.

Read Your Books Again.

Let me implore any reader who has a fairly large library of his own and is honestly desirous to know what his books contain to devote some period of leisure to go through those volumes shelf by shelf, as they stand, to learn which of them he can remember well, which are half read or unread. What pleasure and profit he would find in recalling the poetry he once so enjoyed or in turning to such essays as he had hitherto overlooked! He would find, I am sure, that the very things he long wanted to know, the poetry that half almost faded from his memory, the bursts of eloquence and prophecy that had stirred his youth, now grown dim in his mind as "an ancient tale of," though the words were strong. All this had stood silent and unnoticed on his walls for years and years, while he had been stuffing himself with the last short story, the lives of royal laundry women or it may be an article in a magazine.—Frederic Harrison.

Highway of the Great Divide

the early completion of what will be the most wonderful automobile road in Canada, opening up an Alpine region of entrancing beauty. It will be possible to motor from Calgary to Windermere between sunrise and sunset through a hundred miles of the most glorious scenery in North America. A good automobile road runs south to Fort Steele and Cranbrook, and from Cranbrook there are excellent roads to Spokane or eastwards through the Crow's Nest Pass, and back to Calgary. The Good Roads Association of Alberta is enthusiastic over the prospect as this will mean the advent of many tourists from all over America. The new road will also be of great benefit to the Upper Columbia Valley which has many attractions for settlers on account of the fertility of the soil and suitability for mixed farming. This valley is served by the Kootenay Central Railway, a recently constructed branch of the Canadian Pacific.

Between Banff, the popular summer resort in the Canadian Pacific Rockies and Lake Windermere, the head waters of the great Columbia River, lies an Alpine ridge of spectacular beauty, forming part of the Great Divide. This ridge is penetrated by two comparatively easy passes, the Simpson, and the Vermilion which lead into the Valley of the Kootenay River, a region abounding in game on account of its being well south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Between the Kootenay River and the Columbia River is a small range of mountains through which the Sinclair Pass and Canyon provide an easy road. When the first surveys were made for an automobile road between Banff and Windermere it was planned to use the Simpson Pass, named after Sir George Simpson, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who made this crossing in 1841. But the route over the Vermilion was found to be easier and at the same time more beautiful, and construction of the Highway of the Great Divide was commenced from opposite Castle Mountain in this direction. At the same time the road from Windermere was through the Sinclair Canyon was also commenced and at the time of the outbreak of war a gap of only thirty miles separated the two roads. War put an end to [illegible] and a great [illegible] miles of the western end, so that the project seemed to have been abandoned. Now, however, the Dominion Government has made an arrangement with the British Columbia Government by which the route of the road comes under the jurisdiction of the Dominion [illegible] and a substantial appropriation has been allotted to finish the work. In this way there is every prospect of

KILL ROADSIDE WEEDS

Cultivation Stores Water in Soil for Crops.

Grasshoppers Cheaply and Quickly Destroyed by Treating With the Poisoned Bran Mixture.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

"A STITCH in time saves nine." This is especially true in the case of weeds.

When one considers that a single specimen of many kinds of weeds may produce over 10,000 seeds, and that many of such seeds may be blown far and wide by the wind, one begins to realize just what a source of contamination is a weedy roadside, a fence corner or a waste place.

In Ontario it is too common a sight in the fall of the year to see a farmer busy with his fall cultivation, attempting to clean his field and preparing a good seed bed for next year's crop. At the same time on the roadside near the field or in the fence corners or some waste place near it such weeds as Perennial Sow Thistle, Canada Thistle, Milkweed and Wild Lettuce are maturing seeds by the thousands, to be blown on to his well tilled field and reseed it with enough filth to markedly lessen his crop and increase his labor next year.

When labor is so scarce and when the maximum quantity of grain should be produced from every acre under cultivation, no man can afford to allow weeds to seed anywhere in the neighborhood of his farm. A few hours spent now and again during the summer cutting weeds on roadsides, in waste places and fence corners is a good investment for the future, which will pay handsome dividends in labor saved and increased crop.—Prof. J. E. Howitt, Ontario Agricultural College.

Conserve the Soil Moisture.

Moisture is the most important soil property. Without it a crop is absolutely impossible, no matter how much fertility may be present. With the proper amount large crops are obtained, while on the other hand if moisture is excessive or deficient the yield is diminished according as the excess or deficiency increases. If all the water necessary for the production of a full crop could be collected on the surface of the ground at one time, it would be from 18 inches to 24 inches deep, depending on the crop and the season. During the growing season only 10 or 12 inches of rain falls in Ontario, and this is only half the amount required by the crops. Hence it becomes necessary to store up in the soil as much of the winter and spring rains as possible, while at the same time guarding against excess.

The amount of water a soil may contain depends on the pore space in the soil. Sands have least pore space, loams and mucks most, and clay is intermediate. The porosity of a coarse sand is about 25 per cent., of a loam or muck about 50 per cent., and of a heavy clay about 45 per cent. From these figures it will be seen that a soil may contain nearly as much water as soil grains. Since the plant roots require air it is not desirable to have all the soil pores filled with water; some free air space must be left, hence drainage becomes necessary.

There are three ways that water may be lost; first by run-off, secondly by drainage, and thirdly by evaporation. Of these three the greatest is evaporation. It may amount to half the total rainfall. As long as the soil is wet in the spring we want all these at work, but as soon as the soil is dry enough for cultivation we want the losses cut off. And cultivation is the only direct means by which this can be done in summer. Cultivation should begin just as early as the soil is dry enough. To delay one week may cause the loss of as much as 1¾ inches of water, and this is as much as falls in the month of April, a very serious matter when the needs are so great and the supply so limited. In the fall of the year cultivation should be deep to increase absorption and retention of water; in the spring shallow, in order to produce a dry layer of soil on the surface to cut off evaporation.—Prof. W. H. Day, Ontario Agricultural College.

A Cheap and Efficient Method of Controlling Grasshoppers.

Grasshoppers may be easily and cheaply controlled by poisoning with the bran mixture, which is made as follows: 20 lbs. bran, 1 lb. Paris green, ½ gal. molasses, 2 gals. water, 2 or 3 lemons.

The bran and Paris green should be mixed thoroughly together when dry. This should be done the night before using. In the morning squeeze the juice of the lemons into the water, run the pulp and rind through a meat chopper and add this and the molasses to the water. Stir well and then pour the liquid on the poisoned bran and mix so thoroughly that every part is moist and will fall like sawdust through the fingers. The mash should be applied early in the morning between five and seven o'clock, by scattering thinly over the infested field, in the fence corners and on roadsides where the insects have been observed. The above amount will suffice for four or five acres. It will be well to make an inspection three or four days later, and if there are many survivors to make a second application.

It is important to attend to this matter as early in the season as the young grasshoppers are noticed, and not to wait till they grow big and have caused a considerable amount of damage.

The same means may be employed for the control of cutworms, making the application wherever the worms are observed just before dark in the evening.—L. Caesar, B.S.A., Provincial Entomologist.

The Tyranny of Wills.

Many petty tyrants have sought to impose their will on posterity. Henry Budd, who died in 1832, gave proof in his will of a prejudice against mustaches. "In case my son Edward shall wear mustaches," he stipulated, "then the devise hereinbefore contained in favor of him of my estate called Pepper Park shall be void, and I devise the same estate to my son William, his appointees, heirs and assigns. And in case my said son William shall wear mustaches then the devise hereinbefore contained in favor of him of my estate called Twickenham Park shall be void, and I devise the same estate to my son Edward." Presumably the sons accepted that close shave for a fortune.—London Spectator.

Brush Your Tongue.

Brush your teeth. By all means brush your teeth religiously and well, but for pity's sake brush your tongue too. Wield your brush backward and forward, under and over, to the north, to the south, to the east and west, scour it with fervor, for it is in truth a tiny forest of dense foliage wherein lurks the unseen enemy.

Every time you open your mouth a whole regiment of little microbes charge through the aperture and take up quarters somewhere in the confines of your chewing apparatus. Seek them out and annihilate them before sleep enfolds you, for, fortified with an enormous capacity for work, they rest not, neither do they weary, and you may awaken in the morning to find whole companies firmly intrenched in the middle of your tongue. If you can't conceive of your own particular organ being so invaded take a microscope and mirror and get busy.

A Terrible Abyss.

The greatest ocean depth yet sounded is 31,200 feet, near the island of Guam. If Mount Everett, the world's highest mountain, were plucked from its seat and dropped into this spot the waves would roll 2,000 feet about its crest. Into this terrible abyss the waters press down with a force more than 10,000 pounds to the square inch. The stanchest ship ever built would be crumbled under this awful pressure like an egg shell under a steam roller. A pine beam fifteen feet long which held open the mouth of the trawl used in making a cast at a depth of more than 18,000 feet was crushed flat as if it had been passed between rollers. The body of the man who should attempt to venture to such depths would be compressed until the flesh was forced into the interstices of the bone and his trunk was no larger than a rolling pin. Still the body would reach the bottom.

How Plants Die.

That plants die like animals we all know, but we do not know the exact moment when they die. For hours a dead plant seems alive. There is no twitch, no death spasm. A scientist has, however, succeeded not only in noting the precise moment when a plant gives up its life, but in recording its death spasm. The plant is heated very gradually so as to avoid all excitation. This is done by placing the plant in a water bath the temperature of which is continuously raised by the application of a gas or spirit flame. At 60 degrees C. a spasmodic extraction takes place. All attempts to obtain response after this fail, even though the plant is cooled down to its normal temperature. This death temperature of 60 degrees is constant for all plants.

Eyes of a Bird.

Fishes and birds have an advantage over human beings in their ability to see on both sides of them. Their eyes are set not for looking straight ahead, but for looking out on each side. That is because they balance their bodies to right or to left, while we balance forward and backward. A bird can watch the tips of both wings at once. The pilot of an aeroplane has to turn his head from side to side to see his wing tips.

Foreshadowed.

Madge — Why did you throw him over? Mabel—He would have been a very parsimonious husband. Madge—But he fairly lavished money on you during the engagement. Mabel—Yes; but as soon as we began to talk honeymoon the first thing he did was to look up excursion rates.

Inconsistency.

Mrs. Bacon—He's a very inconsistent man.

Mrs. Egbert—Indeed?

"Yes. Why, he tried to break his boy of being left handed, and he could only punish the little fellow with his left hand."

A Great Effort.

"Quiet, children, quiet!" says the German mother in Fliegende Blatter. "Father is tired to death. He wrote a letter today that will go so very far—all the way to America."

Self Sacrifice.

No man has ever sacrificed himself in the common meaning of that phrase, which is self sacrifice for another alone. Men make daily sacrifice for others, but it is for their own sake first. They must content their own spirit first. A man must feel better for doing a duty than he would for shirking it.

Take the case of the Berkeley Castle, a British troopship crowded with soldiers and their wives and children. There was room in the boats for the women and children only. The colonel lined up his regiment on the deck and said, "It is our duty to die that they may be saved." There was no murmur, no protest. The boats carried away the women and children. When the death moment was come the colonel and his officers took their several posts, the men stood at "present," and so, as on dress parade, with their flag flying and the drums beating, they went down, a sacrifice to duty for duty's sake. They were soldiers with a soldier's pride—a soldier's self respect. They had to content a soldier's spirit.—Mark Twain.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Fires in Holland.

Fires of any size are so scarce in Holland that the city of Rotterdam, with a population of over 400,000, has practically no fire department, while the prevalence of canals offers an ever ready water supply to fight any fires which might occur.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Old Order Changeth

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"You may be only a poor typist," smug little Aunt Caroline had told her niece Babette, "but don't forget that you are a lady—or are entitled to call yourself one so long as you don't do any things that are unworthy of a real lady."

Aunt Caroline had never done any of those things; in fact, she had worked at rather trying odds for the last ten years in the uptown flat where she kept house for her own four sons and daughters and her niece Babette.

And they had all remained ladies—she and her daughter and the niece and the three boys had, so far as the mother knew, remained "perfect gentlemen"—in spite of the three flights up and the dingy, bare, painted walls of the kitchen where Caroline's work never seemed to be done, and in spite of the debts there had been to pay after the husband's long illness.

On the parlor table there was a copy of a well-known book on so-called social usage, and although the chapter on candle parties and the advice the writer of the book gave on "how to act when meeting the English royal family," and how to write to the archbishop of Canterbury had been of little real use to Caroline, she found much of it immensely helpful to her in her task.

The fact was that Caroline had, as she said, seen very much better days in the years when she and her cousin, Babette's mother—for Babette was not a real niece—had, for one brief season mingled in a society that never found its way to Caroline's poor little widow's flat.

Then came the marriages of Caroline and Babette's mother and the death of both Babette's parents, the death of Caroline's husband, the bringing up of the five children in the ways of genteelfolk, and then, a year ago, Babette's engagement to Caroline's eldest son—who, to be sure, was only a sort of third cousin.

The courtship was conducted along lines that would have been approved by even the author of that book on social decorum on Caroline's parlor table. The young people, reminded that it was not well-bred to go to the theater unchaperoned, never went to the movies on a Saturday night without Caroline in tow, though poor Caroline sometimes endured all kinds of torment fearing that she was a hindrance to their good time. And Caroline remembered that when Babette's mother and she had been engaged they had not permitted their lovers more than the meagerest kisses, and those on the cheek.

Engagements are sometimes broken, they had been told, and a "real lady" would never cease regretting the fact if she had ever allowed any more passionate salute from a man who did not become her husband. So Caroline had told Babette and her son and, though they had been engaged a year, there was but one salute a day, and that very decorously upon the cheek.

When the first Christmas of their engagement came about Caroline had reminded her children that "well-bred engaged people did not give personal presents." The young man, besides the engagement ring, should give nothing but flowers, books and candy." Her own husband had given her a copy of Tennyson's poems on the Christmas they were engaged, and the Tennyson now reposed beneath the book on good form on the parlor table.

He had given her roses on all holidays and candies every week-end. There was no reason, Caroline said, why her son should not do so much for Babette. He could afford it, for he was now getting a generous salary.

Babette didn't often protest, but she was a practical bit of a girl, and when she might have been making a collection of useful housekeeping things given her by her husband-to-be—as other girls she knew did—she took small pleasure in the little bunch of roses that faded on her bureau after every holiday nor in the candies that she shared with her cousins every week-end.

From her own slender earnings she might have bought things that would eventually have helped feather the nest, too, but Caroline assured her that would not have been in good form. The great authority especially cautioned young women against giving anything of a personal nature to their fiancé.

Books, desk accessories, accessories of sport—a riding crop, or something of that sort—were the things suggested. And as Caroline's eldest son, Stephen, had no desk, have the office man he toiled at eight hours a day, and knew no sports save struggling with the crowds on his daily trip to and from that office, Babette's choice was limited to books.

He liked the Stevenson and the Kipling she had given him, but how much sooner they could have been married if instead of those books she could have given him something that would do for the little flat—chairs and tables, or a rug, perhaps!

It was three weeks before Christmas and Babette and Stephen had each secretly decided to linger after office hours to make the Christmas purchases. Unknown to each other they were both part of the great throng that swarmed one of the department stores not far from their own places of work. At the door of the store Babette had received a little holly-decked card, and on it were words something like this:

"The patriotic gift this year is the useful gift. We feel it our duty to urge our customers to refrain from buying nonessentials. So, instead of displaying a large stock of Christmas candies and our usual Christmas books and flowers, we are recommending gifts of useful household articles and articles of apparel."

What if Caroline could see it that way? mused Babette, and, then, yielding to the temptation, she took the elevator to the floor where were sold the household articles, dishes and furniture and kitchen things. There she ran almost precipitately into Stephen. He, too, was holding one of the little holly-decked cards.

"I have been looking at a set of dishes," he said. "Maybe after we are married we can get one." He pressed Babette's hand—perhaps that wasn't exactly good form, but the crowd was pushing close beside them and no one could have seen. "It's pretty hard to wait," he said. "Babette, if we had the things to start housekeeping on, perhaps we wouldn't have to wait so long. Perhaps in February—I heard today I'm to get a good raise at New Year's."

"If, instead of getting each other a set of Scott or Dickens we could get that set of dishes and some things to cook with—" faltered Babette.

"I could give mother $10 every week, and still have enough to run our little flat on," whispered Stephen, "and Roger will be bringing in more after New Year's."

There was little further explanation. It seemed as if they were compelled by a force greater than the will power of either, greater than the silent influence of Caroline or the binding force of that book on the parlor table. Yes, they did go and they ordered that set of dishes—that with the money Stephen had expected to spend on the leather-bound Scott with Babette's money saved for the edition de luxe of Dickens they went and, after a half hour with a patient saleswoman, bought everything that ever bride ever needed to make a little flat kitchen complete.

Then they turned their steps homeward toward Caroline.

"Perhaps we can arrange it in January, would you, Babette? I've got enough saved for the bedroom set, and with the dishes and the kitchen things I've enough for the other things. Do you suppose your mother—"

There was a pause, for traffic made it hard to understand; then a lull; "There's something in that Tennyson on the parlor table that goes like this:

"'The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfills himself in many ways.'

"Perhaps mother will see it that way, and I brought this little card home. Mother is very patriotic."

And, strangely enough, Caroline made no protest, so busy was she at once in reading what the book on good form had to say on "wedding etiquette."

NOT HARD TO RECOGNIZE HIM

Almost at a Glance Papa Could Tell Which of the Swans Was the Father.

Congressman Seaborn Reddenbury of Georgia gently smiled when the talk topic dwelt on the lord and master of the domestic ranch. He said he was reminded of little John's visit to the zoo.

While rambling around among the animals with his father one afternoon, so ran the story of the congressman, little Johnny came to a miniature lake on which two swans were swimming.

"Papa," said Johnny, pointing a chubby little finger out over the lake, "is that the father swan or the mother swan?"

"Which one do you mean, Johnny?" asked the old man, glancing in the direction indicated by the boy.

"I mean the one over there," answered Johnny. "The one with all the feathers pecked off his head and isn't allowed to have the biscuit or nothing."

"Yes, my son," promptly replied papa, with just a suspicion of a sigh, "that's the father swan, all right."

TRAITOR MUST DIE; TRIAL BY DEFAULT

PARIS, June 16.—Gaston Routier a prominent French journalist, was sentenced to death by court martial for imparting military intelligence to the enemy. Routier, who is a Socialist with extreme tendencies, was tried by default. He was charged with having agreed with German agents in Spain to start a French language paper there during the war for the purpose of carrying on German propaganda.

Gaston Routier founded the Madrid La Paix, in 1917. It was believed that Bolo Pasha, who was executed at Paris, in 1918 for treason, furnished the funds for the establishment of the paper.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

DOMINION RUBBER

MESSENGER SAVES $100,000.

Shoots Hold-up Man Carrying Proceeds of Robbery.

NEW YORK, June 16. — The alertness of an elderly bank messenger, who pursued six hold-up men down the stairway of an uptown Manhattan elevated station ,and felled one of them with a fusilade of shots from his revolver, frustrated a daring at daylight robbery here. The robber, who was shot, was carrying a bag said to have contained $100,000 in securities, taken from David Ryan, the messenger, who did the shooting, and Henry Boylan, employees of the Colonial Bank, who were taking the funds to the Federal Reserve Bank.

Keep the Bowels Regular and You Won't Be Sick

If the bowels do not move regularly they will sooner or later become constipated, and constipation is productive of more ill-health than almost any other trouble.

The sole cause of constipation is an inactive liver, and unless the liver is kept active, you may be sure that headaches, piles, heartburn, biliousness, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, and many other troubles will follow the wrong action of this one of the most important organs of the body.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will regulate the bowels so that you will have a free and easy motion every day, and one pill a night for thirty days will cure the worst cases of constipation.

They do this by acting directly on the liver and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, thus causing many stomach and bowel troubles.

Mrs. Jos. Labree, Louise Apts, Calgary, Alta., writes:—"I have been troubled with constipation for the last two years. I have tried numerous treatments, but have never been relieved by anything until I used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which are helping me wonderfully."

We do not claim that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are a "cure-all," but we do claim that there is nothing better for a sluggish liver.

Price 25 cents a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Life Sentence to Milwaukee.

"I sentence you to Milwaukee for life and if you ever return to Chicago, I'll send you back."

Such was the decree of Judge Sabath in the case of Oswald Markward of Chicago.

Oswald, it appears, had been found by the police "laying on his back in the street and hollering." Being in Chicago is enough to make any man of decent sensibilities "lay on his back and holler." But the extenuating circumstance in Oswald's behavior did not occur to the judge.

So he sentenced Oswald to Milwaukee for life. Happy, happy Oswald! Strange to say, his Chicago lawyer did not enter a constitutional plea against the infliction of "cruel and unusual punishment." Queer folks, those Chicagoans!—Milwaukee Sentinel.

First Balloon Ascension in America.

The first balloon ascension in America took place in Philadelphia on Jan. 9, 1793. The aeronaut was a Frenchman named Blanchard. He secured the yard of the Walnut street prison as the place from which to make the ascent. Among the many distinguished persons present was George Washington, then president of the United States. The start was made 10:02 o'clock, and as the balloon began to ascend the aeronaut waved the United States flag and the tricolor of France. The voyage lasted forty-six minutes, during which the balloon traveled fifteen miles, descending a little to the eastward of Cooper's Ferry, N. J. Blanchard returned to the city about 6:30 in the evening, and immediately paid his respects to President Washington. Following this ascension, during the year he made a number of others, but owing to lack of public support and insufficient funds of his own, in returning to France sadly disappointed at his success in America.—Philadelphia Press.

GRAIN MARKET

Bad crop reports were the dominant feature in yesterday's crop news. These were considered sufficiently serious to warrant active buying, and the consequent sharp advance on all the option months. Cash prices were also stronger at all points. July oats at Winnipeg closed 1 1-2c. higher, cash prices going up the same amount. July oats at Chicago were 2 3-8c. higher. Chicago went wild on corn, sending the July option up 5 3-4c.; September up 5 7-8c. and December up 3 1-4c.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts yesterday, 125 cars, with 1,318 cattle, 882 calves, 2,244 hogs and 276 sheep and lambs.

With a very light run of only about 1,500 head of cattle offering, it was a lively and strong market to-day. Practically everything in the butcher cattle class was cleaned up early at prices averaging a good 50c. over last Wednesday and Thursday's prices, and a dollar to a dollar and a quarter over last Monday.

Butcher cows and bulls strong in proportion to the rest of the market.

Good feeders and short keep firm.

Calves strong to 50c. higher.

Sheep dull.

Spring lambs strong.

Hog market again unsettled, but very firm. Prices quoted varied from $21.25 to $21.75 f.o.b. It was reported that $22 f.o.b. is being paid in the country. There is an absolute shortage of hogs in the country, and buyers say they have no idea where prices will go to.

FEW MUSICIANS BREAK LAWS

Or If They Do, They Manage in Some Way to Keep Out of the Penitentiaries.

Does music keep people out of jail? It has often been said in print that music was brought into the world to uplift and beautify our humdrum mechanical lives. A public school principal regrets that his teachers are only giving one and a half hours a week to the study of music. He regrets this, because he says through music and its educational value young people become better citizens, more useful members of society and more effective servants of the state.

But now a man comes forward and submits figures to show that musicians give the jails a wide berth. Out of a total of about 150,000 professional musicians in the United States it is said there are only about fifteen in the nine largest penitentiaries throughout the republic. This makes a good showing when the corresponding figures are considered—39 out of only 57,000 bankers in these penitentiaries: 32 out of 115,000 lawyers, 22 out of 150,000 physicians and 6 out of 35,000 painters or artists. It begins to look as if music keeps you out of jail, or at least helps to.

Irritations of the Skin

Are Soothed and Healed by the Use of Dr. Chase's Ointment—Two Interesting Cases Reported.

The old method of treating eczema by means of internal medicines is too slow and uncertain of results.

The new method is by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. You apply the ointment and obtain almost immediate relief from the itching, stinging sensations. In a few days the sore spots are cleaned out and the healing process is set up.

As you apply the ointment from day to day you can see for yourself the splendid results obtained, and this will encourage you to keep on with the treatment until the cure is complete.

Mrs. Stafford Leason, Winchester, Ont., writes: "I can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, as it cured me of a very severe case of eczema. After using several remedies without relief, I was about discouraged, thinking I could never endure the intense suffering. At last one evening when I felt I could not endure the pain another day or hour longer. I thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment which I had seen advertised, and decided to give it a trial. To my great surprise, after using it a few times. I obtained relief, and in a few days my affliction began to completely disappear. My husband and I often speak of the quick and lasting cure I obtained in such a short time. That was ten years ago, and we have kept it in our home ever since, and it has been a great healer for many other complaints. I never fail to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to my friends and neighbors.

"I might state that we have also used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in our household, and I can recommend it as doing all that you claim for it."

In scores of ways Dr. Chase's Ointment is of use in every home. Applied after shaving it keeps the skin soft and smooth. Used for baby after the bath, it cures chafing and skin irritation. It is so soothing and healing that it acts as a beautifier of the skin, keeping it soft, smooth and velvety. Sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The Gas Bag's Use.

By far the lightest of all known gases is hydrogen, and that is why, when used to fill the balloons of an airship, it gives a greater "lift" than any other gas. Hydrogen is much lighter than coal gas, although that, in its turn, is immensely lighter than ordinary air.

But both hydrogen and coal gas have one very serious disadvantage. They are inflammable, and when mixed with a certain volume of air are highly explosive.

There is only one other gas which at all compares with hydrogen for lightness. This is "helium," a gas which exists in the air we breathe, but in very small quantities.

To give some idea of how small, let us put it this way: Supposing you could multiply the atoms of a cubic foot of air so that they were big enough to see with the naked eye, then let them pass at the rate of 60 a minute, it would be only one in three months that a helium atom would come by.

Yet helium is plentiful enough in the upper layers of the atmosphere. We know that because the flashes made by meteors as they enter the earth's atmosphere give the "spectrum" of helium when watched through a spectroscope. We know, in the same way, that the atmosphere of the sun is chiefly composed of hydrogen and helium.

The Americans have discovered a method of making helium gas in large quantities, and they propose to use it for the purpose of filling the great gas bags of their enormous new dirigibles. An airship filled with helium would be safe from any inflammable bullet or other fiery device. For, unlike hydrogen or coal gas, it will neither burn nor explode.

Long and Short of It.

"Mr. Blinks," said she, "do you think that anticipation is greater than realization?"

"Well," replied Mr. Blinks, "anticipation is broader and higher, but realization is longer and better."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Burning Feet.

Burning in the soles of the feet is a very unpleasant sensation, often very painful, sometimes real agony. To allay the sensation bathe the feet (soak them) in cold water for a few minutes several times a day, wipe dry and bathe with a mixture of alcohol and spirits of camphor (equal portions of each). Wear white cotton stockings, fresh ones every day. The round thread in lisle stockings frets the skin and keeps the feet heated and uncomfortable. Silk hose will keep the feet overheated almost as much as lisle does.

COLOR OF ARMY HORSES.

A Move to Have All White or Gray Mounts Discarded.

The color line is being drawn by the army in the purchase of horses. It has not been drawn in favor of white or light horses, but against them, and in favor of sorrels, browns, bays and even blacks. Because of their visibility white and gray horses are not considered desirable for mounts. In the field they are a mark for sharpshooters, and on this account the quartermaster corps has stopped purchasing light colored horses. Officers are permitted to purchase gray horses if they care to take the chances of being shot in the event that they are on the firing line, but the inspector general's department has condemned the general use of gray horses in the army.

This, however, does not prevent many of the officers of the army from riding gray horses, and they have refused to draw the color line. Some of the members of the general staff are advocating the issuance of a general order prohibiting the use of gray or light colored horses in the army, as they claim that with even a few officers on light colored mounts the enemy will be able to locate a regiment or a company which might be on scout duty. The question whether a gray horse is officially regarded as a suitable mount for an officer has been the subject of lively controversy at at least one army post.—Army and Navy Journal.

AN ALABASTER SPHINX.

Another sphinx, weighing ninety tons and carved from a single block of alabaster, has been unearthed at a point between the world famed colossi on the water logged plains of Memphis in Egypt. For hundreds of years it has lain in a recumbent position, buried beneath the sands on the road to Sakkarch. Today it is half exposed to view, and next year it is to be raised to a vertical position above the water line.

This newly found sphinx was betrayed in its hiding place by its tail, which Mr. Mackay, one of the students of the British school in Egypt, discovered about a year ago. This year, when the water on the plain subsided, the complete figure was excavated and was found to measure some fourteen feet high and twenty-six feet in length. Alabaster being a rock foreign to the neighborhood, the new sphinx ranks as the largest that has ever been transported. The figure bears no inscription, but is considered by Professor Flinders Petrie, the director of the British school in Egypt, to have been carved about 1,300 B. C.—London Standard.

Servia's Area and Population.

Before the recent wars with Turkey and Bulgaria, Servia was divided into eighteen districts. The area of the country was 18,644 square miles, with a population of 2,911,701. Servia acquired as a result of the wars territory to the extent of 14,668 square miles, with a population of 1,481,614. The total area of the country today is, therefore, 33,312 square miles, with a total population of 4,393,315. The new territory has been divided into twelve administrative districts, making a total of thirty administrative districts in the whole country.

DRIVEN FROM ENGINE CAB.

Driver And Fireman Clung to Running Board While Train Dashed On.

OWEN SOUND, June 17.—When the steam casing of the cylinders on the engine of a C.P.R. train from Toronto blew out, steam and water poured into the fire box, and then the whole mass was hurled into the cab of the engine. The engineer and the fireman got out by the window. The train was going thirty miles an hour at the time and they had to hang on the running board until the emergency brakes stopped the train. The accident occured between Holland Centre and Chatsworth.

GAMBLING AT BOTTOM OF WITLEY OUTBREAK

CROWN AND ANCHOR GAME, WHICH LED TO ARRESTS, STARTED THE TROUBLE.

LONDON, June 18.—The sixteen camp riots at Witley Saturday night had generally the same causes as the previous disturbances. Labor troubles at the docks have caused certain delays in transportation and the least patient among those waiting under embarkation ahead themselves at the head of other rioters who entertain the dangerous belief that only by attracting public attention in this way can legitimate grievances be attended to.

Fire Brigades Helpless

As usual, "Tin Town" became the centre of the disturbance and the smouldering resentment regarding profiteering found an outlet in the complete destruction of one fancy goods shop which was looted and probably, by accident, fired. Owing to lack of water three fire brigades were helpless and the flames quickly spread to the garrison theatre. This with a motor garage and several other shops were completely gutted No man was seriously injured although several in attempting to fight the fire sustained minor hurts.

Stamp Out Gambling

The contributory cause of the disturbance was the camp authorities' evident determination to prevent gambling. Before the riots Kimmel "Crown and Anchor" had obtained such a hold as to constitute a dangerous evil. At Witley Saturday morning, several men were arrested for his offence and it was the indignation expressed by these men's comrades that formed the initial step to the outbreak, which quickly found adherents dissatisfied with the transportation delays. Prisoners in every guard room confined on whatever charge were released by the rioters, but when the riot subsided nearly all reported for re-arrest. One prisoner performed such excellent work in localizing the fire that the officers on the spot recommended him for a remission of sentence.

RICH MAY HAVE BOOZE, BUT NONE FOR WORKER.

Sam'l Gompers Protests Against Prohibition of Beer and Light Wines.

WASHINGTON, June 17—At the head of a monster delegation of representative of organized labor, which Saturday staged a demonstration in front of the Capitol against prohibition of beer and light wines, Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. of L., protested against a regulation "by which the rich may have their booze for a lifetime guaranteed and the right of the worker to get a glass of beer denied to him." Mr. Gompers said the workingmen asked only a fair opportunity to live their own lives. "You cannot change all our habits at the twinkling of an eye," said he.

All the churches and temperance societies "have not done one tithe to make the workingman temperate compared to what their labor organizations have done," he continued.

"We're not advocates of intoxicants. We seek the opportunity, not only to preach, but to practice temperance."

WARSAW MERCHANTS FOR EARLY CLOSING

The merchants of Warsaw, in order to enjoy some of the pleasures of life have decided to close their stores at six o'clock on Tuesday and Friday evenings, of each week, commencing June 20.

It is hoped this will meet with the approval of their patrons and that an effort will be made to co-operate in the scheme.

BEHIND MOROCCO'S WALLS.

Romance in Mosaic Paved Courtyards and Laced Arabesques.

The town of Morocco does not extend open smiling arms to the stranger, writes Elsie F. Wells, in the Magazine Asia. The houses present cold, forbidding fronts. The winding irregular streets twist and turn in a bewildering fashion, and the low arches, often linking house with house, convert the streets into a series of high walled semi-open courtyards, still more confusing to the uninitiated.

But if one is privileged to enter through the massive gates formidably re-enforced with heavy iron bands and heavily bolted, one may step into courtyards inlaid with mosaics and ornamented with laced arabesques, surrounded with arched passageways, richly carved and covered with luxuriant hangings; into a melancholy garden flagged with ancient white stones, where a marble fountain plays softly and great orange trees are outlined voluptuously against the white walls and the uncloudy sky.

Who knows how many wistful harem ladies have languished there, what fantastic tragedies have been spun on curiously fatalistic silken threads?

A little girl's frock is of white Turco crepe embroidered with Persian blue roses.

WARDEN'S ADDRESS TO COUNTY COUNCIL

SUGGESTS WAR MEMORIAL TO VETERANS OF CITY AND COUNCIL.

Warden McIntosh's address to the County Council at the opening of the June session yesterday was as follow:

To-day we mourn and rejoice at one of the same time. We mourn the loss of so many of our brave Canadians who died for the principles of democracy. We rejoice in that to-day as the result of such sacrifices democracy prevails and I would consider the providing of a suitable memorial by the County and City to those brave boys who have fallen for their country.

Various matters will have to be dealt with by you and I feel satisfied that the bests interests of the County will be looked after. We have had some unpleasant things to contend with but I must say that the Council have always tried to do things in a statesmanlike manner. One of such troubles has been the satisfying of the Crown Attorney with rooms.

You are all aware of the litigation that took place and in the decision of the Judge we cannot infer what is necessary. Having written to the Inspector of Legal Offices some time ago to come and determine what was requisite and not having received a visit from that gentleman, I succeeded in getting Mr. Nichols to accompany us to interview the Attorney-General, who assured us of the matter being attended to in the near future.

Mr. Hatton notified me by letter that unless the County paid him $350 annually as office rent as a result of not being satisfied with the offices (with the three rooms provided), he would bring on another action and I trust the intervention of the Government will avert another lawsuit. The Chairman of each committee will with the assistance of the various member of such committees bring all matters before you and knowing the interest you all take in these matters, I will not go into detail with regard to them.

No doubt the adoption of the County Road System will come up and I trust it will receive your careful consideration.

In conclusion permit me to thank you for your individed support in the performance of my duties as Warden and all will unite in thanks to God the Great King who must kindly looked upon with favor the cause of the Allied Entante Nations.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards — Receipts yesterday were 503 cattle, 140 calves, 509 hogs and 137 sheep and lambs.

The market was steady and strong at Monday's general advance of 50c from last Thursday's market, and a dollar to a dollar and a quarter advance from a week ago. The run was very light and all sold out good and early.

Calves were very firm, tops selling at $18 to $19.

Sheep and lambs were steady.

Hog market still unsettled but strong; prices anywhere from $21.25 to $22 on the f.o.b. basis but the latter figure only on hearsay reports from the country.

THE HUNTER STREET BRIDGE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—I had an opportunity this morning of looking over the contract and specification for the bridge, and I am somewhat surprised as to it's contents. It looks to me as if the whole thing was prepared in the office of the engineer.

I have had some experience in England of the ways of the architect He always prepares the specification and he specifies what firms are to supply the materials to be used. Needless to say those firms would not be named if they were not, say, friendly to the architect. Then the specification designates the architect as the sole and final judge as the quality of the material and work and as to the progress certificate. Every contractor that bids on the work knows he will have to bribe the architect if he wants to escape trouble and the merry game goes on because the contractor always makes allowance in his tender for the architect's rake-off.

Now, this Bridge Contract and Specification is exactly on the lines above indicated. There are letters from the Engineer suggesting firms from whom the materials are to be obtained, and the hint that one, named firm's goods have been inspected and would be approved. It is provided in the Specification and Contract that Mr. Barber is to approve of everything, he is to give certificates of progress every month and to decide the amount. In all these his decision is to be final and conclusive. He even has the power to object to any workman and the contractor must dismiss him. He is the sole judge, no Court can interfere with his decision, neither can the Council. The contractor is entirely at the mercy of the Engineer.

I am informed on good authority that Mr. Barber told the Council that he had put two contractors out of business on other work as a proof of his assiduity. And I am told further that the contractors are all afraid of him and that is the reason why local contractors as a body have avoided the Bridge Contract up to the present time, and it is said no contractor that is not in a position to handle Mr. Barber will ever get through this contract without trouble

Now, Sir, I have not a word to say about Mr. Barber, he may be immaculate. They tell me if the Russell-Townsend Co., get the Contract there will be no trouble. That may be so, but I would like to know why.

What I do say is that it is not to the interest of this City to put into the hands of one man, so much power nor to offer so great a temptation to Engineer or Contractor, to work graft. As matters now stand, if anything like mutual interests is ever established between Engineer and Contractor, there is a door wide open to the ratepayers being beaten. In a contract of the size and work of the complication and magnitude of the bridge, as efficient a job could be done on an economy basis and thousands saved for the contractor, if the Engineer was complacent, and on the other hand many thousands spent needlessly, and without adding to efficiency if the Engineer was hypercritical.

I would humbly suggest that another clause should be inserted in that agreement that would let in the local man on at least a fair footing to the effect that in case of the contractor being dissatisfied with the engineer's decision on any point there be a summary right of appeal to an independent authority.

Yours etc.,
Jas. G. Guiou-Bagley.

New Invention Retains Rupture Without Pain or Loss of Time.

Old-fashioned galling, slipping trusses and foreign mail order methods are done away with by the surgical inventions of a Canadian specialist, who has devoted years to this one study. The perfected new Egan "CURATRUS" (as prepared to order) gives instant retention, rest and security where others have failed. It prevents all irritation, retains every part in its natural position as soon as it is used, and ready-made trusses are thrown away. Egan's "Curatrus" is intended to assist nature in her work of closing the opening in the shortest time known and at small cost. Testimonials from men, women and parents. Nothing complicated. No incumvalence, but just a natural retentive method. It costs you nothing to investigate. Delays may be dangerous. Now is the time to make yourself comfortable for your daily work.

AFTER ALL there is more to the garden hose question than simply getting so many feet of hose to carry water from one place to another. Cut into an ordinary hose, and then cut into Goodyear Cord Hose—You will see the difference.

Goodyear Cord Hose is built after a new principle—layers of strong pliant cords embedded in good rubber—seamlessly welded into one unit and with a smooth cover. The Cord construction makes the hose both strong and flexible. It cannot kink or tangle, and insures protection against costly bursts.

It resists wear—and gives a bigger stream of water—because it is oversize.

It's a hose not one whit too good for your place—You will appreciate its extra goodness.

The worth of this hose is backed by the Goodyear name stamped on every six feet of it.—It is one of Goodyear quality products.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Sedentary Habits.

Sedentary habits impair and prevent proper functioning of the organs of excretion—skin, lungs and kidneys. Waste matters which should be eliminated are retained in the blood current. The liver becomes torpid, fat accumulates; indigestion, constipation and headaches follow. There is no snap. Vitality and resistive power are lowered. "You can't do the things you used to do." A little judicious exercise and recreation taken regularly will benefit greatly.—Wingert.

EUROPE'S GREAT WAR.

The Little Cause That Led Up to the Momentous Conflict.

There is no sanjak of Novibasar any more; it is divided between Servia and Montenegro. But its ghost and its regretted memory were enough, in all likelihood, to set on foot Europe's giant war.

The sanjak was in 1908 a strip of land smaller than Connecticut and with but 170,000 inhabitants, belonging without a shadow of doubt to Turkey, if treaties could be respected. By the treaty of Berlin Austria-Hungary was permitted to garrison some of its towns, but the civil administration was left to Turkey, wherein its status differed from that of Bosnia-Hersegovina, which Austria-Hungary administered nominally for Turkey as suzerain.

The sanjak divided Montenegro and Servia. It was a wedge between the southern Serbs, through which the Austrians planned to drive a railway, and with it their rule, to Saloniki. That railway would only have been a linking of the one running up to Mitrovitza from the south with the military line from Sarajevo to the Servian-Montenegrin boundaries.

When in October, 1908, Austria-Hungary tore up the Berlin treaty and definitely annexed Bosnia-Hersegovina she withdrew her troops from the sanjak, fearing armed resistance and wishing to placate Turkey. There was no war—then. Russia had not recovered from her bout with Japan.

The Austrian "forward" party was disgusted. Von Aehrenthal was almost in disgrace for overcautiousness. It had not been necessary to leave the sanjak. However, they could reoccupy it some time.

"Some time" did not come. With the Tripoli and Balkan wars Europe became increasingly sensitive. When the Balkan nations were fighting and it would have been easy to seize the strip Austria was forced by Europe to forego land grabbing in the general interest, to prevent exactly what has happened now.

The murder of the archduke gave her an opportunity. He went to Sarajevo against the protests and entreaties of Servian representatives in Vienna, who knew the local feeling and who had most to lose by any disturbance, and the actual murderer was an Austrian subject. However, neither these facts nor the way in which Servia offered to swallow the Austrian terms—all but allowing Austrian officers to hold inquiries into the murder on Servian soil—availed to stop the Austrian attack aimed straight at the sanjak.

And then followed what has followed.—New York World.

A Worm in Paganini's Violin.

When Paganini died he bequeathed his violin, a superb Guarnerius, to his native town of Genoa with instructions that it was to be "preserved perpetually." In 1907 fears were entertained that a woodworm was wreaking damage to the instrument, and a special commission of experts was appointed by the municipality of Genoa to examine and report on its condition. The commission decided that the woodworm was nonexistent. The presence of the worm is now fully established, and the Genoese are greatly excited lest this memento of one of Genoa's most illustrious sons should be ruined. It is stated by experts that the worm will not make inroads in a violin which is regularly played, as it is expelled by the constant vibration.

GOOD RESULTING FROM WAR

Country Has Been Aroused, as Never Before, to the Value of Practical Sanitation.

"Already the people are awakening to the value of sanitation such as the army is now practicing. Chattanooga and other cities adjacent to army camps have taken a hint of what it really means to clean up a city. Vice has been hunted to its last hiding place and liquor has become a curiosity. Military inspectors are forcing the clean-up of theaters, hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, fruit and ice cream stands. They say to the proprietor: 'Do this' or 'Do that,' and he does it with alacrity. If he doesn't, a soldier with gun and bayonet is presently seen standing at the door of his place to warn other soldiers not to enter, incidentally advertising the unsanitary conditions of the place as effectually as if he cried: 'Unclean! unclean!' This humiliating experience befall some rather prominent concerns last year, but you may be sure that it hasn't occurred lately. Citizens exclaim delightedly: 'Why, I feel perfectly safe to eat and drink anywhere now. I know that everything's clean.' Think you that they will want to go back to the old regime of non-inspection? Hardly. If they may have anything to say about it, sanitation has come to stay.

"What a glorious thought it is, to make a nation clean and free from contagion! Out of the wreck and horror of this war many blessings will come; and not the least of them the physical purification of America as a result of the augmented training and the broadened vision of the army doctor."—Century Magazine.

Naval Officers' Pay.

An English writer compares the pay of American naval officers with that of similar officers abroad. An American admiral draws, he says, $15,000 a year, while about $9,000 is allotted to the same rank in Great Britain and $4,500 in Germany, and all other grades of officers are paid equally well in proportion.

ADVANCE NOT GENERAL ONE

Religious Publication Points Out Strong and Deplorable Contrasts Existing in Alaska.

The native Alaskan of today is becoming in some sections, an intelligent and progressive factor in the life of the territory. Recently a daughter of the Hydaburg tribe made application for United States citizenship, and after examination was pronounced qualified to exercise intelligently the duties of an elector—the first native woman of Alaska to receive citizenship. Her father is a staunch elder of the Hydaburg Presbyterian church. All through southeastern Alaska, natives are taking up homesteads, organizing villages upon sound civic principles, reading the daily papers, putting telephones and electric lights into their homes—in a word, are proving the value of Christian citizenship.

But there is another side to the picture and the contrast between the unchurched and the Christian Alaskans is distressing. Scores of villages in the Bristol bay region live where no Protestant missionary has ever been, and the one Greek priest who had ministered to the needs of 1,700 people is now dead. The revolution in Russia has cut off the support of Russian missions in Alaska, leaving the spiritual destitution and physical wretchedness of large numbers of these people wholly unrelieved.—The Home Mission Monthly.

Englishmen Discard Gloves.

The silk "topper," as we know, has almost disappeared, except on state occasions. But are men discarding gloves? A walk in Hyde park among the fashionables certainly shows that gloves are carried in the hand rather than worn now, a sure sign that they are "going out." Another indication of this decadence is that the policeman now no longer wears them in the summer, except on some great occasion so much importance was formerly attached to gloves in the metropolitan police that their "order books" prescribed a penalty for not wearing them on the beat. It was one of the greatest trials of the young constable fresh from the farm to have his hands in the cool or abominable thought so essential the days of [illegible] Marine station.

Stomach So Bad

THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE.

CAN EAT ANYTHING NOW.

But for indigestion and dyspepsia, many a life might be a pleasant one.

The misery which stomach troubles cause the sufferer knows only too well and any one who has suffered knows what joy it would give to be able to eat three good meals a day and not be punished for it after.

Nearly everything that enters a weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach right so that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and permanently curing severe cases of indigestion and dyspepsia that other remedies were powerless to reach.

Mr. H. L. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N. B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for two years, and sometimes was so bad I thought I would die. I tried everything I ever heard tell of, and had medicine from three doctors, but continued to grow worse. One day I read of some wonderful cures made with Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles I could eat any kind of food without any bad effects and by the time I had taken four I was in perfect health."

Willing to Salute.

An Irish priest was proudly boasting to his visitor, an English clergyman, of the great respect of his parishioners for their pastor. Strolling along a country road at the time, they met a little boy who was endeavoring to keep in check a large goat. The clergyman passed, but the boy did not raise his hat. "Is that one of your parishioners?" demanded the English clergyman.

"I am sorry to say he is," replied the other. And calling to the boy, he demanded: "Is that the way you are taught to respect your clergy? Why did you not salute?"

The youngster, with both hands on the rope replied: "If your reverence holds this goat I'll salute ye."

To Arouse Interest in Pulleys

People know vaguely that pulleys are used to convey power, but they don't realize that pulleys can be a source of money wasted.

Yet it is a fact that any metal pulley running on the same head at the same speed costs about $9.00 per year more to operate than does a Dodge Wood-Split Pulley.

The light weight, sturdy construction and adhesive surface of the Dodge Wood-Split Pulley insures this greater efficiency.

A New Disease!

Professor Erich Harnack, the famous Jena pharmacist, announces the discovery of a new disease. It is a sort of chronic copper poisoning which may prove fatal. It is caused by bridge work on the teeth. Some of this work which was examined showed that only one-third was gold and the rest other metals, especially copper. This resulted in slow poisoning, nervous collapse and general decay. Professor Harnack warns people against this inferior alloy, saying that it is even more dangerous than pure copper or zinc.—New York Sun.

ROBERT NICHOLS, POET

YOUNG ENGLISH WRITER PAYS VISIT TO CANADA.

He Went Through the War and Lost Many Friends In the Great Conflict. But Now He Will Devote Himself to Literature—A Warm Tribute Paid to the Tommies From the Dominion.

ROBERT NICHOLS, one of those young poets of England who fought, who sang of death and battle, who through the murk of slaughter, saw visions of beauty and hope that saved them from despair, paid a visit to Canada recently. Rupert Brooke, Sorley, Sassoon, Graves, Ledwidge, Nichols, these were the names of some of that famous band. Brooke sleeps his last sleep on a white headland at Scyros, overlooking the Aegean Sea. Ledwidge was killed on the Western front in 1917. Charles Sorley lies in a graveyard in France. Graves was picked up for dead, but he protested: "I'm not dead. I'm d——d if I die!" He wrote a poem about it. And Nichols! He was shell-shocked at Loos, but he lives, too. That is the background.

"On Achi Baba's rock their bones
White, and on Flanders' plain,
But of their travailings and groans
Poetry is born again."

What is he doing on this continent? You are inquisitive? "Skylarking and sometimes growing very tired," he would tell you. Three authors were chosen by the American Society of Letters to represent England at the Lowell Centenary in New York some weeks ago, and he was one. "It was a great honor," he says, "especially when one is only twenty-five." In personal appearance he is slight and tall, with a stoop to his shoulders. His hair is of a chestnut color, and the features bear a striking resemblance to the pictures of John Keats. He is vivacious, an observer, and a thinker. So far, he thinks that we on this continent have masks, not faces. He does not offend in that respect. His humanity and ease are his most noticeable traits.

He was born at Shanklin, Isle of Wight, in 1893. His early education was at Winchester, one of the oldest public schools in England. At the age of twenty he went up to Trinity College, Oxford. One year after that the war broke out: "I never did much at Oxford, except rowdy," he laughed. "I never learnt anything in the schools or colleges. What I got, I got by reading in small hours or walking in the fields. Ah, there was one thing I was interested in at Oxford. I was one of a whole lot of people who were trying to get the inhabitants of our island to realize that there was such a thing as the Empire. I think that one of the really great things that the war has done is to make us all know at least that there is a British Empire.

"When the war came I managed to get into the army by a close pinch; for I am not strong. After I was shell shocked at Loos, in 1917, I was out for seven months. When I did go back I went as a war correspondent, in charge of the records of the Engineers. It was then that I saw the Canadians. I was struck by their tricks and those of the railway men in the Ypres salient. The Canadian Mining Unit displayed more enterprise and courage than any other mining unit in the war, not excepting the Italians.

"At the start I thought there were great differences between the troops of the Dominions and the Old Land. We were pretty narrow-minded before the war. Really, the Englishman is a difficult cuss to get along with. We were very insular; but that is gone now. Our society was not on the down grade, mind, but it was becoming finicky. In the old days if a fellow came up to you and patted you on the back, you would have thought him crude. The war has brought back a hearty sense of companionship. Our manners were simplified by the coming of the overseas Dominion troops. After all, I found out that our way of looking at things was fundamentally the same. We won the war on the same fundamentality that made us victorious in the past; namely, ironic thinking, based on the belief in the efficiency of port, brandy, and beef."

"What I do want to say to Canadians, also, is that, beyond any question, they have the best military records of any army, the best war paintings, especially of the undertakings in the Ypres salient." Mr. Nichols has a knowledge of painting to back up this statement. His father, also, is an artist and art critic, and one of the three trustees of the Wallace collection.

Mr. Nichols hates war. "Don't think anybody is made a poet by being shot at," he says. He doesn't think it is the intensity of emotions during times of war that make poets. The poets are there before the war. After that, it is principally the egoism of the human being. It is the fear that we are going to be snuffed out soon. Every man jack of us thought so.

The great change in poetry since the nineties, he thinks, is its wider distribution. It is no longer the prerogative of the high brows, but something for everybody. It is no longer a thing for people to enjoy while lying around on cushions, but a far more virile, essential thing, such as boating or tennis.

The new poetry differs from the poetry of the nineties in these essential points. It has the desire for action. It has gained a sense of humor. It shows some interest now in the outside world, and is not mainly intent upon its own.

I Regained My Health

And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Will Do as Much for You Under Similar Conditions.

Because we all have nervous systems which get out of order at one time or another it is of vital importance that we know the best means of restoration.

When we get tired and languid, suffer from headaches and irritability, and difficulty in obtaining rest and sleep and begin to feel downhearted and discouraged, it is because the nerves are not obtaining proper nourishment.

Medical treatment must necessarily fail unless it supplies nutrition to the starved and depleted nerves. This is exactly why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven so wonderfully successful. Through the medium of the blood it feeds the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor.

Mrs. S. Meathrel, 23 Hyla street, London, Ont., writes: "About a year ago I had a complete collapse from my nerves. I was taken to the hospital for a treatment, but it did not give me much relief. When I was brought home again, I went to the country for a change of air. I seemed to be a little better while there, but after my return home I did not feel much better. I used to have nervous spells when my limbs would begin to shake, then grow cold, and I would be completely exhausted. I was also troubled with an accumulation of gas on my stomach, which caused palpitation of the heart. At last I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after I had used them for a while, I could see that they were helping me, so I continued using them until I became quite well again. I became real strong and healthy, could sleep well at night, and was able to do my own housework. As I got stronger, the nervous spells disappeared, and I have not had one since."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

A DAINTY LITTLE FROCK FOR THE LITTLE MISS.

2775—You can have this in challie, dotted Swiss or batiste, with a yoke of tucked lawn. The design is nice also for gingham, voile, albatross, or poplin. The sleeve may be finished in wrist or elbow length.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. Size 8 will require 3 5-8 yards of 36-inch material.

Such a Change

in feelings and looks!

"After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of my sex—my eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—I was restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce." So write many women. Changed too in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump.

Druggists sell it in tablets or liquid. It's a woman's best temperance tonic, made from wild roots.

HAMILTON, ONTARIO. — "DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION helped me greatly at the turn of life. I commenced to have heat flashes and dizzy spells and became nervous and run-down. These conditions very quickly left me after I commenced with the 'Favorite Prescription.' I took several bottles of it and truly believe that I owe my good health of to-day to the medicine I took and the care exercised at that trying time."—MRS. ROSSER SMITH, 66 Bay Street, S.

PUBLIC NOW TOLD ALL ABOUT TANLAC

AUTHORITIES NOW SHOW JUST WHAT THIS MEDICINE REALLY IS.

In a recent issue of this paper announcement was made that Tanlac now has the largest sale of any medecine of its kind in the world and that more than twelve million bottles had been sold during the past four years.

These are unusual figures, and the question naturally arises in the mind of the reader why this phenomenal success and why has this preparation so far out-stripped all other medicines of its kind. It is only natural therefore that the manufacturers should offer some explanation to satisfy public interest.

In the first place, Tanlac is manufactured is one of the largest and most modernly equipped laboratories in this country. Its formula is purely ethical and complies with all national and state pure food and drug laws. Altogether there are ten ingredients in Tanlac, each of which is of recognized therapeutic value.

Many of these ingredients have been individually known and used since civilization first began, and some of them have been used and prescribed by leading physicians everywhere, but until they were brought together in proper proportion and association as in the Tanlac formula, humanity had not heretofore realized their full value and effects.

In referring to one of the more important ingredients of Tanlac, the Encyclopedia Britanica says; "It has long been the source of the most valuable tonic medicines that have ever been discovered." In referring to others of the general Therapeutics, a standard medical text book, states that—"they impart general tone and strength to the entire system, including all organs and tissues."

This same well-known authority in describing the physiological action of still another of the ingredients of Tanlac which is of value in treating what is commonly known as "a run-down condition" uses the following expression: "It is highly esteemed in loss of appetite during convalescent from acute, diseases."

There are certain other elements in Tanlac which because of their influence upon the appetite, digestion, assimilation and elimination improve the nutrition and vital activity of all the tissues and organs of the body, and produce that state of general tonicity which is called health.

In discussing another ingredient the Encyclopedia Britanica says:—"It is one of the most efficient of that class of substances which act upon the stomach so as to invigorate digestion and thereby increase the general nutrition. It is used in dyspepsia, chlorosis, anaemia and various other diseases in which the tone of the stomach and alimentary canal is deficient." Concerning still another ingredient this same standard authority says: "It causes dilation of the gastric blood vessels, increases secretion of the gastric juice, and causes greater activity in the movements of the muscular layers in the walls of the stomach, and so may relieve gastric pain."

The United States Dispensatory makes the following comment regarding another ingredient: "It may be used in all cases of pure debility of the digestive organs or where a general tonic impression is required. Dyspepsia, atonic gout hysteria, and intermittent fever are among the many affections in which it has proven useful."

There are certain other ingredients described in the Dispensatory action upon the organs of secretion, whose proper functioning results in the purification of the blood streams through them. In this manner objectionable and poisonous ingredients of the blood are removed, and the entire system is invigorated and vitalized.

Tanlac was designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. At the same time, however, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of the food and the thorough elimination of the waste product must therefore have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system.

Although Tanlac's claims for supremacy are abundantly supported by the world's leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have really made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it, and have told other millions what it has done for them. That is why Tanlac has become the real sensation of the drug trade in this country and that is also why it is the most widely talked-of medicine in the world to-day.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

FOOD AND WAGE STRIKES ARE SPORADIC IN ITALY.

Pay Increase Demanded by 76,000 School Teachers—Two Killed in Riots.

ROME.—There have been sporadic strikes throughout Italy for several weeks past in which the demands have been for a detrease in the hours of labor and increase in wages, while others have been in protest against the high cost of living. The most serious of the strikes has been that of 76,00 school teachers demanding a minimum of $2 daily.

Up to the present time there have been no grave incidents except at Spezia, where a mob protesting against the cost of food sacked several shops. The mob was attacked by the police and troops and offered resistance. In the encounter two persons were killed and about thirty others wounded.

HIGH-CLASS WOMEN WRITERS

Fair Sex Has Taken a Prominent Place in Literature, and in the Production of Plays.

Further signs of the "emancipation" of women are seen on the covers of new books and magazines. The names of women authors, except in the case of war books, where the women are at a disadvantage, seem to outnumber the men. In no class of writing are the women unrepresented. For many years women have been writing novels and doing a good job of it more than occasionally, as readers of Jane Austen, George Eliot, the Brontes and others less known will bear witness. Among contemporaries there are perhaps as many women novelists from whom a skillful and high-class work can be expected as there are men.

Until a few years ago the woman playwright was more or less a rarity. Looking back over the history of the theater it will be difficult for the average person to recall a single feminine name that stands out prominently through connection with the making of plays. Last year several of the most stimulating and interesting plays seen were by women writers. Names of women dramatists on Broadway theater signs are almost as common as those of men.

Paquin Turning Out Army Clothes.

Mme. Paquin, the world-famous modiste, is now making clothing for our army.

Whenever anyone congratulated the late M. Paquin upon his success, and praised those wonderful creations in feminine apparel which the world and his wife flocked to see, he merely replied, "The credit belongs to madame, not to myself."

M. Paquin started life as a bank clerk. Madame was a saleswoman in a big Paris dressmaking house when they married. She induced him to leave the bank and open a small costumer's shop known as the Maison Lelanne. That shop has long ceased to exist, but from it sprang the huge business house of Paquin, which the founder eventually sold to a company with a capital of $2,500,000.

Cattle of Chile.

In Chile it seems to be the custom to let cattle shift for themselves, with the result that many die and others become so weak that tuberculosis and carbuncle work havoc year after year. It is estimated that 30 per cent of the cattle of the country die of contagious diseases, and there has been no organized effort as yet in Chile to meet these conditions.

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates — but no oil — the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.

Bainbridge, N.Y.

"My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.

Williamson, W. Va.

"My little boy was weak, puny, and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children."—Harley Clay.

SPANISH ORDER FOR THE PRINCE

When peace is proclaimed, it is the intention of the King of Spain to bestow the Order of the Golden Fleece upon the Prince of Wales. It is hoped that the ceremony will take place on the occasion of the birthday of His Royal Highness next month. In former days this decoration ranked third in importance among the Orders of Europe, being surpassed only by the Garter and the Black Eagle of Prussia. Until the recent deposition of the Emperor of Austria this monarch, as well as the King of Spain, claimed the right to create Knights of the Golden Fleece, as both monarchs are descended from Philip the Just of Burgundy, who founded this Order. The decoration is a very handsome one. The full dress of the Order is very striking, though it is many years since last this was worn even in Spain. Like our own Garter the Golden Fleece is reserved entirely for royal personages and nobles of the highest rank. Later in the year it is expected that the Prince of Wales will receive the Order of the Danebrog from the King of Denmark.

HATLESS WOMEN NEXT.

Fair Sex's Very Latest Craze.

Are women going without hats in the near future? Already it is a craze which is rapidly increasing. Of course, in many theatres for a long time it has been compulsory for ladies to remove their hats, and because of that many go to the theatre wearing only a net over their heads.

Lady Rhondda, Miss Mary McArthur and Miss Susan Lawrence, among famous women speakers, have joined the no-hat brigade when speaking on public platforms. In many of the law courts women witness now give their evidence hatless, while at picture palaces, at race courses, and at other places of amusement, both indoor and outdoor, more and more women are taking up the new craze and going about hatless.

There's one place, however, where women must wear their hats and that is in church. This is, of course, because of the word of St. Paul, and very few clergymen indeed would let a woman come to church without her head covered.

RUSSIA'S RAILWAY GAUGE.

It Was Made Narrow to Lessen the Danger of Invasion.

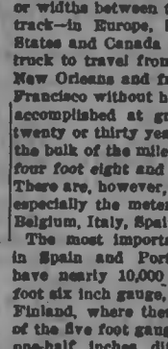
There are several railway gauges—or widths between the two rails of the track—in Europe, but in the United States and Canada it is possible for a truck to travel from Prince Rupert to New Orleans and from Quebec to San Francisco without hindrance. This was accomplished at great expense some twenty or thirty years ago. In Europe the bulk of the mileage is the standard four foot eight and a half inch gauge. There are, however, some other gauges, especially the meter gauge in France, Belgium, Italy, Spain and Portugal.

The most important exceptions are in Spain and Portugal, where they have nearly 10,000 miles of the five foot six inch gauge, and in Russia and Finland, where there are 30,000 miles of the five foot gauge. This three and one-half inches difference from the standard was adopted by the Russian government to avoid the dangers of invasion.

The only connection between France and Spain is at Irun, on the Biscayan coast, but the Pyrenees are now being pierced at more than one place, and a question of conforming the gauge of Spain and Portugal to that of the bulk of Europe has arisen.—Engineering Record.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.



Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

Sloth and Diligence.

Sloth said to Diligence: "You work too hard. For two days now you have been busy plowing that field. I hear ingenuity has invented a plow driven by steam. Why not get one to plow for you while you sit with me in the shade and enjoy life?"

Diligence bought the plow which would plow a field in a fraction of the time it had taken him to do it. But instead of sitting in the shade he put more land into cultivation, and it took all his time to attend to the plow and see that it worked properly.

When harvest time came he had more to do than ever on account of the new land he had cultivated.

Harvest over, Sloth went to pay Diligence a visit, saying to himself, "Now he will have a little more time to talk to me." But he found him conferring with Ingenuity in regard to a larger, more powerful plow, that he might next season put still more land in cultivation.

Moral.—There is no cure for diligence.

Pigs as Watchdogs.

In some parts of Mexico the wild hogs, which the natives call jabalis (hah-bah-lees), savage beasts in their natural state, are used at watchdogs. If they are caught young and brought up with goats they will go out into the hills with the herd and fight off coyotes or other wild animals; if they are raised with chickens they will protect them, and round a ranch house at night they are as useful as any dog.

Although fierce by nature, they can be tamed until they follow their master round like a dog. The landlord of a hotel in one of the border towns even keeps one of the wild hogs as a playmate for his baby son.

The jabali is only first cousin, however, to the domestic pig. Swine are divided into two main branches. In one line is the farmer's pig, descended from the wild hog of Europe, and in the other is the jabali, which is really a peccary. But the jabali is quite "piggy" enough with his small flexible snout, long mottled bristles and long sharp tusks.

Ways of the Butcher Bird.

Some call it the butcher bird, but the real name is shrike. It is one of the oddest birds we have, because it represents a creature that is changing its type. Should you happen to walk through the country and come across a thorn tree with a small garter snake or a mouse impaled on a spike you may know that a shrike is around. Originally the bird was insectivorous and spent its time eating grasshoppers and such like. Somehow it got a taste of mouse or perhaps a smaller bird that it killed in a fight. It liked the meal, and naturally the bill of fare was extended to include mice, snakes and lizards. Very foxy is the shrike. It had no talons to tear its prey apart, so it hit on the plan of impaling the victim upon a thorn, where it could dine leisurely and on the installment plan. The butcher bird is about nine inches long and looks something like a mocking bird.

LOSING DELIGHT IN BEAUTY

Writer Bemoans "Degradation of the Arts," Which He Asserts is Going on Today.

All the arts but one, says Layton Crippon in his book, "Clay and Fire," show degradation today, in many cases degradation so great that they have virtually ceased to exist. We have not only forgotten how to make beautiful things, but we have even acquired an instinctive dislike of beautiful things. They seem to have become offensive to us.

"There was recently one curious little instance to which I am tempted to refer, showing as it did, that in our present state of degradation beauty is not only ignored, but has actually become offensive, causing instinctive dislike. The St. Gaudens ten and five-dollar gold pieces were undoubtedly the noblest coins produced in any country in 200 years. Within a couple of months the American public had howled them out of circulation.

"The explanation was afterward made that the coins were disliked because the relief was inconveniently high, but the original outcry was against the design and only the design of these exquisite examples of die cutting. But America has no monopoly of this instinctive hatred of beauty. It was exemplified in the vandalism that was common all over Europe, the destruction of ancient and glorious buildings, usually without valid excuse."

ONE OF WAR'S GREAT DEEDS

Crossing of St. Quentin Canal by British Troops Conceded to Be Remarkable Exploit.

Probably one of the most remarkable exploits of the war was the crossing of the St. Quentin canal by a brigade of South Stafford and North Stafford (British) troops in the course of the advance on Cambrai. The canal is a landmark in the country for miles around because of its dimensions, and just where the crossing was effected the waterway runs for some distance between very steep and high banks covered in some parts by dense low brushwood. That the crossing was made by such a large number of men and so expeditiously is a remarkable tribute to the determination of the men and to the forethought of their commanders. It is related that their commanding officer had sent down to a channel port and had had seat up to the line for the occasion all the lifebelts of one of the well-known cross-channel steamers. It was this measure of precaution which was the means of enabling many men to cross before foot-bridges could be constructed and which was the main contributing factor in the success of the operation.

Tact Saved the Situation.

The newly created English high commissioner in Siberia, Sir Charles Eliot, has served in official capacities in Russia, Turkey, Bulgaria, Serbia, Morocco and the United States. His task in Siberia is a delicate one, but tact is Sir Charles' strong point.

When vice chancellor of Sheffield university Sir Charles created amusement by a remark he made at a university dinner. "Of the changes of the past year," he said, "the one which strikes me most and pleases me most is that every day as I take my walk in the university corridors I see young ladies walking about in gowns." And there he stopped, but the roar of laughter caused him to continue: "In academic gowns, which look most picturesque."

Memory Courses.

J. Leonard Replogle, the government's official steel buyer, was an errand boy at fourteen and a millionaire at thirty-five.

"Work is the secret of success," said Mr. Replogle in a Y. M. C. A. address. "I don't take much stock in fads and efficiency courses and so on as success helps.

"A clerk said to me the other day: 'I expect to make a success of my life at last. I'm taking one of those memory courses. It's a magnificent thing.'

"'What's the name of the course?' said I.

"'Darned if I can remember the name,' said the clerk in a vexed voice.'"

Non-Combatant Tanks.

Not all army tanks are destructive of human life. Those of the sanitary corps are dangerous only to germs. The necessity of eradicating these from the drinking water of the soldiers has been met by the organization of purification units or mobile water trains. These consist of a number of heavy motor trucks, each of which is a complete filtration plant in itself, including a laboratory for testing. They are equipped to both filter and chemically purify the water, which may be pumped up from a river bed or any convenient source. Attached to each train are a number of simple tank trucks used for storage or transportation of the purified water.

In Memory of French Heroes.

It is believed that with the close of the war the entire line of trenches in France, extending from Alsace to the Belgian border, may be converted into a sort of national sacred forest as a permanent tribute to the memory of the French "Poilus," who died there defending their native soil. A proposition to this effect has been prepared by the general council of the department of the Meuse and will be submitted to not only France, but the entire world.

Library Humors.

Little Girl—Please, miss, mother wants to know if you've got "The Four Horses in the Apocalypse."

Our Great Crops.

Cotton is not the king of our crops. The corn crop of the country in 1918 was worth $1,602,092,000, while the cotton crop for the same year was worth $797,841,000. The hay crop ran cotton a pretty close race, selling for $797,077,000. Wheat comes a close third to cotton, $610,124,000, while all the other products are well in the rear. The number of bales of cotton raised in 1918 was 13,077,000—500 pounds to the bale.

The Kit Carson Tree.

The famous old elm tree in Riverside park at Halstead, which is becoming noted as one of the objects of interest along the Santa Fe trail by reason of its connection with the life of the famous old Indian fighter and scout, Kit Carson, has been suitably labeled by the placing of an attractive metal sign on it with this inscription: "The Historic Kit Carson Tree."—Kansas City Journal.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

HIS GAME OF PATIENCE

It Took a Long Time to Win, but He Succeeded.

By GERTRUDE DELANCEY.

Old Captain Blanding had two absorbing passions in life—his love for whist and his love for his daughter Thais.

It was wonderful how many young men were willing to pass their evenings at the captain's house playing with him. He was a wary old opponent and all but invincible.

The young men came by twos and threes in their best tailor made suits, with posies in their buttonholes. Often they brought offerings to the captain's daughter.

Thais accepted the gifts and the too evident good will indifferently. Sometimes when a fourth hand was needed at whist she lent her aid. Otherwise she betook herself to the parlor and practiced as diligently as if there was not a man in the house.

Aunt Letty, Captain Blanding's widowed sister, kept house for him and mothered his otherwise motherless daughter. She was a gentle soul, large hearted and small minded, who made the best doughnuts in town. By the aid of her smiles and her cakes she encouraged eligible men to frequent the captain's house, hoping that some one of them would prove acceptable to Thais.

Thais' name had been given her because of an early fondness of her father for Greek literature. Thais, despite her name, did not lean toward scholarly achievement. She was a butterfly, very beautiful to look at and very difficult to catch.

She had read a little poetry and very many romances where the heroines were all beautiful like herself and the heroes proved their devotion by astounding deeds of valor. These men, who sat evening after evening with bits of red and black pasteboard between them, evidently lacked every heroic quality.

When one by one these timid adorers laid his heart at her feet she promptly trampled upon it and sent him away smarting.

When after a few evenings he did not again appear the old captain would wonder mildly what kept him away. Sometimes he asked the victim and received a stammered excuse.

By the time the young man's place at the card table was filled the captain had ceased to remember him.

It was Sheldon King who brought many scarfs to the house for the first time. Billy was a newcomer in Kensington and wholly unacquainted. He was a little fellow with hair of no particular shade of brown, a square, plain face and blue eyes behind glasses. He had no stories to tell, no jokes to raise a laugh, and he had never handled cards before in his life.

It took him the entire evening to learn to play a little, but he applied his mind to it with a will, and when he went away the captain slapped him on the shoulder and told him he would make a player if he kept at it. The captain always said that to the defeated, who sometimes chewed their lips over it bitterly.

The captain conceived a great liking for Billy, and they spent many evenings together. By spring Billy had learned all the games the captain knew and could even beat him at some of them.

He came obviously for the captain's sake alone, for he brought no offerings to Thais. He had his own way to make and an invalid sister to maintain at an expensive sanitarium. This much he told the captain and was forever after silent about his affairs.

Sheldon King presently, having had his wings badly singed at the candle of Thais' indifference, ceased to be seen at the captain's card table. But Billy came unfailingly. The captain was delighted with him.

Here at last was a man who did not play to one's humor, who bent one unmercifully if he could or was beaten without showing the white feather.

The second winter Billy's sister died. He stayed away two months, and the captain openly [illegible] Thais one evening Billy appeared with a box of the captain's favorite cigars. The captain fairly wept for joy at sight of him and shook his hand twenty times.

He called Thais to see who had come. Thais came, started by the clamor and a little disgusted when she found only Billy. She gave him a cool little hand and a cool little smile and a cool little phrase of welcome, then returned to the piano and Chaminade. She did not understand Billy, who brought flowers to her father instead of bonbons to her.

Two years went by. The circle about the captain's card table had changed many times and had dwindled to an occasional widower, silly Tom Pike and Billy. One by one the other young men had mended their hearts and offered them good as new elsewhere.

The votive offerings that now came to Thais' shrine were far less frequent. Billy brought her nothing at all, but it was wonderful how many little things he found to present the captain with. He even gave Aunt Letty a beautiful crochet hook with a chased gold handle.

Years passed and passed very slowly for Thais. Chaminade had ceased to charm her, and she missed the excitement of past adoration. Mr. Sweet had gone away, and Tom Pike, in despair of winning Thais, had married a woman easier to woo. There were no new lovers forthcoming, for Thais was now generally labeled dangerous. Moreover, she had ceased to be the beauty of the time.

She had reached a very trying period of her life, being too old to go in the young set, too young to go in the old set and prohibited by reason of her maidenhood from entering the married set.

Her dreams did not, as in the past, satisfy her. Her hero, the ideal of her imaginings, had not come. She believed now he never would come. She began to sigh when she looked in the glass. Sometimes she saw herself quite old, sitting at table pouring tea for Aunt Letty or playing cards with her father and having no interest in life beyond these two daily duties.

Thais' ideas of life were changing. She discovered that Billy Smith had a good forehead and mouth and that his hair looked better with gleams of gray in it.

Billy still came to the house as unfailingly as ever. He was almost the only single man who did come. Unconsciously almost she began to look forward to his visits, and he often found her shuffling cards against his arrival.

Billy had brightened wonderfully in these later years. He told stories and jokes and the amusing gossip of the town. He was earning a large salary and was much sought by mothers with marriageable daughters. But for some reason he continued to be free and to play cards at the captain's.

One evening he found Thais alone. She begged him rather shyly to stay, and he stayed. They sat down at the card table, and Billy dealt the pack for pedro. They played as for dear life, scarcely speaking. Then by means of a lucky ace Billy won.

He looked across at Thais, but her eyes were down. Something in her face, however, lent him courage, and he caught her hands, which were absently engaged with the cards.

"Thais!" He commanded. She looked at him.

"I win!" he said triumphantly.

"Yes," she faltered.

"It has taken a long time," he said presently. "Thais, I have never given you a present. But I have one for you which I have carried with me constantly for several years. May I give it to you now?"

"Yes," Thais said meekly.

When he had put the ring upon her finger he leaned forward and kissed her.

"It has been a long game," he said, "and one that required lots of patience and determination. You see, dearest, I fell in love with you the first time I saw you, and I made up my mind to have you, God willing. The only way I could make myself welcome here was to play cards. So I played. You'll never ask me to play cards with you after we are married, will you, dear?"

"Why not?" asked Thais wonderingly.

"Because I loathe them and have loathed them since the first game I ever learned."

"Oh, Billy!" Thais said.

And then and there she realized that the man of her heart was indeed, after all, a hero.

Light Without Heat.

Considerable progress toward realizing one of the dreams of the physicists and chemists—cold light—has been made by Professor W. D. Bancroft, of the University of Pennsylvania. The firefly has been his example. He has worked out the idea by burning mercury electrolytically under water in a solution of bromide potassium. The result is a brilliant orange light, with scarcely any heat. The experiment has been demonstrated before the chemical society and received wide indorsement.

Deserts St. Pierre.

St. Pierre, with its 30,000 inhabitants, destroyed by the eruption of Mount Pelee, has never been rebuilt. This city is as barren as an abandoned granite quarry, and reminds the visitor of Pompeii. Even yet the ruins are being searched for valuables, although the place is still under police control. Two or three streets have been excavated and some half dozen temporary buildings erected; but otherwise little has been done.

Take Along a Hammer.

She—Have you been up to break bread with the new bride and groom yet? He—No! I'm not feeling very strong.

The virtue of prosperity is temperance. The virtue of adversity is fortitude.

To Control Jute Trade.

It is understood that the English government is to keep control of the flax trade during the next season, and that it purposes to give greater facilities for the export of yarns and cloth, as well as to deal liberally with requests for permits, etc., for the home market.

Meantime the surprisingly heavy increase in the price of raw materials has made all quotations nominal. There being only one seller in Russia now, the government has had to pay what may be called an exorbitant rate for the fiber.

Changes are also rapidly developing in jute-goods trading arrangements. The granting of grading permits and export licenses has been put on a different footing. More encouragement will be accorded to the shipment of yarns until it is found that this is interfering with the weaving of cloth for home outlets.

Heart Palpitted

Could Count Every Beat

When the heart begins to palpitate, it will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over your whole system, accompanied by weak, fainting and dizzy spells.

When the heart gets into this condition, you become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social, business or household duties.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief to all sufferers from any heart weakness or nerve derangements.

Mrs. Walter Greives, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"I had been run down, and doctors told me I was anaemic, but did not help me with their medicines. I could not sleep nights, my heart palpitated so, and I could count every beat.

I used to have such dizzy spells I would have to go to bed. I was not able to do any work for eight months. A cousin of mine had taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and told me what they had done for her. I took eight boxes of them, and now I am able to help every day with the work. I am so thankful to tell others what they have done for me, so that they may try this great and wonderful remedy. I hope this may prove good to some one who is suffering the way I did."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

STRAWBERRY-TIME!
A TEST FOR SUGAR!

NEXT time you have Berries for breakfast, serve DOMINION CRYSTAL Powdered Sugar with them. Note how fine it is. "Never," you will admit, has fruit tasted so luscious."

Then try DOMINION CRYSTAL Granulated Sugar for your strawberry preserves. Note how quickly it dissolves—how completely its concentrated sweetness enriches the acid flavor of the fruit.

"DOMINION CRYSTAL" is the only Sugar that may rightly be called "Canadian from the ground up." We do import the finest of raw cane sugar and refine it. But our pride is in the product we make from Canadian Sugar Beets. Note its fine granulation—its clear, sparkling, perfectly-formed crystals. Use it this Summer for all preserving and jelly-making. Your Grocer believes in it—he likely has it in the 20 lb. bags, as well as in the larger bags and in barrels.

DOMINION SUGAR COMPANY LIMITED, CHATHAM

Write for our Beautiful Book—"Sugar from Beet to Bowl." It tells the interesting story of Dominion Crystal Sugar and explains how we make it in our modern and splendidly equipped refineries at Wallaceburg, Chatham and Kitchener.

HONOR IS GIVEN TO ITALY

Pisa and Venice Proved to Have Sent Explorers to River Niger Four Hundred Years Ago.

The director of the French school in Rome, Monsignor Duchesne, has sent the president of the Royal Italian Geographical society a letter which accompanies a brief note, most interesting to us, regarding the discovery of the narrative of a journey in central Sudan at the time when the republics of Pisa and Venice had stipulated with the sultan of Maghreb for special treaties in which he conceded to the Italians the right to pass through central Africa on the Niger.

The letter says:

"I write to inform you of an interesting discovery made by Charles de la Roncière, curator of prints in the national library of Paris and author of important books on the French navy. The discovery restores to Italy the honor of having visited and described the African regions of Tuat and the Niger four centuries before the explorations of Rohlf and Chaillé, the first a German and the last a Frenchman."

The account given of Tuat in 1447 is signed by an Italian by the name of Antonio Malfante and is directed to the Genoese Giovanni Mariono. He was the first Christian to penetrate to that oasis.—Italian American News Bureau.

Cost of a Horse.

It costs on an average $104.06 to raise a horse to the age of three years on the farms of Indiana and those of other states. This price has been carefully figured by experts of the department of agriculture, who based their figures on those furnished by 10,000 correspondents scattered throughout the country.

New Mexico can raise horses cheaper than the other states, or at an average price of $69.50. In Massachusetts the raising of colts is more expensive than in any other state, the average horse at three years representing an investment of $141.99.

Not to Be Repeated.

Shakespeare's contention that "there was never a philosopher who could endure the toothache patiently" was disproved by Canon Liddon. After an experience that would have closed the mouths of most of us, Liddon found it possible to write to a friend: "I have been quite laid up with trouble with my few remaining teeth, of which I had five taken out the day before yesterday. As only four remain, this particular experience cannot be repeated in this present life." This is a classic instance of the triumph of philosophy over pain.—London Globe.

The Atlantic Coast.

The eastern edge of the North American continent is overflowed by the sea, and that is why the water near the coast is so shallow. To find the true edge of the great continental land mass one would have to travel something like eighty miles due eastward from New York.

PRICE OF FOODSTUFFS IN WINNIPEG HAVE NOW REACHED DIZZY HEIGHT

CITIZENS IN WINNIPEG ARE LIVING UNDER DIFFICULT CONDITIONS.

TELEPHONE SERVICE BAD

WINNIPEG, June 17. — Mayor Gray, who buoyed up the spirits of the people on Friday night, with the public announcement that he had hopes of important developments within 24 hours, has failed to make any statement and nothing short of the settlement of the strike will appease the anxiety on both sides. The Citizens' Committee is staying with their task of letting things simmer and the prediction is made from time to time that a break in the ranks of workers back to their old jobs is about here. But the unions are holding together well; there is no scavenging, no street cleaning, no break, milk or ice are delivered to the homes, but all these necessaries can be obtained with some trouble at the schools, although the milk tastes like the powder variety.

Parks Are Without Flowers.

The streets are uncleaned, parks have no flowers in unkept beds, boulevard grass is uncut, food prices are mounting up to almost unreachable heights as there are no freight or express shipments coming in and no slaughtering in the abattoirs. No policemen are on the streets and many store robberies are reported. How the city has escaped fires and the serious operations of thugs is a miracle. Light and power from the electric plants are furnished by volunteers directed by a few loyal employes and officials. Gas has not yet been interfered with and high pressure water to supply storeys in blocks is also kept up by the help of volunteers.

Telephone Service Bad.

Telephone connection is secured under trying circumstances and requires much patience on the part of subscribers. The rural service is practically out of commission, as far as Winnipeg is concerned. Letters received from day to day at the postoffice are distributed, but there are many thousands of bags that came in earlier in the strike that have not been touched. Second and third class mail matter is not handled at all. No eastern or western Canadian papers have been received since the strike opened, but the slowness of the inexperienced staff is accountable for this. Besides the system of distribution, as it is practised in Toronto, is being introduced to make it easier for the new men to catch up with the work. This does not make it necessary for the new employes to know local names of streets or citizens in order to become proficient. The theatres are doing fifty per cent of normal business and the stores about 30 to 50 per cent. of their old trade. The mail order houses, of which there are fully a dozen are practically out of business, except in rare instances.

Looks Like Hard Winter.

How the people who are on strike are going to get through the long cold winter which never fails to pay an annual visit is discussed with concern on every hand. It takes the average family man's savings in summer to see him through a Manitoba winter. Many will surely be in want.

The country people are becoming very bitter against the strike leaders, for great stocks of eggs and butter are tied up all over the country, with only primitive methods to keep them being at hand. Much of this produce is being lost to the local cold storage houses, but Pat Burns of Calgary, is securing great quantities throughout Saskatchewan that would ordinarily come into Winnipeg.

Flour mills are working three days a week and all other industries, large and small, including great printing plants are idle.

Senator Robertson is less talkative when approached this visit than on the former occasion. He is more serious and holds conferences every few hours with Premier Norris, General Ketchen and Alfred Andrews, K.C., Committee. Sunday was as a day in ordinary times.

If by accident soot should be dropped on the carpet, cover it thickly with salt, then both may easily be swept up.

ALCOCK'S HOME BESIEGED.

Crowds Stand in Line to Shake Hands With Pilot's Mother.

LONDON, June 17. — The Manchester home of John Alcock, pilot of the Vickers-Vimy biplane, was besieged by visitors Monday, the callers standing in line to shake hands with Capt. Alcock's mother. She said, during the day: "I had faith in my son. He told me he would make the flight safely."

To Grow Hair On Bald Heads

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine

Thousands of people suffer from baldness, and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless, the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair, to its original color stopping hair from falling out, and destroying hair dro mfalling outhdrl ll stroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces, Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces, Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

MOVED A MILLION TROOPS

C.N.R. Shifts Soldiers at a Cost of $10 to $15 a Head.

Troop movements on the Canadian National Railways from August, 1914, until May 31 last, cost the Government between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000. The total number of troops moved in all camp and seaport transfers east of Winnipeg was 1,168,021.

FAME FROM ONE PLAY.

Brandon Thomas Also Got a Fortune Out of "Charley's Aunt."

There recently died in London's man who for the last twenty years had made more persons laugh than any other one man, and even after his death he will continue to throw thousands into paroxysms of mirth. This man was Brandon Thomas. The name itself is not familiar to the millions who have been amused by him, for it is only as the author of "Charley's Aunt" that Mr. Thomas achieved such widespread fame.

No other play has ever achieved anything like the success enjoyed by this famous farce, which brought its author a fortune and which, after more than twenty years, is still popular. It has had more than 300,000 performances. When it was first produced at the Royalty theater in London it ran four years, being played 1,400 times consecutively. This record has not been surpassed by any play. It has been played all over the world, including South America, China and Japan, and has been translated into eighteen languages. At least 800 actors and actresses have acted in the play in England alone. And since W. S. Penley first appeared in the title role there have been innumerable Charley's Aunts, including some of the most famous comedians on the stage.

Mr. Thomas himself played the part of Sir Francis Chesney when the play was first produced, Dec. 21, 1892, and he played the part at the Christmas revivals in London annually until a year or two ago.—Kansas City Star.

The Aeroplane Stabilizer.

Elmer A. Sperry, winner of the $50,000 prize offered by the French war department for a stabilizer which makes aeroplane flying safe, is an American, a resident of New York. The test was made at Paris. The inventor first attracted wide attention in this country by a gyroscopic compass, which is now used by the warships of a number of nations. It is asserted that his latest invention makes aeroplanes safe under almost any circumstances.

Paris Playhouses.

The receipts for the theaters and music halls of Paris have just been published. These statements are required by law in view of the poor relief tax levied on these earnings. The figures, states the Paris correspondent of the London Times, have never been as high as they are for last year—nearly $12,263,000. They exceed by $583,000 the record established in 1913 and by $1,946,000 the returns for 1911. The increase is due principally to the takings of cinematograph shows. These establishments in 1913 earned $1,655,000 as compared with $1,814,000 the year before.

Novel Gold Mining.

A novel method of gold "mining" has come to light at a deserted mining camp near Wickes, Mont. To be exact, it is the remains of what was once a thriving village at the Gregory mine. It has developed that the sand used in plastering the houses came from tailings ponds rich in gold. Now that the camp is failing to decay the old cottages are being torn down and the plaster carefully saved and shipped to the East Helena smelter.—Argonaut.

Woman Threatens Suit Against Druggist Because He Sold Her Substitute For Nuxated Iron

Case Is Brought To Attention of Physicians Who Warn Public

Say That Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same Strength Power and Endurance as Organic Iron — Nuxated Iron.

With the threat to sue her druggist because he sold her a substitute for genuine Nuxated Iron, the tonic, strength and blood builder, who seems has been in active a wave of indignation over this country against a practice which offers such countless dangers to the health and welfare of the public. This woman claims that instead of obtaining increased strength and improved health as she had with the true Nuxated Iron, she was seriously upset and in fact became ill as a result of using the substitute. Such instances as these have led physicians mentioned below to emphasize that health officials and doctors everywhere should caution the public against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron. Those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder should go to their family doctors and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and protect this to their druggist so that there may be no question about obtaining the proper article. But if they do not wish to go to the trouble of getting a prescription for Nuxated Iron then they should be sure to look on the label and see that the words NUXATED IRON are printed thereon.

There are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron and such persons often fail to obtain the vital energy, strength and endurance which they seek simply because they have taken the wrong form of iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained.

Nuxated Iron is sold in this city by all druggists and by the following druggists: [illegible] and all other druggists.

ANOTHER FAILURE

BIG TORONTO CORPORATION CLOSED ITS DOORS—THE LIABILITIES.

UNUSUAL METHODS

(Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, June 19.— There are approximately 2,250 shareholders registered on the lists of the defunct Standard Reliance Mortgage Co. Most of the sums are in two figures, ranging from $200 to $1,000, although there are some as high as $6,000, but these are the exceptions. The explanation is that a number of smaller companies were incorporated with the Reliance Co. from time to time and these small shareholders were transferred to the larger one. It is noticeable that they are scattered all over the province. The shareholders of the Dovercourt Land Building and Savings Co. on the other hand are few in number and most of them are residents of Toronto.

When the Standard Reliance Mortgage Corporation closed its doors yesterday afternoon, and an order for winding up was granted by Mr. Justice Masten on the request of the directors, there was seen the result of heavy speculation in Toronto and suburban lands by a subsidiary company, the failure of which came with the war and the collapse of the city's real estate boom.

A Serious Failure.

It is one of the most serious financial failures in years, with liabilities of about $5,000,000 and assets which it is hoped will, by careful nursing, ultimately meet the claims of the depositors and debenture holders. More conservative financiers in the city last night, while deploring the occurrence, spoke of the methods of the company as being unusual, and thought the event gave no cause for anxiety on the general situation. Though loan companies are not permitted to buy and sell lands, this company had, they said, violated at least the spirit of the law by carrying on a large business of this kind through the agency of the Dovercourt Land Company, a subsidiary corporation, whose stock was owned by the Standard Reliance.

ANOTHER BILL GOES TO TORONTO

A Million Dollar Terminal Elevator to be Erected.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, June 19.—The Agricultural committee of the House having brought in a recommendation that an item not exceeding $1,000,000 be placed in the estimate and made available for the construction of an interior terminal elevator in Ontario.

Mayor Church is in the Capital today urging that Toronto be chosen as the site. He saw Hon. F. B. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. A. K. Maclean, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and urged that the report of the committee be adopted. He told the Examiner that the prospects were very bright and that Toronto was likely to be chosen.

WAR TAX WENT TO UNITED STATES

Returned Soldiers Given Preference No Government Positions.

Canadian Press:

OTTAWA, June 19.—That the new Parliament Buildings will soon be ready for occupation was indicated today at the morning session when a committee was appointed to confer with the Senate Committee regarding the allocation of space in the new building.

Answering a question of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Hon. Martin Burrell declared that returned soldiers were given every opportunity in the matter of obtaining Government positions.

W. F. Maclean (Toronto) urged the Government to enact legislation to control essential minerals. He declared that the International Nickel Company, which controls the nickel output at Sudbury, paid recently to the United States Government three millions in war tax which should have come to Canada.

PROHIBITION BILL WILL TERMINATE WITH SIGNING OF THE PEACE DOCUMENT

RED CHAMBER AGAIN DEFIES COMMONS—LATTER HOUSE MAY REFUSE TO CONCUR IN AMENDMENT AND BRING ABOUT ANOTHER DEADLOCK.

THE OPEN BAR

Ottawa June 19. — John Barleycorn dies hard. After taking the count in the House of Commons, he has been given a new lease of life in the Senate. Which, being interpreted means that the Upper Chamber of the Canadian Parliament yesterday afternoon refused to make prohibition effective until the signing of peace and for 12 months thereafter. By a vote of 34 to 24 the Senate decided that orders in council prohibiting the importation, manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquor shall terminate upon the signing of peace.

Excitement in Corridors.

The action was taken upon an amendment introduced by Senator De Veber of Alberta to strike out the words prohibiting for an extension of the prohibition period for 12 months after the termination of the war. The Senate did not divide on party lines, many Government, Senators helping to carry the amendment moved by the Liberal Senator De Veber, and as the chairman declared the amendment carried, one Opposition Senator asked, "Will the Government resign?" The decision of the Senate caused great excitement in the corridors, the news travelling like wildfire. It was hailed with satisfaction by the worshippers at the shrine of Bacchus, who jocularly referred to the Upper Chamber as the "bulwark of our liberties."

Commons may not Concur.

In the opinion of a leading member of the Cabinet the Senate amendment destroys the prohibition measure. The orders in council previously passed under the war measures act, one year after the war. It is considered that the House of Commons would refuse to concur in the Senate amendment.

The Situation in Quebec.

If the prohibition bill is defeated it means that they cannot manufacture light wines and light beers until the war is over as the existing prohibition order in council prohibits such manufacture. Quebec recently voted overwhelmingly in favor of beer and wine.

Claim it Brings back all but the Open Bar.

"It makes it very, very bad for Ontario. It takes the liquor traffic out of the hands of the government, and puts it in the hands of everybody."

This is in a few words the view of Toronto temperance workers expressed last night after they had heard that the Upper Chamber of the Canadian Parliament had refused to make prohibition effective until the signing of peace and for twelve months afterwards.

Says the Senate won't Get Support.

OTTAWA, June 19. — Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council, who steered the prohibition bill through the House of Commons stated that the effect of the Senate's action is to weaken the effect of the order in council passed under the War Measures Act. He does not believe that the Commons will concur in the action of the Senate, and it is expected that the bill will be returned to the Senate in its former condition.

Methodist Conference Asks to have Senate Abolished.

A telephone message received by the Methodist conference shortly before midnight, informing them that the Senate had amended the bill passed by the House of Commons, prolonging the life of the prohibition legislation throughout the Dominion for one year, caused much indignation in their ranks. A resolution, moved by Rev. J. Coburn of Midland, was unanimously carried, condemning in strong terms the action of the Senate, and advising the House of Comons to take drastic action either to have the Senate reformed or abolished in order that the will of the chosen representatives of the people might not be trampled under foot by a body having no direct responsibility to the electorate.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, June 19.—Leading prohibitionists here express confidence that the House of Commons will fight the Senate in connection with the action yesterday of the Upper Chamber in amending the bill prohibiting the importation, manufacture and interprovincial transportation of alcoholic liquors, so as to make the prohibition end when peace is signed instead of twelve months thereafter as legislated by the Commons. Many representative bodies, such as the local Methodist conference, are clamouring for the abolition of the Senate, but others are depending on the declaration of Hon. N. W. Rowell, that the Commons will send the amended bill back to the Senate with the demand that it be reconsidered. It is pointed out that the attendance in the Upper Chamber when the measure was amended was not large, and reconsideration and another vote might bring about a different result.

The effect this amendment will have on the coming referendum in Ontario is a matter of speculation. If the bill as amended is allowed to stand, and peace is signed in the meantime, it is argued that voters who otherwise would vote for prohibition will not do so if the Dominion Government permits this province to be flooded with liquor from other provinces or from the United.

THE QUESTION IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

June 14—Is it a fact that the Government is paying 39 1-2 cents an hour to labourers on the Trent Canal, in the vicinity of Peterborough, while the current rate for the same district and work is universally 45 cents per hour?

Answer.

1—The rates of wages now paid on the Trent Canal in the Peterborough district—for casual labour—30 cents per hour; Permanent labour, $2.60 per day.

The Department of Railways and Canals has no information showing that the current rate for this district is 45 cents per hour. The question of increase in wages is now under consideration by the Department.

G. O. BELL.
Deputy Minister.

MEDICAL OPINION ON LATEST EPIDEMIC

SMALLPOX SCARE CAUSES VACANCY IN HOSPITAL STAFF.

No new victims of the supposed smallpox epidemic have been reported to-day, and so far only three placards have been posted. Several cases where the symptoms have been the same as those of the patients who have been placarded have been discovered, and in two cases the spots have already dried up. The symtoms themselves differ considerably in so much taht the spots, which resemble warts, have been literally covered. The latter symtom is said by the authorities to be an almost infallible indication of smallpox. Each case has occurred in a different part of the town dispelling any hint that the epidemic arose from unsanitary conditions.

Doctors Differ.

While the Medical Officer of Health is following out the instructions of the Provincial authorities in taking every precaution in isolating all suspected cases the doctors in the city are inclined to disagree about the symptoms, some taking a serious view of them, others inclined to consider them a skin disease. One doctor remarked that in his opinion it is not chicken pox and not smallpox, but something that remains to be diagnosed. There is no certainty as yet that the disease is smallpox.

Caretaker Leaves.

As a result of the scare the cook and caretaker of the Isolation Hospital have left their positions, refusing to mix up in anything that looked like smallpox.

EMPLOYEES SUE FOR BACK WAGES

ASE HEARD IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING.

In a wage case this morning before Magistrate Dumble, of the Royal Theatre employees vs Paramount Theatres Limited the employees obtained judgment for a week's wages up to June 7th with costs. Mr. C. Widdifield for the Plaintiffs and Mr. J. A. O'Brien for the defendants.

THE WEATHER

Ninety in the shade was the highest point yesterday. To-day is about the same. The hot weather at the present time is largely confined to Ontario. In the Maritime Provinces it is quite cool, while in the Prairie Provinces the conditions are only moderately warm. Thunderstorms are likely.—W. P.

AGAINST MEASURE

THE NOBLE 18

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, June 19.—At 1 o'clock this morning, previous to the vote being taken, Hon. Mr. Fielding, former Minister of Finance, made a castigating attack on the present Minister of Finance, Sir Thomas White, who, he said, as one of the noble eighteen in 1911 cried "No truck or trade with the Yankees," and defeated Reciprocity in 1911, but reduced the tariff to the same level in 1919.

While the concluding speeches were being delivered by Colonel Arthur and Col. James Peck, V.C., most of the members were in the corridors singing "Pack All Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag" and other popular songs, while the Government Whips were making last efforts to steady the recalcitrant Western supporters.

Fifteen Unionists voted against the Government on the Budget issue. They were all Westerners, except Mr. S. Fielding, Pardee, "West Lambton" and Cockshutt of Brantford. Cockshutt voted with the Government against the MacMaster Amendment, but against the Government on the Budget, presumably in both cases, on account of his high Protectionist principles.

Oppositionists who supported the Budget were McCrae of Sherbrooke and Euler of North Waterloo.

A BIG FEATURE AT THE GRAND

"After His Own Heart"—a big feature at the Grand to-day, Friday, and Saturday.

Taken from the clever story of the same name written by Ben Ames Williams and published in the All-Story Weekly, gives Hale Hamilton, the star with the contagious smile, a role which for original and delightful comedy surpasses anything he has hitherto enacted. The story is that of a young millionaire who loses his wealth through the dishonesty of a trustee, and who consequently faces the necessity of making a living for the first time in his life. Strangely enough it is at this time that a mysterious letter comes to him offering a large sum of money for a month of his time. The unusualness of the communication, which makes no mention of what is expected in return for the money, attracts him, and he decides to follow it up. He finds himself in the strangest of situations which lead to alarming and endless complications that make a story of supreme originality and humour. It is a play of mirth-charged atmosphere with a star of electric vigour.

HALE HAMILTON.

In addition to this splendid feature, a special Scenic News and Screen Magazine will be shown, and a Universal railroad comedy drama in three parts.

HANDLING THE GRAIN CROP

OTTAWA, June 19.—As a result of the conference now going on here in connection with the handling, financing, and marketing of the present season's grain crop, the opinion is expressed that a minimum price will be fixed for payment when the wheat has been delivered in the elevators, and that when the final sale is negotiated the farmer will secure whatever extra amount is coming.

It has been suggested that a board be created to get in touch with the whole question of marketing the new crop, with particular reference to the competition which must exist between the Canadian and the American surplus.

It is not anticipated that under the circumstances American facilities will be available to any particular extent this season for the moving of Canadian grain, inasmuch as the United States has fixed the ruling price for the present season's crop, and will make every endeavour to get it on the markets of the world before the Canadian crop can enter into competition.

THE BRITISH FLEET IS ON WAR FOOTING

GERMAN FEELING TOWARDS PEACE TREATY APPEARS TO BE TAKING MORE FAVOURABLE TREND.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, June 19.—The morning newspapers feature the British naval and other preparations in the event of Germany refusing to sign the Treaty of Peace, and print under big headlines several unofficial reports which were current during the night.

The Grand Fleet has again been placed on a war footing, it is reported, and ready to sail for German waters at a moment's notice. It is also stated that Dirigible R34 has been diverted from her Transatlantic trip equipped with bombs and machine guns, and has been sent, or is going, to the Baltic, while her companion aircraft, R33, similarly equipped, left on Wednesday night for a cruise, which will include the Kiel Canal.

A telegram from Copenhagen reports the arrival there of a dozen British cruisers and several destroyers, prepared to enforce the blockade.

According to some reports R34, which is now over the Baltic, is neither armed nor loaded with bombs, but is undergoing a final trial preparatory to her Atlantic voyage.

The "Daily Sketch" says R34 was over Berlin at four o'clock yesterday.

BERLIN COMMENT.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, June 19.—"Sign the Treaty and be through with the agony" is the gist of the comment of the people of Berlin to-day, after the wrath provoked by the normal indictment contained in the covering note of the Allied answer.

Residents of Berlin seemed to have resigned themselves to the inevitable. "Rather end with terror than terror without end," was the way one small merchant put it today.

A SUMMARY.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Junet 19.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

"German feeling toward the Peace Treaty appears to be taking a more favourable trend. Although the Peace delegation, headed by Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, is reported as decidedly opposed to the acceptance of the revised Allied terms, latest despatches from Weimar, where the German Cabinet and National Assembly are considering the Treaty, reflect a different viewpoint.

The majority of the Socialists present dominant political force in German Republic, are declared in these advices to be more favourably inclined toward the Treaty than at first, while Clerical and Democrats of the left wing are reported to be swinging in the same direction.

One report from Berlin represents the people of the capital as resigned to the future, desiring only to see the Treaty signed and the suspense ended.

"A BREAKDOWN."

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, June 19.—Prince Lichnowsky, former German Ambassador to Great Britain, writing in the Vorwaerts, said today:

"Contrary to Berastern's statement, I know the Kaiser was suffering from a breakdown at the beginning of the War, and that one word from Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg would have averted the catastrophe by inducing the Kaiser to accept my proposal for British mediation."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSE JUNE 27TH

EXAMINATIONS ARE LATER THIS YEAR ON ACCOUNT OF EPIDEMIC.

The public schools this year close as usual on 27th June and the entrance examinations begin on 2nd July. The Collegiate examinations are later this year on account of the influenza epidemic, and the pupils will not start to write until 30th June. The Departmental examinations are even later, and these will not be concluded until 18th July.

The students at the Normal School have been trying examinations all last week and this, and finished the last paper this afternoon.

MEETING TO-NIGHT TO BE ADDRESSED BY MR. F. R. JONES

AND HEAR ADDRESS ON OVERSEAS CLUB.

It is hoped there will be a large attendance at the meeting to-night to hear Mr. T. R. Jones give an address in the Council Room of the Board of Trade on the Overseas Club, an organisation of much importance to the British Empire and to the Dominions.

Mr. Jones is exceptionally well versed in his subject, is enthusiastic, a fine speaker, and a very profitable evening can be spent.

READY FOR HOSTILITIES

THE BRITISH NAVY IS ON A WAR FOOTING—CHANGE OF HUN GOVERNMENT DISCUSSED.

(Special to Examiner.)

BERLIN, June 19. — The Vossische Zeitung declared to-day that a plan is being discussed for President Ebert and his cabinet to resign, and the National Assembly to dissolve, "leaving Germany to absolute anarchy."

CRUISING ALONG COAST.

(Special to Examiner.)

LONDON, June 19. — The British navy is on a war footing and ready to move upon the German coast if the enemy fails to sign the peace treaty, according to the Edinburgh correspondent of the Globe. All the leaves have been cancelled.

The big British dirigible R 34, which was to have started a transatlantic flight to-morrow, to-day was cruising along the German Baltic coast to demonstrate the navy's preparedness. The craft is equipped with bombs and machine guns. Her sister ship, the R. 33, also heavily armed, left Selby last night for a similar cruise over Heligoland and the Kiel Canal.

ON A SECRET MISSION.

(Special to Examiner.)

COPENHAGEN, June 19. — Twelve British cruisers and a number of destroyers arrived in the Baltic to-day, and others are expected shortly, presumably ready to establish a complete blockade of the German coast if the peace terms are refused.

Several of the destroyers started upon a secret mission this afternoon. They were headed toward the German Baltic Coast.

The British dirigible R. 34 was observed over the Southern Baltic to-day moving toward the Hanseatic towns.

WILL TRY TO CREATE A NEW BOARD

The Toronto Street Railway Dispute Referred to Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 19.—Mr. [illegible] of Toronto to-day saw Hon. A. J. Maclean, Acting Minister of Labour, in connection with the Toronto Street Railway dispute and told him that the ordinary Board of Conciliation had failed to be appointed. Mr. Maclean then asked him to nominate two representatives for the men who would consider thier claims with two men appointed by the company. Mayor Church suggested the name of David Carey as one of the two men representatives in the new Board.

LAUNCH BURNED TO THE WATERS EDGE

Mr. Gordon Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, lost a valuable launch as a result of an explosion which set fire to the vessel. The accident happened off Burleigh Falls. Mr. Fraser jumped out and reached the shore in safety, while the launch, which was valued at seven thousand dollars, burned to the water's edge and was subsequently towed ashore.

THURSDAY, JUNE 19TH, 1919.

THE VETERANS' REQUEST.

The request of the Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans' Association for a grant from the County Council to assist them in clearing the new Club Rooms from debt, is one that should receive sympathetic consideration from the county legislators. The building itself, and the services of the Association, are available for the soldiers in the county—as a matter of fact, sixteen per cent. of the members of the Peterboro branch are rural residents of Peterboro county—and it is but simple justice that the County Council should contribute a share towards the expense of erecting and equipping the new building. The city of Peterboro has granted $10,000 for this work, and the citizens of the city have subscribed an additional $10,000. The ex-soldiers of the county have all the privileges and rights of their comrades in the city in so far as the building is concerned, and it is reasonable to expect that a portion of the cost should be borne by the county. The members of the County Council have been liberal in their attitude to patriotic movements during the war and are not likely to adopt a different stand in connection with the request of the G. W. V. A.

WILL THE GERMANS SIGN?

Will the Germans refuse to sign the allies' peace terms? The indications are at present that in spite of the knowledge that Germany must have of the plans made by the allies for the immediate invasion of the country in the event of a refusal, the enemy may decline to sign. The time limit expires on Monday, and the answer will not be known until then, but the evident attempt to stir up the people of Germany against the French, by picturing the German peace envoys being assaulted in Paris and by describing Premier Clemenceau's letter as "extraordinarily harsh and insulting," seem proof that the Government of Germany is preparing the German people for the news that the Government has refused to sign the peace treaty. The conference at Weimar, which began yesterday, may however, change the views of the Government, for the Social Democrats of Germany are united in favouring the acceptance of the allies' terms and their insistence may overcome the Junker element, who are pressing for a refusal.

THE WINNIPEG ARRESTS

It seems to be the feeling throughout Canada as evidenced by the press comments that the action of the Dominion Government in ordering the arrest of a number of the prominent leaders of the Winnipeg strike was a very serious step justified only by a conviction that these men have been guilty not of trying to help the cause of labour but rather of seditious cumpiracy. There is a general plea for a just and open trial of the arrested men with the facts squarely brought out so that their importance can be judged by the public. If the Government is able to produce the proofs that the strike leaders have been guilty of what is charged against them, the authorities will be supported by the people, generaly, including the great mass of labour men. But any attempt at a secret trial or of railroading these men out of the country or without even the formality of a trial will be bitterly resented and even the moderates in the ranks of labour, whose saneness has prevented the one Big Union propoganda from spread might be inclined to throw in their lot with the strikers in Winnipeg if they were convinced that the case of the Western Strike leaders had been handled unfairly by the Government.

A POWER FOR GOOD.

"The G. W. V. A. is the greatest power for good or evil in Canada today," said the Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

It may seem like an overstatement; but the words were spoken by a man who has spent nearly five years overseas in intimate companionship with the soldiers who constitute the membership of the Great War Veterans' Association. Dr. Pringle knows them and he knows the dynamic possibilities latent in any association of many thousands of them gathered in groups large and small throughout the country.

It is even now a great power in the land—and it is destined to be greater. Thank God it is as yet a power for good. The influence of the G. W. V. A., in disturbed centres is being exerted on the side of good citizenship—in behalf of law and order and constituted government. In Winnipeg the citizens have been greatly heartened by the stand taken by the G.W.V.A. against—not the strikers, but the lawless element which seeks to use the strike as a weapon against constituted authority and in behalf of revolution. In Vancouver, the veterans have gone farther; they have denounced the general strike there and the methods of the strike leaders, most of whom are extreme radicals. The veterans declare that the issue is not one between capital and labour, but between Bolshevism and the British constitution. That they are not easily deceived is made plain by their declaration that the leaders of the sympathetic strike have advocated larger military pensions, and a bonus of $2000 for each veteran merely "as a piece of political chicanery" to gain the support of the veterans. They have for years been on the keen lookout for Hun trickery, and are not easily taken in by deceptive devices.

Our men have fought and suffered and endured in Europe for their country. They felt that it was a country worth fighting for. Now that the agony is over they do not propose to see what they fought for transformed into a paradise for anarchists—all the familiar and cherished institutions in jeopardy and perhaps trampled in the mud. If necessary they will fight here at home to save that for which they fought overseas.

Yes, we believe the G. W. V. A. is going to prove a great power for good in this country. — Hamilton Herald.

ASTONISHING PROFITS.

Facts which the public have long suspected are being brought to the surface by the cost of living inquiry and the evidences of shameless profiteering will increase the resentment of the people of Canada of Canada as they realize that while their sons were suffering and dying for Canada overseas, there were other Canadian citizens at home taking advantage of the war conditions and of the high tariff protection of the Dominion Government to exact exorbitant profits. One manufacturer, W. E. Paton, of the Paton Manufacturing Company of Sherbrooke, Quebec, makers of tweeds and other cloths, frankly told the inquiry committee on Tuesday that "our mill was not built for the glory of God or of anybody else. It was built for the benefit of the shareholders." This sincere advocate of extracting the last bit of juice from the profit orange, admitted unblushingly that the profits of his company increased from 6.8 per cent. in 1914 to 72.9 per cent. for the year ending January last, and added, "that any man who couldn't make money during the war must have had something wrong with him." Probably what Mr. Paton meant by this statement was that there are some individuals who are foolish enough to be guided by the dictates of their conscience. Mr. Paton can be given credit for only one thing in connection with his evidence and the attitude he displayed: it must be admitted that he was frank. He showed the committee that with him nothing mattered but profits. He admitted that the prices to the public might have been lowered if the Paton concern had brought down its profits, but then the "mill was built for the benefit of the shareholders and not for the glory of God or anybody else."

And on top of the Sherbrooke man's testimony came the evidence of other witnesses to the effect that the 81 per cent. earnings of the common stock of the Dominion Textile Company last year was really 310 per cent. on the half million dollars paid for that stock in 1905.

It was further shown that the material for suits which are retailing at $65 and $70 was sold by the manufacturer for $4 to $17. Who gets the enormous spread between the manufacturer's price and the retailers' figure? The public will await the answer to this question with wholehearted interest, and will hope, although the inactivity of the Government does not lend to much confidence, that the revelations that have been made and the others that will undoubtedly crop up before the inquiry is completed, will result in such profits as that of the Paton company being made impossible.

A SETTLEMENT IS IN PROSPECT

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 19.—The ice has been broken for the settlement of the metal trade workers' strike in Toronto, effecting 7,000 men by the offer of one of the largest manufacturers concerned to give the men a forty-four hour week and conceding the principles of collective bargaining. This is all the men have asked for. Labour leaders to-day say the offer augurs well for an early settlement of the strike, as other firms will follow.

Mass Meeting.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 19.—The Trades and Labour Council at a meeting tonight will consider the request of the District Council of the Carpenters' Unions that a mass demonstration meeting of all the Trades and Labour men of the city be called by the Trades and Labour Council for Sunday June 22nd to protest against the arrests of labour leaders in Winnipeg.

SENTENCED TO-DAY

TORONTO, June 19.—Sentences of from three years to six months were imposed by Magistrate Kingsford today on thirteen men, most of them with foreign names, who were arrested at a meeting recently and were convicted of having revolutionary literature in their possession.

DAYLIGHT SAVING MEETS ITS DOOM.

Senate and House Vote to Terminate Operation of the Law—The Farmers Against It.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON June 19. — Doom of the daylight saving inaugurated as a war measure, was pronounced yesterday by Congress, both the Senate and the House adopting by overwhelming votes measures to terminate operation of the law when the period of summer time ends next Oct. 26th.

Members of both the Senate and House, in advocating the repeal of the law enacted March 19, 1918, said they were guided largely by the wishes of farmers and the laboring men, who oppose the advanced working hours during the spring and summer season.

Opponents of the repeal legislation declared the extra hour of daylight was a boon to the city dwellers and asserted that others could easily adjust their affairs to conform to the advanced clock schedule.

SCOTT AND KIRN TO HOOK UP ON SATURDAY IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

There is great interest in Saturday's Central League game at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, and the biggest crowd that has seen a ball game in Peterborough since Canadian League days will be out to see the Lindsay Greys and the Petes hook up in one of the most important fixtures of the season. Word comes from Lindsay that Pitcher Scott is in mid-season form and that his team has been practising faithfully and are in great shape for Saturday's battle. They expect to win handily Saturday and will be accompanied by a big squad of rooters. Secretary Dedman of the Central Ontario League, has assigned Mr. Alex. Kay of Peterborough, as umpire-in-chief, while Dickie Butler, of Lindsay, will give the decision on the bases. Kirn will be on the rubber for the Petes, with Swanston working behind the bat. It will be the fourth time that Scott and Kirn have hooked up in a pitching duel, Scott winning twice last year while he was on the rubber for the Hillcrests, and Kirn beating the lanky twirler in Lindsay in the third game.

Saturday's game looks like the best baseball attraction of the season and the fans can count on a red-hot struggle.

BASEBALL BUNK

Fans generally regret the unfortunate accident to Pitcher Meredith Huycke on Tuesday night, not only because it robs Peterboro of the services of a pitcher, who would have been a valuable adjunct of the Peterboro Central League team but on his own account as well as he was always a favourite with the fans.

De Laval and the War Veterans clash in all City League series to-night. It should be a lively tussle. The victory of the Orientals over the Packers on Tuesday night has materially increased the interest in the League race and both teams will be out to-night battling for the honours. A defeat for De Lavals will put them practically out of the running.

It is a good thing for the City League sluggers that they have not to bat against Pitcher Kirn of the Orientals every day. In the four City League games he has worked he has allowed the opposition only 14 hits, the War Veterans getting two in the first game, Packers four in two different games and De Laval the same number in their game against Kirn. Only nine runs have been scored off the Oriental pitcher in the 4 games.

There are a few leather-lunged rooters who indulge in a kidding match with manager Solomon of the Orientals on every possible occasion. They are beginning to find out, however, that there is no use trying to put it over the Orientals' pilot in the matter of the fine points of baseball. On Tuesday night when he called for Kirn to score on a blocked ball the play completely silenced the loud-voiced ones, some of whom are still trying to figure it out.

At that the play was a simple one. The ball after passing Swanston was picked up by a youngster, constituting a "blocked ball". Under the rules base runners may advance without any liabilties to be put out until the ball is put into play again by being held by the pitched on the rubber. Teh Packers forgot the rule, however, and when Kirn trotted in Huycke standing a few feet away from the pitching box threw to Swanston instead of immediately stepping on to the rubber.

The Orientals have picked up a good outfielder in Clancy. He covers a wide range of ground and has pulled off some pretty catches in the last two City League games.

Peterborough Team Here Next Week

Lindsay baseball fans will have an opportunity of witnessing the Matthews-Blackwell team of Peterborough play here on Wednesday evening next, in another twilight fixture. The visitors are leading the city league with four straight wins, and hope to reverse the tables on the Lindsay nine.

"Abbie" Hill will do the twirling for Lindsay and is getting his arm in shape for the game. He will be supported by a strong team.—Lindsay Warder.

Belleville Fans Get a Bad Name.

Peterborough has entered a letter of protest against the manner in which visiting teams are treated in Belleville, claiming that the crowd is allowed to swarm around the base lines and the players are subject to all kinds of insults. It is possible that the Central League will look into the matter.—Lindsay Warder.

PORT HOPE TEAM IS BADLY BEATEN

BELLEVILLE WINS CENTRAL ONTARIO LEAGUE GAME BY 22 TO 5.

Port Hope's championship aspirations received a bad jolt last evening when South-paw Gayer and his teammates from Belleville invaded President Sandy Lockington's burg and beat the Ontarios to a frazzle, the score being 22 to 5, which is a League record. The boys from the Bay of Quinte, who were lucky to beat the Petes 5 to 4 in an extra innings game on their own sand lot on Saturday, ran around the bases last night until they were dizzy and the scorer got writer's cramp from recording all the runs. The victory puts Belleville out in front in the Central League race—for a few days anyway. Dick Butler, of Lindsay, umpired the game and Ed. Scott, Abbie Hill and other members of the Lindsay team were spectators.

ASPHODEL FARMERS SHOW THEIR APPROVAL OF GOOD ROADS SCHEME

WARM DISCUSSION AT WESTWOOD LAST NIGHT WHEN COUNTY CLERK ELLIOTT, "JIM" THOMPSON AND G. A. BRETHEN WERE ASSEMBLED ON SAME PLATFORM.

VOTE 3 TO 1 IN FAVOUR

By a vote of 53 to 19 a meeting of Asphodel farmers at Westwood last night endorsel tne Good Roads system and authorized Reeve Max Brown to adopt a county scheme or to join with Otonabee and North Monaghan in the good roads movement they are contemplating. Warm as it was the hall was packed and at times the discussion generated a heat that was almost as torrid as the atmosphere.

Mr. J. J. Breckenridge presided and among those present were Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., Reeve Brown, Warden McIntosh, County Clerk Elliott, G. A. Brethen, ex-Warden W. T. Buck, and the following members of the County Council Messrs. Nicholls, Anderson, Holland, Eason, and Darling.

Controversialists Meet

Although the meeting in its purpose was purely local it developed a broader importance than was anticipated when the arvertisements were sent out. A similar meeting was held at Westwood a short time ago, but it proved rather disappointing. Ratepayers who were interested in good roads urged the Reeve to call another and last night's sweltering assembly was the result. Mr. Elliott was invited as the principal speaker, but it became evident that some of the farmers who have been carrying on long distance controversies with the County Clerk through the press availed themselves of this opportunity of meeting on the same platform Mr. Elliott's views of the Good Roads policy were put forward in a clear and thoughtful manner. The objection that the Government should refund to the municipalities the automobile fees collected from their ratepayers was mentioned and Mr. Elliott suggested a basis upon which he believed the roads problem could be established to the entire satisfaction of the farmers and also with the result that the cost of construction and maintenance would be more evenly distributed. He said that it was desirable that the expenditure should not bear so heavily upon the farmers as under the presen tsystem.

Mr. Brethen criticized Mr. Elliott's opinions, and stated that the method he proposed was a hypothetical one depending upon a sries of "ifs" This county had gained nothing in its isolation from the rest of the Province and many farmers were demanding that with the restoration of peace a constructive programme be set out.

Mr. P. McNulty replied in favour of Mr. Elliott, especially resenting the humorous vein in which Mr. Brethen had laughed at the County Clerk's views. For a time the meeting waxed warmer than a thermometer would have registered Mr. McNulty not only defended Mr. Elliott but he scored most of the othr visitors upon their intentions.

Somebody Stole a March

To the bystander, there was a seeming resentment of what was apparently regarded as an attempt by the good roads advocates to pack the meeting. This view is subject to modifcation, but it is understood that Messrs. Thompson and Brethen were not on the original invitation list. Somebody assumed the duty of inviting Mr. Thompson. It may have been a friend who, interested in his political welfare and mindful of the recent convention of the United Farmers, decided that this meeting was an opportunity for the standing member to meet a section of his electors and beyond that to drop a bomb into the elements of opposition to the Provincial Good Roads scheme. And in Toronto, his riding is somewhat of a blot on Mr. Thompson's escutcheon. In his address he referred to appropriations for road repairs in East Peterboro during the past year and session, and to one cynical farmer it seemed that this form of patronage was being distributed as seed, scattered where it was expected to yield the fullest harvest of votes.

NOTHING NEW IN STRIKE SITUATION

WINNIPEG, Man., June 19.—Strike committee through James Winning, President of the Trades and Labour Council, disclaims even having received a statement conceding the collective bargaining principles signed by the metal trades employers, managers of railway companies, six members of the Mediation Board and Senator Robertson. We desire to publicly announce that up to the present time we have never received such proposals from any party signing this document. We are at a loss to understand the motives behind that publication and can only assume that it is another attempt to make the public believe that the Strike committee is not anxious to sign a settlement of the present dispute. Any avenue that may open that promises a road to settlement of the present dispute had never been, or ever will be, ignored by the Strike committee.

An Invitation.

The announcement of course, might be construed as an invitation to some one to put the iron masters' proposal properly before the Strike committee and make it easier to declare a settlement without loss of prestige. To me, however, it looks unlikely that the strikers will return to work with Russel and Iven in endurance vile, and while thousands of their numbers are shut out by civic, provincial and federal services and also by private employers. Perhaps one of the most significant and surprising facts is that the Strike committee never has formally protested against arrests or appealed to Canadian people to see that justice is done.

Nor can it be overlooked that Lodge 571 of Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America has decided to call off the sympathetic strike because they believe the strike has been won, and that two other lodges here may follow suit. The C.N.R. Protective Board has gone on record as favourable to the iron masters' proposal. Striking car men of the C.P.R. have also urged a settlement on that basis, intimating that they "intend to take such action as they deem advisable."

R. B. Russel was agent in Canada of Railway Shopmen, who were to have gone on strike yesterday, and newspapers intimate that a strike of forty thousand shopmen was being engineered from Winnipeg. On the day of Russel's arrest the President of the Shopmen went to Atlantic City, after postponing the strike. Despatches now say that at Atlantic City the President of Brotherhood of Railway Carmen promised to support the pending strike of shopmen in Canada. It must be remembered that sympathetic strikes by railway shopmen are illegal from an International standpoint, but a Canadjan-wide strike that threatened would be legal and would legalize the partial sympathetic strike now in progress.

Riot insurance of aggregate value of between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 has been taken out by Winnipeg firms and individuals. The largest individual account is for four million. Two underwriting firms are each carrying policies aggregating eighteen million. For two weeks the underwriters have refused all applications for riot disturbance.

Alder Heaps, now under arrest, was chairman of the Winnipeg Housing committee, which, however, was inactive.

HELD A CONFERENCE.

WINNIPEG, June 19. — Representatives of the Strike Committee were in conference with Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, last night. No statement was given out as to the nature of the proceedings but it is understood that the Minister went fully into the question of why advantage had been taken of the amendment of the immigration act to arrest the strike leaders suspected of Bolshevik tendencies. The explanation will be considered by the strike committee and it is possible that further conferences with the Minister will be held to-day.

The conference was held at the instance of T. J. Murray, the counsel for the men under arrest and among those present were A. J. Andrews, K. C., Counsel for the Crown and Commissioner Perry, of the R. N. W. M.P.

BOLSHEVIK MONEY.

CHICAGO, June 19. — Bolshevism, under the management of the "Committee of Five," is financially prosperous in Chicago. It was asserted to-day with the arrest at Winnipeg of R. B. Russell, a Red missionary, Chicago radicals finding themselves with more money than they needed for local propaganda, sent $25,000 through Russell and other sources to establish Soviet rule in the Dominion of Canada.

Philip J. Barry, superintendent of Investigation for the Department of Justice, verified the information, stating the committee of radicals in Chicago had been sending money to Canada for several months. The funds were raised at meetings here for the purpose of converting Canada to Bolshevism.

"I am not at liberty to name the contributors or the amounts," said Mr. Barry, "but my agents are working on the case and have detailed information."

Mr. Barry indicated that although collecting funds to be used abroad for Bolshevism might not constitute a Federal violation, criminal angles would be unearthed.

ANOTHER EX-KING IN EXILE.

GENEVA, June 18.—The former King of Wurttemburg has arrived at Romanshorn from Friedrichshafen, coming by an ordinary tourist steamer on Lake Constance. After landing, he motored to a villa nearby which he bought recently.

This is the third former King who has sought refuge in Switzerland.

"THERE IS A TIGER WITHIN ME"

This is what Barbara Forbes discovered when she had her first pangs of jealousy over the intimacy between her husband and Blanche Orton. And she feared this tiger—feared that it might wreck her marriage, if she could not become master of it.

For Barbara knew she had no proof of grounds for her jealousy. She knew that her wild, ungovernable suspicions were entirely unreasonable. And suspicion of the innocent always ends in disaster.

But, on the other hand, what a pity it was that Neil—her husband—did not try to help her conquer the wild thing within her—help her by being over-particular to give her no cause to suspect him. Neil was so careless about appearances; often he did not even take the trouble to rectify a misrepresentation.

Yet Neil loved Barbara deeply. It hurt him to see her unhappy. And this being the case, it looks as though things were going to end happily, doesn't it?

But proof is surer than supposition, so to find out conclusively read "The Promoter's Wife," which starts in THE EXAMINER shortly.

"BILL" CROWLEY ADDS FINE MILITARY RECORD TO HIS ATHLETIC HONOURS

ENLISTED AS A SAPPER WITH THE ENGINEERS. RETURNS AS REGIMENTAL SERGEANT-MAJOR AFTER FOUR YEARS' SERVICE—MENTIONED IN DESPATCHES AND WON MEDAL.

FORMER PETERBORO BOY HOME.

After four years of active service, three years and seven months of which were spent in France, Mr. William ("Bill") Crowley returned home on Tuesday, and is receiving the congratulations of the host of old friends of his athletic and boyhood days in Peterborough. He enlisted in Calgary and went overseas as a sapper with the Engineers. As evidence of his experience and his service, he returns as Regimental Sergeant-Major, with a meritorious service medal. He also won the distinction of having been mentioned in despatches. Sergt.-Major Crowley was with the signalling section of the Engineers, and was in charge of seven hundred men. He spent seven weeks with the Canadian Army of Occupation in Germany, and enjoyed several trips down the Rhine valley. He is looking in fine condition, in the "pink" as it used to be said of him in his sporting days. He said that whenever the opportunity offered he played baseball or lacrosse, and latterly, considerable tennis has kept him fit. "Bill" bears a slight scar on his nose as a permanent souvenir, but he also prizes a sword which was presented to a German major by the members of his company in the Crown Prince's Huzzars. He obtained it from the German soldier who was put in charge of the barracks at Bonn after the Allies had ordered the storage of all the armament in that district as the garrison headquarters.

SERGT.-MAJ. W. F. CROWLEY,
Who recently returned on the Olympic from long service in France.

Sergt.-Major Crowley remarked that the experience overseas had been wonderful beyond words, especially for the men who came through without serious permanent injuries. There was no place like Canada, he said, and it was a privilege to have been a Canadian soldier. He remarked that if there was any doubt as to who won the war, there was no question but that a big share of the credit must be given to the British Navy.

Sergt.-Major Crowley is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Lynch, Cedar Street. He intends to remain in Peterborough several weeks, and on his way home to Calgary will visit his brother, Rev. J. J. Crowley, parish priest at Sudbury.

ADVERTISING HAS A DIRECT MESSAGE

A recent issue of the Dry Goods Review refers in the following terms to the unique advertisement expressing the gratitude of the employees of Richard Hall and Son, Limited, for the inauguration of a new time schedule, closing the store at five o'clock each afternoon instead of five-thirty.

"This original idea cannot fail to impress customers and the public of Peterborough, generally, with the satisfaction which the Hall employees find in their work and therefore with the gracious service which can be expected in that store. And more, there is an initiative expressed which stamps the employees as a body as being thinking people, who are capable of being of the best service to customers, and that will inevitably attract business, which cannot but result in better satisfaction all round. The management is highly appreciative of this public thanks it has received from its employees, who are in no way organized. There is a splendid spirit of generosity on both sides, together with an appreciation of the fact that advertising has a direct and wholesome message to the public, which is, to say the least, interesting."

FISH KILLED IN LARGE QUANTITIES

SANITARY INSPECTOR STAPLETON TOOK 300 POUNDS OUT OF LITTLE LAKE.

The cause of the death of hundreds of eels, maskinonge, and bass which have been coming down the river to pollute the Little Lake still remains a mystery, and the fish, in different states of dinintegration, continue to gather on the shore.

Mr. Stapleton, the sanitary inspector, took 300 pounds out of the lake to-day, and is busy endeavouring to trace the source of death of the fish.

In conversation to-day with Mr. F. H. Dobbin, Mr. Stapleton learned that the fish come from somewhere above the pumping station, and he is inclined to think that there is dynamiting going on above the station.

Each large fish either comes down headless or in two pieces, while the smaller ones come down whole.

THE HUNTER STREET CAMPAIGN

"This day is not a day of infidelity, it is a day of substitutes of all kinds," was one of the striking statements made last evening by Evangelist Kennedy in his address in connection with the evangelistic campaign that is being held in the city. Mr. Kennedy showed that people are not turning away from God into direct infidelity but that they are being misled by all manner of substitute religions, which ignore the sacrifice of Christ and therefore are the devices of Satan. Men are hungering after God, but Satan, who clothes himself as an angel of light, misleads them by giving them unsatisfactory substitutes. Any religion in which the atonement of Christ for the sins of the individual and of the world is omitted is a religion, which God will not honour.

Those Christian people of Peterborough who were expecting a great blessing to come to the city from the Dr. Honeywell campaign last fall, and who were so deeply disappointed that the campaign had to be discontinued so soon after its inception, are being given reasons to expect that the present campaign may bring the desired blessing. Evangelist Kennedy is making a very favourable impression each night, and the interest in the meetings is growing steadily. At the close of last night's meeting he remarked that he has seldom been connected with a campaign where the evidences of interest were so keen on the fourth night as they were in Peterborough. To-night he will speak on Gideon. It will be a message that Orangemen in particular will enjoy. To-morrow night his subject will be "How to Keep Young and Good-looking." It will be of special interest to young people.

Last night Mr. Kennedy based his remarks on Judges xiv., 6. Unlike most speakers on religious themes, he did not hold Samson up as a man who made a big failure of his life. Instead, he showed how God honoured all Samson's prayers and how time and again the Bible record bears testimony to the fact that the spirit of the Lord was upon Samson. While Samson did go wrong, as did other Bible characters, he still is ranked in the Book of Hebrews as one of the great Bible characters honoured by God.

The Singing.

The singing last evening was a special feature of the service. Mr. Asa Huycke, of the Murray Street Baptist Church choir, sang with his usual effectiveness. A duet by the Misses Hartsborn was rendered with great sympathy and was especially appropriate to the character of the service. A duet by Miss Clara Kidd and Mr. F. E. Walden was also much enjoyed. Mr. Walden is acting as accompanist each week night, and is rendering very efficient service. He was at one time organist of the George Street Methodist Church. Mr. Mulligan is giving valuable assistance as the leader of song. To-night the George Street Church choir will lead the singing. Several of the Methodist ministers are out of the city attending conference meetings, and therefore will not be in attendance for some nights. They have been giving their hearty assistance. Last night Rev. Messrs. Doner and Pogue assisted the evangelist.

In accordance with the policy announced last Sunday night, no collections have been taken up in connection with the services, nor will any be taken up this week. This is an unusual feature of an evangelistic campaign of this kind, and is appreciated by those who attend.

"SPIRIT WIFE" TOO TEDIOUS AFTER FOUR YEARS, DECLARES HUSBAND; REFEREE FAVOURS ANNULMENT

JOHN S. CONABEER SAYS WIFE INSISTED "LOVE AND MARRIAGE ARE PURELY SPIRITUAL" WHEN HIS FATHER EXPRESSED HOPES ABOUT CHILDREN.

NEW YORK. — Living a purely "spiritual existence" with his wife since their marriage four years ago has grown tedious for John Sherwill Conabeer, Jr., who recently inherited a fortune from his father, an independent coal operator. His views of a "spirit wife" were impressed so forcibly upon Charles L. Hoffman, Referee, that the latter recommended in a report submitted to Justice Gleggerich, of the Supreme Court, that the marriage be annulled.

His wife, Mrs. Florence W. Conabeer, of No. 324 Park avenue, Weehawken, N.J., a comedy woman of twenty-eight, staunchly defended her opinion of spiritualism while maintaining she was affectionate and her husband really at fault.

She produced letters which her husband had written in the wild exuberance of a college sophomore. At that time she was a student at Barnard School and he was her suitor. Among the titles he applied were "Dear Fluffy," "Dearest Sweetheart" and "Dear Shrime."

Even before their marriage discussions were held about families, testified Mr. Conabeer, who is twenty-five and lives with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Conabeer, at Greenwich, Conn. They were then engaged and Mr. Conabeer said he and his parents were anxious about children. This statement caused his fiancee to become hysterical and exclaim: "God, not the human race, is the creator of children. Love and marriage are purely spiritual."

"My father, after we were married, told her that he would like to be a grandfather, and that if she would become a mother, he would take our child and care for it. It was then she said the more children people had, the commoner they became. She objected to living in apartments where there were any children.

"At the end of four years I lost patience in her spiritual beliefs and we separated."

Through letters written by the young man, Mrs. Conabeer sought to prove he was opposed to children and he was asked to explain what he meant when he wrote:—"What any one sees in children I don't know. Of course there are some nice ones, but the general run are not worth a nice pup."

Admitting he might have held those views once, Mr. Conabeer said he was then "just a foolish schoolboy." He offered the same explanation for writing "I love you dearly, Florence, my only child, the only one I will ever have."

Her lawyer questioned Mr. Conabeer about writing "I love every fibre in your soul," and the young man said he was then experiencing the first thrills of emotional love as a boy. "She had such an influence over me that I would do whatever she wanted done," he said.

"When I fell in love with her I had a new emotion in life and felt like a new being and that when we were married I would have some real ambition in life. I felt as though I could conquer the world," replied Mr. Conabeer to another query. His wife he said, was a firm believer in Christian Science, though her parents had become estranged over their interpretations of Mary Baker Eddy's writtings.

Mrs. Conabeer was interrogated along the lines of spiritualism and more material things and acknowledged having said "that man is the offspring of spirit."

"I probably mentioned such things. I may have said also that I would like baby girls better than boys, because I could get more pleasure making them pretty dresses and dainties. Women have told me how happy I would be if I had a husband devoted to me—who remained by my side." She insisted her love for her husband was sincere and that she wanted children more than he did.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS EXCURSION TO RICE LAKE WAS ENJOYED

The Knights of Columbus of Peterboro held their annual excursion down the river yesterday to Harwood and in spite of the terrific heat over two hundred took in the trip and voted it as one of the best outings in a long time. The sail down the winding Otonabee was delightful and green and with a four piece orchestra on board to liven things up it seemed no time until Rice Lake was reached and then Harwood. Here mine host Gilman had prepared a sumptuous fish dinner and over one hundred sat down to enjoy it and no one was heard to remark they were disappointed or dissatisfied. After dinner the crowd set out to enjoy themselves as best they could under a sweltering sun, some to bathe, others to fish, but the real excitement of the day was the baseball match between the single and the married men. This proved an awful awakening to the single chaps who were beaten by their older but shiftier opponents to the score of 14 to 8. The outstanding features were the base stealing efforts of J. Grisdale for the married men who took everything that wasn't nailed down and the all round or rather all around playing of Geo. Gordon at third base. To see Geo. whip the ball across to Hal Chase Overend on first was a treat but it generally went into the pitchers hands As the single chaps are looking for revenge the return game will likely be the big headline attraction for the sports on July 1st.

The return trip was made by way of Gore's Landing where a stop of an hour was made allowing a number of the younger element time to enjoy a much appreciated swim, and after another enjoyable three hour run all were landed safely again at the Peterboro dock about eight o'clock. The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the success of their outing for every little detail in connection with the trip was admirably looked after and well carried out.—(Com.)

LIVE LOBSTERS AIRPLANE CARGO.

(Canadian Press.)

BRUSSELS, June 19. — Regular transportation of merchandise by airplane between Brussels and Paris, established by companies in the two cities, has already resulted in some unusual cargoes being carried. For instance, a consignment of nearly 500 pounds of live lobsters, brought by one of the airplanes of the system, arrived at the aerodrome near here yesterday afternoon. The crustaceans were in excellent condition.

LABOUR COUNCIL PROTESTS AGAINST THE ARREST OF WINNIPEG LEADERS

RESOLUTION WILL BE SENT TO OTTAWA—MR. PATON'S ADMISSION OF BIG PROFITS REGARDED AS PROOF OF WIDESPREAD BELIEF THAT CONSUMERS WERE BEING BLED.

COUNCIL'S HUMOUR IRONIC

A resolution protesting against the action of the Dominion Government in causing the arrest of ten of the leaders of the Winnipeg strike was passed by the Trades and Labor Council last night, and the secretary was instructed to forward copies to the Government and to the local member, Mr. J. H. Burnham.

"The feelings of men whom I have been talking too, seem to be very bitter against the step which has been taken at this time by the Dominion authorities," said one delegate. "It is a crime against labor in this country. In following this strike, I concluded that it was one of the best and most honorable I have ever known, and unless some steps are taken to nullify the Government's act, there is no way of telling what labor may expect or may be put to in the future."

Press reports had shown that everything possible had been done to divide and disrupt labor during this strike, but every effort to that end had failed. Now the Government was dividing the men physically by separating the leaders from the rank and file. This member stated that the recent debate in the House clearly indicated that all the speakers were against labor, the workers hadn't a voice to bespeak its cause or defend itself, and unless labor made a move in its own behalf, there was no hope for improvement.

"I believe that if there was an election now," said this delegate, "the workers would support a good labor man."

Bristled With Guns.

Another delegate referred to the reports that the streets of Winnipeg were bristling with machine guns, and that nothing but bloodshed would satisfy the "better class." Everything had been done, he said, to goad and exasperate the Union men, but they refused to fight.

Mr. Paton Candid.

Discussion turned to the newspaper account of the investigations of the Commons Cost of Living Committee particularly touching upon the profits of the Paton Manufacturing Company, which has put Sherbrooke, Que. on the map through the expression of Mr. W. E. Paton, that his company was in business not for the glory of God or any one else, but to secure profits for the shareholders.

"Why wasn't Paton arrested?" suggested one member having in mind the Winnipeg arrests and the unsettling influence of the Paton Company's trifling profits of 72 per cent., as compared with the 310 per cent., of the Dominion Textile Company, which was also mentioned.

Another delegate adopting the rather bitter humour in which the subject was treated disagreed with the opinion that Mr. Paton should have been jailed.

"Paton" he said "was one of the few honest manufacturers. He was put on his oath and he told the God's truth."

It was remarked that the public should be grateful to Mr. Paton in as much as he had more than substantiated the suspicions that huge profits were being taken from consumers.

ORGANIZER FOR PETERBORO COUNTY

Preparations Under Way for Temperance Campaign.

A preliminary meeting of temperance forces in Lindsay was held in Lindsay to organize in Lindsay and Victoria County for the proposed referendum in the fall.

Mr. T. W. Wesley, a returned soldier, was present and addressed the meeting as a representative of the large temperance organizations of Ontario, together with the Women's Council and other kindred organizations. He has been appointed organizer for the four countries of Victoria, Haliburton, Durham and Peterborough, and will return to Lindsay in two weeks' time to complete organization.

Being a returned soldier, Mr. Wesley predicts that the returned men will poll up a large majority for temperance when the vote is taken.

A STATEMENT TO LABOURING MEN

Statement Issued to "Honest Laboring Men" of Winnipeg by Trainmen's Executive.

By W. R. Plewman.

WINNIPEG, June 18.—Vice-President Murdock, of the Railway Trainmen, has sent out a wire advising "honest laboring men" that much information sent out from the Labor Temple is false.

Wholesale police organisation is under way. Mayor R. F. Bingham has been made assistant to Acting Chief Newton. Special headquarters will be moved to Central station from the City Hall, and specials and permanent police brought under one head. Major Lyle, now superseded in part by Major Bingham, will have charge of employing constables and purchasing supplies. One part of the detective force will be exclusively for strike purposes, and a special strike Crown prosecutor, Hugh Phillips, K.C., will act. Whose is the master mind behind these changes is not apparent.

PROSPECTS FOR RAIN TO-MORROW

Tomorrow is the annual excursion of the Normalites to the Lakes, given by the Normal staff to the pupils. This year Burleigh Falls has been selected as the terminus, but usually on the occasion of the Normal excursion the weather man sees fit to send at least a shower, and the announcing of the Normal excursion is a signal for citizens to bring forth their umbrellas and unwrinkle their mackintoshes.

Bile is Useful in its Place

And by Using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills You can Prevent Biliousness and Stomach Troubles.

Bile is usually thought of as a poison in the blood which causes biliousness, bilious headache and derangements of the digestive system. But, like most things in nature, bile is of the greatest usefulness when found in its right place. It is the duty of the liver to filter the bile from the blood where it acts as a poison, and to pass it into the bowels, where, by its antiseptic influence, it prevents the fermentation of the food, and hastens its passage through the alimentary canal.

Consequently when the liver is active in supplying bile to the intestines or bowels there is no constipation, no congestion of the kidneys, no clogging of the digestive system. By keeping the liver active Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prevent and cure biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, as well as serious and complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Mrs. Mishner, Thornhill, Ontario, writes:—"Last January I was seized with a very bad bilious attack, which caused me to have trouble with my liver, kidneys and bladder. I suffered so much with pain that I became completely worn out. Fortunately I resorted to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the use of these pills has left me strong and able to do my work.

"Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as well as his other medicines, have been of great benefit in our household, and in fact the house is never without them. Please publish this letter for the benefit of other sufferers."

Mrs. John Dillon, 23 Pollock St., Galt, Ont., writes: — "I had been troubled with sick headache for some time, and also gas on my stomach. This was so bad at times that I felt I would suffocate before I could get relief. I got some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using these found I was completely cured of both the gas on my stomach and the headaches, and am now enjoying the best of health."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. You cannot expect such results from substitutes, insist on getting the genuine.

LAKE STREET MAY BE SELECTED FOR BATHING BEACH

MR. J. W. WORTH ADVOCATED SPEEDY ACTION AS SEASON IS ADVANCING.

Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Mrs. A. Mowat, Ex-Ald. George Evans, Mr. J. W. Worth and Mr. B. F. Ackerman, of the Playgrounds Association, with Mr. A. G. Roberts, President of the Association, waited on the Special Bathing committee yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. Ald. A. A. McIntyre, chairman of the committee, vainly attempted to gather a quorum, and the waiting committee were preparing to leave when the Mayor walked in and all resumed their seats to discuss the bathing beach situation. Although the meeting was not official without another alderman, the chairman assured the delegation that any decision reached would immediately be acted upon by the Special Bathing Beach committee.

Everybody was agreed that Maria street west was out of the question on account of contamination and that Lake street east was the only point where a suitable beach could be established. The possiblity of an injunction being issued against the city was discussed, but Mr. J. W. Worth said he thought there was too big an inclination in this city of being scared of injunctions. He advocated going ahead with the Lake street proposition at once.

"There is not much fear of an injunction," said City Solicitor Widdifield.

A Suitable Place.

It is a proper way to use the river. It is the only available spot on this side and it is not depriving Mrs. McDonald of the use of the lake.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman—"It will prevent people from undressing in the open near her (Mrs. McDonald's) home, thus doing away with a nuisance that now exists.

Mayor Duncan—Some of the residents on Crescent street and in the vicinity of the proposed new beach are of the opinion that the city is acting in a babyish manner. They say we should go ahead with the proposition and that it certainly would be no nuisance.

Mrs. Mowat stated that years ago the city was in high hopes of having a bathing place on Lake St. east but that Mrs. McDonald stopped it. "I don't see that delay will do us any good because she will not change her mind. We must go on."

Mr. Roberts —"The Playgrounds Association are engaging special supervisors at a monthly salary of $125 and we must have some place for them to teach the children to swim. Mrs. Mowat spoke of the popularity of Inverlea Park as a bathing rendezvous and said she was of the opinion that it would always have first place as a bathing place. She told how boys and even young men are balancing themselves on the fence constructed by the city from the end of the cemment wall to the bridge at a cost of $12 to keep the current from sweeping the youngsters out into the river.

Mayor Duncan—"We will have to swear a man in as constable and establish him at Inverlea. The boys and girls must be prevented from jumping off the Smith street bridge." The Mayor also said he believed the Lake street beach would be self-sustaining when it was started.

HEIR TO MILLIONS KILLED WHEN HIS MOTOR CAR UPSETS

Walter Winton of Scranton, Pa., Failed to Show Up At Curve

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 17—Walter Winton, heir to $2,000,000, a student at Bellefonte Academy, was killed when his automobile upset near here. With six other students Wilton was driving at a fast clip to State College. He failed to slow down at a curve. Two of his companions were injured. Winton's father, a wealthy Scranton resident, died three weeks ago. The son, who was 20 years of age, would have inherited his fortune on his 21st birthday.

HOUR'S RIDE WAS NOT APPRECIATED

More than one citizen has complained lately of the transfer facilities at the corner of Charlotte and George Streets. A school teacher living in the north end of the city, and teaching at the Queen Mary School in the West Ward had an hour's ride yesterday at noon which was not at all appreciated. She transferred from the Charlotte Street car and boarded the car standing on George Street in front of the Customs House, but to her consternation it started south, and the whole south end was visited before the car took the northern route and landed her near her home. She asserted that she took the car standing in the same place the day before and that it went north. She is still at a loss to know which car to take in order to reach the north end of the city.

MILLIGAN WAS GARNERED IN BY THE POLICE

Carl Milligan, 127 Smith Street, made a get-away last Saturday night when his two pards were "pinched" by a blue-coat and fined $14.10 in the Police Court on Monday morning. But long-armed justice followed Milligan, and in the Police Court this morning he parted with $14.10.

FAIR BOARD ASK FOR A GRANT

County Council Promise Consideration.

A deputation from the Peterborough Fair Board waited on the County Council this afternoon and requested a grant of two thousand dollars with which to defray the cost of erecting a new horse barn on the Exhibition grounds.

Warden McIntosh assured the deputation that the Council would endeavour to accede to the request. He also pointed out that such a step was likely to induce Norwood and other County Fair Boards to come along with a similar request.

Among those who formed the deputation were C. Moore, J. Gillespie, E. Wood, W. J. Roberts, H. Weber, Smith Milburn, J. Cox, J. O. Ball, R. M. Glover, T. H. Hooper, J. T. O'Connell and A. Denne, President of the Fair Board.

Printers Return to Work in Vancouver.

Canadian Press:

VANCOUVER, June 19. — Apart from the return to work of certain members of the Typographical Union who were on strike, there have been no developments in the Vancouver strike during the last 24 hours. All daily newspapers are publishing again in Vancouver, following a temporary suspension of two of them. The dispute involved the question of the right of printers to censor news matter bearing on the strike.

The "Daily Sun," appearing this morning for the first time since last Thursday, prints in its news columns an editorial which the men formerly refused to set up.

An outline of the scope of the work to be undertaken by the I.O.D.E., as considered at the recent National Convention, held in Montreal, includes an undertaking by the Order, generally, to assume the responsibility for the education, in Canada, of the orphans of Soldiers and Sailors, until these children reach, at least, the age of 16 years, and to so prevent them from becoming wage earners before that age ,and also to better equip them for their life's work. Another most necessary and humanitarian work to be carried on is that of furnishing physicians and nurses in the frontier of Canada, where the lack of medical assistance results in untold suffering to the settlers.

These undertakings call for generous funds, and the demand on the funds of the Order will be a continued one. Throughout Canada the I.O.D.E. is bending every effort to raise the money, by the employment of every means available.

The Peter Robinson Chapter, of Peterborough, are depending, to a great extent, upon the proceeds of their weekly dances held at Chemong, for these funds, and as these dances are being held every Friday evening throughout the summer, the Chapter bespeaks in behalf of their work and its demands, the continued patronage of all, and especially those who have so generously contributed in the past to the success of these dances.

Messrs. Moher and Fitzgerald will furnish the music at 8.30 Friday night, as usual. The Chapter hopes that you will be present.

WEDDING BELLS

MOUNCE—RECORD

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, June 17th in Mark street Methodist church at 2.30 o'clock, when Bertha Jessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Record, was united in marriage to Mr. Cecil Mounce. Rev. A. J. Thomas officiating.

The bride entered the church on her father's arm, and wore her travelling suit of navy blue, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

Miss E. Kemp presided at the organ and during the signing of the register, sang "Because."

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left on the afternoon train for Hamilton and Buffalo. On their return they will reside in the city.

PENSE—NICOL.

Kingston, Ont., June 18.—The marriage was solemnised in Chalmers Presbyterian Church at noon to-day of Miss Dorothy Nicol, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Nicol, of Cataraqui, and Lieut.Col. Henry Edwards Pense, D.S.O., M.C., of Kingston, commanding officer of the 21st Battalion, lately returned from four years' service overseas.

The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Dr. Malcolm Macgillivray in the presence of immediate relatives. The bride and groom were unattended.

After the ceremony Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Pense left for Algonquin Park, Muskoka, to spend their honeymoon. On their return they will take up residence in Kingston.

JAMES R. BELL

After four days illness caused by ptomaine poisoning James Richard Bell, son of the late John Bell, died last evening at 7:15 o'clock at the family residence, 199 Hunter street He was apparently in his usual good health until Sunday when feeling ill he remained in his bed and from that time gradually sank. The late Mr. Bell was born in the city and had resided here all his life. For the past sixteen years he had conducted a successful grocery business on Hunter street, only retiring a few weeks ago on account of his health which he hoped to regain with a few months rest. All his life he had taken active interest in all church work connected with St. John's church and had been for some years a member of St. John's Choir and President of the Boy's League. Like his father he was an enthusiastic politician always working in the interests of the Conservative party. There are left of the immediate family his wife, his mother, Mrs. John Bell, 451 Water street, two brothers, Joseph of Vancouver and George of Saskatoon and one sister, Victoria at home.

The funeral will take place on Saturday morning at 9.30 to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson, of St. John's Anglican Church, officiating.

Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend the funeral.

JOHN PACY.

John Pacy, one of the oldest residents of Belmont until the last few weeks, when he moved to Havelock, passed away on the 11th inst., in his 75th year. The deceased was a man whom everyone respected most highly, and a man who never forgot the hospitable ways of the pioneer. Another name is now stricken from the ever-lessening roll of our old settlers. He was a man who united sound sense with strong convictions, and his death is a distinct loss to our community.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Friday afternoon to the Maple Grove Cemetery, services being conducted at the house by Rev. James Skene. He is survived by his wife and family of three—Mrs. James Clark of Belmont, Mrs. John G. Williams of Napanee, and Caleb J. Pacy of Mannyberries, Alta. Messrs. Henry Pacy of Belmont, W. J. Pacy of Trenton, and Thomas Pacy of Trenton are brothers of the deceased, and Mrs. Thomas Coon of Trenton is a sister. The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

MR. AMOS. WILBERT JONES.

The death occurred early this morning after a short illness, of Mr. Amos Wilbert Jones, 55 years of age, at his family residence, 650 Concession street. He was born in Hope Township, and was the son of the late William Jones.

Besides a sorrowing widow he leaves four sons and two daughters to mourn his loss: Victor of Indian Head, Sask.; Bert, at home, and Walker and Edgar, overseas; also Alice and Laura, at home.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at. 2.30 p.m., service at 2 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. R. A. Whattam will officiate.

MARGARET JEAN CLARKE.

The death occurred last night of Margaret Jean Clarke, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clarke, 260 Wescott Street, after a short illness. The funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

LESLIE—BROWN.

Mr .Cyril J. F. Leslie, station agent at New Norway, Alberta, was united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 2.30 at Trinity Parsonage, by Rev. F. E. Mallott, to Miss Gladys Pearl Brown, daughter of Mr. Thomas K. Brown, of John Street, city. The young couple will reside in the North-West after a two weeks' honeymoon.

AUTOMOBILE WAS STRUCK BY TRAIN

Mr. William Richardson was given a Severe Shaking Up.

While motoring to Rye's boat house on Monday evening at 10 o'clock Mr. Wm. Richardson, 299 Frederick ave., attempted to cross the G. T. R. track at Lock street in front of a freight train, which he supposed to be standing still. The train however moved before Mr. Richardson got clear of the track, and struck the car in the rear, hurling Mr. Richardson, who was the sole occupant, to the ground, inflicting painful cuts about the head and knees, and giving him a bad shaking up from which he has not as yet recovered. The freight was going at a speed of ten miles an hour at the time of the accident and Mr. Richarson at five miles.

MINERAL OIL

For Chronic Constipation

By buying this product from us you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

JAMES RICHARD BELL DIED LAST EVENING

CONDUCTED A SUCCESSFUL GROCERY BUSINESS ON HUNTER STREET.

James Richard Bell died last evening at his residence, 199 Hunter St., after four days' illness, aged 39 years. He was the son of the late John Bell, of Peterboro, and had resided all his life in the city, where for sixteen years he had conducted a successful grocery business on Hunter street. The funeral announcement will be made later.

BROKER PAYS $75,000 TO LOSE ONE WIFE AND GET ANOTHER

Theodore Dougherty Settles Court Actions Which Followed Wedding to Waldorf Telephone Girl

NEW YORK.—It cost Theodore Dougherty, member of the firm of J. F. Whitney & Co., ship brokers, at No. 10 Bridge street, $75,000 to become the husband of Mrs. Ruby Buchanan Dougherty, formerly a telephone operator at the Waldorf-Astria. Upon the basis of twenty-five cents on the dollar, Mr. Dougherty's first wife, Mrs. Frances B. Dougherty, settled her action against the telephone girl for alleged alienation of his affections.

The sum total of the settlement, which was revealed in the Supreme Court after the clerk was directed to strike the case from the calender, was $75,000. Mrs. Dougherty had sued for $100,000. She had previously received from her one-time husband $22,000 after divorcing him in July 1917 and weekly alimony of $60.

Not until the case was called for trial before Justice Hotchkiss was the compromise made known. Counsel announced a settlement had been reached and from friends of Mrs. Dougherty No. 1 the terms were learned.

Since divorcing her husband, the first Mrs. Dougherty has been living with her father, N. Ives Bennett, a retired jeweler, at Bethel, Conn. She and the ship broker were classmates in the Sunday School of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church at 120th street and Seventh avenue, when they eloped, fifteen years ago.

Mr. Dougherty was twenty-one and had inherited a fortune from his father, who was a prominent ship broker. His bride was nineteen. Their romance continued uninterrupted until early in 1917 when Mr. Dougherty, returning from a business trip, sued for divorce and named an automobile dealer as co-respondent.

But while the action was awaiting trial, Mrs. Dougherty's counsel, Edward H. Burger, noticed an item in a newspaper that a Theodore Dougherty had paid $2,700 to Oscar Hurley of Hall, N.J., for injuries caused when run down by "Mrs. Dougherty."

As Mrs. Frances B. Dougherty was never in that vicinity in her automobile, the lawyer made a quiet investigation. It proved the undoing of the ship broker, and Mrs. Dougherty entered a counter claim for divorce, getting her decree. In lieu of her dower rights Mrs. Dougherty received $42,000 from her husband.

Later Mr. Dougherty married Miss Ruby Buchanan, the telephone girl, and the first wife thereupon began an action against the girl who supplanted her in the affections of Mr. Dougherty.

GOVERNMENT HAS MAJORITY OF 50 ON BUDGET VOTE THIS MORNING

M'MASTER AMENDMENT IS LOST—CALGARY WORKERS ADOPT UNIQUE ATTITUDE—GREAT BRITAIN TO MAKE INITIAL PAYMENT FOR AMERICAN WAR MATERIAL—WEDNESDAY EVENING DESPATCHES.

Thursday morning Bulletin:

OTTAWA, June 19. — The final figures of the vote on the budget which took place in the Commons at 2.30 this morning, establish the government's majority at 50, as recorded on the budget as a whole. The voting was 120 to 70. The debate was concluded at 2.30, and the division bells immediately rang in the members from the corridors. On the amendment submitted by D. D. McMaster, leader of the Opposition, a vote of 76 for and 121 against was recorded.

LIFTED PROHIBITION LAW.

OTTAWA, June 19. — The Senate last night passed the Deviber amendment terminating the prohibitory order-in-council upon the signing of peace, permitting the manufacture as well as the importation of liquors. The vote was 34 to 24.

COMPANY IS BANKRUPT.

TORONTO, June 19. — The Standard Reliance Mortgage Corporation closed its doors yesterday. The liabilities are about eight million five hundred thousand dollars. It is hoped that the assets will meet the claims.

MORE RESOLUTIONS.

CALGARY, June 19. — A meeting of railway employees federation passed resolutions urging a general strike to secure the release of the Winnipeg labor leaders.

MAKE INITIAL PAYMENT.

NEW YORK June 19. — France and Great Britain are to make an initial payment to the United States of one hundred and thirty one million dollars for war material purchased.

TERMINATE DAYLIGHT SAVING.

WASHINGTON, June 19. — The House by a large majority voted to terminate the daylight saving law with the ending of summer time on October 26th.

Wednesday Evening bulletin.

WEIMAR, June 18. — Fifty prisoners recently released from Weimar prison, attacked the castle, in which members of the government are living. They were driven off with machine guns.

CANADIANS AT RIPON.

LONDON, June 18. — The camp troubles have spread to Ripon where the 23rd Canadian Reserve Battalion broke into the canteen and destroyed or consumed the stock, including many barrels of beer.

ANOTHER GENERAL STRIKE.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 18. — The general strike committee appointed last week issued a call for a general strike of union workers to take effect at one o'clock this afternoon.

STRIKERS UP FOR TRIAL.

WINNIPEG, June 18. — An afternoon paper says that the strike leaders will be tried by a special board of enquiry appointed at Ottawa under the new immigration act. No bail will be accepted.

SMUGGLING OPIUM.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., June 18. — Several Canadians from Montreal were given fines to-day ranging from two hundred and fifty to one thousand dollars for smuggling opium into the United States.

VOTE ON PROHIBITION.

WASHINGTON, June 18. — House Judiciary Committee will vote on Saturday on a resolution to modify the war-time prohibition law and permit the sale of wine and beer.

WHIPS WERE BUSY CUTTING DOWN SUPPLY OF ORATORY

FEW BRIGHT SPOTS IN THE BUDGET DEBATE NOW—BOTH SIDES ARE ANXIOUS TO GET THROUGH—WHO WILL BE NEW MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE?

OTTAWA, June 18.—Running under high pressure, eighteen speeches were run through the parliamentary mill yesterday. The [illegible] on both sides are doing the [illegible] They stood up at 11 a.m. till 12 p.m. [illegible] made, oiling the machinery, and otherwise showing themselves first-class political mechanics.

Early in the day it was decided that something must be done to cut down the supply of disinterested patriotism members desired to embalm in the pages of Hansard. Orders were issued, couched in terms of a request, that Government orators cut their speeches to twenty minutes. The heat helped. Even members in Palm Beach suits found the chamber a sweat pit. Ordinary farmer members, who feared that a photo of them in that aristocratic attire might prove disastrous in the next election, were sorely tempted to brave the rules of the House and shock Mr. Speaker by shedding their coats. But rejoice, Oh ye mainstays of the constitution! The dignity of Parliament is still intact, albeit several of our more retund members are several pounds lighter as a consequence.

Becomes More Affable.

But others besides the whips and orators perspired throughout the day. Never has a Government labored so hard to bring home its wandering boys. Nor has the old problem of how to keep the boys on the farm anything on the present burning question of how to keep the farmer members on the Government benches. Even the staid and dignified Premier is becoming a mixer. He is noticed on occasions sitting on a back bench, wearing a smile that is almost as charming as the curl of his hair, and is conversing amicably with members who in more prosaic times would consider themselves lucky to catch a passing nod. Nor is amicability the only argument being used. One old farmer from Saskatchewan is said to have had a Senatorship dangled before his eyes. But after a careful examination of the Senators from his province, he evidently concluded that each and every one of them would outlive this Government, for during the evening he stood up and declared he would vote for the amendment and against the Government.

Swing Back to Government.

The vacant agricultural portfolio is also being worked a bit, and a Manitoba grain grower is gloating a bit over having his name connected with it, regardless of the fact that he would probably be annihilated of he went back to his constituency for re-election. And all this industry is bringing results. Doubtful farmers are swinging back to the Government. Last night it was claimed that a majority of the Liberal-Unionists from the prairies would support the Government, and the rush to a division is partially to get their votes polled before another western breeze again blows them into the doubtful column. The Grits are helping out because their convention draws nigh, and they would fain get out by themselves and do heavy thinking before the big event is upon them.

Meantime the Ottawa organ of the Government tries to read Hon. F. B. Carvell out of the Ministry, and practically appeals to Sir Arthur Currie to "come over and help us" in the Cabinet reorganization to take place right after prorogation.

Who Will Ie Be?

A whisper also comes from inner Cabinet circles that a scrap is on as to who is to succeed Hon. T. A. Crerar as Minister of Agriculture. Hon. Arthur Meighen is said to favor Tolmie, of Victoria, who, as a stock man, would fit the job acceptably. But Hon. Jim Calder wants a man from the prairies, and his choice is C. M. Hamilton, of Weyburn, who was chairman of the famous Winnipeg convention, and is now a director of the National [illegible] Tolmie, who could probably carry his constituency, while anything wearing a Union tag would have its troubles in Saskatchewan.

Saw The Light Shine.

As to the debate, the subject matter has been pretty well threshed out, and the bright spots are becoming more and more scattered. Fred Pardee, speaking from the cross benches, stood out as the most forceful and emphatic of yesterday's list. The former Liberal whip is back where he belongs in the Opposition ranks, and manfully lined up behind the all-embracing McMaster amendment. Also he took a few punches at the Government of which he so proudly refused to form a part. He declared that the soldiers wanted action, and that the people were tired of having the Government shift every knotty problem on to the shoulders of a commission. He liked the income tax, and wanted more of it, but feared that the administration of it was not sympathetic, and pointed to 31,000 contributors for a total of $6,5000,000 collected as proff. He promised trouble for the Government unless an improvement was shown. His motto was: "Tax what you will, but leave the food and raiment of the working class free." Also he made a suggestion in connection with tax-free bonds. They were being gathered in by the rich and the big corporations, he said, and he thought that legislation making every bond transferred subject to taxation might help to solve the problem, and help out the deficit.

Due To Rowell.

Among other mild features of a rather featureless day was "Nobby" White's invitation to Hon. J. Calder to prove himself a hero by contesting a prairie constituency, and Mr. Argue's declaration that he would support the Government because of Mr. Rowell's statement that T. A. Crerar was willing to remain in the Government if the tariff was left unmolested for the present war year. The Swift Current man had been listed as doubtful, and a his statement brought Union applause, while Mr. Crerar wore his usual smile.

It is said by the farmer leader's friends that he cannot reply to Mr. Rowell's charge without a further disclosing of Cabinet secrets, which both he and the president of the Privy Council were sworn to keep. But he smiles as he thinks what will happen to prairie members who offer the Rowell theory as their excuse for staying with the Government.

Two Alberta members, Holliday and Shaw, made records for brevity, both declaring for the Government inside the same five minutes, and a wicked westerner grinningly thanked them for reducing the cost of circulating their speeches in their constituencies.—Toronto Telegram.

New Invention Retains Rupture Without Pain or Loss of Time.

Old-fashioned galling, slipping trusses and foreign mail order methods are done away with by the surgical inventions of a Canadian [illegible] who has devoted years to this one [illegible] and has now given "CURATIVE" (as required to order) gives instant retention, real comfort, where others have failed. It prevents all irritation, rotating every part in its natural position as soon as it is used, and ready-made trusses are thrown away. Egan's "Curatrus" is intended to assist nature in her work of closing the opening in the shortest time known and at small cost. Testimonials from men, women and parents. Nothing complicated. No inconvenience, but just a natural retentive method. It costs you nothing to investigate. Delays may be dangerous. Now is the time to make yourself comfortable for your daily work.

FINDLAY GETS TWO YEARS

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 17.—W. F. Findlay, former prohibition commissioner, was found guilty at the assizes of stealing 74 cases of liquor from the government and was to-day sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

To Remove First Signs of Old Age

"The infallible first signs of age is the sagging cheek muscles," says Mme. Cavalieri, whose fame as a beauty culturist is scarcely less than that of a songstress. "These are more difficult and serious to treat than wrinkles," she continues. "The sagging muscles indicate they have grown too weak to remain in place; they must be assisted, strengthened."

The best way to strengthen them is by bathing the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This creates a freer circulation to the parts, besides causing muscles and skin to contract. Saxolite, procurable at every drug store, has long been knowm by complexion specialists to possess remarkable tonic and astringent properties, valuable in treating flabby tissues and wrinkles.

GRAIN MARKET

A strong bull market again characterized transactions in the grain options markets yesterday. Crop conditions reports were mostly of a favourable character, but despite these the present situation is considered very favourable to the holder, and offerings consequently are light. In the local cash market business is quiet, with only an odd car of stuff here and there coming out. There is a good cash demand for oats, barley and rye.

Manitoba wheat — In store, Fort William: No. 1 Northern $2.24½; No. 2 Northern, $2.21½; No. 3 Northern, $2.17½; No. 4 wheat, $2.11.

CATTLE MARKET

Market was strong to 25c. higher for good to choice butcher steers and heifers.

Fat butcher cows 25c. higher.

Calves strong, around $19 for extra choice.

As anticipated early in the week, the hog market is fairly running away with itself, and prices are away past all previous records. Tuesday the buyers settled on the basis of $23, fed and watered. Yesterday prices were again quoted from 25c. to 5c. higher than Tuesday, but there is much irregularity as regards prices, and no one can tell just exactly what is being paid.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3,435.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 25% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

FREED BY UNWRITTEN LAW.

English Jury Acquits Father Charged with Manslaughter.

LONDON.—The unwritten law has been recognized by the verdict rendered at the Bodmin Assizes in Cornwall, despite the strong appeal by the Judge to the jury against permitting itself to be swayed by sentiment.

An officer named Captain Ernest Schiff, well-known in London Bohemian circles, was found on March 24 badly beaten on the cliffs near Carbis and died a few days later. A miner called Albert John Nicholls was charged with manslaughter in connection with this. Evidence showed that Schiff had been pressing his attention on Nicholl's daughter, who was a servant at his hotel, and had invited her to go to London with him.

Nicholls, in giving his testimony, told how he went to Schiff and walked out on the cliffs to discuss the matter with him. Then a fight occurred. Nicholls contending that Schiff struck the first blow and that he was afraid Schiff would use knuckle dusters. Nicholls admitted hitting Schiff and choking him and knocking him down.

The Judge strongly denounced the unwritten law as tending to destroy all order, and bade the jury not to be swayed by natural sympathy with the injured father. The jury acquitted Nicholls without leaving the box.

HAWKER PRAISES ALCOCK'S FLIGHT.

LONDON, June 17.—Harry G. Hawker, the aviator who recently made an unsuccessful attempt to cross the Atlantic from Newfoundland, is credited by the Central News as saying with regard to Captain Alcock's achievement: "It was a magnificent and very fine feat. I am very glad Capt. Alcock was able to make the flight in real fashion without warships and all that sort of thing. It is very gratifying from that point indeed."

HASTINGS NEWS OF INTEREST

HASTINGS, June 18.—The marriage took place of Mr. Wm. Buck to Miss Mildred Howson, eldest daughter of Mrs. B. Howson, of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Irwin, pastor of the Norwood Methodist church on Wednesday last, after which the happy young couple boarded the C.P.R. for a short honeymoon trip to Buffalo. On their return they will take up residence on Mr. Buck's farm, Norwood Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck have a host of friends, who join in wishing them a long life of unalloyed bliss.

Special Services

At the anniversary services on Sunday held in connection with the Presbyterian church, Rev. Mr. McIntosh of Campbellford, addressed the congregation at both services. The choir was assisted by Miss Ida Lynn, Peterboro, who rendered some choice numbers which were well given and well received.

Large congregation attended the forty hours devotion held in the R. C. Church last week. Those who assisted in the services were Rev. Father McGuire of Peterboro, Rev. Father McGuire of Douro and Rev. Father Ferguson. At the conclusion of the services, Mrs. P. Howard, on behalf of the I.O.D.E. presented to the church the sum of $50.00 to be used to assist in the erection of a memorial for the brave men who made the Supreme Sacrifice in the late war.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Master Touch

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Delia rolled up the fluffy bundle of lawn she was sprinkling for ironing and went to the stairway to listen. A glorified light shone in her upraised face as the plaintive notes of a violin came floating down from above.

Sylvia was practicing her overture, and this was the selection chosen by the great teacher for her little sister's presentation to the musical world.

The elder sister caught her breath in anticipated triumph as Sylvia's music came to her. Was it not this hour for which she had labored unceasingly, sacrificing her own youthful pleasure in the effort. When Delia's father had lived, it had been their dream—the father's and her's—that she might grow up to be the musical genius which care and responsibilities had moved beyond his own reach.

As Sylvia sat wide-eyed while Delia played on her father's violin, a sudden purpose came into the young girl's heart. This little one should now be the genius of the family. In Sylvia should be the fulfillment of her own and her father's dream. Love of music was evidenced surely in Sylvia's tireless pleasure in her playing; Sylvia should have these advantages of training which she and her father had missed.

And when the last home teacher had assured her that Sylvia could learn no more from her, Delia had taken her to the city where "the master" lived. She would not confess even to herself that his lack of enthusiasm in Sylvia's promise had almost brought discouragement. These unsuccessful years were difficult to conceal.

And now Delia was anxious to try the strain which had been Sylvia's afternoon theme.

There was much that the elder sister passed by perplexedly, but the dominating melody came breathing subdued, beneath her bow. Sylvia in the garden must not hear, must not know of her elder sister's clumsy following. Sylvia must know no other touch save that of the best. And as Delia played happy tears glistened upon her lashes.

She was seeing in fancy a victorious vision of her youthful sister, the center of attraction amid a throng of upraised faces. There would be admiration in these faces at Sylvia's surprising beauty; and then when she began to play, moving her soft, white arms, the admiration would deepen into emotion. Oh! that one hour would more than repay the years of deprivation. And the teacher, he would be there, his keen eyes resting upon her.

Delia sighed as she laid aside the violin. "All that was really worth while would come to the little sister." When at last she awaited in the big hall the coming of Sylvia's number on the program she sat unheeding other pupils' best efforts. Delia's face was very hot, her hands so cold.

Upon her came a realization of some impending crisis, and she could not shake off the feeling. Then toward her, down the aisle came the great teacher.

"If you please," he said, "will you come to Miss Sylvia in her dressing room. She is obsessed with stage fright and cannot be persuaded to play her part. That is the principal number on the program. You may be able to give her courage."

Silently Delia rose and followed him. Together they stood by her little sister's side. Upon the floor before them lay a discarded violin. The girl was crying tumultuously.

"I can't do it," she sobbed. "I hate music, I hate the violin. It was only to please you, Delia, always. I could not disappoint you. But now—" Sylvia arose determinedly—"I'm going away," she said.

"Oh!" she whispered, "our dream!" Then, very sadly, she picked up the discarded violin, her fingers sought the bow.

Then she remembered again the teacher was standing near, gazing spellbound into her face.

"You!" he burst out, sharply, "go to them, those waiting people, and play what your sister should have played."

"You mean!" breathed Delia.

The teacher put his hand upon the roughened one holding the violin bow. "I mean," he answered gently, "that yours is the genius; yours, the master's touch."

So, in her plain white muslin frock, the elder sister stood and played to the waiting throng. But she saw not the admiration of those upraised faces, or the emotion which grew and deepened, for the joyous soul of Delia was up among the stars.

THERE IS DANGER IN TENDER GUMS

To preserve healthy teeth the ordinary tooth-paste is futile. You must first care for the gums, on which tooth health depends.

How many people think of this? Yet four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-decay, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease).

At first the gums become tender, though actual gum-shrinkage is imperceptible. But in time receding gums will surely loosen your teeth, and then only a dentist can save them. The tender, bleeding gums of Pyorrhea also act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's (For the Gums) prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. This means that it prevents gum-shrinkage, gum-tenderness, gum-blooding. So, automatically, Forhan's prevents tooth loosening.

Brush your teeth with it. It scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for treatment.

Infielders and Outfielders.

It would take a modern Solomon to select the premier ball player from the galaxy of headliners. Leaving out the twirlers and the heavy stickers, and taking only the field work of the players at large into consideration, I have found that a majority of fans agree on the proposition that infielders are more useful than outfielders, and that, if a man to stand at the head of the baseball class is selected for his general usefulness, he will be chosen from among the men covering first, second, third or short. Take Cobb and Collins, for instance, who are wonders at fielding their positions. Last year Cobb had 300 chances to retire batsmen and Collins had 304. Speaker, out among the daisies, had 428 opportunities to make errors, while Weaver had 260, and McInnes 1,595 chances.—Ed A. Goewey in Leslie's.

A Bargain in Pearls.

Five fine pearls for 2 cents apiece was the bargain picked up by Miss Grace Lane shortly before the war broke out. Passing down a busy street in London, she saw a peddler with a trayful of pearls and a placard inscribed, "Real Pearls—Two Cents Each." Afterward she found that they were worth $50 apiece. A jeweler had hawked the pearls around to win a wager, firmly convinced that nobody would believe they were real, and do nobody would buy them.

THIEVES ENTERED OMEMEE STORE

GOODS REMOVED FROM CELLAR—OMEMEE NEWS OF INTEREST.

OMEMEE, June 18.—On Saturday evening, at a late hour, some sneak thief or thieves broke into Mr. Wm. Curry's hardware and dry goods store, gaining entrance by prying open a back window leading to the cellar. So far Mr. Curry can not state how much was stolen, but believes the case might have been worse had not Mrs. Clarke, his sister, who resides above the store, heard the noise and raised the window, which no doubt shortened his visit.

Annual Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Women's Institute was held on the spacious lawn of Mrs. George McQuade on Monday afternoon. The meeting, which was well attended, opened with "The Maple Leaf For Ever," after which the secretary's and treasurer's report was given, and the speaker for the afternoon, Miss Foote, was introduced. Miss Foote gave a very interesting talk on "How we are Governed," after which refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Were in Wreck.

The 9 o'clock passenger train which was wrecked between Lindsay and Ops stations carried on it some citizens of our village. Mrs. Albert Ford and Mrs. Shay, also Mrs. Rutherford and daughter, of town, all of whom came off without any serious injuries, but all show signs of a wreck, Mrs. Rutherford having received two cuts on the back of her hand, which required medical attention.

Farmers' Meeting.

The farmers of South Victoria will run a candidate for the Legislature at the next election against Mr. John Carew, of Lindsay, the present member. The nomination has already been made, and the choice was unanimous for Mr. F. G. Sandy, who lives on a farm a short distance from this village, a farm which, as to cultivation and all appointments, is a bright example of up-to-date agricultural methods. Mr. Sandy is county president of the farmers' organization. He is a man of pleasing personality, a good speaker, popular with his neighbours, and as a representative in the Legislature, would be a credit to any riding in Ontario. His enthusiastic supporters pledge themselves to stand behind him to the end.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy opened their beautiful home to friends and neighbours on Thursday evening last, and over one hundred invited guests from all sections of the riding and the adjacent district assembled, coming in horse vehicle, in autos, and by trains from a distance, some of them of over thirty miles. The object of the gathering was to hear the farmers' platform explained, the speaker chosen for the evening being Mr. H. B. Cowan, of Farm and Dairy, a competent authority, seeing that Mr. Cowan was a member of the committee that drew up the new confession of political faith. The guests of the evening, assembled in the spacious lawn, which was suitably decorated with flags and welcome signs, and the gracious host and hostess admirably devoted themselves to making their guests feel perfectly at home.

About 6 o'clock Mr. Sandy called the gathering to order and delivered a brief address of welcome. He then asked Mr. John Brock, vice-president of the county organization, to preside, and Mr. Brock discharged the duties of chairman to the satisfaction of everybody.

Other speakers who followed Mr. Cowan, all of them declaring their unfailing allegiance to the new party, were Mrs. F. Webster, who is a pleasing and fluent speaker, showing a wonderful grasp of the political situation of the day, and who urged the women of the riding to use the franchise; Mr. John Mitchell, Mr. Robert Reid, Mr. M. J. Clancey, Mr. Harry Lamb and Mr. W. H. Kennedy. The two last mentioned are rated as manufacturers. Both expressed themselves in accord with the new movement.

An excellent musical programme was furnished by local talent to piano accompaniment. There was a solo by Mr. Isaac Lucas, a solo by Miss Rena Cullis, a duet by Miss L. Parsons and Mrs. C. Corneil, a solo by Miss Laidley and a solo by Miss Webster, daughter of the talented lady speaker of the evening.

Dainty refreshments were served, and after Mr. Sandy had thanked the audience for their attendance, the gathering broke up at a late hour with the singing of the National Anthem, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and cheers for the candidate.

RAIN INSURANCE IN ENGLAND

An English daily paper reports that many inquiries are now being received in the insurance market, and the underwriters are called upon to deal with various meteorological problems. One large insurance which is being arranged is in respect of a deer forest, the owner desiring to effect for the season policy "A," under which he would receive payment for each week in which there occurs more than two days when the rainfall amounts to 0.20 of an inch. The premium in this case would run into hundreds of pounds, and the payment provided for would be correspondingly large. In another case, a holiday-maker wished to effect a Pluvius policy in respect of a visit to the Lake District. The rate quoted was considerably higher than those ruling for seaside towns. An enquiry was received a day or two ago for rates of rain insurance in connection with a series of open-air boxing entertainments, which it is proposed to hold throughout the country.

SICK HEADACHE and CONSTIPATION CURED BY
Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive, the bowels become constipated, the tongue becomes coated, the breath bad, and the stomach all out of order.

Then come those terrible sick headaches. They take out every bit of life and ambition, bring on depression, and often end in complete mental and physical prostration.

To keep the liver active, and your bowels moving regularly, is the only way to get rid of the constipation and the distressing sick headaches. Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will do this for you by stimulating the sluggish liver into manufacturing sufficient bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular.

Mrs. Winslow McKay, Jordan Branch, N.S., writes: "I have been sick for a number of years with sick headache and constipation. I tried all kinds of doctors' medicines, but none did me any good. I tried Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and after using four vials I am completely cured. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are small and easy to take; and do not gripe, weaken or sicken as do many pills do. Price 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

You Can Start With 25 Cents and be An Investor

And you can invest it in securities as safe and profitable as any held by capitalists.

Twenty-five cents saved each week can be made to earn 4½% interest by a very simple plan.

Thrift Stamps cost twenty-five cents each. Sixteen of these when exchanged for a War Savings Stamp become a 4½% interest-bearing security for which the Government will pay you $5.00 in 1924.

In other words, if you lend the Government the $4.00 odd you have saved by this easy means, the Government will pay it back to you WITH AN ADDITIONAL DOLLAR five years from now.

And you become an investor in the safest of all securities—a Government Bond.

METHODISTS SPLIT ON PROFITS VS. SERVICE

HOT AS THE WEATHER WAS THE DEBATE IN CONFERENCE— IVENS SEVERELY SCORED.

TORONTO, June 18.—Hot as the weather was the debate in the Toronto Methodist Conference yesterday. Some of the brethern took their coats off before it was over, but more in heat than in anger.

It was all over the attitude of Methodism to industrial problems, The unrest that is in the Canadian air has reached the Conference, and it is fairly well divided as to the remedies to be applied to the sore spots on the economic life of the nation.

Rev. R. N. Burns, was speaker.

"I have just been to the war and I came back here expecting to find peace," he said. "But I am enough of an Irishman to want to get into a Donnybrook when I see one."

He had been in Winnipeg lately. He had been told of loyal citizens who had buttons and flags torn off their coats by the strikers. "I put a flag on my coat and went down street, telling my friends that if any man tried to take it off, he would find a pugilistic preacher."

Then he launched into a hot attack on Ivens. Here was a man who was a avowed pacifist. He had refused to have any part in the war. He had described our soldiers as murderers. He would not do anything to aid the Red Cross nurses. "That man is not a leader—he is a demagogue," he exclaimed.

His New Station.

"He was formerly a Methodist minister but was left without a station. Now he has one—the police station." Conference had a laugh at this sally.

Mr. Burns went on to tell of Ivens' pacifism. "If I had been there I would have asked somebody to hold the door and I'd have knocked the pacifism out of him."

A voice: "Hit him hard."

Having disposed of Mr. Ivens, the soldier-speaker then defined what the church should do.

"The church should give leadership in this crisis. It should not do something just to gain a bit of applause, and it should preach the ideals of Christ, not only to the toiler, but to the capitalist."

SEE NO REDUCTION IN PRICE OF COAL

HON. A. K. MACLEAN TELLS PUBLIC TO PRESS FOR SUPPLIES.

OTTAWA, June 17.—Hon. A. K. Maclean, acting Minister of Trade and Commerce, issued a statement on the coal situation saying:

"I am urged to draw the attention of the public to the fact that owing to lack of orders many mines were forced to close down in the early spring, with the result that some seven million tons of coal, or one-twelfth of the yearly output, was lost, and there is, in consequence, a shortage of just that amount of coal with which to enter next winter.

"Furthermore, it is patent to everyone that with the unrest existing today, and with the absolute knowledge that there is a cold winter ahead, there is only one sound policy for the Canadian consumer of coal to follow, both in respect to imported coal and also as to domestic coal. That sound policy is to keep pressing for supplies and to leave nothing undone until each consumer has at least a substantial portion of his next winter's supply in his cellar.

"Apart from the foregoing facts, there is still a further consideration to be borne in mind, that is: the public need not look at the present time for a reduction in coal prices. If there is to be any change, every indication points rather to an increase."

COUNCIL AGAINST HANGING.

ST. To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.

FORT HENRY DEPLETED.

KINGSTON, June 17.— The detachment at Fort Henry now consists of about 30 men, although the strength is supposed to be 180, all ranks. It has been found impossible to get men to remain in uniform after their return from overseas. The men have very little to do in the way of guard duties and they have the place in fine shape. DARING HOLD-UP.

Bandits Rob Messengers of Sum of Money at Subway.

Canadian Press:

NEW YORK, June 14.—Six hold-up men operating at the entrance to an elevated station in uptown Manhattan attached two messengers of the Colonial Bank shortly before noon yesterday, and made off in an automobile with a large sum of money which was being carried to the Federal Reserve Bank.

One of the messengers shot one of the robbers, who was carried to the automobile by his companions. The bank officials declined to make a statement as to the loss.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM PERMANENTLY CURED

There are many types of rheumatism, but none worse than inflammatory.

It was this kind that almost killed Mrs. Edward Warman, of Kent Jct., N. B.

Every known remedy she tried, different doctors gave their advice, but the disease increased.

Weak and despairing she was at her wits' end when the remarkable cure of Thos .Cullen was published. This gentleman was cured by "Ferrozone." Consequently Mrs. Warman used the same remedy. Here is her statement:

"For five years I have been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pain and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened; my shoulders were lame and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism; cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

Ferrozone has power to destroy Uric Acid, neutralize and enrich the blood, and therefore does cure the worst cases. Mrs. Warman's statement proves this.

By removing the cause of the disease and building up a reserve of energy Ferrozone is certain to cure. Sufferer, isn't it about time to stop experimenting? Ferrozone is a CURE; order to-day, 50c per box, or six for $2.50; sold by all dealers or direct from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

FORM NEW GOVERNMENT

VON BERNSTORFF MAY HEAD THE PEACE DELEGATION WHEN ACTUAL SIGNING TAKES PLACE.

BIG STRIKE IS THREATENED

(United Press.)

WEIMAR, June 20.—A movement was under way here to-day to form a new German Cabinet, as a result of the present bodies opposition to signing the peace treaty. Both Mathias Erzberger and Gustav Noske were spoken of as possible successors to Chancellor Schediemann, with Count Von Bernstorff to replace Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau and go to Versailles for the actual signing.

The situation among the various government bodies here to-day appeared to be as follows:

Peace Delegation—Unanimously opposed to acceptance of the terms.

Cabinet—Majority inclined against signing.

The Peace committee of the National Assembly met late to-day, and although the Assembly as a whole will have the final vote on acceptance or rejection of the treaty, the recommendation of the committee was expected to have an important influence on the remainder of the Assembly. The industrial situation is becoming more tense and reports have been received here that a general strike is pending in Berlin. The government claims the Independent Socialists are striving to force acceptance of the treaty through a nation-wide strike, starting in the capital. Despatches from Essen to-day reported an unsuccessful attempt to establish a Soviet Republic in the Ruhr industrial region. Communists, it was said, failed in a desperate effort to occupy Hasborn and Sterkrade. Both towns under martial law and the government troops there have been reinforced.

A Proclamation.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, June 20.—The Independent Socialists to-day published a proclamation demanding that the government sign the peace treaty and warning it against refusal.

Will Resign.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WEIMAR, June 20.— The present German Cabinet has definitely decided to resign and make room for a new Ministry that can sign the peace treaty, according to authoritative information obtained to-night. The new Cabinet, it was said, would place itself officially on record as favouring the acceptance of the terms so that today's session of the National Assembly assembled to make the final decision of the treaty, would probably be a mere formality for ratification of the new Cabinet's decision.

Either War Minister Noske or Herman Muller was expected to head the new Ministry. The old Cabinet was said to stand eight to seven against signing.

Official Statement.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, June 20. — An official statement it is reported, will be given out shortly, paving the way for acceptance of the peace treaty. The statement, it was said, will point out that the Allies' concessions are after all, "noticeable."

THERE IS EVERY REASON TO BELIEVE GERMANY WILL SIGN PEACE THE TREATY

CHANCELLOR SCHEIDEMANN'S GOVERNMENT HAS FALLEN AND A NEW ONE IS BEING FORMED—NOSKE IS VERY POPULAR WITH THE RIGHT WING.

(United Press.)

PARIS, June 20.—Advices received by the American Peace Commission today stated that the German government of Chancellor Scheidemann has fallen and that War Minister Noske is likely to be Scheidemann's successor.

Attitude Unchanged.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, June 20.— "The Government's attitude after reading the full text of the Allies' reply to the counter proposals is unchanged," an official statement said to-day. "The terms are undesirable and cannot be fulfilled."

"Considerable significance was attached in political circles here to the fact that the statement did not reiterate that the terms are "unacceptable."

Earlier United Press despatches from Weimar indicated that the acceptance of the treaty could only come through the fall of the Scheidemann Ministry and the creation of a new Cabinet.

Government Fallen.

PARIS, June 20. — The Scheidemann government in Germany has fallen, it was learned here to-day. News of the event reported during the morning was confirmed later by military advices through Coblenz from both Weimar and Berlin. The downfall of the Scheidemann government was made known to the peace conference. It is believed to assure the signing of the peace treaty by Germany as Philipp Scheidemann was understood to be the chief opponent to the acceptance of the revised peace terms. It is expected that Minister of War Noske will be the new Chancellor. Previous advices had indicated that four members of the Scheidemann Cabinet were insisting upon the signing of the treaty and it is presumed here that this caused the fall of the ministry.

Very Popular.

Noske is very popular, not only with the right wing of his own party, but with the Conservatives, since he was able to protect property during the recent disorders in Berlin. He is unpopular and even hated by the Radicals of his party and Independent Socialists because of the rigor with which he suppressed the disturbances. The new Cabinet, according to a report, meets this morning and will presumably settle the question of signing the treaty. It is expected to accept the Allied terms, although experts who have considered the treaty have unanimously rejected it as impossible. Several of the old Cabinet will retain office ,among them being Mathias Erzberger and Eduard David. Baron Von Richthofen said this afternoon that the new Cabinet will sign the treaty but "on condition." Although he did not state what conditions were meant it is believed they will be in form of demands upon the Entente, granting or refusal of which would not hinder the signing of the treaty.

It is understood here that the fall of the Scheidemann government entails the fall also of President Ebert. The National Assembly will probably take measures to select a successor to Herr Ebert.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

"The growing belief that Germany would sign the peace treaty was strengthened to-day by news of the fall of the Scheidemann ministry in that country. The Premier has been one of the most outspoken of German officials in his opposition to the treaty. Paris advices indicate the expectation there that the Cabinet formed by a success will be one that will accept the Allied terms on Monday.

Has Accepted.

The German National Assembly at Weimar has accepted the peace treaty, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Paris.

ATTITUDE OF ORGANIZED LABOUR

A. F. of L. in Convention Refuses to Ask for Release of Strike Breakers —Adopts Middle Course.

Canadian Press:

ATLANTIC CITY., N. J., June 20. —The American Federation of Labor, in convention here, refused to-day to ask for the release of the so-called political and industrial prisoners convicted under the espionage and other war-time acts. Instead, the Federation adopted a modified resolution, requesting that these acts be rescinded with the formal coming of peace.

WILL BE TRIED IN TWO COUNTS

Strike Leaders Will Face Deportation and Sedition and Conspiracy Charges—Government Denies Existence of a Special Court.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20.—It is officially stated that no commission has gone from Ottawa to undertake the trial of the strike leaders arrested in Winnipeg. The fact that Inspectors Reed and Reynolds have gone out to keep in touch with affairs for the Immigration Department may have been responsible for the report that a commission had gone. It is said here that the men will be tried under two courts, first under the criminal code for sedition and conspiracy, and second under the Immigration Act, looking toward ultimate deportation.

MR. WILFRED F. HUYCKE IS CALLED TO THE BAR

Among the list of new barristers enrolled at Osgoode Hall yesterday was Mr. Wilfrid Field Huycke, son of His Honour Judge Huycke. He was well advanced in his law studies when the war broke out, and since then he has seen long service as a Lieutenant overseas. His many friends in Peterborough will congratulate him in his admission to the bar, and wish for him the success and honours approximating those he won during the eventful years of the war, and will also hope that he may achieve the position attained by his father, and for which he is doubtless naturally endowed.

PETERBORO MEN REACH HALIFAX

CABINET RESIGNS

"THE ALLIES HAVE NEVER BEEN FAITHFUL TO US," SHOUT ITALIAN DEPUTIES.

AFFECTS CONFERENCE

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, June 20. —"Remain faithful to our duties towards the Allies" was a passage in the address of Premier Orlando to-day which turned the tide against the Premier and resulted in the adverse vote, which had its sequel in the resignation of the Orlando Cabinet. The Premier's words aroused anger and hostility of the deputies. There was great tumult and cries of "The Allies have never been faithful to us, why should we be faithful to them?"

A Difficult Situation.

PARIS, June 20.— Resignation of Premier Orlando's Cabinet, should the King of Italy decide to accept it, would, according to conference circles, result in the indefinite postponement of the settlement of the Adriatic question, as it, would involve the appointment of a new set of Italian delegates to the peace conference. This raises an additional question as to who will sign the German treaty for Italy.

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE CONFERENCE

CLOSING SESSION OF THE BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

WHITBY, June 20.— After a very close contest, Rev. W. Pomeroy Rogers, B.A., of Napanee, was elected president of Bay of Quinte Conference on the second ballot. Rev. Chas. H. Coon, of Lindsay, was a very strong rival. Both these men have rendered yeoman service in this Conference. The secretarial work fell to the lot of Rev. John R. Butler, of Warkworth, on the first ballot, and Revs. J. F. Chapman, B.A., and George C. R. McQuade were appointed assistant secretaries. A new feature of the opening of Conference was a sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Allen, of Detroit. Truly he brought a helpful message to the Conference. Dr. Allen believes that the church must "drive right on" with the gospel of Jesus Christ, and that the result will be a strength superior to the gates of hell. The public service held in the Tabernacle last evening was addressed by Rev. F. W. Foley, Rev. F. Langford of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Scott, of Belleville. Mr. W. L. Payne occupied the chair.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE WEDNESDAY

SEVERAL CARS OFF THE TRACK AT LAKEFIELD.

LAKEFIELD, June 20.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph Ayotte took place on Wednesday morning. Rev. Father Meagher celebrated High Mass at St. Mary's Church, Young's Point, and conducted the funeral services. Interment took place in St. Mary's Cemetery. Mrs. Ayotte was a daughter of Mr. George Trainer of Harvey, and is survived by her husband, Mr. Joseph Ayotte, and three sons, B. A. Ayotte, of Walkerville, R. E. Ayotte, of Lindsay, and L. J. Ayotte of Detroit and three daughters, Misses May, Aggie, and Viola, of Lindsay.

Messrs. John Mooney of Windsor, and Mr. John Kylie of Peterborough, attended the funeral.

CARS OFF TRACK.

On Wednesday, while a car was being loaded with lumber, several heavily loaded cars were pushed a little out of the way of the workmen, and once started, they gained considerable headway and were derailed near the Cement Co.'s terrace. The affair caused great excitement, as the cars were in the way of the passenger train, but the damage was repaired before the arrival of the morning train.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday's best (or worst) in the line of heat was 91 degrees. Severe thunderstorms apparently raged both west and north, and some of the minor ones passed over Peterboro. The rainfall totalled .28. Considerably cooler weather prevails to-day. Some interesting comparisons of this month with June of other years will appear to-morrow.—W. P.

WINNIPEG'S SYMPATHETIC STRIKE MAY BE IMMEDIATELY CALLED OFF

MANY PETERBORO RETURNED SOLDIERS ARE TAKING COURSES

The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is spending approximately $2,280 this year at the Peterborough Business College. There are altogether nineteen returned soldiers at the local Business College who are taking courses at the expense of the Government. Most of the men are taking the commercial course, but very few the Civil Service course, as one of the students was informed that there was already a waiting list of over 600 in this district for Civil Service appointments.

HAVE A WIDE CHOICE

The returned men have the choice of almost any course in existence, and it is a matter of pride that nineteen should prefer the local Business College to the numerous other excellent courses offered by the Government. While the returned men are attending school here, they are paid by the Government at the rate of $15.00 a week, which is for a five-hour school day, 60c an hour. The course costs the Government $15.00 a month for each man, or with text-books approximately $120.00 a year, which, with pay at the rate of $3.00 a day, totals approximately $9,690.00 up to the end of June, 1919.

GROVE CLOSING WAS BIG SUCCESS

PRIZES AWARDED LAST EVENING— A GOOD RECORD.

With relatives and friends of the boys from as far as Cuba and several from Peterboro including His Honor Judge Huycke and Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Cameron the attendance at the annual Grove School (Lakefield) closing held last evening on the lawns of the School was the largest ever assembled at a similar function.

Splendid Record.

In a short address Rev. A. W. Mc-Kenzie, Headmaster of the School, spoke of the influence of the older boys upon the younger ones and of the fact that the names of the winners on the athletic prizes also figured amongst the winners of the academic prizes. He referred to the exceptionally good swimming record which had been made by the boys of the School during the past year and pointed out the fact that every boy in the school but one is now able to swim.

The Prizes

During the evening the different prizes won by the boys during the term and at the recent regatta were awarded as follows:

General Proficiency, 1st Form—D. Neilson and Perreau. 2nd Form—R. Little. 3rd Form—R. Gray and A. Pullen. 4th Form—G. MacDonald.

Mathematics—M. MacKenzie (3rd Form).

Music—Eric Fawcett, and L. Massie.

Learners Race—R. Mudge.

Shooting—Jack Langley.

Canoe Race—(Senior Singles)— V. Hamilton.

DONATIONS TO THE PLAYGROUNDS ASSOC.

The Playgrounds' Association fund has reached the total of $176 with the addition of the C.G.E. contribution of $30 and $10 from Mr. J. W. Worth. The objective is $1,000, to be expended on the employment of three men supervisors at a monthly salary of $125 and three women supervisors at a stipend of $75 a month to be engaged for two months this summer to teach the younger element the useful and almost necessary art of swimming. Besides this expense the Association have also purchased a tent, and even scared one of the street cars. He cut loose, but he cut loose this morning from which the Magistrate kindly asked him to contribute to the civic funds at the session of police court. MANY FRENCHMEN MISSING IN ACTION

NUMBER NOW REPORTED TO HAVE REACHED MORE THAN 314,000.

Associated Press:

PARIS, June 20.—German figures on the number of French prisoners held in Germany were found to be incorrect, Leon Abrami, Under-Secretary in the Ministry of War, announced in the Chamber yesterday. More than 60,000 French prisoners in excess of the German figures were found in Germany.

The number of French soldiers missing in action has reached 314,000, the Under-Secretary said. The bodies [illegible] added, it would be impossible to find. Inter-allied missions were scouring Germany to ascertain if any prisoners still remained there.

STRIKE LEADERS RELEASED ON BAIL OFFICIAL STATEMENT SETS FORTH CASE.

A CONFERENCE WITH COMMITTEE

(Copyright, by W. R. Plewman.)

WINNIPEG, Man., June 20. — Winnipeg's unparalleled sympathetic strike may be a thing of the past before the day is out. The basis promises to be:

(a) Collective bargaining in contract shops of the metal trades, the refusal of which caused a direct strike lasting for several months, and precipitating a general sympathetic strike.

(b) Abandonment of the secret deportation proceedings in penitentiary against British-born and Canadian strike leaders. The trial of the accused in Winnipeg by a jury under the criminal code, and their release, pending trial, on $2,000 bail. Deportation might follow conviction.

(c) An undertaking by the accused men not to participate any further in strikes.

(d) The reinstatement of strikers so far as possible without displacing persons hired permanently in their places.

A FREE HAND.

It is understood that the Provincial and Federal Governments, and the civil authorities retain a free hand to take back whom they please and no more, but I believe that Premier Norris has intimated in a general way that he is disposed to reinstate the 'phone girls and ignore their wilful loss of seniority on their signing a pledge not to go out on a sympathetic strike.

The attitude of the city hall is much the same. So far no positive proof that Ottawa will change [illegible] attitude towards the railway, mail and postal employees is available. It would seem that no definite guarantees as to reinstatement have been given by anybody, but the general disposition of the authorities merely has been outlined.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

An official statement issued by A. J. Andrew K. C., at 11 o'clock last night, after a two hour conference with members of the strike committee, General Ketchen and Senator Robertson follows:

"As representing the Department of Justice and in order that no citizen should have any cause to complain that the government was disposed to deny the following persons — R. B. Russell, W. Ivens, John Queen, A. A. Heaps, George Armstrong and E. E. Bray—a fair trial by jury if they so desire, I have decided to postpone any proceedings for their deportation until the charges against them have been heard.

"Having so decided, and as each of these persons has undertaken to refrain in taking any part directly or indirectly in the strike now in progress, and in view of the fact that there is a strong probability in view of the statement as to collective bargaining, issued by the Metal Trades employers, of the sympathetic strike being immediately called off, I see no reason why the accused, until they are tried, should be detained in custody, and accordingly I am consented to their being admitted to bail on sureties of two thousand dollars each."

"It is understood by these persons quite definitely that if they fail in their undertakings they will be immediately re-arrested and placed in custody."

Strike settlement will be taken up by General Strike committee at ten o'clock this morning. Some opposition will have to be overcome.

WILL CALL OFF STRIKE.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, June 20.'— "The strike will be called off to-morrow, if not to-day."

This was the definite declaration of a man who was closely in touch with the conference that took place yesterday between the Government and the civic officials and the Strike Committee. No explanation was given as to why he had come to this conclusion.

Back to Work.

Canadian Press:

WINNIPEG, June 20. — Following the lease on bail of $2,000 each, R. B. Russell, Wm. Ivens, Ald. Jno. Queen, Ald. A. A. Heaps, Geo. Armstrong and E. E. Bray, arrested in a spectacular raid last Tuesday morning, reached Winnipeg from Stony Mountain Penitentiary this morning. So far they have declined to make any statement. There was little change in the strike situation this morning. It was stated that several more street cars had been put into service. Many employers declared that the back-to-work movement continues steadily.

TOMORROW'S CONVENTION.

Every citizen who believes in the great principles of Liberalism and who realizes that in the present crisis in Canada there is an opportunity for the Liberal party to be of the utmost service to Canada by bringing order out of chaos, should consider it a duty to attend the convention of the Liberals of West Peterborough tomorrow afternoon in Victoria Hall, when delegates will be appointed to represent this riding at the Provincial Liberal convention in Toronto and the great National Liberal convention in Ottawa. The provincial gathering takes place this month, and matters of vital importance are to be considered so that it is necessary that the Liberals of West Peterborough shall be fittingly represented, while the Ottawa convention is the most important that the Liberal party has ever held, for a new and progressive policy that will be designed to meet the present needs of Canada, a policy aimed at the settling of unrest, reducing the cost of living, the establishment of the doctrine of a square deal for every citizen and just and generous treatment for the men who fought for Canada, will be prepared. At the same time a leader for the Liberal party will be selected—a matter that is of the greatest moment.

Tomorrow's convention in Peterborough is, therefore, much more important than the usual political meetings in the riding, and it should bring together a large and representative gathering.

A FRIEND OF THE TRAFFIC.

There is no questioning the fact that the action of the Senate in rejecting the Government measure providing for the prolongation of prohibition for a year after the signing of the peace treaty is a serious blow to the temperance cause. The Senate, by a non-party vote of 34 to 24, has decreed that the prohibition laws now in force shall come to an end when the treaty has been signed. After that the inter-provincial sale and transportation of liquor may go on as before, and no matter what may be the temperance policy of any of the provinces, there will be nothing to prevent a citizen in one province from bringing in for his own use all the liquor he wants from another province. The legislatures of the provinces have no power in themselves, under the British North America Act, to prevent this inter-provincial traffic, which is a matter of trade and commerce, and therefore under the jurisdiction solely of the Dominion Government. Only from the Parliament at Ottawa can come the legislation that will put an end to the importation from one province to another, and the Senate seems to have effectively blocked the intention of the Commons to make the bill effective for twelve months after the war is over.

The situation from a temperance viewpoint is a serious one. Ontario, for instance, if the people vote that way when the referendum is taken next autumn, can prohibit the sale of liquor within the province, but there will be nothing to prevent a man living in Ontario from sending to a liquor dealer in Montreal for a case of the stimulant he craves for. The matter will be on exactly the same basis as it was before the prohibition Order-in-Council was passed. The Senate is proving an effective friend of the liquor traffic.

A CARETAKER NEEDED.

Complaints of disorderly conduct in several of the city parks, notably at Jackson Park and Inverlea, should not pass unnoticed by the City Council. It is not to be expected that the police force can always keep an eye on these popular resorts, even if a mounted officer was assigned to duty as has been suggested. For some time the Examiner has been endeavouring to impress upon the Council the desirability of appointing a caretaker at Inverlea Park, at least during the bathing season. There was no rowdyism at Inverlea last summer, the bathing house was kept clean and well ventilated and visitors to the park were not annoyed by the spectacle of boys and young men undressing in the open air. They are practically forced to vacant the dressing-rooms owing to the condition of the latter, and it seems a pity that with the splendid bathing facilities at Inverlea and with a bathing house that is adequate at least conditions should have reached their present level owing to the indifference of the Council. Surely enough money can be spared from the appropriations to pay the wages of a caretaker for the summer at this favourite spot. The money would be well spent in the benefits that it would bring to a large number of citizens.

AN ASSURING DECLARATION.

Agents of anarchy and disorder in this country, who counted upon using returned men for purposes of discord and revolution, have been given a broad hint by the patriotic behaviour of our fighting men. The returned men have been subjected to the most trying of inconveniences, and sometimes injustice, by the incompetence and indifference at Ottawa, but despite these irritations, which on occasion were bad enough almost to have excused radical action, they have stood firmly for law and order, backing up the administration of constitutional government. The Winnipeg strike has served one good purpose in demonstrating that the soldiers will not sanction or support any social or industrial movement which approaches Bolshevism. At the recent Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association, too, this attitude was made clear in the following declaration of principles:

"That we stand unalterably opposed to the introduction of the doctrine of Bolshevism and anarchy in this country, and we are not in accord with the underlying principles of the One Big Union, which express itself as being in full accord with the Russian Bolsheviki and the German Spartacan, and whose principles seek by 'massed action' of labour to enforce their power upon a majority of the people, and have as one of its possible results the menacing of our institutions of government, and the threat of their replacement by soviet rule.

"We desire, and we will endeavour, to insure that all members of our association will, wherever occasion demand, lend active assistance in upholding constitutional authority, the laws of the country and good order."

This is a clearcut, ringing assertion that cannot be misunderstood. It means that tens of thousands of militarily-trained citizens, drawn from every class, are prepared to actively put down any attempt in any part of the land to replace legal methods with outlawry or organized anarchy. The declaration is eloquent of good Canadianism—that sentiment, which insists that the people as a whole shall rule and not any one class. It rallies the nation from top to bottom to the support of orderliness and the suppression of violence in the mass or the individual. It should, and will, provide assurance to the entire country in these hours when the great unrest threatens at times to boil over into mad acts where the people are being misled by reckness, irresponsible makers of class strife.—London Advertiser.

NEW APPOINTMENTS WERE CONFIRMED

POLICE COMMISSION HELD MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Police Commission, which met yesterday afternoon, received a letter from Secretary Sidney Whatley of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, requesting that the Comission appoint returned soldiers to any vacancies which may occur on the police force.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Magistrate Dumble that a reply be sent to Secretary Whatley informing him that the policy of the Board has been and is to give preference to returned soldiers and to local men, and that the Chief Constable will be pleased to receive the names of applicants for positions on the police force and keep them on fyle to be considered when there is a vacancy.

Constable Graham Bromley's resignation was received and accepted. Constable Bromley left the force on June 15th.

Mr. F. W. Miller, the Truant Officer reported that conditions in his department were satisfactory.

Appointments Approved.

Sergt. James Reid's resignation from the position of Bread Inspector, for the city, which was received by the city council some time ago, and referred to the Police Commissioners, came up for consideration, and a reply will be sent to the City Council, suggesing that the council appoint all members of the police force, bread inspectors, to be directed by Chief Thompson, in their work.

Chief Thompson reported the following probationary appointments made by him during the month which were approved of by the commission:

Arthur Thomas, on May 15th, on second class pay and has had four years' police experience.

The commission to raise the pay of third class constables from $800 to $900, from June 1, 1919.

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED TO-DAY

Another home was labelled smallpox to-day by Dr. C. H. Amys, M.O.H., and the house, which is on the Smith Town Hill, has been placed under quarantine. Otherwise there is no new development in the smallpox situation. So mild is the type that the first patient removed to the Isolation Hospital has recovered sufficiently to nurse the second one who was brought in. Dr. Amys stated that the authorities have not yet discovered whether the epidemic is small-pox.

COUNTY WILL RAISE $14,000 BY DEBENTURES INSTEAD OF LUMP TAX

IS NEEDED FOR PROPOSED BRIDGE WORK—SEVERAL MEMBERS DESIRED TO "PAY AS WE GO," FOLLOWING THE METHOD BY WHICH THE HEAVY WAR CONTRIBUTIONS WERE PROVIDED FOR.

DISCUSSED BY COMMITTEE

The County Council devoted most of this morning's session to the affairs of the Finance Committee, which is composed of all the members with Reeve Squire of Norwood chairman. The Roads and Bridge Committee had outlined a programme of work requiring an estimated expenditure of $13,000 or $14,000, the main item of which is the rebuilding of the Birdsall bridge. It consequently devolved upon Reeve Squire's committee to arrange for the financing of the projected bridge construction.

With the removal of the war tax and levies for patriotic contributions, some members argued that the county could easily meet the cost of the proposed bridges by a direct tax this year instead of issuing debentures for $13,000.

Deputy-Reeve Eason of Otonabee advocated the "pay-as-you-go" system by which the county had met its generous patriotic payments during the years of the war.

"We paid $40,000 in one year; surely we can pay this $13,000," said Mr. Eason.

Reeve Shaw of Harvey, who was prevented by illness from attending the first days of the sessions, remarked that the debentures might be sold to residents of the county, instead of following the customary practice of selling them to Toronto bond houses.

"That's the only point in favour of a debenture issue, that is, to have them sold to our own people," Mr. Eason said.

Reeve Squire suggested that the Council could sell the debentures this year and next year make a departure of meeting the expenses out of the current revenue.

Might Re-sell Next Year.

"If we put this $13,000 on the taxes," said Reeve Shaw, "we are departing from the interest system which we have followed so long. Next year, however, a new Council might go back to the debenture plan and have a high old time."

Warden McIntosh proposed that half the $13,000 be paid by tax this year and the other half next year.

Reeve Anderson—We have proved during the past four years that this county can pay as we go.

It was stated that the debenture debt of the county is about $100,000, a small sum compared with many of the other countries in the province. In fact Peterborough's position was financially strong.

Reeve Anderson, in a deliberate mood, weighed the arguments for both methods, observing that there was something to be said for each side. He admitted the force of Mr. Shaw's statement, but on the other hand the prospects showed that the county tax rate would be reduced between two and three mills this year, even providing for the $13,000, which amounted to about a mill and one-half.

Mr. Coughlin, of Douro, supported Mr. Eason, saying that it seemed good business to pay off the $13,000 bridge expenditure and dispose of it at once. It would not be a hardship to any ratepayer.

"To get an expression of the sentiment of the Council on this question I move that we provide $14,000 for bridge work by debentures," Reeve Shaw proposed, and Warden McIntosh seconded the motion.

Only three members opposed it, and it passed accordingly. The "pay-as-we-go" advocates were Messrs. Eason, Coughlin and Griffith.

MR. FRANCIS R. JONES ADDRESSED A REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING OF LADIES YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

THE CREED OF THE OVERSEAS CLUB —HE WILL MAKE A RETURN TRIP.

A splendid representation of the ladies of the city braved the heat of the afternoon yesterday and heard the eloquent appeal made by Mr. Francis R. Jones, F.R.G.S., of London, Eng., Special Commissioner of the Overseas Club and Patriotic League, for the continuation of the work of the Overseas Club in the city. In the evening Mr. Jones met several members of the Board of Trade in their new quarters, where the afternoon meeting was also held, and after a short discussion of the prospects of a meeting in the Fall, stated that he hoped to return to the city again in September or October.

HISTORY OF THE CLUB.

At the commencement of the meeting the speaker thanked the ladies for being brave enough to have faced the heat and discomfort of the afternoon to attend the meeting. He then outlined the history of the organization which he represented and gave considerable idea of the great scope of its operation and the wonderful influences it exercises throughout the British Empire. He pointed out that it might almost be said that the Overseas Club was born in Canada. It originated in the mind of Cecil Rhodes, who had the idea of the formation of a society of the British people who throughout the world should wear a badge and be pledged to help each other and advance the cause of the Empire. Cecil Rhodes conveyed his idea to the late Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, and it was at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, that Earl Grey confided the scheme to Mr. Evelyn Wrench, the founder of the Overseas Club. About two years later, with considerable support from Lord Northcliffe, Mr. Wrench, who was then the editor of the Overseas Edition of the Mail, unfolded his scheme, and members were quickly enrolled from all parts of the world. From this small beginning the organization has grown until it has now upwards of 160,000 members and associates, not only in all parts of the Empire, but literally in all countries on the face of the globe.

About a year ago the Patriotic League of Britons Overseas was amalgamated with the Overseas Club and the joint organization was known as the Overseas Club and Patriotic League. The main work of the Overseas Club had been done in the Empire and especially in the Overseas Dominions, but the Patriotic League, which was created mainly for war purposes in foreign countries operated as its name suggested, outside the empire. It was felt however that the objects of the two organizations were so similar that an amalgamation should be effected.

Briefly stated, the objects of the joint society are to help one another, to render individual service to the Empire—to maintain the Empire's supremacy on the seas and in the air, and to draw together in the band of comradeship British people all over the world.

THE CREED.

The speaker specially emphazied the creed of the organization which is —"Believing the British Empire to stand for justice, freedom, order and good government, we pledge ourselves as citizens of the greatest Empire in the world, to maintain the heritage handed down to us by our forefathers."

He said that critics of the movement had sniffed at the idea of sentiment but claimed emphatically that sentiment is the greatest power in the world. It was sentiment literally that bound the Empire together. It was sentiment that on August the 4th, 1914, when it became known that Great Britain had declared war on Germany, brought the sons of Canada hurrying to the Mother Country; and it was sentiment—the passionate, love, and devotion of the daughter to the Mother Country—that made Canada (even before that fateful day had passed) what she could do to help?

In glowing terms he described the wonderful and heroic deeds of the Canadian army, and at the same time paid an earnest tribute to the efforts of the other overseas dominions emphasizing especially the response made by South Africa, which only 15 years before had been at war with Great Britain. Realizing that justice, freedom, order and good government they had enjoyed, the very men who had led the Boer army against the Imperial forces, were soon fighting to put down the German inspired rebellion, and also sent large forces to France to help defeat the Hun.

WORK OF CLUB.

Mr. Jones told the wonderful story of the work accomplished by the Overseas Club during the war and paid a special tribute to the generous help that Peterboro had given towards the Tobacco Fund, which had resulted in sending upwards of 11,000,000 packages of tobacco and cigarettes to the boys at the front. More than $2,000,000 had been raised in all parts of the world for this purpose.

The club had taken an active interest in promoting aviation, and presented through its members 172 air craft to the Imperial Air Force during the war. Just recently it had been instrumental in securing from the Imperial Air Forces a gift of 16 machines, complete with equipment, to make the first squadron of the Canadian Air Force. During the war it had collected in all some $5,000,000, giving large sums to the Red Cross work, St. Dunstan's Hospital for the blind, and a large number of other institutions, which had for their object the relief of distress caused by the war. In all this effort every cent collected had been expended for the object for which it was given, no charge whatever being made by the organization or expenses of any kind.

Not a War Club

Mr. Jones emphasized the fact that the Overseas Club was not a war time organization and said the war having passed was now taking on the great work for which it was created nine years ago. In the first place it stood for promotion of good feeling and a friendly understanding between all parts of the Empire. The silver thread by which the far flung overseas dominions were held did not fail in 1914 and indeed it could truly be said that the Empire had been drawn more closely together by reason of all the experience of the past years. Many of the young men and young women would doubtless return to their old occupations but now the war is over many thousands will doubtless go overseas in order to see the Empire and get to know more closely those with whom they have fought and worked side by side. At home the Overseas Club is extending a powerful influence toward seeing that emigration should take place within the British Empire. Having lost 1,000,000 or more of our sons in the war we cannot afford to let the young manhood of the country go into foreign countries however friendly they may be. We need this virile young life for the development of the vast resources of the overseas dominions and the Overseas Club is using all its influence to secure that. Not only should the steps of these young men and women be diverted toward settlement in the Empire but also to secure through the hundreds of branch clubs and its 1,200 Corresponding Secretaries that a welcome was given to the immigrants on arrival in the country of their adoption.

Child Welfare

The ladies present were greatly interested in that section of the Overseas Club which had to do with the training of women for Child Welfare Work. Mr. Jones emphasized the tremendous importance of conserving the manhood of the race. In conclusion he emphasized the importance of cultivating British trade within the British Empire. He urged that the tremendous resources of the Empire should be developed for the good of the Empire and that the raw products and manufactures of the of all be used by the Empire's sons He pointed out that by buying the products and manufacturers of the Empire we were keeping our money in the family and stated that the news that Canada was making strenuous efforts to develop her own overseas and export trade would be welcomed in Great Britain.

After describing the terrible devastation inflicted upon France and Belgium and dwelling on the experience of hardship in life in the Old Country, Mr. Jones made a strong appeal to Canadians to refuse to buy German or Austrian made goods. He made it particularly clear that British made goods meant goods made in any part of the Empire not only the products of the Old Country.

Membership of Club.

Particulars of membership of the Overseas Club may be had from Mr. Ryerson Ritchie at the Board of Trade.

THIS MORNING'S POLICE COURT

LOCAL "BARNEY OLDFIELD" BROKE SPEED LAW.

Stanley Lockhart, Maude street, city, attempted to emulate Barney Oldfield with his motorcycle on Wednesday and scattered the traffic on George street, and even scared one of the new street cars. He cut loose, but he also cut loose this morning from $8.10, which the Magistrate kindly asked him to contribute to the civic fund at the session of police court.

Herb Landry and Mick Fallon rested quietly in the large, roomy prisoner's box at the police station this morning and were fined $14.10 each for being drunk on Charlotte street yesterday afternoon. They paid.

SERVICE AT HIAWATHA.

On Sunday next, Adjutant and Mrs. Buntin, together with two of the local officers of the S. A. Corps, will conduct a service in the church at Hiawatha at 7 p.m. The reserve is lacking a permanent minister, and the services conducted from time to time are much appreciated by the friends who attend.

WHY NOT SWAP WITH AUSTRALIA?

J. H. Burnham Suggests Governors-General Change Over.

OTTAWA, June 20.—In his speech on the budget, J. H. Burnham, of Peterborough, made the unique suggestion that the Prime Minister of Canada should be Australia's next Governor - General and the Prime Minister of Australia should be Canada's next Governor-General. He thought this exchange of "great men" would resuk in close intimacy between the two great self-governing dominions.

OTONABEE AND NORTH MONAGHAN READY FOR GOOD ROADS POLICY

WITH CESSATION OF WAR EXPENDITURE THEY DESIRE TO UNDERTAKE ROAD BUILDING THAT WAS DEFERRED SINCE 1914—SEVERAL OTHER TOWNSHIPS DISPLAY INTEREST.

EACH PAY FOR OWN ROADS

A bylaw drafted at the request of Reeve Anderson, by the Provincial Highways Department, providing for a system of good roads for certain townships of this county, was read and explained by Mr. E. A. Peck, at yesterday afternoon's session of the County Council. It expresses the desire of the townships of Otonabee and North Monaghan to take advantage, now that there are no patriotic funds to be sustained, of the Government's assistance in the construction and maintenance of highways. The County, as a whole, is required to approve of this plan, but it is optional with the townships whether they adopt it or not. Otonabee and North Monaghan are prepared to accept it and in the blank spaces left in the bylaw as tentatively drawn for the insertion of the names of the townships to which it shall apply, at least Otonabee and North Monaghan will be inscribed.

From yesterday's discussion there was no intimation as to whether Asphodel would also take the initiative. The vote at the Westwood meeting on Wednesday night was an indication of the attitude of the farmers of that township, and is interpreted as a mandate to Reeve Brown to include Asphodel in a county roads programme.

Asphodel adjoins Otonabee on the east, and beyond it is Belmont. Belmont township is manifesting a keen interest in good roads and Reeve Griffith is apparently ambitious of procuring for his municipality the best roads obtainable within its means. In other words, Belmont, like Barcus, seems to be willing to step into line with the other southern townships providing the conditions are favorable.

It is Reeve Griffith's opinion that the Highway's Act was originally framed to assist the poorer municipalities at the expense of the wealthier. His colleagues admit that such was the intention and effect, and as a result the county as a whole would pay a share of the cost of roadwork done in the townships. Reeves Anderson and McIntosh, however, are proposing to take advantage of an amendment by which each township of a group accepting the government's aid shall bear the entire cost of the work done on its own roads.

Reeve Griffith protested that Belmont was not so rich as Otonabee, Monaghan and Asphodel, from which it could be inferred that Belmont is restrained from entering upon a scheme which may eventually become embarrassing.

Smith township is evidently content to remain outside the Monaghan-Otonabee alliance, and wait for results and probably for a larger measure of assistance from the Department. But Reeves Anderson and McIntosh are ready to designate their roads, and have shown that they expect an early commencement of operations, providing the bylaw is passed by the council.

In the cursory discussion yesterday Reeve Griffith remarked that as an effect of this step part of the county would have good roads in a few years and the remainder would not. Besides, Otonabee could afford it.

Reeve Anderson — Belmont has headed us all off with the road machinery you are buying.

Warden McIntosh—There are no signs of poverty in that. Besides each township will pay for exactly what it gets.

Reeve Griffith—That wasn't the intention of the act when it was originated. It was intended that the richer townships should help the poorer.

Mr. Anderson—Well it is certain that a county road will cross the southern townships and when it reaches Belmont 60% of the cost will be paid by the government.

Warden McIntosh—Our way is that each township shall pay for its own roads. Then the people will get a dollar's worth of work and material for every dollar they spend.

Mr. Anderson—Every scheme has its difficulties.

Mr. McIntosh—It is the best we could get and we might as well make the most of it. If Belmont can buy $5,000 worth of machinery it is putting on a bigger front than we are.

"Hold on now," replied Mr. Griffith.

This extract of the discussion indicates its trend, and it was understood that the bylaw would be proceeded with to-day.

It is unnecessary to point out that the reason the southern townships are forced to act alone is due to the long roads in the northern section, which is comparatively poorer and unable to launch upon a scheme that would throw an extremely heavy burden upon the ratepayers. Some other means than that contemplated by Otonabee and Monaghan will have to be employed if the northern townships are to secure the good roads they require.

HALE HAMILTON SEEN IN CLEVER METRO PLAY

"After His Own Heart," shown at The Grand Theatre yesterday, with Hale Hamilton in the starring role, was a Metro comedy drama which furnished an amusing and entertaining plot.

Mr. Hamilton was seen in the role of Thomas Wentworth Duncan, a healthy and virile young man who is offered a large sum of money to sell his heart to a worn-out millionaire and in return accept the battered organ of the older man. The scheme has been concocted by a doctor whose supreme egotism makes him believe himself capable of performing the miraculous operation. Tom is led into the project through a spirit of adventure mixed with necessity as he has just learned that his vast fortune has been lost by a dishonest trustee. To make matters worse he had fallen in love with charming Sally Reeves, but without a penny to his name he cannot ask her to marry him. The variety of unusual incidents which lead to the amazing climax makes a picture of extreme originality that bids fair to be one of the classics of screen humor. In it Mr. Hamilton is seen at his best and is ably supported by a strong cast including Naomi Childers, William V. Mong, Mrs. Louis, Frank Hayes, Harry Carter, Herbert Pryor, and Stanley Stanford. The play was directed by Harry L. Franklin and produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director general.

TO BE PUBLICITY ARM OF COMMERCE CHAMBER.

Fifty Thousand Club in Brantford Becomes a Section.

BRANTFORD, June 19—The Fifty Thousand Club has decided to become a section of the Chamber of Commerce. It will retain its own identity and continue its present organisation, but it will be the publicity arm of the Chamber of Commerce, and its activities will be subject to the approval of the directors of that body.

The Club will conduct a Brantford booth at the Exhibition and convention here next week of the Association of Stationary Engineers, and also have a display for the city at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this fall.

ARCADE STORE, GEORGE STREET

THE HUNTER STREET CAMPAIGN

Some of the foolish practices of parents in the bringing up of their children were dealt with by Evangelist Kennedy in the course of his address in the big tent on Hunter Street last evening. The case of a father whose child was frightened to eat rabbit and who told the child that it was chicken that she was eating until after she had eaten it and then told her that it had been rabbit after all, and also the case of a mother who told her little boy that he could not go in a certain field to play because there was a bear there, were cited as examples of the telling of untruths by parents that are sure to react disastrously on the life of the child and the child's impression of its parents. These things may seem small to some parents, but they are big things to the child and lasting impressions are made in childhood, which later cannot easily be overcome. Christian parents should see that their example to their children is always one which would be pleasing in Christ's sight.

In the days of the Children of Israel, when they began to sin the altars to God, began to disappear and the altars to Baal to appear in their place. In these days when Christian parents neglect family prayer and the reading of the Scriptures daily, the altars to modern Baal, in the form of love, of pleasure and worldly influences, are set up in the home in their place.

Main Theme.

The main theme of Mr. Kennedy's address last evening centred around Gideon and the victory he won as set out in the 6th and 7th chapters of Judges. Evangelist Kennedy showed how the Lord wants only those to serve Him who are wholly yielded to His service. 31,700 followers of Gideon were weeded out because of their cowardice and lack of whole-hearted devotion to his cause but with the 300 faithful who were left he won the victory. Thousands of Christians today cannot stand God's tests any better than did the followers of Gideon. When simple tests in Christian service are applied to them from time to time they only too often fail to meet the test. To-night Mr. Kennedy's theme will be, "How to Keep Young and Good Looking." To-morrow night he will speak on David and Goliath. In all his addresses he has been dealing with Bible characters in a most interesting way. His addresses have a character all their own that are being much appreciated by those who attend. The attendance this week has been encouraging for the first week's meetings, and gives indication of growing rapidly, especially as soon as the hot spell is over.

The Singing.

The singing last night was led by members of the George Street choir. Mrs. Renwick rendered a solo, which was much appreciated, as also did Mr. Mulligan. To-night the members of the St. James' Church choir will lead the singing. Among the special musical features will be a quartette. The co-operation of the church choirs is proving quite a feature of the meetings. Rev. Mr. Gault, of Gilmour Memorial Church, assisted in the services. Last evening, in his announcements, Mr. Kennedy thanked the daily papers for their interest in the meetings and the generous space they were giving to reporting the proceedings.

The following are nuggets taken from some of Evangelist Kennedy's addresses:

SERMONETTES BY KENNEDY.

The greatest unused power in the world today is not Niagara, but the latent power in the Church.

Many churches should move out of the book of numbers, into the book of Acts.

Few people have backbone enough to become a crank.

Cranks are necessary in all human activities—even autos and Fords.

To be an efficient crank one needs ordinary brains and a lot of religion.

We should be Christians, not because we have to die, but because we have to live.

Christ cannot get along without a church, any more than we can without a body.

Most men that God uses are mentally peculiar.

The devil is not bothered very much about no account people.

It took God forty years getting Moses ready to be Moses.

It does not matter so much the church you join, but it does matter as to who you are that joins the church.

Military leaders have tried to conquer the earth and have failed—It is the Lord's—Not the Kaiser's.

God is looking for folks He can trust.

CAUGHT A 16 POUND 'LUNGE

Largest Fish Taken Out of Chemong Lake This Season.

Victor Tully, of Peterborough, who is camping at Chemong Park, caught a sixteen pound 'lunge at ten o'clock this morning just back of the pavilion, and not very far from shore. Mr. Dan Sullivan, who weighed the fish, says it is the largest fish caught in Chemong Lake this year. The fishing in Chemong Lake is exceptionally good this year and a large number of the finny tribe have been angled since the season opened.

GERALDINE FARRAR STARS IN THE "STRONGER VOW"

Once again Geraldine Farrar acquits herself magnificently in a Goldwyn Picture. Her fourth Goldwyn appearance is made in "The Stronger Vow," which comes to The Grand Theatre, beginning Monday.

Geraldine Farrar is Dolores de Cordova, one of the last of a Spanish family that is at war with the house of Estudillo. She is seen among the gay revelers at an Easter carnival in Lerida, chatting with a handsome stranger, to the annoyance of Pedro Toral, who seeks her hand in marriage. Enraged by the smiles she bestows upon the stranger, Toral orders her brother, Jose, to take her away. Jose resents the other's interference and the pair come to blows. That night Jose is stabbed to death and Toral is the first to find the body.

Suspecting that the stranger is an Estudillo, Toral schemes to have him accused of the murder. So convincing is Toral's tale that Dolores takes the blood vow to avenge the killing. Her search for the slayer leads to Paris, where she weds the Marquis de Valera. After the ceremony Toral shocks her with the news that she has married her brother's murderer. Dolores' refusal to carry out the blood vow results in her capture by a band of Apaches. How she frees herself from the outlaws furnishes a thrilling climax in which Toral is revealed as the murderer.

New Drug Worth $1,000,000

Stops Headache in 2 Minutes

This new drug is a compound discovered by a Toronto chemist and he is making a fortune out of it. It is called Painol and is so called for it will check 99% of all pains susceptible to the human system, especially headaches and can be obtained from the leading druggist in your town for little cost. Owing to the ill effects of aspirin on the heart; it has been found to be a very good and much less harmless drug than aspirin, for headaches. Drop a tablet on your tongue and wash it down with a swallow of water and your headache is gone in two minutes.

Scientists have of late discovered that headaches are caused from uric acid in the blood. This new drug does not act on the heart as other headache cures do, but acts directly on the blood and neutralizes it.

You take a Painol tablet and it is immediately absorbed by the stomach; taken up by the blood and your headache is gone in two minutes, as if by magic. Painol is dispensed by McDermid & Jury druggist for Peterboro.

COMMONS WILL CONSIDER THE PROHIBITION BILL

A QUESTION OF LAW AS TO WHETHER GOVERNMENT CAN EXTEND PRESENT ORDER.

Special to the Examiner:

OTTAWA, June 20.—The Prohibition Bill, as amended by the Senate to limit its application to the period of the war, will come back to the Commons for consideration. The Government will undoubtedly decline to accept the amendment, and a majority of the House will likely uphold that stand. Should ensuing conferences with the Senate fail in reaching an agreement, the measure will to all intents and purposes fail. It will then be the question of law as to whether the Government can extend the order by a further Order-in-Council.

It is not at all likely that the Government will do so, from the present indications. Therefore, it would appear that the existing restrictions against importation, manufacture and inter-Provincial traffic will cease as soon as Germany has signed her name to the peace terms.

OFFICERS MANNED THE "PRINCE RUPERT"

(Special to the Examiner)

SEATTLE, Washington, June 20—Manned by officers of vessels of all the Grand Trunk Pacific fleet who took the places of strikers the steamship "Prince Rupert" sailed from Vancouver yesterday afternoon for Ocean Falls, Swanson Bay and Prince Rupert, B.C. Every berth abroad the vessel was taken, the Prince Rupert also carried consignments of mail and shipments of periodicals. The crew of the Prince Rupert is made up of deck and engine row officers from the "Prince George" and "Prince John" which have been tied up on account of the strike of steamship employees in British Columbia. The Seattle Passengers abroad the Prince Rupert went to Vancouver by train.

The Grand Trunk Pacific has suspended service out of Seattle because of the strike; the last vessel leaving this port for Prince Rupert two weeks ago.

REPORTS ARE PREMATURE

COUNCIL OF THREE MET THIS AFTERNOON.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, June 20.—All reports concerning changes in the German Cabinet are premature, says an official German wireless message sent from Nauen at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The message adds that the National Assembly failed to get a majority of its members to favour the signing of the peace terms.

ITALIAN CRISIS.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, June 20.—The Council of Three, composed of Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson, met this afternoon, and, it is understood, discussed the German situation and the Italian Cabinet crisis, and is also expected to take up the uncompleted sections of the Austrian peace treaty.

DIRECTED TO ACCEPT.

PARIS, June 20.—The Italian delegation to the Peace Conference has been directed from Rome to accept the proposition for the settlement of the Dalmatian controversy made by Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson, according to Reuters.

SOME DOUBT.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, June 20.—Some doubt is cast on the correctness of the Exchange Telegraph despatch, saying that the German Assembly will sign the treaty by a despatch from Paris, which says the Germans have asked for further extension of the time for signing.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

DE LAVAL LUCKY TO WIN FROM THE VETERANS

OVER-THE-TOP BOYS' BAD BASE RUNNING PREVENTED THEM FROM BREAKING INTO THE WIN COLUMN LAST NIGHT—WERE NINE RUNS DOWN ONCE, TIED UP THE SCORE AND THEN LOST IN THE NINTH.

The luckless War Veterans went down to defeat once more in a City League fixture at Riverside Park last night, but they did not lower their colours until the last man was out, De Laval winning 12 to 11 by scoring two runs in the ninth after the Veterans had made a gallant rally and tied the score in the eighth. At the end of the fourth innings De Laval were in front 10 to 2, but the Over-the-top boys came back in grand style. In the next four innings they held the ultimate winners to a solitary run, while they themselves made nine large-sized counters. And after this game up-hill fight, they lost out in the final chapter. De Laval can thank the poor base-running of the Vets and the good right arm of Ernie Legon, their youthful left fielder, for the victory. Twice the ex-khaki lads threw away sure chances to score by reckless work on the runways, Legon cutting off two runners at the plate at critical stages by long and accurate throws.

It was a great night for fattening batting averages. Both Daynard, who pitched for the Veterans, and Prest for the winners, were hit hard and often and their support was very wobbly, with the result that the bases were generally cluttered up with runners, and the home plate was driven an inch deeper in the ground so often was it tramped upon.

De Laval started off like easy winners. Dugan doubled to right, Stan Wade falling as he went to make the catch, and Bergoine sacrificed, Dugan scoring when Taylor fumbled Callaghan's grounder. Callaghan reached second when Johnston missed O'Heron's perfect throw, went to third on Cavanah's safe hunt, and came home on a wild pitch.

In the third they got three more, in spite of the fact that the Veterans pulled off a double play. Bergoine singled and Callaghan walked. Rose singled to right and a quick relay, S. Wade to Taylor to O'Heron, caught Bergoine at the plate, while O'Heron shot the ball to Foley in time to nip Callaghan at third. Cavanah was hit and he and Rose pulled off a double steal, both scoring on Taylor's fumble of Barrie's grounder. The runner worked his way around and scored on a passed ball.

Anderson's single, on which he went to second when Callaghan missed the roller, and fumbles by Barrie and Cavanah got the Vets their first counter in the third.

De Laval got five in the fourth on Prest's single, a high throw by Foley, Dugan's sacrifice, four hits in succession by Bergoine, Callaghan, Rose and Cavanagh, Rose's being a double, and a fumble by Anderson.

The Vets started to come. In the [illegible] half of the fourth, Taylor's single, steal of second, and Bergoine's high throw to third gave them one.

They came back with two in the fifth, on singles by Foley and Hargrove, a passed ball and a walk to O'Heron.

In the sixth they added three more. A. Wade and Daynard led off with singles. San Wade forced Daynard at second, but Anderson's timely single and Foley's infield out sent three counters in.

De Laval got one in the seventh on a single by Fitzgerald, a pass to Dugan, and O'Heron's bad throw.

In their half the Veterans bagged three more when Hargrove was hit and stole second and third. After Lebarr had flied out and Taylor had fanned, A. Wade's tap to Prest scored Hargrove, the throw to the plate being late. Daynard hit to Rose, but Dugan lost the peg. S. Wade also hit to Rose, who made a fine stop but threw low to first, A. Wade scoring. Dugan made a wild peg to third to get Daynard and the runner scored. Stan Wade also tried to come in, but was nailed on a good peg by Legon.

That left it 11 to 10, and in the eighth the Vets sewed up the game. Anderson singled to centre and stole second. Foley hit safely to left, but Anderson was throw out at the plate by Legon when he tried to score. O'Heron was hit and then Hargrove's hit scored Foley with the tying run.

De Laval won out in the ninth. Fitzgerald led off with a hit and Prest was safe when Hargrove muffed his fly. Dugan popped to Daynard. A pass to Bergoine and Callaghan's single gave the winners two runs.

The War Veterans went out in order for the first time in the game.

SPORTING COMMENT

(Lindsay Warder)

A meeting of the Executive of the Central Ontario Baseball League was held at Port Hope on Wednesday night, when the question of the O. A. B. A. inquiry into the amateur status of three Oshawa players was brought up, including Firstbaseman Schultz and Pitcher Paton.

Manager Nott, of the Oshawa Club, was informed that these players would have to take an O. A. B. A. affidavit before they play at Cobourg next Saturday.

The Oshawa manager requested that President Lockington get in touch with the O. A. B. A. and inquire as to the status of Herb. Workman, of the Lindsay Club.

Alex. Kay was appointed to handle the game at Cobourg next Saturday, and Mr. Rosevear will handle the game at Peterborough.

The five clubs of the League were notified to deposit with Secretary Dedman a cheque for $10.00 to cover the running expenses of the League.

Manager Nott, of Oshawa, also claimed that the Oshawa Club held the Lindsay Club responsible for raising objection to the Oshawa players.

EVERYTHING READY FOR TO-MORROW'S BIG GAME IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

Everything is set for to-morrow afternoon's big Central Ontario League game at Riverside Park between the Lindsay Greys and the Petes. The ball yard across the river is being carefully groomed for the big battle and will be in the best shape of the season, as the long grass in the deep outfield has been cut.

Cannon Ball Ed. Scott, with his smoke ball and assortment of curves will be on the firing line for Lindsay, with Bates handling the mask and pad. Opposed to him will be Howard Kirn, who held Lindsay to 5 hits in the game at Lindsay two weeks ago, while Max Swanston, the catcher of the MatthewsBlackwell team, who is leading the City League in hitting, will be behind the bat.

The game will start at 3 o'clock sharp, with Alex Kay of Peterborough as umpire-in-chief, and Dick Butler, of Lindsay, officiating on the bases. There promises to be a record crowd.

The following Peterborough players are asked to be in uniform at Riverside Park at 2.15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon: Kirn, Frost, Swanston, Nicholson, Long, Hagerman, Cherrett, Cavanah, Jackson, Collins, Heenan, Clancy, A. Wade, S. Wade and Manager Solomon.

BOTH WILLARD AND DEMPSEY REPORTED IN CHAMPION CONDITION

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION IS AS HARD AS NAILS—DEMPSEY HAS HIS WICKED PUNCH GOING STRONG.

DEMPSEY A SURPRISE

Special to the Examiner:

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 20. — Joe Chip probably knows more about the condition of Jess Willard than any man who has approached the big champion. Joe declared to-day that he believes Jess is in fine shape.

"Gee," he said, "I can't hurt that big fellow. I've been slamming him with everything I've got. I can punch too, but I can't make an impression on Willard.

"If Dempsey hurts Willard he's got to hit him mighty hard. He's in condition and will get better as he goes along. I think he's right."

Yesterday Chip punched and slammed with the champion and had no trouble at all in hooking lefts into the side of Willard's head and chasing the rights to the jaw. Chip is confident that any smaller man than Willard who can move his arms fast, can get in close and hammer away at the champion heavyweight's jaw of the world.

"That boy is a man of iron," he remarked on Jack Dempsey. "I never before saw a boxer trained to the condition of that fellow. He looks positively tireless and fast as lightning. He undoubtedly is one of the greatest specimens of manhood that ever lived."

Dempsey's boxing yesterday, a surprise to the ringside patrons at the camp, was a revelation. Terry Kellar was in the ring with Jack.

Terry is no slouch with his fists. He has little trouble in finding Dempsey's head with a straight left, but Dempsey moves his head with a peculiar baffling movement in taking these blows. Dempsey slammed away at Kellar. He smashed the Kellar chin for keeps and Terry appeared a bit groggy from the treatment.

Dempsey will not box to-day but will resume active boxing again to-morrow.

Billy Miske probably will be here to-morrow, for Dempsey expects him to return with Bill Tate, who is in Minneapolis, where he fought Sam. Langford last night.

Semi-ready Talk:

"Pictures are very pretty — and very handy to have around when a fellow is unable to cite intelligently about the things he has to tell.

"Picture advertising in clothing has reached the apex of style and cost. New York artists get $500 for an imagine picture of an Apollo wearing Dukenheimer's latest creation.

"But the real makers of Fashion —the designers of style—recognize the creative talent in Montreal by holding their Fashion Convention here this year. These men can't draw, but they were willing to come from all parts of America to show the Semi-ready Designer the best they had and see the studios where Semi-ready styles are created."

BASEBALL BUNK

(Lindsay Warder.)

Lindsay play in Peterborough on Saturday, and boys remember this, you will never win unless you practice hard to-night and Friday night.

Fans are reminded that the next game in Lindsay will be against the Matthews-Blackwell team on Wednesday. "Abbie" Hill will be on the mound for Lindsay.

George Weeks' Lorneville nine will play in Peterborough Saturday against the De Laval team.

Lindsay must beat Peterborough in Peterborough to keep her head well up in the race. Practice will do it, boys.

Either Peterborough or Lindsay will take an awful tumble on Saturday. Here's hoping it will be the Petes.

Jack Crimmons will run the boys across to Peterborough Saturday afternoon.

THE DE MILLE QUARTET.

The music of the fourth day will be furnished by this well-known Toronto Quartet, composed of Artists, all of whom are well known as Solo Singers, and accompanied by a Pianist of note. Their programmes will constitute one of the great features of Chautauqua week.

The repertoire of the quartette includes selections from the great oratorios and operas, the choicest of the English, Scotch, and Irish melodies, standard and popular songs. Not alone as a quartette do they excel, but in concerts, recitals, oratorios, and opera selections, each individual member stands distinct, having been accorded marked recognition because of his virtuosity.

COTTAGERS AT CHEMONG PARK

"General Post" is practically the order of things at Chemong Park this Summer as a large percentage of the usual population of the resort have either sold or rented their cottages and rented another in the vicinity. For the first time in years every cottage is rented for the season and already a considerable community has moved in from Canada and the States.

While the fishing season has only been open since Monday already several good sized lunge ranging in size from 4 to 10 pounds have been caught by the disciples of Isaac Walton, who have come to down, but no record catches from a point of weight have rewarded their ardent efforts. One of the principal attractions during the present hot spell has been the splendid bathing facilities offered at the Park and every evening sees fully one hundred of the less fortunate people who are still in town at the beach. It is estimated that an average of seventy cars a night come out from the city loaded with weary city dwellers either to enjoy the cool breeze or to swim.

Cottages Open

The cottages so far occupied are Mr. Wolfe's of New York and "Hamilton" a cottage occupied by Mr. Wolfe, of Hamilton, Mr. James Long of Peterboro, Mrs. J. T. Tully, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burnham who have bought Mr. Overend's cottage, Mr. Williams of Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughen Charles of Whitby, Mr. Hopper and Mr. Patte of Peterboro, Mr. Pearce of New Port News, Mr. Stevens of Peterboro, who is building a large new addition to his cottage, Mr. Felderman of Toronto, Mr. Hancock, who has built a new cottage, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Warne in Mr. Alex. Elliott's cottage, Mrs. Rose of Oakville, Rev and Mrs. Gay of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dennison of Montreal who have taken Mr. K. Rutherford's cottage, Dr. and Mrs. Morgan in Judge Hayes cottage which they have bought, Mr. and Mrs. Eccles of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Cubitt, Dr. McClennan in Mr. Charles McClelland's cottage which they have taken for the season, Mr. Fligg in Mr. and Mrs. Morphet's cottage which they have bought, Dr. and Mrs. Pulkinghorn in Mr. Tooley's Cottage which they have taken for the season, Mr. George Kingdon in a new cottage he has built in the Park near Dickson's cottage, Mr. George Hutchison, Mr. Wm. Thompson in Mr. Tom Rutherford's cottage, and Mr. and Mrs. Stenson in the T. H. G. Denne cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Bockhout opened their cottage for a few days during the week, also Mr. and Mrs. Davidson.

During the summer Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Robertson will occupy Mrs. Pearce's cottage, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hodgins, the Bull's cottage, and Mrs. Fred Trebilcock, Dr. and Mrs. Carmichael's cottage.

Social Life

On account of the extreme heat of the past few weeks the cottagers have kept more or less to themselves having their entire time occupied in the business of keeping cool and as the cottagers explained the season will not open properly until the young people begin their holidays from school and office life. The only social life the cottagers indulge in as yet is the weekly dance given by the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., each Friday which is attended by practically all the Park dwellers.

Some men are known by the company they keep, and others are known by the companies they promote.

NO TROUBLE ABOUT SALE OF GRAIN IF CANADA CAN MARKET AND FINANCE CROP

PRICE FIXING MOVE PRACTICALLY FORCED UPON GOVERNMENT BY ACTION OF UNITED STATES—TWO DOLLARS AND TWENTY-SIX CENTS A BUSHEL MAY BE THE PRICE—PREMIER TOOK UP QUESTION OF MARKETING CROP WHILE IN ENGLAND—AMERICAN EMBARGO A CERTAINTY.

OTTAWA, June 20.—It is understood on good authority that the Government is likely to fix the price of wheat for Canada for this coming year's crop. The matter is under final consideration and on official announcement can be expected shortly.

Action is practically being forced upon the Government by the situation in the United States. The American Government before the armistice was signed fixed the price in the United States for 1919 crop at $2.26 per bushel.

There promises to be a tremendous American crop, and it is certain that there will be an embargo placed on Canadian wheat. This is a serious matter for Canada not only on account of the American market, but chiefly because fully half the Canadian crop is ordinarily shipped through American ports.

Sir Robert Aroused

The question of the marketing of Canadian grain under the circumstances is a serious one, and has given the Government the gravest consideration for many months. Earlier in the year the Government did not favor price-fixing, as it was felt that it was placing such a financial risk upon the Government that it could not afford to run. However, Sir Robert Borden while in England took up the question of a market for Canadian wheat, and while no final agreement was reached it seems positively certain that there will be no trouble about the sale f the crop at a fixed price, provided Canada can market and finance it.

Government Justified

Under the circumstances and with an American embargo now a certainty the Government feels that it is justified in fixing the price. It is presumed it will be the same figure as in the United States. Western members have been strongly urging for some time the need of a guaranteed price and have finally succeeded in persuading the Government they were right. From Alberta W. H. Blair, of Battle River, has been particularly active in urging this action.

Can Handle Crop.

An important conference was held in Ottawa yesterday of representatives of the grain interests, transportation and farmers, to consider the question of marketing. Both shipping and railway men believe that they would be able to handle the grain crop even under the unusual conditions that are likely to arise this fall. The Government will bend every energy to have the Government railways and Canadian ports handle the exceptional burden placed upon it.

The embargo, it is believed, in the end will be to the benefit of Canada, as it will divert to Canadian channels the large mount of western grain which in the past has been reaching European markets through American ports.

WHEN TO CUT ALFALFA

The yielding capacity of alfalfa for hay. Be- ponds on quite a number [illegible] one of them being the time when the crop is harvested. The time of harvesting, indeed, affects the yielding capacity per acre of alfalfa more than it affects other hay crops for reasons which will be explained briefly.

It is unfortunately a rather common practice among farmers to delay the cutting of hay crops too long, under the mistaken idea that by waiting a little after that the crop has reached is best stage from a quality standpoint, larger and consequently more remunerative crops may be realised. This practice, however, works out rather the other way in alfalfa.

It is generally held that most satisfactory returns, both from the standpoint of tonnage per acre and from the standpoint of the hay quality, are obtained if the alfalfa is cut when, as it is generally expressed, it is "one tenth in bloom." This expression really means that it is time to cut alfalfa just after it has started to come in general bloom. The blossoming is, in fact, on the whole a rather good indication of the proper time to cut alfalfa; but it is not always so, for in certain seasons, especially if wet and cool weather prevails in the early part of the summer, the blossoming period may be considerably delayed beyond the best time [illegible] time when an alfalfa field is "one-tenth in bloom," and in case of doubt on that question, the alfalfa grower may easily be tempted to wait a little too long.

A far safer indication of the best time to cut for hay is given by the coming on of the second growth from the crown of the roots. The second growth generally begins to shoot just when the plants begin to blossom, but sometimes a little earlier. As the second growth is the one on which the size of the season's second crop of alfalfa depends, it follows that the first hay crop of the season should be taken off before the second growth has reached such a development that there is any risk of it being cut off with the first crop. And this might easily happen, if the cutting of the first crop is delayed too much, the result, of course, being that the return from the second crop of the season is apt to become smaller.

Under the circumstances alfalfa growers would be well advised not to delay the cutting of the first crop any time after that the second growth begins to come on. A simple examination of the crown of the roots will show how the new growth is developing, and the cutting of the first crop should take place before it is high enough to be caught by the mower.

FOR BRONCHITIS

A Coal Miner Thinks There is No Remedy Like Vinol.

Belleville, Ill.—"I am a coal miner. I doctored for months for a chronic case of bronchitis with a terrible cough, sore chest, throat and lungs, so I could not work. I could get no relief until I tried Vinol. It stopped my cough and built up my strength and I feel better in every way."—Andrew J. Gray.

It is the healing, tissue building properties of fresh cods' livers aided by the strengthening blood building elements of iconic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in overcoming chronic cough, colds, and bronchitis.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC TIE LINE TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Connection from Healey Falls to Peterboro to be made this Season — Hydro for Havelock, Norwood, and Hastings will now be a Certainty.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster of Havelock, has been advised by the Hydro Electric Power Commission that it has been decided to construct the 44,000 volt tie line between Healey Falls and Peterboro and that it is intended to proceed with the work this season.

The serving of Havelock, Norwood, and Hastings, will therefore become feasible before long and the Commission urges the municipalities concerned to pass their enabling bylaws, and make all other preparations.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over most people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills Ont., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WARSAW MILLPOND SCENE OF DROWNING

TEN YEAR OLD BOY LOST HIS LIFE YESTERDAY.

WARSAW, June 19.—A sad drowning accident took place yesterday at Warsaw, when Donald, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson, lost his life while bathing in the millpond. The victim, together with his thirteen year old brother, was on his way to school. The boys decided to have a swim in the pond. The older brother, who had an errand to perform, was called away for a short time, and when he returned to the pond he found his brother Donald lying apparently dead in the water. He immediately lunged in and pulled him out. A doctor and two nurses were summoned and they worked over the boy for four or five hours without success. At times their efforts were rewarded by signs of life, but finally they were compelled to give up hope. hope.

This is the first drowning accident that has ever occurred in the village to the knowledge of the oldest inhabitants.

LIFE POSSIBLE ON VENUS.

From what we know of the surface conditions and climates of the various members of the solar system, Professor Svante Arrhenius concludes that Venus is the only planet besides the earth where life is possible. Venus has a dense, warm atmosphere of high humidity.

With everything dripping wet, life near the equator should be luxuriant, though of low order on account of the uniform climate and lack of need for specialization; but nearer the poles the climatic diversity is greater, suggesting a more varied development. Absence of any atmosphere, he thinks, makes life on Mercury and the moon impossible.

Mars, too, must be uninhabitable with a temperature averaging about 37 degrees Centigrade below zero, and scarcely rising to freezing point, even at noon on the equator, and its water supply is small. — Newark News.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, And ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

An Investigator.

The young man in the bureau of information laid the railroad guide down and looked reproachfully at the woman who had turned in a volley of questions.

"Madam," he said, "you can't possibly take all those trains you are asking about."

"I know it," she replied serenely, "but as long as I didn't have anything else to do I thought I'd just see for myself how much you railroad men really know about your business."—Washington Star.

Expected Freaks.

Small girl at football match scans the scene with eagerness; then in disappointed tones, "Mother, I don't see any cripples!"

"Of course not yet, my dear. The game is young. What did you expect?"

"Well, where are the quarterbacks and halfbacks who were to play?"—Magazine of Fun.

Taken at His Word.

A suburban minister, during his discourse one Sunday morning said: "In each blade of grass there is a sermon." The following day one of his flock discovered the good man pushing a lawnmower about and paused to say, "Well, parson, I'm glad to see you engaged in cutting your sermons short" —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What Germans Must Do.

Under the title "Conquest and Kultur," the committee on public information issued a compilation of quotations from German writers and speakers, including the kaiser himself, to show the Teutonic worship of the war god and greed for world conquest." The pamphlet, compiled by Profs. Wallace Notestein and Elmer E. Stoll of the University of Minnesota, assisted by faculties of their own and other universities, has a foreword by Guy Stanton Ford, saying:

"No peace can ever make of Germany a fit partner for a league of honor until the German people have driven out the spirit which inspired these utterances in their name."

Work of Bureau of Standards.

One of the many new undertakings of the bureau of standards is an investigation of magnetic compasses, in behalf of the naval observatory, the joint army and navy board of specifications, and the shipping board. The bureau proposes to develop a standard method of testing compasses and to prepare specifications for the purchase of compasses by the government. A special form of magnetometer has been devised for the determination of magnetic moment and a rotation test for pivot friction is being developed. The bureau expects to test several thousand compasses in the course of the present year.

Did His Part, Anyway.

The day of the peace celebration at Chicago the school children, acting of their own volition, formed a parade and carried out a program, which included singing patriotic songs, after which they took up a collection for the united war work fund. Buddy had kept pace with the older children in everything, singing when they sang, whether the songs were familiar to him or not. When he told about it that evening his mother asked: "What was it you sang?" "Oh, I don't know what we sang," answered Buddy, still enthusiastic over his part in the celebration, "but I sang just the same."

Helped Burn Emperor's Effigy.

During the celebration of victory at Genoa, Italy, a characteristic episode occurred in front of the Garibaldi monument. A group of English sailors surrounded by an immense crowd held a mock trial about the effigy of Emperor Charles of Austria. They condemned him to death and hanged the effigy on a pole, afterward applying the torch. The pole and the effigy were consumed. The Americans and the English took part in all the Italian celebrations with great enthusiasm.

FEARFUL COST OF WAR.

One Year of Europe's Great Conflict to Eat Up $220,000,000,000.

Military experts in Washington regard the probable cost of the conflict impending in Europe so vast as to be beyond reckoning. They assert that it is quite impossible to make even a guess as to the aggregate expenses.

In our great American conflict, the war between the states, expenses on the Federal side were ordinarily reckoned at $1,000,000 a day for 500,000 men in the field. Another estimate that is often made is that of $1,000 a year per man in the field.

Assuming that a general conflict will call into the field a maximum of 20,000,000 soldiers, this basis would bring the total military expenses alone up to $220,000,000,000 or about $50,000,000 a day.

Army officers point out that the military expense of such a conflict is only a portion of the actual cost. The shrinkage in security values, the stoppage of agriculture, the diminution of manufacturing and other industries and the interference with trade and foreign commerce must all be included to arrive at any approximate estimate of the vast cost of a war in Europe.—New York Sun.

MOVING PICTURES.

If Watching Them Tires Your Eyes Try Wearing Amber Glasses.

If moving pictures tire your eyes try wearing amber glasses. The flicker of the pictures on the screen has something to do with the tiring effect, but by no means all. The violet and ultra violet rays, in which the electric arc light by which the views are projected is very strong, bother the eyes as much or more than the flicker.

There are violet and ultra violet rays in all light except that especially filtered. You can prove this for yourself by looking over the edge of a pair of amber glasses, when you will see a sort of halo of violet about their border, or you can look through the tiny hole that is bored for the chain or cord and see the same violet light. The amber glass cuts off the violet rays from the eyes and thus protects them from being dazzled.

One Bullet Out of 5,000 Fatal.

A regular army officer is my authority for saying that during a battle only one bullet out of every 5,000 fired kills an enemy. Two armies, each of 50,000 men, might go into action with 100 rounds of ammunition. These armies could discharge at each other 10,000,000 bullets. If only one shot in 1,000 took effect 5,000 men on each side would be killed or wounded. That would be a heavy casualty. But, as the army officer says, the artillery fire is more destructive than rifle fire. To the cannon and not to the rifle belongs the greater distinction in battle. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Mast of the Old Shamrock.

The mast of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Shamrock III., which has stood as a flagstaff in front of the Brewster building in Long Island City for the last four years, will shortly be removed to one of the parks of the borough to make way for the Queensboro plaza station of the dual subway. The removal of the great staff will be no easy task. It is imbedded in twenty-five feet of solid concrete. This cannot be blasted away without injuring the pole. An effort will be made to raise the whole mass and then break away the concrete.—New York Tribune.

Bad For the Paul Prys.

A motor driven telltale device for party line telephones has been patented which will give conversing parties the location of any subscriber who may "listen in" while they are using the line. The rising receiver hook at the interfoping station starts a motor driven signal wheel, which gives the code of the station attempting to use the line. The motor cannot be stopped or the circuits interrupted until the signal is completed.—Electrical World.

Famed For Her White Whale.

The bark Platina, one of the last of the old New Bedford whalers, was recently broken up for firewood. She was, according to Shipping Illustrated, the only vessel that ever captured a white whale. Other "sperm whales of great age have been taken that were spotted with white, but the Platina's whale was pure white from head to tail."

Prudent Consideration.

"There's young Buffins, who is a promising young man. Why don't you take him in with you on this?"

"Because I doubt the wisdom of taking in a promising young man on a strictly paying enterprise."

COLONEL RAMSEY'S EXPERIENCES

Colonel C. W. P. Ramsey, C.M.G., who commanded the first Railway Construction Corps from Canada to France, and who previous to going overseas was engineer of construction in the Engineering Department of the Canadian Pacific, was responsible for the gigantic steam shovels, weighing 65 tons each, capable of eating up earth at the rate of 150 to 200 cubic yards an hour, and self-propelling extension track pile drivers, built at Angus Shops for the Canadian Government, which formed part of the equipment used by the famous Railway Construction Corps.

Col. Ramsey, in the course of a recent talk, said:

"Our work overseas was regarded as of considerable value to the combatant forces, and that work was largely due to the strong support we received from the first from the Canadian Pacific Railway. From the beginning of our organization to the time when we went overseas our work was aided in its entirety by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and they not only aided in our recruiting, but assisted in every way in the organization and equipment of the work. Further than that a very large percentage of the [illegible] supplied from the ranks of the C. P. R.

"For the 500 men we needed there was keen competition. No less than 3,000 men, all experienced railway men, applied, and we had so much careful work selecting the best men we could get for the work.

"We went over in June, 1915, and on reaching the other side there was little delay. We had two months in Camp at Longmoor for training, after which we were sent over the Channel. It was found then that the greatest need for railway work at the front was in Belgium, and we were sent there.

"We did not know just what the work was, but we were all keen for it, and we jumped in as hard as we could, every man doing his share with a desire to do all that he could.

"Our first work was at Dixmude, where we started in building concrete structures with a vast amount of miscellaneous work. From this we proceeded to the building of ten miles of track, which was the first railway work done by the allied armies. The only previous railway was a wooden road, which was put down with wooden rails with the idea of keeping down the noise so as to avoid warning the enemy of what we were doing.

"Our first work put in constructing railways behind the British front, where we put in the first advance railway for war purposes they had. Later on the British war people put in a great railway organization, which operated with much success back of the British front.

"When we arrived the British had had a few railway men at work. But when the Canadians arrived the value of this work was at once seen, and the force grew very quickly, so that the railway corps grew to 4,000, and eventually to over 100,000.

"In February, 1916, shipments of box cars began to arrive from Canada and the first plant for the erection of these cars was supplied from the equipment of the Canadian Railway Corps and installed at Andrulcq.

"At that time a monster ammunition dump had been collected there, but the Germans, by their air service, and other means of information, had learned about it. Then when we had 20,000 tons of munitions and high explosives collected there, the Germans came and bombed it. The results were not pleasant, but there were only 40 or 50 Canadian casualties.

"Later on I went to the Somme front. They had tried in that area to handle transport, but all their roads had failed. They were trying to get railways to various points until the Canadians arrived. Then we built the most advanced railway in France, only 1,200 yards behind our front lines, which was a great saving for our forces.

"In 1917 the Boche began his great retreat. It was evident that the retreat had been carefully planned long before, because anything that had not been carried away was blown up on a systematic plan. Further, they fixed time charges to blow up anything they could not get away with, in the hope that the charges later on would get the British troops, while other charges were so arranged that they would explode from the vibration of passing troops and material.

"During the summer of 1917 a large number of advanced railways had been established, and this called for severe work. Munitions had to be brought up under cover of night for the advanced troops in order to prepare for a surprise fire. But this was so well done that the November attack proved a success, 450 tanks being brought up in one night, and brought up so well that the enemy never knew they were there until the attack developed.

"However, the C. P. R. Canadian Overseas Corps did two or three things during their service overseas that more than justified their existence. They laid the first standard gauge railway back of the lines. At that time their strength was only 500 men. Following that they increased their strength, and during the war they laid 400 out of 2,000 miles of track laid back of our lines. Eventually they finished their work by laying the tracks in the Valenciennes and Mons region, which had very much to do with the success of the closing operations of the war.

MODERN MAGIC OF COAL TAR

The modern magician's favourite raw material is coal-tar. He waves his wand over it and, lo!! all sorts of marvels spring into being.

Coal-tar—a cheap by-product in the manufacture of ordinary gas—is an exceedingly complex organic compound out of which the chemist seems to be able to dig almost anything he wants, from a rye to a perfume, from a disinfectant to a grease-spot eradicator, and from a pain-killing drug to a near explosive.

It is almost as century since naphthalene was first derived from coal-tar. We are most familiar with it to-day as the substance out of which moth-balls are made. But from it have also been obtained some beautiful colour dyes—buttercup-yellow, a variety of scarlets, pinks and greens.

Known to Every Household.

Next came benzine—discovered five years later, in 1825. There is a little bottle of it in every household because of its property of dissolving fats and therefore effective as a remover of grease-spots. What is known as the "dry-cleaning" process—a mystery to most folks—is simply washing with a mixture of petrol and benzine soap.

Many years ago a clever chemist was trying to make an artificial quinine from benzine treated with nitric acid. In this attempt he failed but to his great surprise his process yielded cheaply and in quantity, "aniline"—the stuff that is to-day the source of a whole rainbow of wonderful dyes.

In My Lady's Boudoir.

From benzine also is derived an artificial oil of bitter almonds, used by the hundreds of tons for the scenting of soaps. And likewise obtained from coal-tar—black and evil-smelling—are many exquisite perfumes, such as "white heliotrope," for my lady's toilet.

Most widely used of all coal-tar products is carbolic acid. It was the original germ-killer, the first one used by Lister as a disinfectant in surgery.

In conclusion it may be pointed out that your gas has been of such poor quality during the war because many ingredients previously allowed to remain were extracted to enrich the coal tar from which superlatively high explosives were manufactured.

If clothes are hung on a damp day and brought in before they are quite dry they can be ironed without rolling.

If by accident soot should be dropped on the carpet, cover it thickly with salt, then both may easily be swept up.

NOT ASPIRIN WITHOUT THE "BAYER CROSS"

Any Tablet Offered as Aspirin and Not Stamped with the "Bayer Cross" is Not Aspirin at All!

"Bayer" Now Made in Canada—No German Interest—All Rights Purchased from U. S. Government

BAYER

There is not a penny of German money invested in "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" nor will a German citizen profit by its sale or ever be allowed to acquire interest.

The original, world-famous "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" is now made in Canada and can be had at your druggist's in handy packages.

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package and on tablets you are not getting Aspirin at all.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But there is no substitute for genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Grippe, Joint Pains, Neuritis.

Proper and safe directions are in every "Bayer Package."

Boxes of 12 tablets—Bottles of 24—Bottles of 100—Also Capsules.

"Aspirin" is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that "Aspirin" means "Bayer" manufacture, to protect the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with the genuine trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

When Bert Weakened

By JOSEPHINE MURPHY

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Every holiday should be arranged to arrive on a Friday," drawled Nathan Ware, a frank antagonist of the life strenuous one Saturday morning. "It's so easy to stretch them over Saturday; and then the blessed Sabbath gives us another day in which to rest. Tomorrow Bert, you and Miss Thornton can have the spert of your lives hunting gray squirrels. The woods are full of them, and if there's any better fun than chasing squirrels, I don't know what it is—unless making love to a pretty girl beats it.

"You and Miss Thornton got along famously today," teased Nathan. "If you and Dora aren't to be congratulated before leaving here Sunday, Phebe Ware is going to be the most disappointed woman in America."

"Really?" laughed Bert. "Your wife is a dear, but—" He hesitated, smiling.

"She'll be after me soon if I don't go out and join her," said Nathan, rising and placing his hand on his friend's shoulder. "Hope the 'but' is not serious, Bert. Miss Thornton is a brick and she likes you. Good night. Have your smoke out, and if there's anything you want and can't find, why—keep on looking for it, or spring the burglar alarm."

It had been a day full of pleasure for the little house party at Ware's place—"a bungalow 14 miles from the city and a million miles from vexation."

The evening before as they sat in the library, various topics had been discussed, chief of which were, "woman's rights." A charming exponent of this subject had been Dora Thornton, and thus the thorn that pricked the love and admiration of Bert. Yet the former day-dreams of a clear-headed bachelor held no vision such as this.

It was the creature of another world that appeared in his dreams—a girl, gentle, home-loving and dependable. Now in the fairy smoke circles that floated from his cigar, another form is visible; a girl, muscular, brown-armed and alert; who paddles a canoe like an Indian, and whose archery and rifle scores are among the best; yet possessing none of these soft feminine traits which the average man admires most in a woman.

Bert threw the end of his cigar into the fire and mounted the stairs to his room. Half an hour later, hesitating between accusing himself of being either a prig or an idiot, he fell asleep.

Saturday morning dawned clear and beautiful. An early coach brought several more to the little house-party.

"Sorry I haven't another rifle, Phil," said Ware to a shooting guest; "you might catch up with Bert and Miss Thornton and catch some squirrels."

"We saw Dora and Bert as we came over the hill," said Alice Bates.

"And a jolly time they seemed to be having all by themselves," said Phil. "I whistled, but they were too busy to hear me."

"Guess they'll come back squirrelless. It's dollars to doughnuts Bert wouldn't see a squirrel if he fell over one. However, we won't blame him under the circumstances," remarked Ware.

He was mistaken, for just about this time Bert had caught sight of the first squirrel, a fat gray one, which bounded to a tall chestnut tree a hundred feet away.

"I see the rascal," he said. "Stand here, Miss Thornton. Look up between those two branches. Do you see him?"

"You don't mean that brownish excrescence on the bark?"

"That's the chap."

"I don't believe it!"

"Try him with a shot, and you'll see. Squirrels were not behind the door when protective coloring was handed out in the animal kingdom. Steady now."

The girl's lips closed firmly. Then, a muffled report was heard.

"You've got him!" exclaimed Bert.

The squirrel's clutch on the bark slowly relaxed and he fell.

Bert went over and picked up the yet quivering creature.

"What a beauty!" he cried. "It was a splendid shot."

As he approached the girl she shrank from him. He put the fluffy animal into the pocket of his hunting jacket.

"Dora, dear," he said, placing his hand tenderly on her shoulder.

"Don't," she cried, passionately.

"I'm a brute."

"Oh, what a cruel thing to do! The poor, harmless little fellow. Oh, how could I?" Here her voice broke in a sob, as she leaned against a tree and wept, her head buried in her hands. Gently, Bert unwound the fingers that held her rifle.

"Shall we walk on?" he said.

Slowly they walked through the woods, and Bert, uncertain no longer of his love, spoke of a subject nearer and dearer than any other. In truth, squirrels scampered beneath their very feet unseen. Before long the girl's countenance had changed to one of happiness, and her eyes shone with a new brilliancy, that spoke well for the satisfaction of bright, matchmaking, Phebe Ware.

Suspicion.

"They've elected me a responsible officer of our association," said the busy man.

"That shows you are popular," commented his wife.

"Maybe not. They are planning to raise the dues. Maybe they were looking for some one who was already so unpopular that he won't mind the criticism."—Washington Star.

FUNNY JOHN BUNNY.

His Is One of the Most Familiar Faces in the World.

The face of John Bunny (the funny fat man of the movies) is at once his fortune and his misfortune. It has established him as one of the highest salaried actors in the world and at the same time has made him so easily recognizable that he cannot hide. If Mr. Bunny enters a Broadway restaurant the diners stop dining long enough to wave a Chautauqua salute. If he goes to a prizefight or ball game the fans stand and cheer his entrance. If he walks down the street a crowd follows and congests traffic.

It seems scarcely necessary to state that John Bunny is the very funny fat man who falls out of airships and tumbles off skyscrapers in the movies, since it is estimated that more than 7,000,000 people in the United States and between fifteen and twenty million in the world attend the movies daily and most of these at some time or other have laughed at Bunny's antics.

When Mr. Bunny had been acting for the films only a year and a half he went abroad to be photographed in photo plays with foreign backgrounds. His trip proved a triumphal tour from the moment he mounted the gangplank. At every station at which the boat train to London stopped the loungers recognized him immediately he stepped upon the platform. In London whenever he walked upon the Strand or in Ludgate Circus he was given a young ovation. In Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg the cry, "There goes Bunny!" in as many respective languages always greeted his appearance in public.—American Magazine.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acids and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Another Great Canadian Ace

AIRMEN do not run to any particular type—despite the assurance of H. G. Wells to the contrary. Among the most famous Canadian airmen, there are very few physical qualities which apply to every one.

One characteristic, however, they all have in common is a clear eye. It would almost seem as if their excursions into the last free element of the world, have blown the dust and weariness away — or else it is caused by the necessity of following so vast an area as a flyer does when he goes in to fight. Whatever the reason, they have all developed a keen, steady gaze that is about as potent as that of the ancient mariner who used to hold the odd passerby in conversation with the hypnotism of his optics.

Capt. Donald R. MacLaren, R.A.F., is of medium height, but very stockily built—the kind of half-back that always gives his tackler an ugly jolt in a rugby match. Mac's ordinary walking pace (I have route-marched on Picadilly many times with him) is about 90 paces to the minute, with a minimum length of sixty inches. I supposed he developed that stride when he went up into the Peace River country after he left McGill University. When he walks he raises his knees as if going through surf, and this, combined with his breadth of shoulder, generally gives one the impression of a youthful sheriff going in to capture a brigand who has been shooting up a moving picture western town.

When serious MacLaren has a profound Napoleonic look, but when he is amused (and he has a real Scottish-Canadian sense of humor) his manner is like nothing so much as a boy who has just seen his schoolmaster sit down on a tack.

Incidentally MacLaren's record in France places him among the very first airmen of the world. He shot down fifty-seven Huns.

Which brings me back to the subject of eyes. If I were offering advice to the enemy who next challenges Britain's supremacy I would say "avoid any man who is thickset and whose eyes are brilliant and steady when he's aroused."

Major MacDowell, V.C., of Ottawa, was the same type as MacLaren. Neither of them know the sensation of physical fear. When MacDowell came to a dugout with some seventy odd Prussian Guards in it, he went down and lined them up into parties of twelve, bluffing that he had a battalion outside (yet MacDowell plays a very poor game of poker, too.)

When, early in 1918, Capt. MacLaren heard that the new Fokker bi-plane was faster than the British machines, he jumped into his one seater and went over the German lines to find out. It was the way he fought his whole year in France, from a novice to the command of the 46th Squadron. Again and again he gave battle to superior numbers; often he returned with his machine riddled, but from beginning to the end of his glorious career, his principle of action was "attack first—and always; outguess the Hun; watch for traps, and shoot straight."

Although of Scottish extraction, MacLaren is Canadian born, coming from Vancouver. He graduated from McGill University, taking an engineering course, and afterwards went to the Peace River country with his brother, where they became well-known traders with the Indians. His Scottish blood, combined with his life among the Indians, has given him a dislike of frivolous things of life, and poetic appreciation of the vastness of nature. Mac once gave me a description of the appearance of the lines in France as viewed from the air an hour before dawn.

He sketches quite well, is something of an authority on architecture, and not only plays the piano but whistles Chopin while playing billiards — (which perhaps accounts for his high run with me one morning amounting to four).

I have only touched on MacLaren's work in France, partly because he is an interesting character study, and also because his D.S.O., M.C., and Bar and D.F.C., tell their own story. He was with the one squadron, the 46th, throughout.

MacLaren is imaginative and constructive, but above all he is a most likeable chap with great force of character. Like the rest he is in his middle twenties and wants to see that flying receives its proper support in Canada.

In the hustle and anxiety of replacing the Dominion on a peace basis we are apt to let these airmen return without recognition. They fought as British pilots and were not allowed even to wear "Canada" on their shoulders. It would be a pity if these wonderful chaps like MacLaren, Barker, McKeevor, and the rest of the Canadian flying elite were lost track by the country.

They have given great traditions to the young Dominion. In the further conquest of the air, and in pointing an example of chivalry and fearlessness to the younger generation at home, they are too valuable for Canada to ignore.

Baby Loves It

It's hard to bring up a baby without MENNEN'S TALCUM POWDER. It relieves and cools his tender skin. It makes him "comfy" and happy.

Be sure it's MENNEN'S —then you know it's pure, sanitary and safe. For 40 years MENNEN'S has been the baby's best friend.

MENNEN'S TALCUM POWDERS

THOUGHT IT WAS A BOIL

Doctor Said Abscess

Mr. Gleason R. Young, Kingscroft N.B., under date of Feb. 9th, 1918 writes us as follows: "About five months ago, a lump came on my jaw bone. I thought it was a boil, and after it had been there quite a while it began to get larger. I went to a doctor and he said it was an abscess and lanced it. He gave me a wash for it, so I went by his directions until it healed up, but it commenced coming again, and in about three weeks it broke itself. I thought it would get better, but it didn't. A neighbour advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I sent and got a bottle, and by the time it was all gone, the abscess had disappeared, and now it is all better."

Burdock Blood Bitters will heal and dry up sores, ulcers, and abscesses, no matter how large or of how long standing. If you have never applied it to a cut, wound, sore or ulcer, just try it and see what soothing, healing, cleansing power it possesses. It takes out itching, stinging and burning, and promotes the growth of healthy flesh. So, too, when taken internally, by its power of eliminating all impurities from the blood and making that vital fluid rich, red and pure, it cuts off the origin and source of the foul matter that goes to make boils, pimples, sores, ulcers, abscesses and the like, and at the same time the purified and enriched blood creates healthy tissue where there was formerly, perhaps, a sore full of pus.

Square Heels For Shoes.

The square heel, which has been recently patented by a shoe designer of Washington state, is an effort to increase the life of the heel and the comfort of the wearer by preventing the running over, which is a common fault of the present time. The runover always occurs to the rear of the heel, and this is prevented to a great degree by the increased amount of material in the new shape. The operation of running over is greatly retarded and the heel is given more foundation when the foot is planted on the ground.—Exchange.

Plating Aluminium.

A French metallurgist has solved the problem of giving aluminium a coating that will take a high polish and will safeguard it against the effects of the air and of certain foods. By successive baths of boiling lye cyanide of potassium and hydrochloric acid containing ferrous chloride it produces a surface that takes a plating of nickel so perfectly that the metal can be rolled into plates, drawn into wires or hammered into any shape without in any way injuring the film of nickel.—New York World

Triplex Glass.

"Triplex" glass, consisting of two sheets of ordinary glass interleaved with a sheet of celluloid and amalgamated under heavy pressure may play an important part in automobile manufacture in the future. This glass will not fly about when shattered, but merely breaks up into adhering pieces and hence will not cause injuries in case of accident.

Submarine Soldiers.

Dr. Nadal, writing in the Journal de Medicine de Bordeaux, urges training soldiers to walk through a running stream and walk entirely submerged for certain stretches. With a little training, he says, troops can thus accomplish the crossing of a river over 900 feet wide and not much over nine feet deep, each carrying a load weighing from 66 to 88 pounds.

EUROPEAN ALLIANCES.

The Many Changes That Have Come in the Last Century.

In the history of Europe during the past century nothing is more curious than the easy way in which national alliances have been made, broken, made again and changed as dynastic, economic and racial reasons have demanded. Here are a few of these political transformations:

In 1815 Russia, Prussia, England and Austria combined against France and crushed the power of Napoleon forever.

In 1849, when revolution in Hungary threatened the house of Hapsburg in Austria, Russia intervened and by force of arms placed the present emperor, Francis Joseph, firmly upon his throne.

In 1855-6 England, France, Austria and Italy allied themselves with the Turks against Russia in the Crimean war.

In 1859 France defeated Austria in Italy and gave a great impetus to the unification of Italy.

In 1866 Prussia gave its present ally, Austria, a fearful beating at Sadowa and forced it out of first place in the Germanic confederation.

In 1870 Prussia inflicted upon France the defeat, with accompanying loss of territory, that has been the cause of Europe's unrest ever since.

In 1877 Russia defeated the Turks decisively, but was cheated out of the rightful fruits of her victory by a combination of the other powers in the treaty of Berlin.

Old enmities and friendships are now forgotten, and Italy, which detests both Austria and Germany, has been united with them in the triple alliance, while those old time enemies, England and Russia, are allied with France in the triple entente.

What will be the next switch?—Philadelphia Record.

BADGES OF MOURNING.

Is the Custom of Wearing Black For the Dead Passing?

The notice of the death of an eminent man in London contained these words: "His wife and family will respect his urgent desire that no outward sign of mouring should be worn." In referring to this notice the London Times says, "The practice of wearing mourning has long been sliding into disuse, and probably the next twenty years will see it abandoned altogether, at any rate among the wealthier people."

According to the London paper, all badges of woes are disappearing from funerals. The black rosettes on the horses' bridles and the crape from the hats and sleeves are seldom seen. So it is with black edged writing paper and black edged cards. It is all going, because mourning is not needed either for memory or respect. Here are two paragraphs from the Times article.

"Those whose sympathy we value will give it us without our advertising for it; it will seem all but indecent to go about the world demanding sympathy of strangers.

"And if we believe that those who have left us have still the power to observe our doings we must believe that it is our hearts, not our clothes, that they will read."

All of which may seem a little unfeeling, and yet it is only to give an idea of the changes that are going on in the world of mourning.—Ohio State Journal.

Streets Full of Beans.

Some idea of the magnitude of Ecuador's cacao crop may be gained from the fact that the main streets of Guayaquil are at present almost wholly occupied by cacao beans, placed there to undergo the necessary curing process, and the wharves are covered to a height of several feet with the beans in bags ready for export. The enormous yield is the result of the increased acreage and greater number of trees planted in the last few years. So long as the cacao crop continues to be so bounteous the republic will occupy an independent financial position.—Argonaut.

"Just can't work any more." The faded, jaded, over-worked woman, with pains here or there, should ask her neighbor for advice. Ten-to-one she was dragged down by the pains and ailments of her sex, and was completely cured by that temperance tonic made from wild herbs and roots, and known for 50 years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When a woman's complaints of backache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before her eyes—a dragging feeling, or bearing-down, with nervousness, she should turn to this "temperance" herbal tonic, known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid. Dr. Pierce, of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y., will send a trial size for 10-cents

Tenaxon, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Medicine has been a wonderful help to me and I recommend it in hope that others may be benefited by its use. When I was a girl I was always delicate. My mother thought she could never raise me. As I got older I grew worse; doctors said I would have to have an operation. I suffered at times untold agony. My mother started giving me 'Favorite Prescription,' and it finally cured me of all my trouble. After I married I used it again. My children are all healthy and strong. This medicine did wonders for me, saved me much suffering, and I can highly recommend it to weak women or those raising a family."—Mrs. A. W. Jones, 128 Thirteenth Street.

SUNBURN

LAKE OF ICE IN AFRICA.

Under Blazing Torrid Sun Lies Queer Natural Phenomenon.

A lake that is always frozen, and that in torrid Africa, is thus described in Popular Science:

It is a wonderful lake far off in the heart of Africa, where the sun blares sublimely and causes the water to evaporate so quickly that an outlet is considered by Nature to be a superfluity—a lake like our Great Salt Lake, where the inflowing waters have unloaded common salt for so long a period that the saturation point has been passed.

But there is a difference in the material deposited. The soil through which the African streams flow is different from ours, and hence, instead of finding common salt or sodium chloride in the Magadi Lake, a chemical test shows us the presence of sodium carbonate (kitchen soda). Moreover, this sodium carbonate is crystalized into a solid mass—or, in other words, is frozen.

Different substances solidify or freeze at different temperatures. Think of a lake sixteen miles long and four miles wide, frozen under the torrid glare of the African sun. Wonderful, isn't it?—and yet absolutely true.

It is a wild, uncivilized country in which this lake is located. Here and there may be seen the three-toed footprints of a stray rhinoceros that has laboured through the alkaline soil. The country is in British East Africa, 252 miles west of Mombasa.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Morning Cold Baths.

The early morning cold bath is beneficial only to those persons who possess sufficient vital energy and nervous force to insure a good reaction with no subsequent languor or lassitude. If one feels grently refreshed after one's morning bath, but two or three hours afterwards feels tired or languid, there is sufficient evidence that the practice is injurious, and should be discontinued.

Those who have an ample supply of blood and flesh, who possess a lymphatic or sluggish temperament and whose nervous force is not depleted may indulge in their morning bath to advantage.

Those inclined to be thin, whose hands and feet upon slight provocation become cold and clammy, who digest their food rather slowly and assimilate it with difficulty, who are nervous and are burdened mentally, all such individuals should avoid bathing during the early morning hours.

Windy Adelie Land.

The windiest region of the world of which we have any knowledge appears to be the coast of Wilkes Land, where Dr. Mawson's expedition recently spent two years. Records at Adelie Land for 1912 showed an average wind velocity throughout the year of about forty-eight miles an hour, while velocities of 100 miles an hour were common.

BARS BEER IN CANCER CASES.

Homeopathic Doctor Would Also Confine Diet to Vegetables.

ASBURY PARK, N.J.—All alcoholic beverages must be entirely eliminated and a vegetable diet adopted in the case of sufferers from cancer, if a cure would be effected, according to Dr. Ralph Bernstein, professor of skin diseases at Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, who spoke before the delegates to the seventy-fifth annual convention of the National Institute of Homeopathy here.

"One way to prevent cancer," said the speaker, "is for a sufferer from a mole, wart, or any abnormality of the skin to seek immediate treatment and have the matter thoroughly decancerized. In most instances the sufferers themselves are to blame for the spread of cancer. They treat the matter lightly at the start, neglect to have medical attention, and suddenly they find their cases serious."

The speaker declared that great strides had been made in the treatment of cancer, due principally to the use of the X-ray, which he said had practically taken the place of the knife.

The Path to Health

For many thousands of women the Path to Health has certainly been through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When this great remedy was first introduced, and for many years after, skeptics frowned upon its curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by it has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands—doubt and skepticism have been swept away as by a mighty tidal wave, until today this purely vegetable medicine is recognized as the greatest remedy for woman's special ills in the world. This is because it is a wonderful tonic and reconstructor which acts directly and favorably upon the feminine organization and is a specific for that purpose.

HIS GREAT RICHES

Man's Treasures That Are Beyond Reach of Thieves.

Here Is Example We All Might Follow and the World Would Be Better Place in Which to Live.

I have just had a wonderful conversation with a friend who is noted for his generosity. I do not refer to money, because he has little. I refer to the generosity of his thought and acts. He is always doing things for people—always thinking about the other fellow—always helping.

One of the remarkable characteristics of this man is his happiness. He has the kindest face imaginable, the sweetest disposition. He is the richest man I know, rich because he has the most. Not money—but friends, brains, ideas, knowledge of the world to an extraordinary degree, ability to entertain, ability to listen, ability to [illegible] remarkable experiences to recollect and to talk about.

Now for the conversation. He asked me what I thought was the most wonderful comment on life I had ever heard or read. I could not answer him, but I asked him for his choice. What seemed to him the most wonderful and truthful thing he ever heard or read? Here it is as he quoted it from Jean Jacques Rousseau:

"The dead take to their graves, in their clutched fingers, only that which they have given away."

I looked at him—and saw in his face no sign of realization that the quotation applied to himself. He had no idea that unconsciously he was giving expression to his own creed of living. He was as simple and honest and naive as a child. He admired Rousseau's idea, saw the truth of it, loved it, but never dreamed that he himself is a living embodiment of it—a man whose hands are filled with riches.

Somehow as I walked back to the office from lunch (where my friend quoted Rousseau), I thought that the idea was a good one to pass on. Here we go through life, grabbing, grabbing, grabbing—yet seldom getting anything worth while. Money, fame and all the rest—yet passing over the things which in later years we might clutch to our bosoms and find comfort in.

The war provides a great opportunity for all of us to get rich—rich with the rewards that come to those who serve. Don't let the chance go by. If you can't fight, give to the Red Cross, give to the Y. M. C. A., buy Liberty bonds, buy War Savings stamps. Give, serve, spend. Spend that you may receive. Have some part in the common lot. Do something—the happy recollection of which you will carry with you in the years to come.

Private Peat tells in a magazine article this month of the most tender, gentle thing he ever saw a soldier do. He tells how upon asking a soldier who was shivering with cold and pain what had become of his overcoat, the soldier answered: "Oh, my pal was killed back there, and he looked so cold, lying there in the rain, that I took off my coat and put it over him."

Tell us—did you ever hear of anybody richer than that poor, freezing boy who laid his coat over his dead pal, as a final mark of affectionate service? Wouldn't you like to be as rich as that?

"The dead take to their graves, in their clutched fingers, only that which they have given away."—American Magazine.

"THERE IS A TIGER WITHIN ME"

This is what Barbara Forbes discovered when she had her first pangs of jealousy over the intimacy between her husband and Blanche Orton. And she feared this tiger—feared that it might wreck her marriage, if she could not become master of it.

For Barbara knew she had no proof of grounds for her jealousy. She knew that her wild, ungovernable suspicions were entirely unreasonable. And suspicion of the innocent always ends in disaster.

But, on the other hand, what a pity it was that Neil—her husband—did not try to help her conquer the wild thing within her—help her by being over-particular to give her no cause to suspect him. Neil was so careless about appearances; often he did not even take the trouble to rectify a misrepresentation.

Yet Neil loved Barbara deeply. It hurt him to see her unhappy. And this being the case, it looks as though things were going to end happily, doesn't it?

But proof is surer than supposition, so to find out conclusively read "The Promoter's Wife," which starts in THE EXAMINER shortly.

There is a False Modesty

Which Causes Many People to Suffer Agony For Years From Piles—Dr. Chase's Ointment Cures.

Rather than consult a doctor or in fear of an operation, which so many doctors recommend, many people live in almost constant misery from piles or hemorrhoids.

There is not only the distress from the stinging, burning, itching sensations, but there is also a strain on the system which undermines the general health.

Many thousands find relief and cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Slowly the good word has been passed along until Dr. Chase's Ointment has become known throughout the civilized world as the most effective treatment obtainable for the cure of this distressing ailment.

This letter will give you some idea of what difficulty many people are experiencing in obtaining cure until they find out about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. F. M. Craig, 22a Shanson street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "A few lines in regard to the merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment may be beneficial to many people who are suffering like my wife did with itching and protruding piles. For seven months she suffered untold agony with itching and protruding piles, bleeding at the least movement she would make. I spent dollars and dollars on different remedies, but to no purpose, having sent to Chicago, Cincinnati, New York, Cleveland, Detroit and many other cities, but met with no success.

"While talking to a friend one day, he told me that he had tried everything for the same trouble, and the only thing that cured him was Dr. Chase's Ointment. So I secured some of this for my wife, and can safely and truly say that within two months not a sign of any could be seen. She used four boxes altogether, and we cannot speak too highly for its merits. I would not be without it in my house, as I also find it valuable for lots of minor complaints which no other ointment will touch."

Barbara Frietchie and Young China.

The fame of Whittier's poem, "Barbara Frietchie," has swept to China, where school children in Hongkong are interested in the native town of the heroine of the poem. The Chinese boys have read the poem and now desire information and a picture of the town. Reverend Mr. Bird of the Ellis Kadoorie school, Hongkong, has written to Mayor Lewis H. Fraley asking for a picture postal card of the town. The mayor has sent one of the centennial memorial books.—Baltimore News.

Public health service officials have given strong indorsement to the services thus rendered for the protection of the health of soldiers and civilians.

FIRST CLEAN UP THE MESS

British Major's Attitude on the War Typical of Most of the Soldiers "Over There."

Generalship, I heard a chief of staff at the front once say, is three-quarters a knowledge of the mood, the condition and the character of your men. For a week I traveled the British front with a grizzled major of a Highland regiment, who had been in the game since 1914. We lunched one day with a mingled group of field and intelligence officers, a Belgian on liaison work, and a visiting French captain. The talk, which was chiefly upon specialties beyond the range of war, made one fact evident—the world of civilian life was more interesting than ever before to these men. They were passionately desirous to get back, to "clean up the mess" there, to go on with their broken careers.

"How do you stay so keen on your job here," I asked the major, afterward, "when you are more weary of war than they are at home?"

He flushed a little, British fashion. "Have to clean up this mess, first," he answered.

A week later one of the most lovable boys I have ever known (he was killed a week later) stood by his Nieuport on the American front, talking to me before a fight.

"I don't think much of the danger," he said, "though I don't forget it. It's all part of the game."—Harper's Magazine.

GERMANY WITHOUT A FRIEND

Nation Stands Alone in the World, Seemingly With No One to Mourn for Her.

One cannot help wondering what could have been the emotions of the German agents in Spain when they read the dispatch sent by King Alfonso to President Poincare. Those agents have worked hard through all these years of the war and spent money lavishly to make and keep Spain the friend of Germany. They can claim with some show of truth to have kept her neutral, but now, in the day of Germany's humiliation, she gets no sympathy from the Spanish king. Instead, he telegraphs to the French president enthusiastic congratulations on the victory of the allies, and calls the result achieved the reaching of "the end of this glorious epic of the French army and nation, which have shown us all," he adds, "what bravery and patriotism mean."

Alfonso says "us all," and no Spaniard protests, so they must join not only in the king's felicitation of Germany's enemy but also in the implied denial that Germany has shown anybody what bravery and patriotism mean.

Another failure, therefore, must be scored against German diplomacy and propaganda. Is it the hundredth or the thousandth?—New York Times.

America's Tin Industry.

While the United States has attained a commanding position in the tin plate export trade, it by no means equals that which England had before the war. Data show that while our exports of tin plate have grown from 57,900 tons in 1913 to more than 233,000 tons in 1917, they even now are less than 50 per cent of England's before the war, and only 35 per cent more than that country's present exports.

Will this country ever have a tin industry of its own? asks the Philadelphia Inquirer. The American tin-melting industry is still in the childhood stage. Ore supplies in Bolivia, in South America, are believed to be large, but Bolivian producers are finding conditions here unsatisfactory for doing business. Only the future can tell whether any relief is possible from this source.

The old Romans and still older Celts have left their traces thickly strewn in the place-names of the country through which the victorious allied armies advanced during the latter part of the war. Valenciennes was named after the Roman emperor, Valentinian, just as Orleans was named after Emperor Aurelian. The mark of the Celt is seen in the dun, or fortress, of the ever-famous Verdun, and, though now contracted out of existence, in the towering old city of Laon, the stronghold of the Merovingians. The River Meuse, perhaps the river most connected with war, has the most peaceful of names, Meuse being Celtic for the River of Meadows.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any-one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins, which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water, with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

Malaria in England.

Malaria was once common in certain parts of England, but as a result of drainage and the use of quinine, it was completely stamped out, notwithstanding the fact that anopheline mosquitoes remain in the country. The parasitic cycle was broken, and the insect was no longer infected. Now comes the report of a recrudescence of indigenous malaria in England. According to a circular issued by the local government board, many men have contracted the disease while fighting on the eastern war fronts, and have brought it home with them; thus they serve as foci of infection for the civilian population. Measures are being taken to deal with the carrier mosquitoes.

Air-Raid Signs.

Londoners can tell by looking at the night sky whether to expect Gotha raids or whether to go comfortably to bed. If the moon shines and the night is clear he studies the clouds. Should they be at some height racing from the east it is safe to assume that the Gothas will not come, for they cannot make progress against a west wind which holds them back from the British shore. If, however, the clouds are flying from the west the Londoner prepares for a lively evening.

The Main Point.

"When I looked at the poor man you sent out to work in the garden for his breakfast I saw he was very much hurt." His face was working.

"It was? But what were his hands doing?"

WOMAN'S HAIR REACHES TO KNEES

Mrs. Esther Emery, now visiting friends in the city, is the fortunate possessor of marvelously beautiful hair, which, when loosened from its coils falls to her knees. Moreover it is of soft, silky and fluffy texture and in colour a glorious, glossy gold. Yet just one year ago she was threatened with baldness. Urged to tell how she had obtained this wonderful growth in so short a time, she said:

"Twelve months ago my hair, which then reached barely to my shoulders, was falling out at an alarming rate and growing very thin, actually exposing the bald scalp in several spots. It was dull and lifeless in colour, turning grey in patches, and very dry and brittle. My head was covered with dandruff and itched like mad all the time. I tried fully a dozen different tonics, but they never did me a bit of good. One day I chanced to read in my home paper of a simple home prescription to make the hair grow that was recommended by a well-known physician. It is said that by taking ordinary Lavona de Compose and mixing with Bay Rum and Menthol Crystals, and applying to the scalp each night with the finger tips that new hair would grow very rapidly. I decided to try it and had my druggist mix 2 ounces of the Lavona de Compose with 6 oz. of Bay Rum and 1-2 dr. of Menthol Crystals, and started to use it. My how quickly my hair did grow. First the hair stopped falling, the itching ceased and the dandruff disappeared. Then tiny little hairs appeared all over my scalp. These grew and grew as though nothing would ever stop them. They are growing yet and, while, of course, I have used the treatment steadily and expect to continue it at least until my hair reaches the floor, I might have stopped and been perfectly satisfied at the end of three months. I think that any woman can get long, thick, beautiful hair by using this prescription as I have recommended it to several friends and all are delighted with the result. The prescription is very inexpensive and any druggist can fill it."

Those who use it should be careful not to get it on the face or where the hair is not desired.

IF WORLD MOVED FASTER

Existing Conditions Would Be Very Greatly Upset by Increased Rotation, as Shown Here.

Conjecture has often been made as to what would happen if the earth were to rotate faster upon its axis than it does. Of course, if it went 16 times as fast as it does now, bodies at the equator would weigh nothing—a person would jump up into the air and fall to come down again. A man might weigh 200 at the poles and nothing at the equator, while his weight would vary for intermediate points. If he approached the equator he would get lighter and if he receded from it he would get heavier. A man could carry a house on his shoulders very near the equator, while near either pole he could only carry what one can now. On this account labor would be very dear near the poles and very cheap near the equator. It would certainly be interesting to know which section of the earth would be more populous—whether everyone would go north for good wages or go south for cheap workmen. The railroad problem would be momentous unless the railroads all ran east and west, when a uniform rate would obtain on any particular east-and-west line.

Journeys to the south would be even more popular than they are now, for they would make everyone feel better and in buoyant spirits; more springy, too, so that people could walk farther without getting tired, and could jump over any obstacle that presented itself without coming down with too hard a thump.

There is no planet now known that has such a rapid rotation as is pictured here, but there are several where man would weigh a great deal less than on earth. On the moon a man would weigh only fifty or sixty pounds and could jump as many feet without suffering serious discomfort. But this state of affairs obtains over the whole planet, because it is due to absence of gravitative force and not to centrifugal, as would be the case on the rapidly rotating earth.

An Ancient Custom.

Mr. Inglefield, the principal doorkeeper at the British house of commons, is dead. His was quite a responsible post, for the holder must have an astounding memory for faces. The house of commons is probably the last place where snuff is regularly taken. The attendants take it because they have long hours of duty in which smoking is barred, and a good many members apparently follow the ancient habit. Mr. Inglefield, the Liverpool Post says, always kept a box on his seat at the door, and it was surprising to see how numerous were the members who helped themselves to a pinch as they went in or out of the house.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU DARKEN GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When ever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through you hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Sent By Miss Wiggin

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"She says Miss Wiggin sent her and she said to give you this," drawled the small office boy to Stanley Higgins, in the middle of what seemed to said Mr Higgins the busiest morning of the busiest week of his business career.

"The Lord knows it's time she sent some one, but why did she annoy me this morning?" retorted Higgins. "No, don't tell her to go; bring her in."

He had no time to examine the folded sheet that the girl from Miss Wiggin had brought by way of recommendation, but the large sepia-toned photograph, apparently the worse for frequent handling, opened of itself as Higgins started to flip it and the recommendation into a drawer of his desk.

He whistled and the office boy hesitated on the threshold to see whether this meant that Higgins wanted him to stop.

"No, go on," shouted Higgins. The whistle had been the natural result of the first glimpse of the photograph which showed the original to be a tall, slender blonde, with a figure that mingled the lithemess of a nymph with the symmetry and perfection of a Diana.

Especially was this true of the arms, which were generously displayed in the picture, though the voluminous furs about the shoulders, left one obliged to guess the beauty there concealed. Higgins had never heard of sending in a picture as part of an application for a clerical job before.

It wasn't a bad idea—still it would have been more appropriate, he thought, to send a picture as the young woman would appear in business—or did she come in this theatrical attire?

In a minute more she answered the question for herself. She did not, but she was as lively and as Dinnesque in the neat street suit, albeit just a trifle worn and shabby, that she wore.

"Miss Wiggin sent me—" began the girl, looking searchingly around the office as if missing something that she had expected to find. She had time to say no more.

"It's high time she did send you," was Higgin's rejoinder. "I don't see any reason why you shouldn't handle the job, do you?"

"Only that my arms are just a little too short," she said; "but that perhaps [illegible] for me. In the fur concern where I was once it didn't matter, but Miss Wiggin said I'd better tell you."

Higgins looked up in surprise, then laughed. "Oh, that's all right," he said. The idea that there would be enough switchboard work for her to do to make it necessary to have her arms measured as one would for a central operator amused him. "Why did you leave your last place?" he asked. "Was it just on that account?"

"Not entirely," said the girl, blushing in spite of an effort not to. "But, you see—well, in my kind of work it sometimes isn't as pleasant as it might be, and—well, if I do my work well I don't like to go out to dinner with the buyers. You wouldn't expect me to do that, would you?"

"Dinner with the buyers?" gasped Higgins. Assuredly none of the government agents who came to place orders for motors in the concern for which he worked had ever yet shown any disposition to take the young woman clerks out to dinner. He assured her that she would not be expected to do that sort of thing.

"I suppose you can make yourself generally useful for a day or so," he said. In spite of the fact that he was complaining of Miss Wiggin's delay in sending the girl, the filing cabinets in which he wanted her to begin the system he had in mind had not come.

Daphne Drew—for that was her name—was ready to begin work at once, and though she seemed a little surprised when he told her to begin by arranging the papers in the drawers of his desk so that if it were necessary for him to ask her to do so she could at any time find anything that the desk contained, she went about the work with a will. Higgins noticed the slender white hands as they worked over the papers.

They were not awkward at their task—hands like that could never be awkward at anything—but assuredly they were not used to that sort of work. Higgins found himself watching them as they hovered over the papers. He began to despise himself as he reflected that those hands were better fitted to cull violets or roses.

Only once or twice he allowed himself to glance from the hands to the face above them. Once he pinched himself to see whether he was actually awake; later he wondered whether he really liked the idea of having such radiance and beauty his near companion during business hours.

He had aways complained because of the rather plain exteriors of the young woman clerks who were sent to work for him. Now he realized that it was better that way. Still, the beautiful one worked silently on. You would have called her unobtrusive and demure if beauty of that type could ever be unobtrusive or demure.

Still the filing cabinet did not come. One had to expect such delays, the manufacturers told him. So Higgins had to go on making up tasks for the girl to perform. He sent to a clipping bureau for a file of climbing automobiles in which he had no interest whatever so that he could get her to file them, and he sent to their own cataloguing department for a duplicate file of catalogues, mixed them all up and kept her busy a day making a card index for them.

She was not amazingly swift, but she seemed to possess initiative enough to go ahead with her work without asking any questions. She really did say almost nothing, only occasionally Higgins would see that look of wonder come into her deep gray eyes as she glanced about his office with the look she had given the lay she first came, as if searching in vain for something she did not find.

By the time the filing cabinet had come Daphne had been there ten days, and Stanley Higgins had missed as many good nights' sleep. The question had presented itself to him almost from the first. She was the most beautiful and most lovely woman he had ever seen; there was no question about that.

The question was, having found such a creature, was there anything to do about it but what men naturally did under the circumstances, make an effort to marry her? By the tenth day he had decided that there was but one answer to the question. If she refused, then she would have to leave his employ. He calmly made up his mind to ask her bluntly whether she would have him. He was far too busy to go about it with the usual dallying and too smitten to brook further delay.

He arrived earlier than usual the morning of the day when he planned to make his plea, and, as if to steady himself against the ordeal, he took the picture from the desk where he had put it the first day. Attached to it was the recommendation that had come from Miss Wiggin which he had never read before.

He glanced at it, first casually, then gripping the paper, read with bated breath the slip which, with printed blanks filled in, ran something like this:

"Height, 5-6, coloring, natural blonde, dark gray eyes; size four, 5, but shapely; gloves, 6½, but slender; waist, 26; bust, full, 36; arms, slightly short. Willing to pose for cloaks? Yes. Furs? Yes. Hats? Yes. Lingerie and corsets? Definitely not—can't be persuaded. Reason for leaving last place—not a good mixer; wants place where doesn't have to meet buyers socially."

So preoccupied was Stanley Higgins with the perusal of this sheet that he did not recall that the original of the brief description was standing before him.

"I hoped you would never read that," she said. "I realized after the first day that a mistake had been made, and I went to Miss Wiggin. I found there that they had sent me to the wrong place by mistake. You wanted a filing clerk, didn't you? And I was a model.

"I didn't know I could make money any other way. But I like this so much better—I didn't want you to know. You see, when we go to get places as models, they are only for a little while. The season is short—and we take our photographs and descriptions like that. Then if it looks like what the concerns want they take time to talk to us. Otherwise they send us on. I hope it won't make a difference—"

Higgins had not expected to lead up to his proposal so early in the morning. He had planned to wait till afternoon, but this seemed his best one. "I can't let you be a filing clerk," he blurted out, "when I want you to be my wife." He seized the dazzling Diana creature in his arms. "Daphne, girl, I am distracted about you," he said, and as the "six-and-a-half hand" crumpled in his he knew that his suit was won.

Explained.

She—Before we were married you bought me much handsomer presents.

He—My general expenses were light then. You lived on your father and I lived on free lunch.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigour and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

GEORGIA HAMILTON.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is usually contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro phosphate, which is inexpensive and sold by McDermid & Jury in Peterboro and most all druggists under a guarantee of entire satisfaction or your money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:— Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

REGARDS ANSWER AS UNSATISFACTORY

MR. BURNHAM CLAIMS THAT RETURNED SOLDIERS GET NO SATISFACTION IN MANY CASES.

As reported in yesterday's Examiner, the following question was asked in the House by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and answered by the Honourable Martin Burrell:

Question.

Is it a fact that positions announced as open for application in the Government service are held open so long that returned soldier applicants get no satisfaction and have to give it up?

Answer.

All vacancies reported to the Civil Service Commission by the Departments and all requisitions filed in connection therewith are dealt with as promptly as possible.

Ordinary requisitions which can be filled from the eligible lists of clerks, typists, stenographers, etc., are seldom more than two or three days, as when the lists of those who have qualified by passing prescribed examinations are exhausted there are usually applications on file from which temporary assignments can be made.

When a minor position has to be filled by local advertising, said advertising is authorized by return mail, and ten days to two weeks is usually sufficient time in which to deal with the matter and make the appointment.

When more important positions have to be advertised in the Gazette and through the press a longer period, generally about thirty days, is allowed and time added to enable British Columbia points to reply. It sometimes occurs that so many applications are received that longer time is required to make full investigation into the merits of all applicants, but the cases where final decision is delayed longer than a few days after competitions close are few and far between.

Mr. Burnham's Comment.

Mr. Burnham says with regard to the above that it will scarcely be satisfactory to the returned soldier, but it shows how serious a matter it is for people in a constituency that what is called patronage to give it a bad name should have been centred in the Government, thus leaving the people of a constituency who were formerly kept in immediate touch with the Government wholly without that connection. A process of Governmental administration which eliminates the people of a constituency in the consideration of their affairs is bound to prove unsatisfactory and it is becoming more so every day. A constituency may be trusted to see that its representative conducts himself fairly and properly in his actions as a go-between between the people of a constituency and the administration, but when he is removed as a go-between in all these matters, long delay is the least of the troubles that arise.

SONGS BEFORE AND AFTER WEDDING BELLS

"One Girl in a Million" Succeeded by "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat".

New York, June 17.—It 's a long hark from being the inspiration for the writing by her husband of the song, "One in a Million Like You," and after two years of married life the inspiration for the song, "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat."

But that is what Mrs. Helen Clarke alleged in testifying in the supreme court in her suit for a divorce from Grant Clarke. Her sister, Miss Inez Patten, testified to having discovered in Clarke's apartments here during a raid a striking blonde whom she rescribed as the song-writer's new "Inspiration".

Mr. Clarke and I were married 45 minutes after we met, four years ago in Kohomo, Ind., Mrs. Clarke testified. "He told me I was his inspiration; the wife he had been dreaming about for many years. Before he married me he wrote "One in a Million Like You", and for t - years I was the 'you'. Then we had differences, and he wrote, "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat."

"About the time he was first seen by my friends with a blonde, he wrote, 'I Love the Ladies,' and 'There's a Little Bit of Bad in the Best Little Girl'. About that time I sued him for divorce, and he wrote, "I Hate to Lose You", but I didn't now whether he meant me or the blonde."

Decision was reserved by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich.

Don't Be a Slave To Your Nerves

Good Advice to Nervous People

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia, and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old time "pep" back in your system, and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive, and all leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.

LIFT BAN ON ICE-CREAM.

Mayor Announces Police Will Close Eyes to Sunday Purchases.

TORONTO, June 18.—By-law or no by-law, ice-cream and soft-drinks dealers may dispense their wares to thirsty mortals on Sundays during the excessively hot weather. That was the effect of the announcement made by Mayor Church.

"The Police Commissioners agree that the by-law prohibiting the sale is a farce, and should never be enforced," declared the Mayor. "The people need cold drinks and ice-cream on Sunday even more than on many other days, as Sunday is the day that they are most often away from their homes. It is absurd to deprive them of necessary food and comfort during the terribly hot weather."

Of course, the by-law stands, Council having passed it, but according to the Mayor, the police will not be over-zealous in enforcing it during the hot weather.

THE AGGRESSIVENESS OF PICTURE ENLARGERS DISPLEASED WARSAW

A CASE OF TOO MUCH "PEP" AND "GO GET 'EM"—ANNUAL REPORTS OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE—DISCUSSING A MEMORIAL FOR THE TOWNSHIP'S SOLDIER'S.

HURT AT BARN RAISING

WARSAW, June 18. — Mr. Cecil Wilson, Peterboro, was in the village Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson, visited relatives in this vicinity last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Choate and three children, spent last Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. E. Choate.

Mrs. Dunford, visited her neice, Mrs. Henry Clements, last week.

Miss Stella Ellis, spent a few days last week with her friend, Miss Violet Payne.

Mrs. Wm. Crowe, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. George Russel.

Mrs. (Rev.) Robert, has her mother and two sisters visiting her.

Mr. Parcels, of Norwood, a returned soldier, was in the village last Wednesday.

Mr. Percy Wilson, of Norwood, agent for the Chevrolet cars, was in the village on business last Wednesday.

Smooth Boys These.

The "Chicago Portraite Co." agents were in this vicinity last week, four of them had a car and they took a house each, so got over the ground quickly. They practically marched straight into the houses, and were pretty glib-tongued, fortunately so far as we have heard, they were generally sent off about their business. Their car turned turtle on the road to Lakefield.

Mr. Vernon Ellis, got a car and was trying to learn to run it, but the car took its own way towards the side-walk and telephone posts and was a little the worse, though the young man was not injured.

Hurt at Barn Raising.

At Mr. McManus' barn-raising last Monday afternoon, a scantling fell and hit Mr. Thos. Crowe above the eye, cutting him quite badly. He was dressed as well as possible and hurried to the Doctor's in a motor. Three stitches were put in and Mr. Crowe, was taken to his home. The wound is healing nicely.

Mr. McManus' new barn is a fine large structure, cement base and every convenience.

Three returned soldiers, each of whom has seen hard service, viz Mr. David Miller, Mr. Garrett Mc. Murray and Mr. Jos. Fraser, were at the raising.

Women's Institute.

At the annual meeting of the Warsaw Women's Institute held Thursday, June 12, the following officers were elected:—President, Mrs. David Miller; Vive-President, Mrs. E. R. Hamblin; Sec-Treas. Mrs. Robert Moore; Auditors, Mrs. James Moore and Mrs. Garfield Crowe; Librarian, Mrs. John Cooper; Directors, Mrs. F. Morgan, Mrs. Henry Clements, Mrs. Wallace Anderson and Mrs. Robt. Payne.

The president in her address thanked the officers and other ladies who had helped so well in the year just past and hoped that all would still work for better homes, better lives, better agriculture, better country; also that the Institute would not only do what it can at home, but reach out and help others more needy.

The Sec.-Treas' report showed a great amount of work done and a small balance of cash on hand. The auditors' had examined the books and found all correct.

The Red Cross Committee's reports were not in.

Mr. McCrae, district representative, for the riding was present on business regarding the school fairs. Some of the school sections have promised extra money for prizes. Warsaw Women's Institute has promised $15.00, and Cotessloe I.O.D.E. $10.00.

Memorial for Soldiers.

Representatives from Cotessloe I.O.D.E., were present. They came to see what was the Institute's wish in regard to a Memorial to the fallen boys. Mrs. George Barr, who spoke for the I. O. D. E., said that they wanted something useful and good and if our ideas fell in with theirs, we could work together.

The thought a Memorial Hall would be the best thing and if the institute and they worked togther, a good one might surely be built at Warsaw, as that is the main village in the township. If Cotessloe works alone, they will put something at Cotessloe. The majority of those at Warsaw seemed to favor the hall, though one lady spoke very strongly in favour of a monument.

There will be no regular July meeting, as the summer lecturer, Miss Clayton, will be here June 27.

The regular meetings are held on the 2nd Thursday of each month in the hall over Mr. Calder's store.

The Baptist Church has new ground glass in all the windows now, the building looks very well indeed.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will meet at Mrs. T. H. Crowe's home on Thursday, June 26th.

Warsaw people will be busy next week, if they attend everything that is coming off. Sunday, Cotessloe Church is having its Anniversary Services. Warsaw Prebyterian choir will take charge of the music, Rev. Mr. Jull, Lakefield, is expected to preach and on Monday they have their tea-meeting. On Wednesday is the Farmers' pic-nic, for East Peterboro, at Keene, and on Friday the summer series, Woman's Institute meeting. On July 1st the Bethel people hold a tea-meeting.

The "King's Daughters'" met on Mrs. Robert's lawn Friday. On account of the great heat there was no physical drill. The use of the triangular bandage was the first aid lesson. The leader was much pleased with the written work handed in by the girls. Next Friday will be the last meeting until September.

The Presbyterian choir will practice on Tuesday and Friday evenings of this week.

Love—I. Cor .13.

Golden Text: Now abideth faith, hope, love these three; and the greatest of these is love. I. Cor. 13.13.

1. Verse 1. What is the utmost which can be claimed for the gift of eloquence?

2. Why is an eloquent man without love, like an inharmonious brass band with cymbal accompaniments,

3. Why will not eloquence without love, make a man acceptable to God?

4. Would you say or not and why, that eloquence without love, makes a man acceptable to his fellows, or gives any lasting satisfaction to himself?

5. Verse 2. What necessary moral praise is due to a man who has the gift of prophecy, and has intuitive knowledge of mystery?.

6. Why should any more necessary praise be accorded to a big man than to a little man?

7. If God gives a man the faith so he can remove a mountain, and he at the same time is without love, what good is the faith to him?

8. Verse 3. Would you say that some people give liberally and suffer personal inconvenience, who have no real love in their hearts, and if so, what is it which promots them to these acts?

9. If a man gives when it can be seen, and does not give when it cannot be seen, is there any love in his heart, or any real merit in his charity? Why?

10. Should the church refuse to accept money for the Gospel, or for charity from those who clearly give to be seen of men? Why?

11. What benefit or what injury, do those who give without love, but to be seen of men, reap?

12. Verse 3. How can you conceive of a man giving his body to be burned for his religion, with an impure motive, or without love in his heart?

13. What is the only thing which recommends us to God in and of itself?

14. Verses 4-7. What proof can you give that love is long suffering and kind?

15. If we really love a person will we ever speak of him to his injury no matter what the provocation may be?

16. Verses 4-7. What is it in love which tends to patience, politeness, kindness, gentleness and humility?

17. May a person be controlled by love and be envious at the same time and if not, why not?

18. Why does love always make a man think of the "other fellow" before himself?

19. Verses 8-13. Can despondency or doubt, or depression, or hopelessness or any other bad feeling enter the heart that is filled with love?

A FROCK WITH YOUTHFUL LINES.

2790—This model may be finished without the tunic. The skirt is a two-piece style. The sleeve is close-fitting below the elbow. Figured voile or silk, with satin or crepe, would be good for this design. It is also nice for gabardine, gingham, batiste, lawn and organdie.

The pattern is cut in three sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 18 requires 5 yards of 44 inch material. Width of skirt at lower edge is about 1½ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

GRAIN MARKET

Corn values continue to advance, governed entirely by the cash corn situation, No 2 yellow quoting at $2 yesterday in Chicago. Apart from the present strong position of corn commercially, the general news of the day has more of a bearish aspect, with the Argentine situation clearing and crop news in the whole favourable. Oats and barley are a little easier. Hay is beginning to come into the market freely now, and there is a sharp revision in hay prices yesterday, thus relieving the general feed situation. No. 1 Timothy is quoting about $5 per ton lower on the street.

Manitoba wheat — In store, Fort William: No. 1 Northern $2.24½; No. 2 Northern, $2.21½; No. 3 Northern, $2.17½; No. 4 wheat, $2.11.

Manitoba oats — No. 2, C.W., 78 3-4c.; No. 3, C.W., 76 1-4c.; extra No. 1 feed, not quoted; No. 1 feed, not quoted; No. 2 feed, 70 3-4c.

American corn — No. 3, yellow, nominal.

Manitoba barley, in store, Fort Iiam, No. 3, C.W., $1.31; No. 4, C.W., $1.29 1-2; rejects, $1.22 1-2; feed, $1.21 1-2.

Ontario wheat—No. 1 winter, $2.14 to $2.20; No. 2 winter, $2.11 to $2.19; No. 3 winter, $2.07 to $2.15; No 1 spring, $2.09 to $2.17; No. 2 spring, $2.05 to $2.14; No. 3 spring, $2.02 to $2.10; f.o.b. shipping points, according to freight.

Ontario oats — No. 2, white, not quoted: No. 3, 77c to 80c, according to freight outside.

Barley—Malting, $1.28 to $1.32.

Peas—No. 2, nominal, according to freight outside.

Buckwheat—Nominal.

Rye—No. 2, nominal.

Manitoba flour—Government standard, $11, Toronto.

Ontario flour — Government standard Toronto-Montreal; $10.75 to $11, new bags.

Millfeed—Car lots, delivered, Montral; shorts, $44; bran, $42; feed flour, not quoted; middlings, not quoted; good feed flour, per bag, $2.80 to $2.90.

Hay—Baled, track, Toronto, car lots, No. 1, $35 to $38; No. 2 mixed, $22 to $24 per ton; straw, car lots, $10 to $11.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts yesterday 415 cattle, 180 calves, 1,800 hogs and 100 sheep and lambs.

The market yesterday opened good and steady at this week's advanced prices, but there were indications before the close that buyers were just about filled up, and were insisting upon a little shading before cleaning. Several loads of choice quality, in fact, were held a little too long, and were finally sold at a little less than the early morning bids. On the whole the market for the general run of good to choice butcher cattle held just about steady.

Calves were easier, averaging about a dollar lower than Wednesday.

Spring lambs slightly easier, more selling around 20c. per lb. than at 22c.

Hogs were firm at the top of this week's high record climb to $20.50 fed and watered, an altogether unprecedented price, and at which hog buyer confidently predicted the market cannot hold for next week. The present price is about $3 above Chicago prices.

BATTLEFORD LOSES GOLDEN SILENCE

OTTAWA, June 19.—A member for Battleford, Saskatchewan, has spoken for the first time in the House of Commons. Albert Champagne, a French Canadian rancher who had served ten years in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, sat as Liberal member for Battleford from 1908 to 1917, without once rising in his place to make a speech.

Today Henry Oswald Wright, who was elected as a Unionist in December, 1917, broke the golden silence of Battleford, with his maiden speech a discussion of the budget. His remark, that he was creating a precedent and that the people of Battleford's views were being voiced for the first time in the House drew understanding cheers from the Unionist benches.

ROUMANIA TO BUILD NEW $50,000,000 BRIDGE

"For I think American engineers," he said, "can have the plans ready in a month."

The new bridge, he said, would be an enormous one, using 12,000 tons of steel in its construction.

Mr. Ford said that if the steel men thought they could do the work on time, and would extend the needed credit, the orders would be placed here; otherwise, he added, the business would go to Canada, which recently granted the Roumanian Government a credit. Should both fail, he said, Roumania would be compelled to turn to Germany.

Mr. Ford said, incidentally that Roumania's wheat crop promised exceedingly well. He said that British steel makers and engineers had said the Danube structure could be built in two years, allowing four months for preparation of designs.

Macrame lace is being used on linen overblouses.

TIME TO REBUILD

Winter foods clog the liver and tax the digestion. Summer brings relief in cereals, fruits and green vegetables. Shredded Wheat Biscuit with berries or other fruits is a life-saver for thousands—the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Combines deliciously with berries and all kinds of fresh fruits—a satisfying, nourishing meal for a few cents. Easily prepared without kitchen worry or work.

FOUND BELGIUM FAST RECOVERING

NEW YORKER SAYS THAT SHE IS RAISING ONE OF BIGGEST CROPS IN HER HISTORY.

RUINS COMPARATIVELY FEW

LONDON. — Americans are distressing themselves unnecessarily over the ruined state of Europe in the opinion of Merwin Hart, a lawyer of New York and Utica, who has just returned to London from an extended tour through Belgium.

Hart, who fought through the war as a Captain of the United States Infantry, declares there are only one or two places in Belgium which have suffered anything approaching the devastation inflicted upon France, and the country is already visibly recovering from the effects of the war.

"What I think most surprised me," he said, "was how few and comparatively slight are the outward signs of destruction. One can motor through the country for fifty miles at a interest without guessing it had recently been within the zone of hostilities. I half expected to find the soil churned to powder, as in Northern France, and most of the towns or less completely destroyed. Nothing of the kind. Ypres, Louvain and Termonde are entirely exceptional.

"I doubt whether in all Belgium as many as 40,000 houses will have to be rebuilt. As for the soil, Belgium this year is raising one of the biggest crops in her history. Whatever may be the case with other parts of Europe, Belgium is not ruined. To my mind it is foolish to speak of the ruin of a country when five-sevenths of the people live on the soil and all have the habit of work.

"Belgium is as indestructible materially as she has proved to be spiritually. Already she is reviving. People are at work on the fields, communications are being restored, and I don't think it will be long before all the mines and most of the factories are going again. You know, I suppose that the Belgians captured some German documents drawn up, with Teutonic thoroughness showing in detail precisely what machinery had been taken from each Belgian factory and where it had been sent. The business of tracing and recovering the stolen plants has thus been considerably simplified.

"You don't see any starving people in Belgium today and very few ill fed ones. All Belgians — I talked with a good many — are confident their country will soon be as it was before the war, one of the most prosperous, hardest working and contented in the world. Their debt, almost all of which has been incurred for reproductive public utilities, is still the lowest per head in Europe. Nearly 1,250,000 of them own the land they live on, and that fact, together with the spirit of the people, is a pretty stiff barricade against Bolshevism.

"I found the Belgians extremely even extravagantly, grateful for all America has done for them, but it is part of their independent temper. They do not want their future relations with us to be on a charitable basis. They are rapidly surmounting the problem of reconstruction, and will soon be able to pay for what they buy and offer as good security as any merchant could wish for.

"I was very much impressed with their eagerness to develop as big a trade as possible with America. We have a big opportunity there for selling agricultural implements, locomotives, rails, bridges and taking contracts for public repairs. Many American firms have seen the chance and are booking orders right and left over the heads of British and Dutch competitors.

"As far as I could judge, they won't have any reason to regret their enterprise. Indeed, if I were addressing a congress of business men at home I should say:

"'Get it out of your heads that Belgium is ruined and a pauper nation and that dealing with her is more philanthropy than business. Belgium offers today a better opportunity for American goods than any other country in Europe. Send out your representatives to see for themselves, and they will report that the worst of Belgium's troubles are over and that the country is climbing back to its pre-war prosperity.'"

TRENTON PLANT WAS DESTROYED.

TRENTON, June 20.—Fire broke out at the plant formerly operated by the Imperial Munitions Board under the name of the British Chemicl Co., recently taken over by a Chicago firm. The nitrogen plant was destroyed, entailing a heavy loss, fortunately covered by insurance. There was no one working in the nitrogen plant when the fire broke out.

It is reported that one hundred men recently engaged at the plant will be thrown out of employment.

You May Be Skeptical

About What Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Will Do for You, But Here is the Evidence.

When the blood gets thin and watery, when the nerves become weak and exhausted, when your vitality is run down and you feel weak and tired it is because nourishment is lacking.

You may be eating as usual but your digestive system fails to obtain from the food you eat the elements from which new blood and nerve force is created.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies this element to the blood and nerves it is the most successful of restoratives.

While personal experience with a medical treatment is the only absolute proof that it will benefit you, still we are all similarly constituted and what will help one will help another under similar conditions.

This is why it is so interesting to read the experience of other people, and many will find in this letter their own conditions described.

Mrs. Thomas Williamson, Picton, Ont., writes: "For the last twenty years I have had trouble with my nerves. I suffered from sleeplessness, and, of course, my system was often in a run-down condition from nervousness. At different times when I would have severe attacks, I was under the doctor's care, but this only gave me temporary relief. Twice I was to a sanitarium in Toronto, where I secured some relief at the time. This past summer I suffered from another nervous breakdown, and it was then that I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I took a treatment of this medicine and can now get up in the morning and do my work, which was something I could not do previously, because I used to get strangely confused. My appetite is good, and I can sleep well, too. Generally speaking, I am so much better that I am proud of my improvement. I cannot speak too highly of the splendid results I have secured through the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS WAS SUMMONED

EDITOR OF TORONTO TELEGRAM WAS THE STORM CENTRE.

Canadian Press:

OTTAWA, June 20.—The proceedings before the Cost of Living Committee this morning were about as lively as ever seen before any committee of Parliament here. John R. Robinson, editor of the Toronto Telegram, was the storm centre. He had been summoned before the committee to explain certain editorial comment he had made in his paper, and he soon ran foul of the members of the committee. H. C. Hocken of Toronto declared that many things printed in the Telegram were lies, and Robinson knew it.

"You have less brains than a donkey," said Robinson to E. W. Nesbitt "Oxford," who demanded that Robinson sit down.

"You have no sense of dignity," replied Mr. Nesbitt.

Finally the chairman interposed without avail, and the committee decided to send for the Sergeant-at-Arms. That dignitary arrived and gravely walked up to the committee table, wearing his sword. He stayed only a few minutes. Then a policeman arrived and watched the proceedings with an amused smile.

The suit continues to be straight and narrow.

Feed Chicks Right
They develop twice as fast

Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Chick Feed will develop chicks into broilers for market faster and bring them to the egg-laying period much earlier than ordinary feed. Purina Feeds are adapted to young chicks, and give perfect development.

PURINA
CHICKEN CHOWDER and CHICK FEED

Grain feed supplies an excess of heat and energy, but is deficient in elements that make blood, bone, nerve, lean meat and feathers. Purina Chicken Chowder contains an abundance of the very elements which grain feed lacks. The Chowder and Chick Feed should be fed in about equal quantities.

Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Scratch Feed — are guaranteed to make hens lay more eggs.

COLD STORAGE PLANT EVIL.

Limit on Exports—High Cost of Living Committee Await Return of Mayor Church With Authority to Probe.

TORONTO, June 20.—"In my opinion cold storage plants are the root of all evil," stated Controller Maguire at the meeting of the high cost of living committee yesterday. "They are a German invention, and they should be controlled. There is nothing to stop them buying up everything on the market, holding it and letting it loose when the price is to their liking. In England they have a 60-day limit on cold storage merchandise. Everything is stamped, and that's what we need here. Export of foodstuffs should also be limited."

46 FEARED SMALLPOX.

Outbreak of Chicken-pox Among Adults Alarms Torontonians.

TORONTO, June 19. — Chicken-pox is afflicting Toronto adults. The Health Department made forty-six examinations for what was supposed to be smallpox within the past month and in every case the diagnosis was chicken-pox. It is usually a child's disease and at present there is a great deal of it in the city, but the feature of the present outbreak is the number of adults victims.

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER IS DIVORCED BY WIFE

ENGLISH COURT CROWDED WITH SOCIETY AND HEARS DESERTION CHARGES.

LONDON, June 18.—The Duchess of Westminster yesterday was granted a divorce from the Duke of Westminster, on charges of desertion and infidelity.

The biggest society crush in years crowded the King's Bench Court to hear the testimony. The Duke was not represented by counsel. He entered a denial.

Lord Coleridge, judge of the divorce division presided. There was no jury.

Happy in Early Days.

The Duchess took the witness stand and occupied a quarter of an hour in presenting her story. She said their early married life was happy, but that in 1909 they became estranged.

"After that the Duke paid no attention to me," she said. "He stayed out at night. I begged him to come back for the sake of the children and keep up appearances, but he refused."

Out All Night and Every Night.

"At 11.30 every night a motor would call and take him away. He would return about 7 o'clock in the morning. He agreed to allow me £11,000 a year and free use of his yacht."

The Duchess said that in 1915 the Duke tried to have her evicted from her house. Her statement contained no mention of the two children, provision for whom was made in 1913, when they became wards of the Court.

Income $5 a Minute.

The Duke is one of the wealthiest men in Great Britain, his income being estimated at $5 a minute. He was an officer during the war and the Duchess a nurse.

Many society people sacrified attendance at the Ascot to be present at the trial. They waited for hours in long lines until the doors were opened, then crowded the visitors' galleries and overflowed into the seats reserved for the lawyers. There was a small army of photographers present.

The Duchess of Westminster formerly was Constance Edwina, daughter of Col. William Cornwallis-West. She and her husband signed a separation agreement in 1914. They were married in 1901 and have two children. The Duke of Westminster served in Egypt in 1915 and won the D.S.O. for bravery.

The HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Let us see, Father, I notice that you pounce upon Jack and scold him soundly whenever Mother reports that he has brought home a school grade card with a low mark or a failure on it. Very well. Perhaps the boy needs your jawing, perhaps not. But when you get through with him, please call him and Mother in and have them fill out a card for you on the following points:

1. Number of night per week home with the family.
2. Take family to the movies with reasonable frequency.
3. Attendance at church services.
4. Take the boy on an occasional hike.
5. Abstinence from liquor and tobacco.
6. Interest in the boy's hobby or avocation.
7. Attention to the boy's schooling and lessons preparation.
8. Teach your son respect for the integrity of good people.
9. Teach your son saving and thrift.
10. Parental example of patriotism.

Grade each point on a scale of 100 and figure the average. Below 70 is a failure.

This score card for fathers is prepared with a view to testing their efficiency merely as guides and examples for their growing sons, and not in any more general way.

In marking number one allow Father Sunday night for church if he goes; and one night out at the club or lodge, but hold him for the other five.

Grade well upon number two if he tries faithfully to see that his boy enjoys about one good, clean motion picture entertainment per week.

One faithful regular church attendance per week should constitute a passing grade, while two such would be perfect.

Father may not be in a position personally to go on many outings with his son, but give him about .85 per cent. if he seriously plans for the boy to receive the benefits of the hikes under competent leadership.

If father requires his boy to abstain faithfully from liquor and tobacco, then grade him down on these points with cold-hearted justice, if he indulges in them.

Every boy has a right to a hobby of his own and should be helped by father in the enjoyment of it.

A little timely assistance with the boy's most difficult school lessons and a frequent admonition as to show how to get along with the teacher and the fellow pupils is a reasonable standard for point seven.

Through casual remarks, occasional admonitions and his own personal attitude regarding the matter, the busy father may teach his boy the habit of respect for the virtues of ordinary men and women. It pays in every sense of the word for us parents to hold a favourite opinion of the common run of citizens about us, and it is our obligation to teach this same optimism to our children.

Not so much the amount of money Father earns but his manner of using it will be emphasized here. Is he merely scolding his boy for being a spendthrift and profligate, or has he a working plan of thrift which he both exemplifies in his own life and makes applicable to the training of his son.

If you want cheerfulness in your home, you must have sunshine and genial hearts. Plan to live in the sunshine; if there is a pleasant room in your dwelling, live there; if there is a dark room, shut it up; keep the children out of it; if you have troubles shut them up there—never take them into the family circle — give home the sunniest thought and plans of your whole life, and fill it with love, joy, peace, gladness—sunshine.

True riches do not consist altogether of money. A man may be rich and not have a dime in his pocket, or even a pocket in which to carry a dime if he had it. A happy disposition and a sound body is worth more than pure gold, and a clear head and good parentage more than any amount of money that can be named. The magnitude of one's bank account is an exceedingly poor means by which to determine the genuineness and value of one's possessions.

From the morning when the Creator first called into being woman to be man's helpmeet on down through the centuries until this eventful period in which we live, in all the hopes and aspirations which have stirred men's souls in all the struggles and crises of the great drama called life, struggles with self and sin, with passion and pride, woman has ever stood by man's side, his noblest, his truest, pleading, praying, whispering words of encouragement, lifting him in strong arms of love toward heaven; and 'tis not her fault if he enters not its golden portals.

Take the trouble to get well acquainted with your children, and to interest yourself in their pastime, etc. By this means they will learn to trust and confide in you, and are not easily led away by outside influence.

DIED IN 97TH YEAR.

SIMCOE, June 19.—Dr. James Salmon died in this town here last night, after a brief illness, in his 97th year. He was a native of Norfolk, born in 1822. He lived under five sovereigns. He was graduated in medicine at the age of twenty-two, and retired eighteen years later, after an extensive and brilliant practice throughout the pioneer wilds of the district.

ROSY CHEEKS AND GOOD HEALTH

COME THROUGH KEEPING THE BLOOD IN RICH, RED AND PURE CONDITION.

Come Through Keeping the Blood in a Rich, Red and Pure Condition.

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath, and her heart palpitates after the slightest exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anaemia — thin watery blood. Headache and backache frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present.

The remedy for this condition is to build up the blood and for this purpose there is no medicine that can equal Dr. William's Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks, and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise, and good plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health. Mrs. Hiram Shook, R.R. No. 1, Lyndhurst, says: "I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I believed they saved my daughter's life. She was in a terribly run down condition, pale, wan, and despondent and people who saw her considered her in a decline. The doctor who treated her did not help her any and then I decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decision proved a wise one, for before six boxes were used she was much better. I got six more boxes, and before they were gone she was in the best of health. When she began the use of the pills she weighed only 90 pounds, and under their use her weight increased to 127 pounds. I strongly urge all mothers of weak girls to give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid, at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BUNIONS NO JOKE.

ORILLIA MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN WOODS

ORILLIA, June 19.—Henry Thomas Francis, a middle aged man and a resident of Otillia for a number of years, left home last Thursday to walk to Atherley, a distance of three miles, and failed to arrive at his destination. Search parties were instituted and his body was found Monday evening in a badly decomposed condition in a small woods about a mile out.

Francis had been in poor health for some time. There was no marks of violence nor any evidence of death being due to other than natural causes, so the coroner decided an inquest was unnecessary.

A case somewhat similar occurred across the Lake in Rama township, a week ago. Alex. Macdonald had attended a council meeting and while on the way home sat down under a tree to rest just off the roadside. His dead body was found there the next day, death being due to heart failure.

13 SONS KILLED IN WAR.

Remarkable Record of Brave Family of French Farmer.

PARIS, June 19. — Thirteen sons killed on the field of battle, three discharged with grave injuries, one wounded four different times, the father and one daughter summarily shot by the Germans for going to Lille to celebrate the centennial anniversary of a relative, and another daughter killed by a German shell at Dunkirk is the record of the family of M. Vanhee, a French farmer of Reminghe, near Ypres.

M. Vanhee had thirty-six children, twenty-two sons and fourteen daughters, all of whom were living when the war broke out. One of his sons was valet to Pope Pius X; he returned to France to fight, and was wounded in each of four different engagements. One of the sons lost both legs, another returned from the front blind and deaf, and another underwent the trepanning operation.

ECZEMA IN RASH CUTICURA HEALS

Very Itchy and Burned. Troubled Six Weeks.

"One daughter's face came out in a rash that we were told was eczema. Her cheeks got sore and she rubbed causing loss of sleep. The breaking out was very itchy and burned so that I had to tie gloves on her hands to keep her from scratching.

"This trouble lasted about six weeks before I used Cuticura. I used one large box of Cuticura Ointment with two cakes of Cuticura Soap when she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. Starss, Blenheim Rd., Galt, Ont.

EMPLOYERS

THE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA

The PROFESSIONAL and BUSINESS SECTION has been established to assist professional, business and technical men and women.

Many officers, soldiers, sailors and war workers, who sacrificed their positions during the war, now desire to secure employment in the occupations for which they have been specially trained.

Employers should not wait until increasing business forces them to employ anybody they can obtain, but should look ahead and avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to enlist the services of highly trained workers, ordinarily secured only with difficulty. On application there can be referred to you, for example:—

ENGINEERS	LAW CLERKS
ARCHITECTS	COMMERCIAL ARTISTS
BUSINESS EXECUTIVES	SALES MANAGERS
ACCOUNTANTS	TRAVELLING SALESMEN
SECRETARIES	CHEMISTS
TEACHERS	YOUNG COLLEGE GRADUATES

These workers are returning to civil occupations with increased initiative, a broader view of life, and a greater capacity for work.

Why Corns Hurt

Note this diagram picture of a corn. Note its conical shape. The cause of the corn is pressure. And pressure makes it hurt. The point of the corn is pushed into the nerves. Applying a Blue-jay plaster instantly removes the pressure. Note the felt ring (A) in the picture below. The ring gives barefoot comfort in the tightest shoe.

Then the B&B wax in the center of the ring does that (marked B in illustration below). In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. It stops the pain, then ends the corn. And it wraps the corn so the action is undisturbed.

Then the action of the B&B wax is centered on the corn. Held there by the rubber coated adhesive tape (C) which wraps comfortably around the toe. Healthy tissue is not affected.

These are the reasons why millions of people have adopted the Blue-jay method. Keeping corns is folly when this easy way ends them. Treating them in cruder ways is inexcusable.

For your own sake, convince yourself by applying Blue-jay to one corn.

MME. F. GAREAU

153 Papineau Ave., Montreal.

"For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This, I refused to permit.

I heard about 'Fruit-a-tives' and the wonderful results it was giving because this medicine is made from fruit juices, so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent—I am free of pain and swelling—and I give 'Fruit-a-tives' my warmest thanks".

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Silk Ladder

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.)

I was fairly jealous of a man I had seen but twice and then only from a distance. I did not even know his name. I had seen him with a young woman who had never spoken to me. I only knew her name—Cecille Langston, a maker of artificial flowers for a big department store.

I had a room across a fifteen-foot court which her own faced. I had noticed her flitting about her neatly kept apartment when I came home evenings, bright, sprightly, usually singing and then working at a little table. Upon the sill of her window was a flower box and mine bore a like framework filled with dirt. I had planted some morning glories and from the box opposite a pretty flowering vine spread along a water pipe. One day I noted that the vine had twisted along a wire spanning the court and that my straggling flower was working its way toward it. I smiled with a vain conceit. So might our lives finally merge.

And now three times in a week I had seen a coarse-featured, dark-eyed young man appear in her room. He remained for only a few moments and brought small packages, evidently some work he was leaving with her. It was probably strictly a business call, yet I envied him the privilege of knowing the peerless beauty.

Fortune favored me. I was employed in special work for a large detective agency and chanced to be off duty one day when a fire broke out in the building across the court. Smoke did more damage than flames direct. I was instrumental in checking the blaze and I rescued a half-smothered canary from the room of my charmer. She came home while I was speaking to the landlady, who introduced us.

I persisted as a friendly neighbor in inducing Miss Langston to allow me to assist her in setting the room to rights. I called two evenings later. We spoke of the window plants, laughing over merry guesswork as to when the flowering vines would meet and merge, presenting a gorgeous festoon across the court.

Perfectly Clean!

That's the feeling you have about everything washed with Lifebuoy, especially stockings, underwear, nightgowns, sheets, blankets, and everything that touches the skin. The rich velvety lather of Lifebuoy has wonderful cleansing power, but more important, the antiseptic qualities in prevents germs, disease-microbes, (and they are present everywhere), and perfect cleanliness results.

LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP

The carbolic odour in Lifebuoy is a sign of its protective qualities—instantly noticeable after use.

Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto, Ont.

I noticed that she was engaged in a curious piece of work. Upon the table lay fully a hundred thin but strong pieces of steel. It was her task to wind these round and round with silk and set them fixedly in eyeletted sockets in two stout silken ropes.

"A ladder?" I surmised at my third call.

"Yes," nodded Cecille, "the gentleman who has ordered it says it is for use in some spectacular trapeze work for an acrobat. I expect quite liberal pay. There was a great, heavy hook attached to a rope that I covered with the same silken strands. Isn't it a wonderful ladder? See, you can roll it up and carry it in an inside pocket."

Next evening I was entering the building where Cecille lived when the man who had engaged her to make the ladder came out with a package, as I found later, containing the finished ladder and hook.

As he turned from the entrance a man crossed the street and joined him. In a flash my detective intuition was aroused.

"Filer!" I soliloquized, almost aloud. I had named one of the most notorious cracksmen in the West, just out of prison. The two men mingled with a crowd and were lost to me while I was analyzing the situation.

I did not go in to see Cecille then. Now I knew the purpose for which the silk-covered hook and steel ladder had been constructed. In half an hour I was at headquarters.

"You surprise me," said my chief. "When Filer left the penitentiary he was headed for New Orleans. He has boasted that he has one big haul to make and retire. Make Filer your special care."

Which I did. His associate who had employed Cecille did not appear again. I ran upon him. I shadowed him at a distance by the spark of fire in the lighted end of his cigar.

I resolved to run this man down at all hazards, for two nights before a daring bank robbery had resulted in a loss of one hundred thousand dollars to the institution. It looked like Filer's work.

I groped my way along the dark corridors of the building the man had entered. He must have suspected my surveillance, for suddenly the door of a lighted room in the top story was thrust open. The man swung a satchel at me. I was knocked down half a flight of stairs, but got on my feet swiftly and after him. He had run up a ladder and disappeared. As I followed him I saw him swing the muffled hook eight feet up to the coping of a higher roof. He gained it, drew the steel ladder from his breast, affixed one end around a chimney and it uncoiled like a snake.

I guessed that the satchel held the plunder. I fired. I must have hit his hand, for he dropped the satchel, sped down the ladder, kicked in the window, and disappeared.

I ascended the hooked rope. I did not capture either Filer or his accomplice, but in the satchel I found the fortune stolen from the bank.

Naturally that institution rewarded me handsomely. Cecille rewarded me with a kiss the day I told her of my love.

One man in every sixty is partly or wholly color blind.

Distance Lends Enchantment.

Tifton Towers was a white elephant—so far as the estate agent was concerned. But this time it really did look as if he were going to do a deal over the property.

Little Mr. Brown and his wife had tramped wearily round the estate, the agent at their heels.

"There's architecture for you!" cried the latter. "There's country! I tell you, sir," he added, waxing eloquent, "there isn't a finer residence on earth than this! Just look at the wonderful scenery!"

"The scenery's all right," gloomily responded little Mr. Brown, who was looking for a home. "The only trouble to my mind is that there's too much of it between here and my office in the city."

Reforesting in France.

Percival S. Ridsdale, secretary of the American Forestry association, recently sailed for France, where he will offer the help of the United States in reforesting devastated territories. He will confer with officials of the French government upon his arrival in Paris. He took over a quantity of Douglas fir seed, which is believed to be suited to French climate and soil conditions. Mr. Ridsdale explained that a million and a quarter acres of forest in the north and east of France had been used during the war to provide timber for trench buildings, barracks, roads and huts.

TUCKETT TOBACCO'S YEAR.

Company Reports Second Best Year In Its History.

MONTREAL, June 18.—Further recovery to pre-war earnings levels is disclosed in the annual report of the Tuckett Tobacco Company, Ltd., in the annual statement of the enterprise now going forward to shareholders. Profits for the twelve-monthly period ended 31st March last amounted to $264,113, an increase of $62,632, or in excess of 30 per cent. over the previous year, and $77,615, or nearly 42 per cent. over the 1916-17 period.

With the exception of the 1913 showing, which was the first statement issued by the company as at present constituted, when the annual profits amounted tto $303,384, the 1918-19 earnings represent the best in the concern's history. After deducting $140,000 for preferred dividend requirements, there remained a balance available for dividends on the common shares of $124,113, or equal to approximately 4.5 per cent. on the outstanding issue of the enterprise's junior securities.

With the previous year's balance added, there remained a surplus to carry forward into the current year of $462,036, or over 18 per cent. on the common shares.

THE KINGSTON SITUATION.

KINGSTON, June 17.—The Locomotive Works strike situation is now being taken up by the committee appointed by the City Council consisting of Mayor Newman and J. M. Campbell and W. F. Nickle, M.P. A communication has been addressed to the management of the company and to the Metal Workers' Federation requesting that representatives be selected to meet the committee with the object of discussing the issue and reaching an agreement. The strike has been on for [illegible] weeks.

AGAINST RISKING AVIATORS' LIVES

Public Opinion in Britain Opposes Further Non-Stop Atlantic Flights.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 19.—On the ground that public opinion in England is against further attempts at non-stop transatlantic airplane flights, Major Fiske, representing the Boulton & Paul Airplane Co., of England, was yesterday directed by a cablegram from his company to abandon plans for a trans-ocean flight. Major Fiske arrived here Saturday and has been searching for a site for a starting feld.

"Public opinion against further attempts," said the cable message. "Shall withdraw and put up demonstration elsewhere."

Major Fiske said he believed the British public was unwilling to see other lives risked in such feats as that accomplished by Capt. Jack Alcock and Lieut. Harry Brown in the Vickers-Vimy bombing machine.

Test Successful.

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., June 18.—The Handley Page biplane made an hour's trial flight today to test her new radiators. The test was said to be entirely satisfactory. A longer trial flight is planned for to-morrow.

ALLOWS LIQUOR IMPORTS

Effect of Senate's Action Explained by Provincial Authorities.

TORONTO, June 20—In an interview regarding the effect of the Senate's action on the sale of liquor in the Province of Ontario, Vice-chairman W. S. Dingman of the license department said:

"The effect will be to reinstate the conditions as they were prior to the order-in-Council, on March 1918, as soon as the promulgation off peace. That means that people who have private dwellings falling within the definition of such in the Ontario Temperance Act can import liquor from other Provinces or from other countries.

"I might say, however, that the conditions to which we shall return with the expiring of that order-in-council will be modified by an amendment to the Ontario Act, which was passed at the last session, prohibiting liquor advertising within the Province."

Sir William Hearst stated that the action of the Senate will not interfere with the Provincials Government's referendum scheme.

STOPPED HIS SERMON

To Shoot Jay Bird Singing in His Church.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga. — W. A. Wray, pastor of the Baptist Church, stirred his congregation when he stopped in the midst of his sermon, got a shotgun and killed a jay bird that had been flying around the auditorium singing while he sermon was in progress.

Mr. Wray announced as the congregation sang a hymn that he would kill the bird if it sang again. The jay began again.

The preacher stopped his service, went to his home, got his gun, returned to the church and fired once. The service was then resumed.

KEEP CHILDREN HEALTHY

To keep children healthy the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of the ailments which afflict little ones are caused by derangements of the bowles and stomach. No other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets in guarding either the baby or growing child from the ills that follow a disordered condition of the bowels or stomach. They are a mild but thorough laxative and never fail to give results. Concerning them Mrs. W. B. Coolledge, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for over three years and have found them the best medicine I have ever used for my children. I never have any trouble giving them to my little ones and they have saved me many a doctor's bill. My advice to all mothers of little ones is to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOMAN STRICKEN AT WEEKLY WASHING.

Mrs. Thurbe Charbonneau Remains Unconscious 36 Hours, Then Dies.

QUEBEC, June 19. — Suddenly stricken unconscious about 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning while attending to the weekly washing of her family, Mrs. Thurbie Charbonneau of Levis resisted all attempts of medical science to revive her, and died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after remaining unconscious for more than 30 hours.

It had at first been thought she was a victim of the sleeping sickness, and no small commotion was caused in the community, but it turned out that she was stricken with congestion of the brain.

DETROIT TEACHER MIDNIGHT BURGLAR

SHOT AND KILLED WHILE ATTEMPTING TO LOOT ROCHESTER HARDWARE STORE.

ROCHESTER, Mich., June 19.—With the identification of the body of the man who was shot here early on Sunday morning while attempting to burglarize a local hardware store as that of Harry Gutchess, 22 years old, teacher of algebra at a Detroit night school, was revealed another Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde existence.

Investigation of clues to the burglar's identity led to -day to a room on Putman street, Detroit. There the officers found a bewildering array of stuff stolen from a hardware store here, drawings, etc., stolen from a local foundry in May.

From a letter the roomer was identified as Harry E. Gutchess, 22 years old, son of a wealthy garage man at Battle Creek, and therewith was revealed a strange dual existance that young Gutchess had been leading. Well educated, holding a degree from the Kalamazoo College and an honorable discharge, after two years of service in the United States army ,so well spent that he had been recommended for a commission as Lieutenant in the Aviation Corps, the young teacher had apparently come back to civilian life with an insatiable craving for adventure.

From the loot in his room it was apparent this craving had led to more than one midnight escapade in Rochester and Pontiac. Working in a Detroit automobile plant by day, and teaching algebra and playing burglar at night, these activities are declared by officers to have constituted Gutchess' life immediately preceding his fatal expedition to Rochester.

A SLUGGISH LIVER CAUSED SEVERE HEADACHES

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Healthy bile in sufficient quantity is Nature's provision to secure regular action of the bowels, and when the liver is sluggish it is not working properly, and does not manufacture enough bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products from the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in, followed by sick and bilious headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, heartburn, water brash, bad taste in the mouth in the morning, jaundice, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

Miss Dian Clark, Myer's Cave, Ont., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you concerning the good I have received by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a sluggish liver. When my liver got bad I would have severe headaches, but I got better after I had used a couple of vials of your pills."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretion, clear away all waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and make the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GOUIN GOVERNMENT BY ACCLAMATION

MONTREAL, June 17.—Sir Lomer Gouin's Government was practically returned to power to-day at nomination day. This is the first time in the history of Provincial or Federal elections in Canada that a Government has been able to secure a majority of the members elected by acclamation. In some divisions where there are contests, both or more candidates claim to be Liberals, either favoring the Government or running as Independent Liberals because of the fact that another Liberal has been officially endorsed as the candidate, but in these cases such socalled Independent Liberal candidates will probably join the Government forces in the Assembly if elected.

One Conservative Acclamation.

There was only one Conservative elected by acclamation. That was Brig.-Gen. C. A. Smart, in Westmount.

Ministers Elected.

The Ministers elected by acclamation are:

Hon. Sir Lomer Gouin, Prime Minister and Attorney-General, in Portneuf.

Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Minister of Public Works and Labor, in Montmorency.

Hon. Walter Mitchell, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Municipalities, in Richmond.

Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, in Chateauguay.

Hon. J. A. Tessier, Minister of Roads, in Three Rivers.

Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, in Iles de la Madeline.

Hon. Jules Allard, Minister of Lands and Forests, sits in the Legislative Council, and the other two Ministers without portfolio, namely Hon. Narcisse Perodeau and Hon. John C. Kaine, are also safe from the election strife in the same chamber.

That there are more than 40 acclamations out of a House of 81 Deputies did not occasion much surprise, for the predictions generally had been around that way.

Strong baking powder is needed

GOVERNMENT Standard flours are coarser and heavier than the flours you have been using for years, and they require a strong, reliable leavening agent.

Egg-O is a pure, strong, double-acting baking powder.

Its first action occurs in the mixing bowl when cold water or milk is added. Allowing the dough to stand for 15 or 20 minutes will give better results, and when you put your baking in the oven Egg-O will continue to rise, and you will have no trouble getting light bakings.

EGG-O Baking Powder

You can use sour milk, sweet milk, buttermilk or water with Egg-O—a different and better baking powder.

WINNIPEG MINISTER TAKEN BY MISTAKE

WINNIPEG, June 19.—An interesting incident in connection with the arrest of the strike leaders was the arrest of Rev. S. O. Irven in mistake for Rev. Wm. Ivens. Mr. Irven is pastor of McDonald Methodist Church, formerly Iven's charge, and lives at the McDonald parsonage, occupied by Ivens until a year ago. The family were aroused about 4 p.m., and one of the girls was startled to find at the door a red coat with a warrant for the arrest of the minister. Mr. Irven then appeared in person and convinced the officer that there had been a mistake. He left very shortly, but others returned who were suspicious and ordered Mr. Irven to dress and accompany them. However, they were convinced when shown the marriage register kept in the house.

FINDS INFLUENZA CURE.

Withstands Test.

Dr. C. H. Duncan's Plan is to Immunize a Patient to His Own Poison.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Influenza and pneumonia are no more to be feared than a boil on the back of the neck, according to Dr. Charles H. Duncan, one of the founders of the Volunteer Hospital, who, in an address here before the Convention of the Allied Medical Associations of America, described his method of combatting Spanish influenza by means of "immunizing a patient to his own poison." Upon 246 patients ill with pneumonia and influenza last winter, Dr. Duncan said, he had used the treatment "without a single fatality or any complications."

Stop Any Cough.

"Briefly," the physician said, "I take one drachm of mucus from the infected area and pasteurize it in one ounce of filtered water, where it remains several hours. One cubic centimetre of the toxine, injected subcutaneously, will effect a spontaneous cure of Spanish influenza, pneumonia, catarrh, or any similar localized infection. It will stop any cough except tuberculosis, inside of 24 hours."

Solve a Problem.

Dr. Geo. F. Laidlaw, professor of the history of medicine and diagnosis at Flower Hospital, in discussing the Duncan method, said that the discovery "has solved a problem that has been germinating in medicine of 2,000 years. Dr. Duncan's work marks the conclusion of Pasteur, Koch and Wright, and is a decided step forward in the regular development of bacterial therapy."

"This tunnel is about two miles long, and the train will be about eight minutes passing through."

ABANDONED CATS GO WILD.

Game Wardens Asked to War Upon Mousers Left at Munition Plants.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 18.—State Game Wardens have been called upon to join in a warfare upon cats which had been abandoned by the ten thousand workers in the Belcoville munition plant, near May's Landing. The cats have turned wild and are killing game in their desperate effort to forage for a living. Young rabbits, it is claimed, are the chief sufferers while the cats have begun a systematic hunting for birds and small game.

Guards have been shooting the cats in order to rid the grounds of them, neighbouring farmers claim that their young chickens are disappearing in increasing numbers, due to the depredations, it is believed, of the big colony of abandoned mousers. The cats were brought to the grounds when the shacks and buildings were inhabited by the workers.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL TAKE EXCEPTION TO ACTION OF CANADIAN SENATE

"SUCH ACTION IS HIGH-HANDED AND FRUSTRATES WILL OF THE PEOPLE," DECLARE LOCAL MEMBERS OF COUNCIL.

THE BABY CLINIC

At the regular meeting of the Local Council of Women held yesterday afternoon, the eleven members present unanimously supported the following resolution moved by Dr. Jessie Birnie — "We the members of the Local Council of Women representing a membership of over 1,500 women, strongly condemn the action of the Senate of Canada in refusing to approve of an extension of the prohibition Order in Council for 'twelve months after the close of the war'". Such action is high handed and frustrates the will of the people expressed through their chosen representatives as the Senate is not in any sense responsible to the electorate.

At the meeting, in the course of which it was pointed out that the Council is committed to do all they can towards shaping laws in Ottawa towards prohibition, Mr. Wesley, who is in the city trying to establish a temporary organization to prepare for the vote on prohibition asked the support of the Woman's Council in endeavouring to induce te ladies to attend the meeting which will be held next week in the Y.M.C.A. He stated that there was no need to emphasize the need of the proper vote being cast and pointed out the tragedy which will ensue if the temperance cause should fail.

The Baby Clinic.

In a report of her progress in establishing the Baby Clinic, Dr. Jessie Birnie stated that additional $100 had been handed over to her by the Ashburnham Patriotic Society, who had assured her of their support. Dr. Birnie said that she had already had an offer from a married lady who is a professional nurse of her assistance in any capacity she might be needed at the Clinic. No further word of the Medical Association's attitude in the matter has been received as too many of the Doctors are out of the city to call a meeting. Dr. H. B. Mann, has however expressed his approval of the project.

Children's Day.

It was suggested that a Children's Day might be established at the Moving Picture theatres through which on a certain day in the month, pictures suitable to children might be shown. Miss Walton was appointed to interview the management of the theatre suggested and confer with him upon the subject. An interview with Mr. F. M. DelaFosse in which a representative of the Council had approached him upon the matter of removing objectionable literature, was reported and the result stated as satisfactory, Mr. DelaFosse agreeing to work with the Committee in the matter. "We can depend on Mr. DelaFosse," commented the lady who interviewed him.

Endorse Resolution.

Upon the reading of a communication from the Ontario Woman Citizen's Association, asking the approval of two resolutions, one endorsing a minimum wage for women and the second endorsing women judges in the Juneville Courts of Ontario, it was stated that the matter had been dealt with at a subexecutive meeting at which it was decided to endorse the second resolution, but that the present is not an opportune time to endorse the first pertaining to the minimum wage.

Mayor Agrees.

Reporting her interview with Mayor Duncan, concerning the advisability of a bylaw requiring the licencing of boarding and rooming houses the representative stated that the Mayor assured her that the matter will come up at a special meeting of the Council next week and that he thinks that the City Council will pass the by-law.

Left Over.

A number of matters which were brought before the attention of the Local Council, were left over until the September meeting. Mrs. W. R. Morris outlined the requisites for voting at the Municipal elections.

Treasurer's Report.

The treasurer reported $104 in the bank.

AN UNUSUAL WEATHER RECORD

WEATHER MAN SUBMITS EVIDENCE TO SHOW HOW HOT IT HAS BEEN.

That June of this year has been excessively hot, is generally recognized. It is only, however, in comparison with the same month in other years that its extraordinary character is shown. During June of this year we have already had nine days of 90 degrees or over. On the 3rd it was 97 degrees.

In 25 years here in Peterboro, the temperature has only gone up to 90 or over in June on seven occasions. The following are the dates:

June 14th, 27th and 28th, 1901. The first date (14th) was the occasion of the visit of Ringling's Circus.)
June 8th and 10th, 1906.
June 30th, in 1913.
June 8th, in 1914.

In all other years 90 degrees was not reached.

In other words, we have had more hot days this month already than during the month of June, in a quarter of a century.—W. P.

LOCAL MEMBER IS SHOCKED AT CRADLE FILLING SCHEME

In yesterday's session of the House Sir Herbert Ames and Mr. Lemieux joined in advocating the exemption from income tax of the pensions of disabled soldiers and soldiers' widows. The Minister agreed to this.

Hon. Rodolphe is a believer in a high birth-rate. He advocated filling the cradles of Canada by exempting the parents from income tax at the rate of $1,000 per child. The present $300 exemption a-piece, he declared, was not sufficiently attractive. Canada could not hope for a great immigration in the near future, but would, have to depend on a natural increase in population. It was the duty of the State to boost the birth-rate. He pleaded with the Minister. Make it $1,000, the average value political economists placed on each child.

BURNHAM IS SHOCKED.

This cradle-filling scheme shocked J. H. Burnham, M.P. for Peterborough. He worked himself into a fine frenzy over the "utilitarian doctrine" of the member for Maissoneuve. He thought God played some part in the birth of little children.

"The honourable member would trade religion for a battalion," he exclaimed. "He is prepared to give a bounty for flesh and blood. Utilitarianism has crept on us like a thief in the night. In the last analysis it is the doctrine of materialism, the doctrine of force.

"If a God no longer rules over us, put the matter in the estimates, and we will consider it." (Much laughter.)

Mr. Lemieux's plea was not altogether in vain. Sir Thomas White agreed to the principle to the extent of raising the exemption age for children from 16 to 18 years.

PROCESS OF FORMATION

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY SHOWS STRONGER SENTIMENT IN FAVOUR OF PEACE TERMS.

NEW MEMBERS

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press.)

WEIMAR, June 21.—The new German Cabinet, now in process of formation, will sign the Peace Treaty, according to the plans of political leaders to-day. Afterwards the German people will be asked to ratify this action in a nation-wide referendum.

The National Assembly, scheduled to meet to-day for final action on the terms, already has indicated, through party caucasus, a strong sentiment in favour of signing. While the Nationalist Party members voted unanimously against acceptance, the Dominate Coalition of Majority Socialists, Contrists, and Democrats registered its approval of signing.

President Ebert, who was said to have decided to stand or fall with the Scheidemann Cabinet, apparently had changed his attitude to-day.

He called the party chiefs together for a secret conference, obviously for the purpose of selecting the personnel of the new ministry. The belief prevailed that Ebert would be able to hold out and probably would dominate the new Government.

LIKELY CANDIDATE.

Dr. Edward Davis, President of the National Assembly, appeared to be the most likely candidate for Chancellor.

Opposition to Gustave Noske, the present military governor, was growing, and Hermann Muelter was reported to have stated he would refuse to head the Government if asked.

Chancellor Scheidemann was continuing to conduct governmental affairs until the new Cabinet was ready to assume office.

"Under Protest."

Reports were being circulated today that a plan was on foot to have the treaty signed "under protest." It was said that at least three reservations would be made, continued opposition to turning the former Kaiser over to trial by an Allied tribunal, the demand for the fixation of a lump sum for indemnities, and the plea for the immediate admission to the League of Nations.

General Beulow and General Grumer arrived here to-day to discuss the situation in the East, in the light of the latest developments.

PRESENTATION AT THE BONNER-WORTH

Miss Hazel Blake was Recipient of Ivory Manicure Set.

A number of the friends of Miss Hazel Blake gathered together at Friday noon to present her with a beautiful ivory manicure set. Miss Ivy Townsend made the presentation, while Miss Leona Simpson read the address, as follows:

Dear Hazel: We, your friends and workers, wish to present you with this little token of love and respect, for having been amongst us for so long a time, and as you are leaving us we wish you a safe and pleasant voyage to the old country; also your return. Signed on behalf of the Spinning Department Girls.

Though taken by surprise Miss Blake made a very nice speech, in which she returned her thanks, saying how sorry she was to leave, but hoped she would return safely and soon.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

SENTIMENT IN ENGLAND IN FAVOUR OF SIGNING THE PEACE TREATY.

LATE ADVICES

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 21. — President Ebert has requested Herman Mueller, the Majority Socialist Leader, to form a new German Cabinet, according to advices received by the peace delegates.

Mathias Erzberger will probably head the German peace delegation, the advices indicate. The opposition attitude of the Democrats and German Nationalists on the question of the treaty will probably exclude Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau and Count Von Montgelas, from the Government.

The German provincial press is strongly urging the speedy signing of the treaty. Berlin advices summarizing the situation in Germany up to midnight show the sentiment throughout practically all Germany to be in favour of accepting the peace terms. These advices cover Leipzig, Dresden, Chemnitz and other representative cities.

Geographically analyzed the advices indicate that southern German states are all favorable to the acceptance of the treaty while the Prussian regions are maintaining some opposition.

Causing a Bluff.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

"While the trend of the German sentiment is declared in advices reaching the peace conference to be continuing strongly in favour of signing the peace, it is becoming apparent that the Germans do not intend to make their attitude officially known without an effort to obtain modifications in the terms.

The German Cabinet situation is still a mixed one. It is definitely known that the Scheidemann Cabinet has resigned, but whether a successor has been chosen as yet seems doubtful, although peace delegates in Paris have received a report that Herman Mueller, Majority Socialist leader, had been [illegible]

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, June 21.— Mathias Erzberger, mentioned as the probable head of the new German peace delegation, is reported to have sent a note to Premier Clemenceau as President of the Peace Conference, asking whether the Allies will agree to immediate admission of Germany to the League of Nations. Herr Erzberger also desires to know if the powers will consent to limitation of Germany's indemnity to 100 billion gold marks and renounce their effort to have former Emperor William surrendered.

BOARD OF WORKS WILL ASK FOR TENDERS

Plans Completed for Construction of New Pavement.

City Engineer Parsons has completed the plans and specifications for the new pavement to be constructed on Water street, from Charlotte to King street, and on King street from Water street to George street.

On motion of Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. Taylor, the Board of Works last evening was authorized to advertise for tenders for the construction of the pavement, to be received up to 5 o'clock on July 3rd.

The question of the condition of the city's trees came up for discussion, and Mr. Parsons was given authority to trim the trees on George street opposite Central Park, and also on Water street, opposite Victoria Park.

The trees in front of Mr. T. H. Hooper's residence on Dalhousie St., will also be trimmed ,and one tree removed. Another tree will be removed from in front of the residence of Dr. Morrison, at the corner of Hunter and Park streets.

MAY BUILD TWO-SPAN BRIDGE ACROSS THE OTONABEE INSTEAD OF SINGLE ARCH

CHANGES IN BRIDGE PLANS ADVOCATED BY THE LEONARD CONSTRUCTION COMPANY

Recommended the width of the bridge as incorporated in the plans of Engineer Frank Barber, to be narrowed nine feet as consistent with economy.

Advocated two spans, each one hundred feet long, in place of the present span in the plans, which is 235 feet in length.

Suggested that the spans be cantilever in style instead of the reinforced concrete span as outlined in Mr. Barber's plans.

In favour of a change in alignment of the present plans so that the bridge would not have such sharp curves at the approaches, and also the bridge would be somewhat shorter, which would be another saving.

Asked that the same company prepare the plans as receive the contract for the building of the bridge, saving a considerable amount of money.

LEONARD CONSTRUCTION COMPANY'S PROPOSAL CONSIDERED AT A MEETING LAST EVENING.

RADICAL CHANGES

Radical changes in the plans of the new Hunter street high level bridge were advocated by Mr. H. H. Hadsell, of Chicago, junior partner in the Leonard Construction Company who, with Mr. Robert Stuart, Mr. A. G. Rathell, Superintendent of Construction of the Quaker Oats Company, and Mr. W. C. Cormack, local superintendent of the Quaker Oats Company waited upon the Board of Works last evening to submit a tender from the Leonard Construction Company. All members of the Council were present except Ald. Garside, and Mr. Hadsell concisely outlined the changes which he thought would result in a strong and a much cheaper bridge. He viewed Mr. Barber's plans which were laid before him, although they were not unfamiliar to him. He stated that he was not surprised at the first figures received in the tenders. He had carefully scrutinized Mr. Barber's plans, and the Leonard Construction Company would not accept the contract for the appropriation as the plans now stood. By the appropriation Mr. Hadsell meant the $30,000 donated by the Federal government, together with the $5,000 obtained from the Ontario Railway Board and the appropriation voted by the city. His big objection to the present plans was the long span in the centre which he said was unnecessary.

Alterations Suggested.

In suggesting the alterations to the present plans he said it would make a stronger and cheaper bridge without the gamble on the cost. The width could be cut down nine feet, which left the bridge the minimum width allowed. His next suggested alteration was in the style and design of the arches. There are three generally accepted arches (1) the arch depending on no reinforcing steel called the masonry arch, (2) the reinforced steel arch, as included in the plans, (3) the cantilever type of arch which Mr. Hadsell advocated and which, he said, would save the city a large sum of money. Speaking in favor of the cantilever style he said that it was reinforced over the top and that there was no danger of settlement of the foundations, and also that it was much cheaper than the other types. It saves weight and head room and would be constructed in arches with girders, and between the girders the surface would be flat ,but no filling would be used, which would be another saving.

The Long Span.

The long span incorporated in the plans must be built on bed rock, as it would not be safe unless it were, and Mr. Hadsell said that he had no hesitation in saying that the reason why the contractors who tendered for the bridge disliked guaranteeing a fixed price was because of the fact that they did not know how far down the bed rock was, and consequently could

SIX MORE WINNIPEG MEN WERE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF SEDITION

LABOUR PARTY ISSUES STATEMENT TO SAY STRIKE WILL BE OVER EARLY NEXT WEEK.

VETERANS MEET

Special to the Examiner:

WINNIPEG, June 21.—There have been six more arrests of Winnipeg men charged with seditious conspiracy. The men gathered in were all of the alien class, and said to be agitators. Their names were not disclosed. The arrests were made by members of the R.N.W.M.P., who carried them out as quietly and effectively as on Thursday.

J. Murray, counsel for the Labour party, issued a statement that the strike would be over early next week. If the answer of the metal works employers had been received by the strike committee it would, he said, have been over by now.

A misunderstanding kept it from being received.

(By W. R. Plewman).

WINNIPEG, June 21.—"If the Government won't settle the strike the returned soldiers will," shouted Comrade Parnell, successor to R. E. Bray, the arrested leader of the striking veterans, to a meeting called under their auspices in the Market Square last night. A crowd of twelve thousand, one-fifth of whom were veterans, enthusiastically cheered the announcement.

"Our veterans' committee worked all afternoon trying to help a settlement," declared Parnell. "We've worked for weeks, and the Government has done nothing. We won't stand for inaction much longer. Saturday afternoon at 2.30 we will hold a monster silent indignant parade, which is the most effective of weapons."

Significant Declaration.

"The significance of this declaration is that street parades are under ban, and civil authorities, backed by Provincial and Federal authorities, have absolutely committed themselves to the breaking up of any such demonstration. The veterans preceding Parnell state that the time had come for 'mass action', with brain and brawn, which they had found effective in Flanders. I don't mean rough stuff," he added quickly. "If there are any barriers keep calm and be silent. This is no time for rough stuff."

This speaker roughly denounced the Minister of Labour, who, he argued, was committed to policies of starving the workers until the strike had been beaten. Should that happen there was but one thing to do, and that was for the men who had fought for the country to pick up and get out. Labour leaders had been arrested after midnight, and their wives and children frightened, and that was not the kind of democracy they had risked their lives to defend. It was being reported that many strikers would be stamped back to work on Monday, but though everybody else went back, returned men would stay out until their cause had been won.

"Yes," chipped in Comrade Parnell, "and, if necessary, we will call a strike of all returned men in Canada." (Loud applause). "The Government could arrest more leaders, but new ones would spring up in their places."

Full of Rumours.

Winnipeg is full of rumours that the striking veterans are going to forcibly stop cars and seize various public places. Labour leaders say they are doing their best to restrain returned men, and seem genuinely fearful that they will not be able to hold them back much longer. It is a fact that men like Parnell are speaking out as never before, and probably only in keeping with the sentiment of their followers. Actually Senator Robertson is doing much more towards assisting a settlement than appears on the surface but his early stand against a sympathetic strike makes him bashful about acting openly or taking the credit that is due him. The observation probably applies to others who took a rash stand in the opening days of the strikes. There are quite a few business men who, while not desiring any disturbances, sympathize with the determination of the striking veterans to force the issue. The Minister of Labour smiled when shown a report from Toronto, demanding his resignation, because of the alleged proposed summary trial of Winnipeg reads, taken into custody Monday night. The Minister remarked that they seem to be committing an offence they are taking exception to the condemning without trial at all.

SIXTY BODIES TAKEN FROM RUINS

Canadian Press:

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 21.—Sixty bodies now have been recovered from the ruins of the motion picture theatre at Mayaguez, destroyed by fire. The injured number 180, many of whom may die. Women and children were trampled or crushed to death in the panic that followed the alarm of fire. The frame theatre building was destroyed within fifteen minutes.

LABOUR BUREAU HAD BUSY WEEK

THIRTY-TWO RETURNED SOLDIERS PLACED IN POSITIONS.

At the Employment Bureau during the past week, 32 returned soldiers were placed in positions; 33 vacancies reported; and 29 applications received for work. One soldier was shipped to the west to work on a ranch.

Civilians' Department.

In the civilian department, 18 men were placed, 17 applications received and 17 vacancies reported; and in the women's department, 6 new applications were received; 7 vacancies reported, and 7 placed. These were placed mostly in the weaving works in the city.

BIG DOUBLE PROGRAMME AT THE GRAND MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

"The Stronger Vow" is Drama of the Apaches"

"The Stronger Vow," most powerful of all Geraldine Farrar screen offerings, comes to the Grand Theatre, beginning Monday. A thrilling, modern drama of the Apache haunts in Paris," The Stronger Vow" depicts the story of a blood feud that has laid its tragic hand upon two old Spanish families. Geraldine Farrar, as Dolores de Cordova, one of the last of a family that has for almost a century made war on the house of Estudillo. Learning that the stranger that her brother, Jose, has been stabbed to death at an Easter carnival in Lerida. Her designing relative Pedro Toral ,is made drastic by Dolores' flirtation with a handsome stranger, whom he suspects as Juan Estudillo. Learning that the strangeh has gone to join the embassy in Paris, Toral accuses him of the murder and forces Dolores to take the blood vow to avenge the killing. Her search takes her to the French Capital where she weds the Marquis de Vatera, formerly Juan Estudillo. On her wedding night, she learns that she has married the man she has sworn to kill Refusing to kill her husband, Toral and a band of Apaches capture her, but she fights her way to freedom when Toral is killed as the murderer of her brother.

In addition to this feature another special feature has been added Carlyle Blackwell in Courage for Two. Two universal comedies and a double screen magazine.

THE PEACE CELEBRATION

In a number of Canadian cities preparations are being made for an appropriate celebration of the signing of the peace treaty. The authorities in those cities are assuming that the Germans will yield to the inevitable and accept the terms on Monday, if indeed they do not sign before the time limit expires, and have arranged the details of how the good news is to be celebrated. The civic rulers here have not announced any programme for a local demonstration, probably being under the impression that the citizens will be able to celebrate the great event in an impromptu manner. It would, however, have been better if the council had discussed the matter and mapped out a tentative programme for the guidance of the people, and such a move may not yet be too late, if the Germans delay until the last minute before signing. It is assumed of course that there will be a general holiday when the news is received, and a repetition of the scenes of Armistice Day, although it is doubtful if the wild outburst of patriotic enthusiasm that characterized that never-to-be-forgotten 11th of November can be duplicated.

VISITING ENGLAND.

As might naturally be expected, a large number of residents in Canada who originally came from the British Isles, are making plans to re-visit their old homes overseas. They were unable to do so during the years of the war and now that the restrictions have been removed there is a rush of old country people across the Atlantic. It would be well for those who contemplate going to the Motherland, however, to understand that for a considerable time there may be difficulty in securing transportation back to Canada. There are still many troops to be brought back, as well as the large staff that has been engaged in handling the repatriation of the soldiers, and who will be the last to come home. The authorities have issued a warning to the effect that those who desire to visit the British Isles at this time should be prepared for an indefinite stay in view of the shipping outlook. Peterborough people who are contemplating a trip across the Atlantic should make their plans accordingly and not expect that they will be able to secure a passage back to Canada just when they want it.

GOVERNMENT WAGES.

Judging by the answers given by the Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals to inquiries in the Commons as to the rate of pay for laborers on the Trent Canal, the Department is not over-burdened with information as to local conditions, or very anxious to investigate. The Deputy Minister told the Member for West Peterboro that laborers on the canal were being paid 30 cents an hour, and that the Department "had no information that the current rate of wages in Peterbord district was 45 cents an hour."

The request of the canal laborers, many of whom are returned soldiers, has been before the department for some time. It was called to their attention by the Great War Veterans' Association, who urged that the wages paid by the Government were considerably below the average in this district. Nearly two months ago these facts were laid before the Minister of Railways and Canals, but there has been no improvement in conditions, and the only satisfaction that can be secured is that "the matter is under consideration." Surely the Government does not think that with the cost of living at its present level that 30 cents per hour is an adequate wage. And why should there be so much delay in dealing with the matter, which may seem a very small affair to the Department, but is a very vital question to the men who have been employed on the Canal?

THE SENATE'S ACTION.

Although the Senate's refusal to approve of the prohibition order-in-council being extended for a year after the signing of the peace treaty, is a great disappointment to the temperance forces of Ontario, there is, after all, a certain amount of satisfaction to be derived from the action of the Upper House. It seems certain that the Senate's vote making it possible to import from another province a supply of liquor will satisy the moderate citizen, who was against the sale of liquor over the bar, and and yet did not want the supply entirely cut off. The result will be, it is prophesied, that the majority of the citizens of Ontario will vote "No," on all four questions to be submitted to them next autumn. The temperance vote would have registered in this way in any case, and now that the importation of liquor for use in the home will be permitted, by reason of the Senate's stand many who would undoubtedly have voted "yes" on several clauses of the referendum, will be satisfied with the opening that has been given them, and will answer all four questions in the negative. If, of course there is a majority against the four different propositions, the Ontario Temperance Act will remain as it is at present, but the situation will be as it was before the passing of the Dominion order in council — that is, those who desire to have liquor may import it from Quebec, if they see fit.

Voice of The People

Dear Sir,

If you will kindly allow me space in your valuable paper, I should like to ask a question of the general public.

Why are our Canadian Bank notes of no use in United States?

Recently, I had occasion to be travelling through the state of Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York and found that they would not accept and even made it a compliment to have them take Canadian silver currency.

Now, in one city, Norwalk, O., a hotel man refused to accept our money and we went to a bank across the street and they would not change it for us at all, another bank farther down the street informed us they would change it into American money at a minimum rate of ten per cent discount.

We then looked up the local express agent and were also told that he could not handle it for us, when I informed him that I had had four years experience in express work and that we were always notified to accept American money and send it in to the head office where they used it in exchanging papers, sent to the States and that I felt sure he must be notified similarly as their company had to perform the same routine work, he then looked up his circulars and found that he could exchange it a rate of three per cent. which was quite agreeable to us.

In Toledo, O., we were absolutely insulted when we presented a Canadian two dollar bill to pay for our purchase. The lady told us that it was absolutely of no use there, and I can assure you she made it quite plain both in the manner and expression she used that she wanted to let us know that neither Canadian people nor their currency were of any use in that country.

Kindly tell me how it is that they cannot entertain the same methods in their country as we do here by having an understanding with the banks throughout the land that the money can be exchanged at a reasonable rate of exchange to pay them for their trouble as we do here. No American citizen need be put to any bother, let alone be insulted here in our city, which is considerably farther inland than any of the cities we passed through. All the need do is go to a bank and it is readily exchanged. They certainly are not told that the money is no good and that they will not accept it.

Now, I should like to know why a person going from Canada, to a city the size of Toledo should be insulted because they present a Canadian bank note, or yet again to be told by a chartered bank, that they will not accept Canadian paper money at all or to be charged by another bank the exorbitant exchange rate of ten per cent.

There certainly must be something wrong with the banking system that will allow such conditions to exist between two such closely related countries.

Why is it that we readily recognise American money in this country at face value and our Canadian money is discounted in America.

It certainly seems unreasonable as our country is certainly as rich in natural resources as the United States.

Hoping I may receive a satisfactory explanation through your valuable paper,—I remain,

S. Goodfellow.

LETTER TO EXAMINER.

Dear Sir,

Please allow me space for in your paper to say that the, for sale add. for which I had paid for three insertions, but as two were sufficient, I called yesterday at the office and asked to have the third omitted, received a refund of part of the money, appeared again last night, so as I don't care to be bothered answering the same questions too often would again ask to have the ad left out, and might state while I am on the subject that my business is rather well advertised, already without paying for it; beyond paying the price of the damage done my reputation by a few would be regulators of other people affairs. If they were as busy trying to do some good.

Such as knitting and sewing for the soldiers, when the war was on as they were in trying to stick their meddlesome fingers into the domestic pie, the boys who went across would never have to bu yanother stitch of clothing as long as they lived. But were they? Did anyone ever see them doing a thing in that line? I mean, those people who were so fond of receiving the hospitality of my house when they were not very badly needed and who were so conspicuous by their absences when they were needed.

Hoping this may be sufficient warning and thanking you Mr. Editor, I remain, Bernard Welsh.

GRAVEL CRUSHERS STRIKE IN NORWOOD

Were Granted Fifty Cents a Day More.

NORWOOD, June 20.—A strike of short duration occurred in the local gravel pit. The men who were employed at $3.00 par day, concluded that that amount was insufficient to compensate them for what they had to endure from the burning rays of old sol. So the shovels were laid aside and their manipulators took to the shade to await a raise in wages. Street Commissioner Thos. Burkell, who was in charge of operations, at once consulted the City Fathers for advice. Those worthy gentlemen after mopping their bows, (for it was one of these very hot days) decided to accede to the strikers' ultimatum and the work went on. The village coffers will accordingly be lessened by an additional 50c for each man's day of labor.

RUPTURE RELIEF

RESULTS NOT INFLUENCED BY AGE OR LENGTH OF TIME STANDING, REPORTS EXPERT.

Rupture is not a tear or a breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening, J. Y. Egan of Toronto, the noted rupture appliance specialist will visit Peterboro — Empress Hotel, Wednesday and Thursday (All day and Night), 2 days only, June 25-26.

The "Curatrus" as now used and prepared to order, will not only retain rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but is intended to assist nature in her work of closing the opening in the shortest time known. These new surgical appliances have received highest approval wherever shown, and are an improvement on the design in accordance with the suggestion of Sir Arbuthnot Lane F.R.C.S., of England, producing results without harmful ready-made hard pad and old fashioned steel spring trusses. Mr. Egan has testimonials from our own section for inspection. If interested call; he will show you same without charge. 2d-145

A MUNICIPAL BARBACUE AND PUBLIC BENEFACTION

SHOWING HOW GOOD INTENTIONS WERE AS NAUGHT AND CITIZENS DEPRIVED OF A DONATED FEAST.

(BY F. H. DOBBIN.)

Many expressions of interest have been uttered growing out of and from reading the series of articles dealing with incidents of life in the district in the years following the early settlement. Of the older men so interested, several have suggested that one happening, in particular, be placed on paper, an event that stood out with conspicuous clearness because of its combined mischief, practical joking and chagrin to the benefactor. In deference to the suggestion, the story of a brilliant and adhesive practical joke is here told, with the circumstances leading up to the occurrence.

It has been related of the election of the first Council and from the council of the first Mayor. Two aspirants offered for the civic chair — Thomas Benson and Charles Hudson. Mr. Benson found favor with his fellow councillors, much to the chagrin of his opponent. But Mr. Benson held office for one year only. The year following business engagements prevented his acceptance of a renewal of the position and Mr. Hudson fell heir to the chair. His most worthy aspiration was to make of himself, as he said, a better Mayor than his predecessor and he went about this laudable ambition in several ways.

Local Improvements.

The first council having been placed in authority ,set about inaugurating movements for the improvement of the town. For instance: meetings of the council had been held in divers places, and this seemed less than seemly. It was due to the dignity and importance of the state that a proper place should be provided in which to meet and trasact public business. And there were other claims, vociferous and insistent. Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 was asking questions as to where it should shelter the hand-propelled fire engine. Not to be outdone the Hose Reel Company insisted that it should share in any provision made. Then, there was an auxiliary of the fire service, the Hook and Ladder Company (affectionately known as the ladder hooking company) the equipment a ferocious contrivance to be used in pulling down any structure that would feed the flames when a fire was in progress. This organization was married to the Fire Company, and the whole three had reputations to sustain. Besides the only and chief constable was insistent that he have due and decorous accomodation. Likewise there had to be some sort of a public hall provided in which the citizens could meet and discourse. It will be quite plain that the situation was involved.

A Committee.

Standing on the ground now covered by the civic building at the corner of George and Charlotte streets (under the town Clock) was the old Colborne Hotel, the first building for public entertainment to be built following the log house era. Clapboarded, right in the centre of public life, and really painted ,which fact gave it a sort of social standing all along the street. While at one time it was the Waldorf-Astoria of the district it had been supplanted by the erection of a larger and more pretentious hotel at the corner of Brock and George street. The old hotel was in the market and for sale. So a special committee of the council was named and took thought and action. Additional. In the yard of the old hotel stood the public weigh scale for the appraising of weights of produce. This was a privately owned appliance and the owner exacted fees for the use thereof. The opinion prevailed, common in all countries that are civilized and enjoy religious freedom, that the set of fees were rather extortionate, and clearly should be revised, to suit the dimensions of a public purse. It was a monopoly for no other citizen cared to invest good money in such an enterprise. The committee interviewed the owner and presently reported that it was advisable to buy the hotel building and get possession of the scale, or to purchase the scale to get hold of the building. Just as one looks at it.

Purchased Both.

The council did the rational thing, and bought both.

Two objects could be attained. The civic body would have a roof over its head and other accommodation, and the scale as a piece of public provocation suppressed. As the house had lost caste as a place of refreshment and entertainment, and as the scale had been getting the owner in wrong with a resentful populace, a bargain was struck, and on the 28th day of February, 1850, a bylaw was passed, which gravely stated, "That, Whereas, Frederick Ferguson, Esquire, the present owner of the said house, has consented to accept the sum of Forty Pounds currency, for the same ,and that it was expedient that the town should purchase and acquire the same as a Town Hall, Police Office, Fire Hall, and also certain Weigh Scales, for the latter of which the said Frederick Ferguson agrees to accept the sum of Ten Pounds, and to wait a year for his money."

So the transaction was closed up with elegance and precision and a special rate of one-half of the penny added to the assessment to meet the expenditure. And a new set of weighing charges was devised such as met popular insistence and everybody became reasonably happy.

A Premium.

It was admitted that the accommodation temporarily would answer for the present, but what of the future? Council and citizens were looking forward. Peterboro felt that it should have a town building that would stick up in the landscape and provide a distinct landmark that would not be obscured. So further on in the spring of the year, when hopes were high and the creek had subsided from its annual rampage, letting people stay steadily at work a premium of one hundred dollars was offered "for the best approved plans, specifications and estimates for a new town hall and market house," and at the same time, being ambitious, "for a series of buildings to be erected for business purposes on the three sides of the market square."

All this indicated brave intentions. But true to form the council fell out over these plans when submitted. Those offered by Mr. Thomas ,an architect, of Toronto, were accepted, though not without protest on the part of Mr. Kivas Tully, who also submitted plans—just about such a dispute was kicked up as we now have over the Hunter street bridge, showing that in spite of all benign influences history repeats itself.

However, in accordance with the resolution of Council, the plans of Mr. Thomas were accepted for the second time and the corner stone of the building was laid with all pomp and circumstance, with imposing ceremony and public rejoicing, on a certain day in the month of September, 1851. It had taken the usual whole year to get started.

The City Hall.

And now into our story comes Charles Hudson, Esquire Mayor.

The civic building stood on the east side of the market square, about opposite what is now Nos. 338-340, east side of Water street. Built of red brick, fairly capacious, with accommodation on the ground floor for six butcher's stalls, the lock-up and an office for the constable. The upper floor was the public hall, or Academy of Music, Opera House, or Musical Hall, as it severally changed lessees and purposes. Holding about five hundred admissions at a pinch. Afterwards a tower of wood construction was added to house the town bell, which by means of a long rope was clanged at times of firess and other public functions. In after years a wide verandah, or shelter, was built on three of the sides, affording a welcome and much appreciated shelter on market days. The building was pulled down when the new civic building on George street was put up.

The Mayor, Mr. Hudson, desired that the occasion of the corner stone laying should be especially notable, and something that could be worthily handed down to prosperity. The ceremony and surroundings should be as ostentatious as possible and this benign idea was cheerfully encouraged. And in the girth of his heart and the breath of his views he donated the gift of an ox that should be roasted whole and served ad libitum for the refection and satisfaction of the general public.

A Rude Shock.

Now, such a thing had not been heard of nor was a similar case recorded in the annals of the vicinity. It came as a distinct shock to the community. People spoke one with another and asked who is this Croesus who giveth oxen to be roasted whole? As a financial transaction if he had presented some club or coterie with a brand new red waggon it would have cost him much more money, for beef at the time sold for about three cents per pound on the hoof. Taking the weight of the ox at one thousand pounds, the probable cost was around $30.00. But it was the audacity of the proposition that took hold Beside.es it was very good advertising, and the idea is now recommended for consideration of future occupants of the city civic chair.

Of course the word "ox" was used as a figure of speech. What was procured was a fine fat and young steer, carefully hand picked with discrimination and exquisite judgment. Something recherche and promising. It was brought into town and paraded and the public took notice and expressed anticipation ,and then went home and voluntarily sharpened the carving knives and got ready for the coming festivities, waiting for further details of day and date and item of proceedings.

Director of Ceremonies

Every man having such rheumatism decided to come.

All large and massive propositions of public import carry with them responsibility. That is the reason in this late day why the building of the Hunter street bridge is held up.

Having gotten the ox, who should cook it. There did not seem to be within sight, at the time, a chef of dimensions to suit the importance of the occasion. Now our progenitors were, if anything, resourceful. If they hadn't a thing ready to hand they made one. Genius knows no obstacles. The thing must be done. So by unanimous consent one Harry Cronn was duly nominated as Director of Ceremonies. Equipped by birth, education and a rich experience nothing but success was anticipated. It is seldom that any candidate received such unanimous nomination and election as came to the late Harry Cronn.

Cronn was a darkey. Of middle age and excellent weight, strong as the ox which he proposed to cremate. At the time of which this is written slavery was still in force in the Southern American States, and Cronn, born in slavery, had escaped and made his way to Canada, as many had done, by what was referred to as the underground railway. Slaves escaping and reaching the Northern States found some immunity, but could be recovered as a chattel by process of law. To get to Canada meant liberty, without question, for the British principle of "holding what they have," covered such cases. At one time there was quite a settlement of colored people in the neighborhood of Guelph, nearly all of whom had made way from below the Dixie line by way of the Middle States, their movements being approved and facilitated. The idea was held that Croon had gained unlimited experience at barbacues, camp-meetings and such negro festivities and occasions and that he knew what to do and how to do it. He cheerfully undertook the precentorship of the evening and promised satisfaction in all details.

Such is a colored man when in health.

"Der Tag"

Der Tag, the day, approached. On the market square, keeping a reasonable distance from the public pound, a pit was digged. About ten feet long, four feet in width and depth, the bottom covered with boulders. Standing at each end of the pit, firmly driven in the ground were crotches, cut from trees, shaped like the "Y". These to support the pole on which the carcass was to hang and revolve. A cross-tree at one end of the pole to turn the spit that the meat might enjoy the heat and all parts be equally roasted.

Early in the afternoon the fire was started in the pit. When it had burned down additional good maple was added, and the operation kept up until the pit was full of coals. The heat was intense—but there was a large order to be cooked. A plank covered table, of stout proportions had been built on which to cut up the roast. The carcass was laid on the table and a long pole thrust through, end to end, the steer having been skinned and dressed. The interior affording some space, fowls, a pig and several legs of lamb and mutton sewed up and bound with stovepipe wire, then lifted on to the supports and the cooking began.

Hot, do you say? Well, rather. Those who fired up did not have proper conception of the fervency of good, honest maple wood when given a fair show and supplied in a great plenty.

Trousers Took Fire.

The first man who undertook to turn the roast stood the heat until his trousers took fire, and had to be led to one side and irrigated. Then a resourceful soul, walked over and wrenched one of the shed doors off its hinges at the Civic Hall. There were so many that one less or more would not be missed. With the door thrust between the heat and the turner some respite was had, but presently the door began to smoke and one had to be detailed to swab it down at intervals.

By the time things were arranged and going with culinary smoothness it was pretty late in the afternoon. Supper had been announced as ready at sevon and between that hour and eight o'clock the square held almost the entire population of the town and vicinity. People came prepared to feast, bringing bread, liquids, dishes, cutlery and things as fancy suggested. Many improvised tables of a sort and got ready for business. Knives were sharp and appetites exceedingly so. Those who volunteered to carve wore white aprons and other toggery to indicate office. Expectation was at a high pitch.

Whether Cronn had miscalculated the size of the roast and time for cooking was not clear but by nine o'clock it was announced by experts in baked meats, who explored the surface and interior of the roast that it was about half-done. This was depressing to a hungry and waiting populace. It was stated with confidence that in another hour things would be quite ready. A friendly hostile suggestion to rush the situation and serve the roast just as it was had to be suppressed. Presently the bed of coals flattened down and additional wood had to be brought and applied to the fire. This caused serious delay for the process of roasting stopped. People who were tired began to go home, and as a compromise it was given out that the cooking would be completed during the night and being ready in the morning all should come back to breakfast. With this they had to be contented. It was arranged that Cronn and two assistants should remain and close up the job.

A Calamity

About two of the clock, in the morning the scene changed and a catasthrope resulted. Eight or ten men came hurrying along Water street driving a stout horse attached to a stone-boat. In silence, lest a voice might betray the owner, the squad descended on Cronn and his car. With coats turned inside out, a popular form of disguise, and faces blackened there was no chance for identification. The purpose was too evident when stout arms lifted the meat off the fire. One beauty about Harry Cronn was that he had no ignition troubles. He started at the first turn of the crank. He invariably performed on high gear and in this instance proposed to dispute the case He floored two of the party but was seized and held from behind. Still struggling and threatening to bring discord into the proceedings by his resistance, the shed door that had done such excellent service was laid on the ground and Cronn bound to it hand and foot.

And to vary the solemnity Mr. Cronn expressed his convictions.

It was related by those who heard and who appreciated a masterpiece that the language in which he clothed his ideas as to things filled and fitted the situation much better than it sounded, for profanity, however sincere, seldom convinces. In a frenzy of irritation at his remarks some one shoved a cloth in his mouth and shut

FRED. G. BALE.

No one is better qualified than Mr. Bale to carry the message of the new democracy to the parents of Canada. As the youngest Mayor in Ohio, Mr. Bale received wide publicity, and he has been in public life ever since. During the four years that he was prosecutor in the Juvenile Court of Columbus, a yearly average of 1,500 cases of children passed under his observation. At this time he saw how many evils were traceable to the saloon, and later, as Attorney for the Anti-Saloon League he wielded a wide influence in the campaign that resulted in Ohio becoming a dry State.

Finest Thing Ever For Chronic Catarrh!

Get Away From the Medicine Habit, Cures By Novel Method

With the many remedies you have tried you surely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gargle only bathes the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inflamed bronchial tubes.

With Catarrhozone ti's so different from medicine-taking — you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its balsamic fumes, which carry cure and relief to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and inflammation is rapidly allayed, cords are toned up, the entire mucus membrane invigorated. Every trace of catarrh disappears, the disagreeable dropping of mucus in the throat, hawking, spitting and stopped up nostrils—all these sure signs of catarrh and bronchitis are permanently cured by Catarrhozone. Large outfit lasts two months, costs $1.00; small size, 50 cents; trial size, 25 cents, at dealers everywhere.

A BUSINESS MAN WHO ORGANIZED A BAND, PLAYS WITH HIS MEN AND WILL BE HEARD HERE ON JULY 1ST

MR. CHARLES O. SHAW, OF HUNTSVILLE, HAS BUILT UP A CONCERT BAND THAT RANKS WITH THE BEST IN THE COUNTRY—APPARENTLY AN UNUSUAL COMBINATION OF TALENTS FOR MUSIC AND INDUSTRIAL MANAGEMENT.

Have you ever wished you had a million dollars and in a radiant moment of possession, a Croesus or even Aladdin with the magic lamp, set free a reckless fancy conjuring the pleasures of satisfying desires that have been hopelessly repressed? If you are a wage-earner, with necessity taking your little surplus for the inevitable rainy day, you will doubtless confess to many a day dream when, with untold wealth, you built your castles in Spain by the fire on a winter's night or under the spell of the soothing sunsets of summer.

In such happy, pathetic abstractions the gardener longs for broad, weedless acres that will yield to his will, the dairyman for huge, clean barns of prize cattle, the tenant for a mansion like that of the latest favourite of the motion pictures; in short, each person yearns for the fulfillment of his cherished dream. If, perchance, your mind wanders into a rapturous realm of music where snatches of haunting melodies blend into strange rhapsodies, you could scarcely demand a more eloquent medium for the expression of your thoughts and desires than the Anglo-Canadian Leather Company's concert band of Huntsville, which the Fair Board has engaged for their Dominion Day programme. This may seem an exaggeration, but qualified critics have acclaimed this organisation as comparable with the best bands that have been heard in this country. In fact, Mr. Charles O. Shaw, the general manager of the Anglo-Canadian Leather Company rubbed his lamp and wished for a band; and while the process of its assuming material form has been somewhat slow, from all accounts it has been satisfyingly complete.

Business Man a Musician.

You might imagine that Mr. Shaw back in his boyhood days promised himself that if ever he obtained sufficient means he would organise a concert band capable of interpreting the music for which even then he craved. As he grew older he became a proficient cornet player, and a business man of large responsibilities. For a time he was wrapped in commercial interests, and his cornet became mute. In some way or other, it does not matter much, he grew interested in a band which had been formed in Huntsville by a number of the employees of his factory. It had its day as an ordinary town band of amateurs, and was on its last legs when something inspired Mr. Shaw to take hold of it, and apply to its management the principles that had made a success of his business. Whatever his intentions were at that time or even now, he has steadily developed the Anglo-Canadian Leather Company Band, and is continually improving it, until to-day as a concert band it leaves little to be desired.

Bandsmen Are Employees.

Practically every one of its members works in the company's factory. Two-thirds of them are Huntsville boys, workers in the tannery, but amateur musicians who are fit company for professionals. Mr. Shaw set himself to practicing on his cornet, and is to-day a soloist alongside his employees. To ensure success, he engaged as conductor Mr. Herbert L. Clarke, for years solo cornetist with Sousa's Band, who is regarded as the premier cornet soloist of the world. Mr. Clarke is one of the few exceptions to the rule that the bandsmen shall also work in the leather factory. There are five or six other musicians who have played under Sousa's direction, including "Jack" Richardson, known up and down the country because of his stature and his talent as a tuba player. Others might also be mentioned.

Have Fine Quarters.

Huntsville built a new school several years ago, and Mr. Shaw took over the old one, equipping it as a club for the bandsmen. There is a main rehearsal room, with adjoining rooms for individual and group practice, and also regular club appointments upstairs. Mr. Clarke conducts the rehearsals of the band of fifty-five pieces, but the different sections have been previously instructed and coached by competent musicians, to whom is delegated this special duty.

For example, Mr. Eddie Wall, a solo clarionetist of wide reputation, has charge of the reeds. His mornings are devoted to lessons to the reed players, but he works in the factory laboratory in the afternoons, except every other Wednesday, when he assembles his section and rehearses some particular composition from four until six o'clock. On the alternative Wednesdays Mr. W. R. Burnham conducts the brasses, meanwhile giving lessons throughout the week to the individual members of his section.

Gives Finishing Touches.

By this system, which is followed by all the big concert bands, each group is already prepared for a composition which is under study, and it remains for Mr. Clarke to conduct them in the general rehearsals of the band every Monday and Thursday night. In the meantime, Mr. Clarke is engaged in composing and arranging, but every third week there is a rehearsal of a programme, which is actually a concert, to which the public of Huntsville are admitted, and of which they take full advantage.

Twelve Programmes.

The band has a very complete library, and already have a repertoire of twelve complete programmes without repeating a single number. It was recently published that they have improved more than fifty per cent. above their standard of last summer, when they made a great impression at the Toronto Exhibition, and apparently Mr. Shaw intends to sustain his efforts in bringing the organisation nearer to perfection.

Programme in Orillia.

The following was their programme at Orillia on 29th May:

Overture—Il Guarany . . . . . Gomez
Clarionet solo—Fantasia from "I Puritani" . . . . . Beilini
Mr. E. C. Wall
Selection from "La Boheme" .. Puccini
Flute solo—"Chopiniana" . . . . . Demerssman
Rhapsody—"Slavonic" .. Freidmann
Suite—"Sigurd Jorsalfar" . . . Greig
Saxophone solo—"Lavinia" . . . . . composed by Mr. Clarke
Mr. Charles G. Shaw, soloist
Concert waltz—"Arc en Ciel" . . . . . Waldteufel
Cornet solo—"The Southern Cross" .. written by Mr. Clarke, and himself soloist.
Finale—"William Tell" . . . . Rossini
(By request)

Huntsville To Be Envied.

Not only is Mr. Charles O. Shaw a solo cornet player, but his son, Mr. Charles G. Shaw, is an expert player of the saxophone. Every two weeks during the summer months the band gives an open-air concert in Huntsville, to which the people flock from the countryside for miles around the town, and many motor from the Muskoka Lakes. It may be observed in passing that Huntsville townspeople are to be envied. The band occupies a large place in the community, and when the Board of Trade desired to show their appreciation of Mr. Shaw's benefaction, if it may be so termed, they were at a loss to decide upon some adequate expression of their feelings. When they finally approached him for a suggestion, Mr. Shaw simply replied that their interest and their attendance at the concerts was all the recognition and recompense he could ask.

Interested In The Men.

Columns could be written of his personal interest in his employees; how, for instance, when milk vendors advanced their prics to what he considered unreasonable, he collected a herd of cattle for the benefit of the men and sold them milk at seven cents a quart; imported coal and distributed it as a cost of $9.50, as compared with the retailer's charge of $12.50 ;or of the community butcher shop and grocery store, also in the interest of the men, with this exception that they are married.

The whole story sounds like a dream come true, a strange and unheard of reality in these materialistic times, but the musicians who played to metropolitan audiences in America and Europe are said to be as happy and contented under Mr. Shaw's idealism, as the young Huntsville men who have obtained a rare training as musicians.

This may suggest something of the organisation and its environment which has been engaged for the Dominion Day celebration in Peterborough; and it may be stated with every assurance that this city is privileged to have the opportunity of hearing them.

off the torrent with a gag, carried Cronn and the door across the square and planted it standing up against the old hotel shed.

There is a beautiful principle that governs our lives when in extremity, that self-preservation is the first law of nature. The two assistants basely deserted. One fled across the street climbed on the roof of the old government building and viewed the concussion from over the ridge pole. The other scampered down Water street and crawled under the barn at Adam Scott's old house. With all the vehemence that depraved natures are and only constable slept.

the carcass on the stone-boat, whipped up the horse and disappeared out Charlotte street way. The one and only constable sleept.

The Early Comers.

Early comers, relying on the invitation of the night before to come around for breakfast began to arrive with daylight. Found the fire out, the meat gone, the square deserted, and Cronn, who was released. He was as black and as blank in the face as a defeated candidate. After he had absorbed some thing stimulating, of which he consumed several, he related his experience and denounced the miscreants. As a speci men of invective uttered in public it made the welkin ring. The assistants were hunted up but would tell nothing additional, even if they could. The whole transaction was, as it were, in camera.

Where was the meat, that the thrilling question. Within the next few days all the dogs in town seemed to have calling day on their minds and to be slinking out Sherbrooke and Charlotte streets. Out for a walk on the Sunday following two citizens came across the carcass pitched into a swamp on the Carver farm beyond the first toll-gate, and it greives one to say, very indecently interred.

Of course there developed an interesting row over the catastrophe. It was known that there were about fifty men, all practical jokers, for the breed was abundant, who would be capable of concotcing and carrying out such unmetigated villiany, though the number actually concerned was not many. An investigation was demanded that the dignity and authority of the Public Peace should not be flaunted. Several choice spirits, suspected but not exactly identified as implicated were summoned and closely questioned. It was really surprising the remarkable loss of memory on the part of such citizens. There seemed to be abroad a rash of profound forgetfulness. While it was hoped as a measure of retaliation and satisfaction to fasten the fracas on some few there was little to go on. And after it was all over, a local wag named Vizard, a lawyer, embalmed the whole thing in humble verse, to the metre of that famous classic "John Gilpin". Copies of the screed about a yard long were struck off and circulated. It is a matter of regret that neither public nor private archives have preserved a copy, but from the galleries of memory a verse or two may be recalled. After detailing the story of the gift, the roasting and theft of the ox, the Court proceedings are referred to:—

They put Old Harry into the box .
To swear to the men who stole the ox;
Old Harry into the box did go,
And vowed that the men he did not know.
Then the judge, unto Old Harry did say,
"Are you prepared for this ox to pay,"
"Indeed" said Harry, "that same I'm not

Get Soiled First

EVERYONE knows that the cuffs are the most exposed portions of the shirt. They get soiled first.

If you turn the cuffs you can wear the shirt a day or two longer before sending it to the laundry.

But if you turn an ordinary cuff it bulges and looks unsightly. You wouldn't be seen with it.

The new "Double Wear Cuff" is different. It folds just as neat and flat when turned in as when turned out. Your friends cannot tell which side is turned out.

One trip to the laundry is harder on a shirt than two days' wear. Every time you turn your cuffs you save laundry money and get more wear out of the shirt. Get the habit —turn your cuffs—it pays.

LOCAL WOMEN'S COUNCIL ENDORSE MARGARINE SALE

STATEMENT PRESENTED YESTERDAY AT THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.

In reply to a request from the Board of Trade for facts concerning the manufacture and use of oleomargarine, Mrs. Adam Shortt, of Toronto, submitted the following document which was presented yesterday to the Local Council of Women:

1.—Why do we want it?

Food necessary for human welfare i. e., to give strength, promote warmth and produce growth consists fundamentally of five different classes, one of which is fat or oils.

People get these fat moleculars in their food through the fat of meat, from dripping and the various "shortenings" used in cooking—through cream and cheese and oils—mostly through butter and margarine.

From 1913 until we had margarine in the country tens of thousands of children in Canada were not getting sufficient fat in their diet thro' any of these channels.

2.—What is oleomargarine?

It is a food substitute for butter. It is made from animal or vegetble oils churned in butter.

To be exact—it is made from oleo oil, from neutral vegetable oils, salt and milk and in some of the highest grades some of the best better (a)—Oleo oil is pressed from beef fats from inspected animals and manufactured under Government Inspection. (b)—Neutral is made from the "leaf" of pig cooked at temperatures that do not bring out the lard flavor, etc. (c)—Vegetable oils used are peanut and cottonseed—refined.

3.—It is a substitute for butter in taste and food value.

According to scientific experts, the results of 400 tests proved that the energy dervived from butted was 3,490 calaries—from margarine made from vegetable oils 4,080 and from margarine from beef fats 3,300 calaries. So that margarine from either source was of equal or higher value than butter in producing human energy.

4.—Why do the Dairy Interests oppose?

Really from lack of information. Taking Holland and Denmark, as the leading milk and butter producing countries, what do we find?

That for many years they have found it most profitable to use margarine and producing in their country and sell more butter.

As far back as 1911 Denmark was inporting 1,219,845 Kiles of margarine and producing 34,757,917 keeping the factories producing it.

Holland with ten factories producing, inported enough to allow of 20 lbs. per capita as against 8½ per person in the now agricultural country of England.

All of the countries of the Allies had been using margarine years before the war began except Canada. Again as margarine is a higher product from animals than fat in other forms—the average gain—reckoned on the average number of lbs. of fat in the large stock yards—per animal or 2.38 per animal. That is when margarine is made in Canada the average best beef animal will bring $2.38 more per head than when it is not. So that live stock men stand to gain, not to lose, if margarine is manufactured in the country and agricultural countries—with the highest reputation for butter and butter exports prove by years of practical experience that margarine in the country gives them more income from the export of their butter.

The Local Council of Women endorse the sale and use of margarine in Canada as a substitute for butter.

Brightest and Best

Youthful, Beautiful Skin Easy to Have

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt, are apt to injure any skin, even though the general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercolized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather-soiled film-skin, a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a Brand new complexion, a new skin. The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Just get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case. It is the best thing known for freckles, moth patches, liver spots and pimples.

WOODSWORTH WAS FIRST A MINISTER, THEN A LONGSHOREMAN

PRESENT EDITOR OF THE LABOUR NEWS HAS HAD A REMARKABLE CAREER—IS NOT A FANATIC—J. S. WOODSWORTH DESIRES TO SEE A PEACEFUL INDUSTRIAL AND POLITICAL REVOLUTION—MARRIED A GIRL IN CAVAN TOWNSHIP.

By W. R. Plewman.

WINNIPEG, June 21—J. S. Woodsworth, former Methodist minister and temporary successor to Wm. Ivens as editor of the Western Labor News, is one of those who desire a peaceful industrial and political revolution, and who would break away from any who tried the use of force.

Studied London's Slums

Woodsworth has had a remarkable career. His father was a minister, a brother is a missionary to Japan and an uncle in Toronto years ago was a well-known cleric. Twenty years ago, Woodsworth studied the slums of East London. Then he broke into Grace Church, Winnipeg's fashionable old Methodist church, as a junior minister. Later he spent six years in charge of the All Peoples' Mission here, and his writings provided two text books, which were studied by Methodist Mission study classes. He is credited with making social surveys showing such shocking conditions in some parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan that the authorities would not allow the reports to be made public. One report having to do with the number of defective children is said to have been pigeon-holed because so large an outlay to care for such children was shown to be necessary.

Opposed to Conscription

Woodsworth opposed disfranchisement of aliens and was against conscription until after a plebiscite had been taken. In fact, he considers war contrary to the teachings of Christ. He was appointed to conduct a social welfare bureau jointly for the three Western Provinces, but during the war was told that one Province was not ready to contribute its share, and that Manitoba could not stand the expense, three or five thousand dollars, alone. Woodsworth then went back into the ministry in British Columbia for a year, and finding himself not welcome in the Church, was forced to turn longshoreman in Vancouver to make a living for himself, wife and six young children. His wife is a college graduate with the maiden name of Staples she came from Cavan township. She shares fully with her husband, his advanced social and political views. At the present Woodsworth is staying with his aged mother on Maryland street; his family being on the coast. He holds views of Christianity which caused him to offer his resignation ten or twelve years ago, but the church decided he could pass muster.

Man of Slight Frame.

Woodsworth is slight of frame with hollow cheeks and a small jaw, his lower face being rather pinched for his broad head. His ears are peculiar, being round and thick, with lob attached to the face, and with the centre bulging outwards in place where most peoples are cupshaped His eyes are small and oblique, his voice deep. He has plenty of friends among the well-to-do, and admits there are nice, wholesome people among them, although from his standpoint, after much observation of the seamy side of life, they are enjoying what does not rightly belong to them.

Of Philosophic Turn

On the whole, Woodsworth must be put down as one with a philosophic rather than a fanatical, view of life, and who tries to bring reason and logic to bear upon the problems of his day. No one can accuse him of lacking courage or of being superficial. His career and his speeches suggest that he is a much stronger man than his face and presence would indicate.

When I saw Woodsworth in the printing office where the Labor News is published he was working at a makeshift desk in a bindery. He conversed freely about the One Big Union, which he favors. He argued that employers are much better unionists than workers, some huge operations having a multitude of trades represented among their workers, who, on their part, were divided into many trades unions. To keep pace with the combinations of capital labor had to consolidate its powers. While he believes in insurance against old age, sickness and unemployment and mothers' pensions, these he regarded as only palliatives. The whole system was on the wrong basis and had to be changed. Woodsworth did not suggest how long it would take to bring about this revolution, but most of the advocates of One Big Union seem to think it is right at hand. He admitted that those who have wealth and control industry to-day would consider themselves dispossessed by the new system, but they had no right to their possessions any more than had the owners of large estates and persons with large incomes who are now being forced by constitutional Government to give them up. Here in Canada the people did not scruple to destroy the moneyed interests of the liquor traffic. There was no reason why what the Labor party in Britain was attempting by constitutional political means should not be done in this country.

Sees Only Two Classes

As Mr. Woodsworth sees it, there are, roughly speaking, two large classes in Canada, those who receive out of proportion to their contribution to the community, and those who contribute more than they receive from the community.

Supprters of the One Big Union movement are not all agreed as to the meaning of the movement. Some would organize economic power until a complete cessation of labor brings on another industrial revolution, while others again would be content to compel capital to turn over to labor the larger part of the profits earned.

Favor General Strikes

So far as the advocatees of the One Big Union who come out into the open are concerned the vast majority seem to favor stopping all industry by general strikes until control is turned over to labor. Whether this involves political power is not clearly crystallized. It is only recently that political Governments have concerned themselves much with industrial matters.

LETTER FROM THE Y.W.C.A. CAMP

Y. W. C. A. Camp.
Burleigh Falls.

Dear Girls: We are here. The camp is open and we expect that it will prove to be a popular place all summer. We feel very sorry for the girls in the city during this hot weather, and wish you could all be enjoying with us the fresh breezes, and whatever there is of coolness. But those of you who will come up later may congratulate yourselves that you were not up here for the first day when we were "getting settled." However the girls worked like heroes and it did not take long to get our camp in running order.

Our pantry looks like a young grocery store and our verandah is very gay and festive with flags and Chinese lanterns. The clothes line in front is hung with bathing suits, and that at the back with dish towels, while a huge white and black sign, the work of the camp painter, advertisers to all observers that this is the "Y. W. C. A. Camp."

We have found that though our pump does not work at present, it can be fixed, and our stove "draws" beautifully.

We are also pleased to say that we have found there is a perfectly safe place for bathing right at our own front door, which is a great satisfaction to us, and you may be sure we are making good use of it.

The Fishing.

Now that the fishing season is open there are several guests at the Burleigh Hotel, to fish, and we do not feel at all lonely. We have not yet caught any fish ourselves but we have been given some and to-day we picked enough fresh, wild strawberries for our desert.

Nothing very startling has happened yet. Meal time comes pretty frequently, but we are always there. We are feeling the benefit of our holiday already. We practically live out of doors for our cottage is so roomy and airy, and as our verandah is all screened in we may leave the doors open without inviting too many winging and stinging visitors.

We are meeting with kindness on all sides. Everyone seems interested in our camp—even the mosquitoes. We have been assured of a welcome any time at Burleigh, and we have found that this assurance is not at all a vain one—we have tested it.

There are just five of us here at present: Olive Marshall, Kathleen Waterman, Margery Evans and Helen Bulmer, and Miss Parker ,the chaperone.

It is no use to try to describe anything. You will have to come to see and enjoy it for yourselves. But you may expect to hear from us occasionally telling you of our good times.

Yours breezily,
The "Y" Campers.

A RECITAL

Judging by the talent displayed by the pupils of Mr. and Mrs. George King, who were heard in recital last evening in the Trinity Methodist Sunday School-room, Peterborough's future as a musical city is well assured. Each of the pupils who took part displayed excellent talent and a mastery of technique, which was a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. King, who are to be congratulated upon the influence they have exerted upon the city in advancing the interests of music.

BIG DOCKS BURNED.

Loaded Warehouses at Liverpool Are Destroyed.

LONDON, June 18.—A big fire broke out on the Alexandria docks in Liverpool Monday night. Warehouses stored with timber, cotton, oil, four hundred barrels of turpentine and other inflammables blazed fiercely for hours and are still burning Several vessels were safely removed from the danger zone, but a blazing roof from one warehouse fell on the American steamship Norlinda, which was badly damaged. The crew of the ship escaped. Newspaper despatches intimate the damage at 1,000,000 pounds.

MAY BUILD TWO-SPAN BRIDGE ACROSS THE OTONABEE INSTEAD OF SINGLE SPAN

not estimate the expense.

"Very few large bridges in America go down to the bed rock," stated Mr. Hadsell. "Why not build the two 100 foot spans and use the cantilever design and go to a good bottom, but it would not be necessary to go to rock. The cantilever designed span as compared with the approach span, would save the city at least $30,000."

Another change which Mr. Hadsell urged, and which he stated would be another financial saving to the city would be a change in alignment as outlined in the present plans. The bridge would join the west bank farther to the south and farther away from the Quaker Oats plans than at present. The bridge as a consequence would not be so long. If these changes were adopted Mr. Hadsell felt sure that a saving of $60,000 or $75,000 in the cost of the construction of the bridge could be effected. The Leonard Construction Company were willing to prepare the plans and build the bridge for a fixed sum, but would not guarantee a price, but Mr. Hadsell was of the opinion that when the reputation of the whole company was at stake whether they completed the bridge within their estimates or not it was as good as a guaranteed price.

"We wouldn't spoil the reputation of the company by running over on the job," stated Mr. Hadsell. He was not prepared to state a fixed sum off hand, but he was sure that the bridge could be built for less than the appropriation and a structure would be constructed that would last for all time. Another suggestion thrown in by Mr. Hadsell was that two centre one hundred feet spans be made of steel and the approaches made of concrete. "It is consistent with good practise."

Speaking of the 285 foot span he said that it must have a fixed and solid centering to hold it for some time until it is able to hold itself.

The Mayor suggested that Mr. Hadsell make a sketch of his proposed bridge to be submitted to the Board of Works and Mr. Hadsell replied that one could be prepared in a week at a cost of only $300, which, if the Leonard Construction received the tender, would be absorbed in the contract. Mr. Hadsell was quite positive that the Leonard Company could underbid the $280,000 tender by at least $60,000, which would leave a tender of $220,000. In answer to Ald. Crowe, the speaker stated that all Canadian material would be used in the construction of the bridge, as was done in the case of the constructino of the new Quaker Oats plant.

The Clearance.

City Engineer Parsons — "You could maintain a clearance of 25 feet above the high water mark with the two one hundred feet cantilever spans, which is required by the Ontario Railway Board?"

Mr. Hadsell carefully measured Mr. Barber's blue prints and stated that he thought it could be done. He also said in answer to a query from one of the aldermen trat the bridge which he proposed would carry the same weight as the load provided for in the present plans.

"Any foundation that carries our building," said Mr. Stuart, referring to the local Quaker Oats plant, "ought to carry the bridge. The plant is not on rock and I don't think that the new bridge would need to be. He spoke of the reliability of the Leonard Construction Company and that their equipment was enormous, much of which is still in Peterborough and could be in operation on the bridge before another company could move their equipment here. For fifteen years the Leonard Construction Company have been building for the Quaker Oats Company. They worked on a percentage basis and altogether we have paid out between four and five million dollars to them for buildings they have constructed for us, and they have always been within the estimates and below the contracts of others. There is no sentiment in it," said Mr. Stuart. "We always made the best deal that gives the best results. He advocated two spans and said that he thought Peterborough had "gone wild" when the sum of $300,000 was found not enough for the construction of the bridge.

Mr. Bathell speaking of bed rock, stated that there is no rock at the pier 25 feet from the corner of the Quaker Oats plant as shown in the plans. He thought there would be a settlement at this point.

Not Connected.

Mr. Stuart — "The Leonard Construction have no connection in any shape or form with the Quaker Oats Company nor have the Quaker Oats any connection with the Leonard Construction Company."

Mayor Duncan said that he was glad that that point had been cleared up, as some citizens had insinuated that there was a connection between the two companies.

Mr. Hadsell stated that Mr. Leonard was the majority partner of the firm and he the minority partner, and that between them they owned the whole company. Mr. Hadsell has had a long experience in the construction of bridges and engineering work in general. Before entering the contracting business he was an engineer with the Illinois Central Railway and built among a large number of bridges for them one in Southern Illinois in 1902 which had three 144 ft. spans, modelled on the old London bridge. He built another structure across the Tenesee river which was 1800 feet long. He has built numerous bridges in the Canadian Northwest and at Welland.

Mayor Duncan — "The Council should obtain a sketch from Mr. Hadsell if it means a saving of $50,000 to the city."

Ald. Gainey —"That would mean that the bridge would not be started this year, as it takes two months for plans to pass the Railway Board."

Ald. Hamilton— "Why should it take them as long to check off the plans as it does to make them?" Something which nobody answered.

Mr. Hadsell—"We could start the work nearly the day after the plans were approved of. There is a great deal of equipment here now."

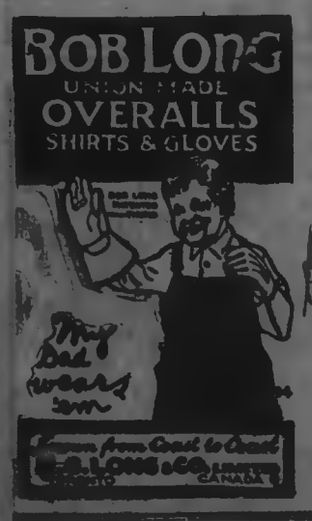
Mayor Duncan— "Would you be willing to allow Mr. Barber's plans to stay in if he revised them?"

Mr. Hadsell—"Certainly. If it would save the city money. We would be glad to work with him. The Leonard Construction Company are willing to give a performance bond of $60,000 as the other tenderers have consented to do."

This ended the interview and on the retirement of the visitors the aldermen took off their coats and sat around the table as Ald. Hamilton began to whistle "There's a long, long trail awinding." The discussion touched every phase of Mr. Hadsell's suggestions, but no decision was made and the Board decided to call another meeting of the Board "as soon as possible," when Engineer Frank Barber would be asked to be present and the whole matter gone over again.

CHURCH LEAGUE

In the Church Senior Baseball League, St. James team won a league fixture from the Mark street team. The score 12-4. The game was played on the King Edward School grounds and was fast throughout.



THE HUNTER STREET CAMPAIGN

"The spirit of Christ in the hearts of people keeps even old people young. Old people who have not the spirit of Christ are always unsatisfied and unhappy, and show it." In his address on "How to Keep Young" last night Evangelist H. D. Kennedy pointed out that the best and only method of keeping young in spirit is to have the spirit of Christ. Those who have given themselves to Christ in faith have received the gift of eternal life. Thus, they cannot grow old. They look upon themselves as children of their Father and keep young in spirit, even though they may be old in years. Old people who are away from Christ and who lack the element of eternal life are burdened with responsibilities and cares, and grow old in spirit before their time.

Mr. Kennedy said that he has had the experience, at the beginning of evangelistic campaigns of looking into the faces of people night after night, and seen that they were anxious and troubled, and felt unequal to their burdens. Later as the campaign progressed and these people became converted he saw their faces change as they received the new light from God, showing that happiness had broken out where before was depression and care.

There are people who claim to be Christians who do not know the joy of the Christ life. Some of these professing Christians wear such long faces you would think they had the measles. When a Christian is not happy, there is something wrong with his spiritual condition. Some of this class of Christian seem to think that fault-finding with everyone else but themselves is a virtue. Grumbling is not one of the fruits of the spirit. The fruits of the spirit, which come as a gift when we believe in Christ, include love, joy, peace long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and self-control. If you are not a joyful Christian, you are a hindrance, not a help, to the cause of the Lord.

The speaker laid emphasis on the fact that the only books most sinners read about the Lord are the Christians they meet. Every professing Christian is read by those around him, who obtain their impressions of the Christ life from the Christians with whom they come in contact. Mr. Kennedy's address last night was keen throughout.

The members of the St. James' Church choir turned out in force last night and led the singing splendidly. As the people are becoming better acquainted with the gospel hymns that are being used, they are joining in them with a freedom and power that is noticeably increasing. Last night's singing was the best by far to date, and it is likely to further improve from night to night. People who did not enter the tent stood out on Hunter Street and appeared to enjoy the singing. An excellent male quartette from St. James' Church choir sang a selection that was much appreciated. To-night and to-morrow night members from all the choirs are invited to assist in the singing. On Monday night the singing will be directed by the members of the Mark Street Church choir.

To-night Mr. Kennedy will speak on the subject, "David and Goliath," and on Sunday he will tell the girls the kind of a young man they should marry. The meetings are noticeably growing in power. Last night a number of unconverted people signified their desire to become Christians. Indications are that the campaign is likely to become a powertul one as it proceeds.

The following are nuggets from some of Mr. Kennedy's addresses:

If a man thinketh himself to be religious and is not happy, he deceiveth himself.

The devil has no happy old people.

Happiness consists in a man's right relationship with God and his just conduct toward men.

If a man is not happy, it is never God's fault.

No man is happy whose sins are not pardoned.

Longfacedness is not Christianity when the prodigal got home they "began to be merry."

When Christ began His ministry the first thing He did was to go to a marriage feast to make people happy.

Paul said, "Rejoice in the Lord always and again I say rejoice", a rejoicing church is the mother of many children.

I don't like a baby with man's clothes on and whiskers.

A man is never doing anything himself when he is grumbling about others.

Some people seem to think that it is a kind of a virtue to be able to grumble well.

God found more fault with the children of Isreal in the wilderness for grumbling, than for anything else.

Some folks are never happy unless they are miserable, unless they are whining about something.

Some people are like a cruet stand, no matter how you turn them, you get something either hot or sour.

A touchy man and a nagging woman, should get married. It is too bad to spoil two houses.

To hear some folks talk, you would think God was dead and all the angels were down with the measles.

Christianity makes you happy and keeps you young in spirit. If you are not happy, you may have religion, but its not the Christian religion—Its probably indigestion or a bad liver,—ask the doctor.

When young people see professing Christians with a long face, they say, "We have trouble enough now, we don't want anything that would make us look like that."—Can you blame them?

You know there is nothing that looks more religiously long-faced, than a dog that has just been killing sheep, what have you been doing?

A close friend is one who will never lend you anything.

Its alright to have good mothers and to sing, "Tell Mother, I'll be There," but I wonder who paid for the flour to make the bread, that mother used to make.

Subject Saturday night — "David and Goliath."

Subject Sunday night — "Love at First Sight", and the evangelist will tell every girl present the kind of a man she should marry.

MAX SWANSTON LEADS THE CITY LEAGUE HITTERS

PACKERS' BACKSTOP HAS A .455 AVERAGE—ORIENTALS LEAD THE LEAGUE IN FIELDING AND DE LAVAL IN BATTING—BIG GAINS MADE BY SEVERAL PLAYERS DURING THE WEEK.

There are quite a few changes in position in the official averages of the City Baseball League as a result of the three games played this week. Collins, the Oriental's second sacker, who has been leading the procession, has dropped down the ladder, and Swanston, the backstop of the Packers, is the real leader with the stick, with a percentage of .455. The De Laval players boosted their average, notably Rose and Cavanah. Cherrett, of the Orientals, Anderson of the Veterans, and Bergoine of De Lavals, also made a big gain during the week and are all well over the .300 mark.

The team averages show that the Orientals, who are now leading the League in fielding, have jumped to second place in hitting as well, passing the Matthews-Blackwell team during the week. The League leaders are now second in fielding and third in batting. De Laval are hammering the ball for a team average of .275, but their fielding has slumped and they are now last in that department.

The pitching records show Kirn and Frost as the leaders. The Matthews' twirler has one more win to his credit than Kirn, but the figures indicate the Oriental heaver as the most effective in the League, as he has allowed but 14 hits and 9 runs in four games.

Here are the figures, the individual batting averages including only those who have participated in at least two games:—

Individual Batting.	G	AB	R	H	PC

PUBLIC SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE

The standing of the different schools at the close of the present season is as follows:

Junior Series.

	Won	Lost
South Central	10	0
King George	6	4
Queen Mary	5	5
Queen Alexandra	5	5
Central	4	6
King Edward	0	10

South Central thus wins the junior shield for 1919.

Senior Series.

	Won	Lost
King Edward	7	2
Queen Mary	6	3
Central	0	9

King Edward wins the senior shield for 1919. The shield was held by the Central School for 1912, 1913, and 1914. Since then it has been at Queen Mary School for four consecutive years.

WEEKLY SHOOT OF THE GUN CLUB

NEW MEMBERS ARE BEGINNING TO TURN OUT.

The Gun Club had their weekly shoot last evening, and some good and bad shooting was done by the members. Stan. Coon was in splendid form, and broke forty-four out of fifty, making twenty-four out of his last twenty-five. Roy Hutchinson had twenty-two out of his last twenty-five.

The club had some new members out to shoot last evening, and the game is becoming very popular among the gunners of the city.

Next Friday night a handicap shoot will be held for a couple of prizes which will be announced later.

Below are the scores:

	Shot At	Broke
J. Loucks	75	55
C. Graham	75	45
C. Coon	50	44

CENTRAL ONTARIO AVERAGES

The official averages of the Peterborough Central Ontario League Club show that Cherrett is leading the squad with the willow with the neat batting average of .375 in four games.

The Petes' captain is also the leading run-getter of the team with five counters to his credit.

Eight of the Petes have played errorless ball, Long leading with 48 chances without a skip.

The figures for the four games are as follow:

BASEBALL BUNK

Umpire Kay Sends in Report.

In a letter to Sec. Dedmen, of Lindsay, Umpire Alex. Kay reports as follows:—On Wednesday, June 11th, as appointed by you, I acted as umpire-in-chief in the Lindsay-Oshawa game at Lindsay.

I might say that this game was the finest exhibition of baseball that I have taken part in this year and was snappy and fast from the start to finish, and was a thriller for those who were fortunate enough to be present, at the game. Dick Butler acted as umpire on the bases and his services were very satisfactory to both teams and me.

I also umpired the Saturday game at Port Hope between Port Hope and Cobourg.

The Port Hope diamond is a good one but their outfield might be improved upon by levelling up a bit.

Previous to my going to Port Hope I had been warned about the "rough neck" methods used by the crowd, but I want to say this, that such stories are without any foundation whatever, in so far as my game is concerned, as I never umpired before a more orderly or gentlemanly lot of people, and the conduct of the crowd must have been good in the past because on Saturday last over half the crowd were ladies.

The Port Hope Club raised some objection to Cobourg playing both Connell and Jones on the team, claiming that the understanding was that if Jones was allowed to play with Cobourg, that Cornell could not. However, as I had received no instructions for you in regard to it, and as Cobourg has certificates for both players, I allowed them both to play.

JESS WILLARD SENT ANOTHER SPARRING PARTNER TO SLEEP

CONTENDERS OF CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE ARE IN FINE SHAPE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 21. — A referee for the bout on July 4th between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey may be selected to-day. Indications are that behind closed doors there will take place a conference that will settle all arguments over who is to be the third man.

Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, Ray Archer, business manager for Jess Willard, and Tex Rickard, principal promoter of the bout, will get together to-morrow to discuss the disposition of the picture of the battle. Jack Kearns intends at this time to open the referee question.

Kearns and Richard both said several days ago that they would make no announcement regarding their preference for a referee until about ten days before July 4th.

Jack Dempsey will get back to his boxing to-day. He planned to go four rounds, two each with Jamaica Kid and Terry Keller, the Dayton heavyweight.

Another Knockout.

Jess Willard scored another knockout yesterday. He caught Jack Heinan, as the latter fell through the ropes with a short right upper cut squarely to the point of the chin, and Jack went to sleep for several seconds.

The champion went nine rounds in all, and previous to the knockout Heinan had floored him with a right cross, heavily delivered.

Jess looked very good to-day. He stepped fast with little exertion.

Dempsey went through the perfunctory session with punching bag, handbag and shadow boxing.

Willard probably will increase the number of training rounds again to-day, for a cooling rain fell yesterday afternoon, and there were indications that the worst of the heat wave is over.

TORONTO COMPANY IS WILLING TO SIGN

BOARD OF WORKS RECEIVES LETTER FROM RUSSELL-TOWNSEND COMPANY.

The Russell-Townsend Company are still willing to sign the contract with the city for the construction of the Hunter street bridge as originally drawn up, with the rider attached which required the Russell-Townsend Company to assume any liability in the event of litigation being started against members of the City Council. In a letter to the Board of Works last night the company acknowledged the receipt of a letter from the company informing them that according to City Solicitor Widdifield the rider was illegal, and that they had referred the matter to their solicitor. They further stated that if they received the contract they would start work immediately.

The solicitors of the Russell-Townsend Company, Messrs. Tilly, Johnston, Thomson and Parmenter of Company stated in a communication to the Board of Works that the Municipal Act provided that every action shall be brought against the Corporation alone and not against any person acting under the by-law. There could be no action brought against members of the Council and therefore the Russell-Townsend Company see no objection to them guaranteeing the Council against liability because no liability would exist. They stated that if even one part of the contract was "bad" it does not affect the part relating to the contract which would be legal.

NORMALITES HAD SPLENDID TRIP

First Day Day in the History of Picnic.

Regardless of the inauspicious weather at the beginning of the day, practically all the Normal school students attended the annual picnic to Burleigh Falls yesterday, and with the splendid weather which succeeded the early showers, the picnic was the most enjoyable the students have ever had. Chaperoned by Mrs. Duncan Walker, the party left on the steamer 'Stoney Lake' for an all day trip over the Lift Lock to Burleigh Falls, and the day was most pleasantly spent on board in songs and games, while splendid picnic lunch and tea were served on board. Towards the close of the trip an address of appreciation was made to Mr. Duncan Walker, to which he responded in a few well chosen words, wishing the students every success.

Yesterday's picnic was the first ever given by the Normal school that it did not rain all day.

NEW MOTOR LAWS EFFECTIVE MONDAY

The various amendments to the Ontario Motor Vehicles Act will become effective on Monday next, June 23. But motorists should bear in mind that many prosecutions in the speeding regulations can be made before, as well as after, that date, and the wise drivers will assume no risks.

The new regulations include many important changes, with which every automobile owner should be well acquainted. The rate of speed is probably the most frequent infraction of the act by the motorist. Instead of the rate of 15 miles per hour, the amendment allows 20 miles upon any highway within the city, town or village, and outside the city limit, and towns at not a greater rate than 25 miles per hour.

Provision is also made for reckless driving; muffling the exhaust; the use of a mirror; licensing chauffeurs; reward on conviction of person stealing motor vehicles; prohibition as to letting or hiring; record of second-hand vehicles bought, sold, etc.; prohibition as to buying where serial number is obliterated; report to department as to where car is stored; onus of disproving negligence, etc.

FINE CONCERT BY THE G.W.V.A. BAND

The band of the G.W.V.A. played a splendid programme in Victoria Park last night, delighting a big crowd. Features of the evening were the trombone duet, "The Sunshine of Your Smile," by Musicians Leader and O'Gorman, and the vocal solo, "The Rose of No Man's Land" by Musician Everett, both of which were splendidly rendered and enthusiastically received. The most notable selections by the band were the overture, "Lutspell" and a selection from "Faust," both of which were handled in splendid fashion. The band is making fine progress under the leadership of Bandmaster Hughes.

Defective Electric Wiring
You cannot be too careful who does your work, because of the danger to life and property caused by faulty or imperfect workmanship. The lowest price for a given amount of work is at once open to suspicion, because that job is going to be skimped SOMEWHERE. We suggest that you adopt the "Time and Material Method" of having your Wiring installed. NORMALITES LEFT FOR HOMES TO-DAY

Expressman had a Busy Session for a Short Time

Lock, stock and barrel, most of the Normalities after a joyous trip up to Burleigh Falls yesterday came home to pack their trunks and grips which kept the different baggage men and express men busy the best part of last night and this morning moving them to the C.P.R. and G.T.R. stations. A large number left on the 8.20 G.T.R. train going to Lindsay and Midland while the G.T. R. train which leaves at 8.25 a.m. for Belleville and points east had its share of the studious ones. The C.P.R. train for Port McNicholl arriving here at 9.35 a.m. took away a large number of the fair ones and only a few are left in the city and last of them will leave on Monday at the latest.

Confusion reigned in some households when the expressman called too early and a retreat was made by budding school mistresses in varying degrees of dishabile while the baggage man carired out countless trunks, book bags, suit cases, grips, hand bags and portamanteaux to the waiting waggon.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE TO-DAY

The remains of the late James Richard Bell were laid at rest this morning at 10 o'clock in the family plot at the Little Lake cemetery. Sergt. Donald H. Downie, M.M., of Winnipeg, formerly of Peterborough, announces the engagement of his youngest sister, Miss Janet Leslie Downie, to Captain Walter Bartholomew, M.C., son of the late Alexander Bartholomew, of Dollar, Scotland. The marriage will take place in Regina early in July.

Sergt.-Major H. E. Browne, a former employee of the "Examiner," has been discharged from the army and has been appointed to the staff of the Assistant Receiver-General in the Toronto office. Sergt.-Major Browne has served on both the eastern and western fronts, and spent eleven months at sea doing duty on hospital ships. He was also attached for duty in the different headquarter staffs in England, and for the past nine months has been supervising clerk at the H. D. M.D. No. 3, Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Browne (nee Alice Hughes) will take up their residence in Toronto at 4 Prospect Street.

Mrs. Will Galley, formerly with the Cressman Co., Ltd., who is spending the summer with her father in Pontypool, spent this week in Peterborough, the guest of Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, Aylmer Street.

Mrs. T. W. Lewis, Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cressman.

Master Guy Popham returned yesterday from attending school at Mobile, Ala.

Mr. Sam Mills is spending the week end in Kingston.

Mrs. McDougall, Toronto, leaves to-day to attend the McDougall-Aylmer wedding in Peterborough.—Mail and Empire.

Mr. Eric McDougall is in the city visiting Dr. and Mrs. Young.

Captain Harry Cobb, formerly of the 57th Battalion, who went overseas as a private three and a half years ago, landed yesterday at Halifax. His home was at 233 London Street.

The pupils of Miss Alice Johnston, of the Conservatory staff, will be heard in recital on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

COUNTY GRANT TO FAIR BOARD $1,000

WARDEN M'INTOSH GAVE DECIDING VOTE—BOARD ASKED FOR $2,000.

Warden McIntosh cast the deciding vote in the County Council this morning, granting $1000 to the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition.

When the report of the Finance Committee was read by Mr. Squire its adoption was moved by Reeves John Clarke and Robert Shaw, but an amendment by Reeves Griffith and Brown, sought the elision of the clause authorizing this grant. The ensuing vote for which the ayes and nays were taken, so that Reeve Anderson remarked: "This is nearly as bad as the budget," were as follows:

For the amendment: Messrs. Griffith, Holland, Moore Darling, Matheson, Lean, Coughlin and Brown.

Against — Messrs. Nicholls, Middleton, Anderson, Eason, Shaw, Clarke, Bell and Squire.

These gropus were reversed on the motion, and the Warden broke the tie by supporting the adoption of the motion.

Nothing for Others.

No action was taken on the requests for financial help from the Navy League and the Peterboro branch of the War Veterans' Association.

ASPHODEL ACCEPTS GOOD ROADS SCHEME

In an eleventh hour moment of decision this morning, before the close of the midsummer session of the County Council, Reeve Max Brown, of Asphodel, intimated his intention of joining the good roads group now composed of the three principal southern townships of Peterborough county including the village of Norwood. By this accession to the prime movers for good roads in the last county of Ontario to adopt the provincial system of assistance, the movement broadens more extensively than was expected even yesterday.

Mr. Brown manifested a new interest in the scheme at the opening of this morning's session, and as the preparations for adopting the empowering by-law advanced he intimated to Reeve Anderson his desire to include his township in the system, and the name of Asphodel was forthwith inserted with Otonabee and Monaghan in the blank spaces of the by-law.

However, the sudden expansion of the movement entailed detailed work and consideration, which led to an adjournment until Monday, June 30th.

The County Council has decided to hold a special meeting probably June 30th for the purpose of resuming with the good roads question of the southern townships. In North Monaghan the roads to be designated for redemption under the good roads scheme are the River Road, the Gravel Road and the road running west from the end of Sherbrooke street to the Boundary.

In the Otonabee the roads to be selected for treatment are the Keene Road, the Wallace Point Road, a part of the Norwood Road and the road to the Keene Station.

WEEKLY DANCE AT CHEMONG PARK

With ever increasing popularity, the dances at the Chemong Pavilion given weekly by the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., continue to attract scores of the young people from the city, and last evening the number which attended out distanced any which have attended the former dances. About $35 was realized and about 75 couples attended.

Those Present.

A few of those present were: Mrs. Vanstone, Mrs. Harry Cressman and Mrs. T. W. Lewis, the chaperones, Miss Helen Stapleton, Miss Jessie Cressman, Miss Georgie Stevenson, Miss Dunsford, Miss Phyllis Dawson, Miss Rita Cavanagh, Miss Meta Richardson, Mrs. Northedge Birks, Miss M. Fanning, Miss Daisy Stocker, Miss Lenore Lyall, Miss Helen McLaren, Miss Gladys Mulholland, Miss Ruth Robertson, Miss Phyllis Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A SPRING BOARD AT INVERLEA PARK

The bathing facilities at Inverlea Park have received an addition that is thoroughly appreciated by the hundreds of bathers who frequent that well-known swimming place, in the shape of a splendid diving board, the plank for which was very kindly donated by Fitzgerald and Company. Mr. A. G. Roberts, of the Playgrounds Association, made a fine job of erecting the board, and it was in constant use last night. Fitzgerald and Company are donating another plank to furnish a springboard for the use of the girl bathers.

Pale gray and navy blue linen combined fashion a fetching coat-dress.

BORDEN IS CRITICIZED

PREMIER ACCUSED OF WEAKENING LABOUR CLAUSES IN PEACE TREATY.

(By Main Johnson.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 21. — Canada figures strongly in the American Federation of Labour debate on the league of nations, when the American organization endorsed the league, providing that it did not mean interference with Ireland's right to self determination. The Canadian reference taken together made up a queer combination of news. For one thing, Sir Robert Borden was blamed for weakening the labor clauses of the peace treaty. Also it was hinted by more than one American delegate that Canada some day might want to go the same way as Ireland, and become an independent republic.

It is difficult without opportunity at the moment for a close ruling of the documents to say to what extent Sir Robert is responsible even nominally for changes in the labor terms finally made by the peace conference. But at all events even President Wilson certainly thinks that there has been a weakening in their effectiveness, judged by the cable President Gompers read to the convention, just received from President Wilson, in answer to a recent enquiry.

Among the cables received by Gompers was one from the American mission, which linked with Sir Robert Borden's name, were transmissions of the final form of the Labor Bill of rights as adopted by the peace conference on April 28, 1919, and which Sir Robert is said to have suggested. The principal change, or at least the one most criticized here was the insertion of the word "merely" in a clause referring to labor not being a commodity.

The A. F. of L. proposal of the peace conference on this question was "That in law and practice it should be held that the labor of human beings is not a commodity or article of commerce," the clause as adopted by the International Labor Commission was in "right and in fact, the labor of human beings should not be treated as merchandise or article of commerce." After Sir Robert Borden's amendment the final form which this appears in the peace treaty is that labor should not be regarded "merely as a commodity or article of commerce."

Lead the Attack.

Andrew Furuseth, the president of the International Seaman's Union, who led the attack in the convention on the league of nations, censured this change and he was supported by several other delegates.

"It makes all the difference in the world," said Furuseth," "it is the same as changing 'Furuseth is not a merely a scab."

Samuel Gompers, who admitted he had been uneasy about the rumoured changes introduced by Sir Robert Borden, did not think that this particular insertion of "merely" was of front rank importance; although it did lay the clause open to criticisms levelled against it by Furuseth. It should be reported however in its proper context and atmosphere.

Furuseth also objects to the provision whereby Canada, Australia and the other dominions received an equal number of votes with entirely independent countries. "The British Empire," he said, "gets 24 votes to 4 for the United States."

Furuseth did not say whether or not this change which is mentioned in America missions cable to Gompers was due to Borden also.

The issue of Canada's votes in League of Nations led to unusual statement by Secretary Will of Committee International Labor Legislation, who is also president of the Photo Engravers Union.

In reply to Furuseth he said that Canada might not necessarily use its votes with Great Britain.

GERMANS HAVE GIVEN UP HOPE

(Specail to The Examiner.)

VERSAILLES, June 21.—That the Germans have given up hope of inducing the Allies to resume negotiations, was indicated by the fact that the 120 enemy representatives remaining here were engaged to-day in sending to Germany as rapidly as possible all books and papers, as well as telephonic and telegraphic installations.

PTE. C. DRISCOLL IS HONOURED BY HIS MANY FRIENDS

Pte. Driscoll of Peterboro was given a reception Friday evening at the home of his grandfather, D. F. Crowley, Otonabee at which he was presented with a purse and following address:

Dear Neil:—We, your very dear friends have met here to pay you our tribute of esteem and honour.

During your absence we have missed you very much. We have tried many times to picture you in that far-off land where you were bearing the trials that only a soldier knows. We must thank Our Heavenly Father for His preservation and care over you in your absence. Many prayers we offered for your safe return and we felt our prayers had been answered when you returnd once more from that blood stained field of far off France.

You have brought honour and distinction to our family as well as to your self in doing your share to uphold the splendid name of our Canadian boys, We rejoice as your dear friends and welcome you back with outstretched arms. May you be long spared to enjoy the peace, happiness, and prosperity which you so richly deserve.

In conclusion we ask you to accept with our best wishes, this purse as a slight token of our esteem for you.

FIVE FOREIGNERS WHO PARTICIPATED IN MURDER NEAR HAVELOCK APPEARED IN POLICE COURT TO-DAY AND ARE REMANDED

MURDERED MAN WAS SHOT DOWN IN COLD BLOOD—ROBBERY FOLLOWED—SUSPECTS BROUGHT TO PETERBORO.

DARING HOLD-UP

The preliminary hearing was held this morning in the County Police Court before County Magistrate Langley, at which five Russians, namely, Sam Zaluski, Philip Rotynsky, Tom Konek, Alexander Martynuk, and Mike Bahri, were charged with the murder of Philip Yannoff on Sunday, 22nd June, in the Township of Belmont, County of Peterborough.

Mr. G. N. Gordon will conduct the defence, and Crown Attorney Hatton the prosecution.

The defence asked for a remand for a week, which was granted until Monday, 30th June, at ten o'clock, in the County Court Room.

The murder took place at the quarry of the Ontario Rock Company, three miles from Havelock. It is alleged that the five Russians entered the sleeping quarters of the employees where eight men were asleep, and shot Philip Yannoff, who slept in a bunk nearest the door. Yannoff was apparently asleep when he received the fatal bullet, as he was covered with a blanket as though asleep when Dr. Holcroft, of Havelock, summoned by Mr. S. Bradley, superintendent of the camp, arrived on the scene.

According to the men who were held up, the robbers after shooting Yannoff compelled the rest of the men to hold up their hands, and in the midst of the search Yannoff, who was only wounded, sat up in his bunk and pleaded for a drink of water. One of the Russians approached him and gave him a brutal push, sending him below the covers, and at the same time, with an oath, grabbed the money belt which Yannoff wore next his skin, and which contained $400. Yannoff, after this brutal treatment, expired, and the robbers proceeded quietly to relieve the rest of the men of their cash, after which [illegible] and seven hundred dollars. Three of the robbers took the road and the other two walked down the track toward Indian River.

The men summoned the superintendent, Mr. Bradley, who, with Constable Williams, who had been summoned, followed the two men who took the track. A number of box cars were searched, but nothing suspicious found until they arrived at Indian River, where Mr. Riceborough, the despatcher, had intercepted them with an excuse.

Mr. Bradley, the superintendent, stated this morning that Mike Bahri, one of the accused, was a former employee of the camp, and apparently hatched the whole plot. He knew that the men were paid on the tenth of the month, and that they never banked it; and going to Toronto he took into his confidence four compatriots, who landed n Havelock at 2.30 on Sunday morning. They arrived at the camp about 3.30 a.m., but it was 6.30 o'clock before the men were apprehended at Indian River Station.

The accused in court this morning seemed dejected as they sat handcuffed in pairs before Mr. Langley. The back benches were crowded with citizens who, however, were disappointed when no evidence was taken.

According to Mr. Bradley most of

COMMANDER OF INTERNED GERMAN FLEET MAY BE TRIED BY THE ALLIES

"IT WAS A HANDSOME DEED," BERLIN NEWSPAPERS OBSERVE—CULPRITS MAY FACE AN INTERNATIONAL COURT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, June 23. — Admiral Von Reuter, commander of the interned German fleet, sunk by its own crew Saturday, in Scarpa Flow, may be tried by an international court, together with U-boat commanders and other war criminals, it was learned to-day. The British Admiralty is forwarding a full report of the sinking to the naval armistice commission in Paris, by whom the next step will be directed.

BERLIN COMMENTS UPON ACT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, June 23. — Commenting upon the sinking of the fleet, the Berlin Gazette says that it was perhaps a deed of folly, as Germany might have been able to force an indemnity for surrender of the warships. "Nevertheless," it continues, "it was a handsome deed," the Neue Gazette says.

"The officers and men who performed this deed may be forgiven. They acted in the spirit in which they were trained."

CLAIM TO HAVE EVIDENCE THAT WIDESPREAD MOVEMENT WAS ON FOOT TO ESTABLISH SOVIET RULE IN CANADA

PLAN TO ISSUE STRIKE BONDS AND RENDER VICTORY BONDS WORTHLESS—FOREIGNERS INVOLVED.

THE WINNIPEG STRIKE

(Copyright.)
(By W. R. Plewman.)

WINNIPEG, June 23. — High officials here believe they have evidence that a widespread movement is on foot to overthrow democratic institutions and substitute for them a Soviet form of government. One means to that end is said to be the One Big Union, which, by declaring a nation wide strike expects to make it impossible for the community to live without leave of committees, through which the One Big Union would function.

The directors of the movement expect that city councils and provincial and federal governments, finding themselves unable to provide the necessaries of life would beg the One Big Union Committee, in the name of humanity to operate essential food and public services. Thus the Soviet form of government would come into permanent operation.

Supporters of the One Big Union do not all feel themselves committed to the same programme. They seem to be made up of the three classes as follows:

THREE CLASSES.

1. Those who would use the One big Union to secure a larger share of the profits of industry and by solidifying the vote of the workers obtain a larger influence in democratic parliament. Roughly speaking these seem to represent the rank and file, and include workers of a wholesome type, who want to be reasonable.

2. Those who would use the One Big Union to secure control of parliamentary bodies and by a combination of strikes and political action socialize all productive industry Some think that this would end the capitalistic system and others have their doubts. This second class baulk at the use of force but speak of their programme as "direct action." Woodsworth, Ivens, Watts and A. E. Smith, of Brandon, and possibly a moderate like Fred Dixon, M.P.P., and a Radical, like Pritchard, of Vancouver, belong to this class. Some of them admit that their programme might be resisted by force. Their answer, if they chose to talk, probably would be that in that case they would be in the majority and represent a constitution. In fact, I have heard such views expressed many times from platforms in Winnipeg.

THE THIRD CLASS.

3. Those who would organize along I.W.W. lines and hasten Soviet rule by resort to violence. These are very few in number and mostly foreigners. Naturally they work under cover and do not openly utter their intentions. The authorities submit evidence about Bolshevikhi support for the Winnipeg movement as proof that Russell, at least, was prepared to go the limit. Russell makes no bones about his readiness, under given circumstances, to fight for his principles. The authorities here believe they have evidence which shows that a genuine revolutionary move is under way to seize control of the country's affairs, issue strike bonds in place of Victory bonds, and render the latter worthless. They think this explains the seemingly wild stories that have been circulated among the Toronto foreigners that before long Victory bonds won't be worth the

HUNDREDS KILLED BY A TORNADO

(Canadian Press.)

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 27.—Reports from Fergus Falls, Minn., early to-day, estimated the number of persons killed by the tornado which swept over that town last night, all the way from two hundred to four hundred, and the injured at seven hundred.

(Special to The Examiner.)

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., June 23.—At least one hundred persons were killed and scores of buildings wrecked by a tornado which struck Fergus Falls, Minn., last night, according to reports received here. Unverified telephone reports to individuals placed the death toll much higher. The storm struck the west part of Fergus Falls. Barnesville and Carlisle suffered also. Some damage was done at Brainerd. The storm cut a path more than thirty miles long the reports said.

RECORD IN FINDING LOST ARTICLES

THE EXAMINER LOST ADVERTISEMENTS FIND WATCH, CAMEO AND POSTAL NOTES SATURDAY NIGHT.

Those who use the condensed advertisements in the Examiner know the results that can be obtained but to those who do not know of their effectiveness we just wish to mention, the satisfaction that three people had from writing lost advertisements for missing articles.

The articles advertised were a silver watch, a cameo brooch and two postal notes. All three were returned Saturday evening.

Another pleasing feature was the cost, only 1 cent per word and if there is any reasonable chance you get what you advertise for.

FLEET SUNK

HUNS SETTLE QUESTION OF DISPOSITION OF INTERNED SHIPS—A DRAMATIC INCIDENT.

TRUE TO FORM

(Canadian Pres.)

LONDON, June 23.—Although reports have stated that six Germans were killed and ten wounded when boats of the German fleet in Scapa Flow were fired upon, subsequent to the settling of the German fleet, the "Daily Mail" says that others may have been drowned and that some may possibly have reached the Orkney Islands and have not as yet been reported.

The main force of the British fleet was absent exercising at sea when the German ships were sunk, only some drifters, small ships and patrolling aircraft being on guard over the interned enemy squadron. Admiral Von Reuter, commander of the surrendered German fleet, says he issued an order to sink the ships, the "Daily Mail" adds, and did so because at the beginning of the war, the German Emperor directed that no German warship should fall into enemy's hands. He says that he believed from the newspaper reports, that the armistice had been ended.

Visited Germany.

Admiral Von Reuter visited Germany some weeks ago. From the behaviour of the ships, according to the Mail, it was evident that the valves had been opened, and in a surprisingly short time the vessels, big and small, began to settle down. The Derfflinger, Hindenburg, Von Dertann, Molke and Sidelitz settled down beside each other, the last named turning turtle as she filled with water. Her keel is still showing where she capsized. The waters of Scapa Flow were dotted with small boats full of men, who had, with dramatic suddenness, settled the question of the disposition of interned ships.

(Canadian Pres.)

WEIMAR, June 23.—German warships which were not surrendered to the Allies, and which have been anchored off Kiel, Wilhelmshaven and other points, have been sunk by the Germans [illegible] according to a report received here from reliable authority. According to reports there were twelve German war vessels, besides destroyers, which were in German waters, not having been turned over to the Entente under armistice provisions.

A COMMISSION WILL BE APPOINTED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, June 23.—The Admiralty officials to-day provided measures to investigate and fix the responsibility for the stroke by which the German fleet was wiped out.

A commission probably will be appointed to hear testimony and decide who is to blame for the fact that the skeleton German crews which remained on the interned warships at Scapa Flow were able to open the sea cocks and sink the surrendered fleet.

The Admiralty officials maintain that the looseness of the armistice terms under which the German crews remained on the vessels made the coup possible. So far as the public is concerned, in many places the remark was heard, "Well, that's what we wanted done with them, wasn't it?"

The impression seemed to prevail that the Germans had saved the Allies some trouble. It was considered likely that the erstwhile "High Seas Fleet" would be allowed to remain at the bottom of the Scapa Flow, as the cost of salvaging would be tremendous.

According to the Daily Mail, a copy of German Admiral Von Reuter's detailed orders for sinking the fleet has been found.

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, June 23. — A Geneva despatch to the L'Intransegeant to-day reported that German warships not surrendered to the Allies had been sunk at Kiel.

Three O'Clock Despatches:

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, June 23.— A News Agency despatch from Berlin to-day reported an Allied note was handed the German government yesterday regarding the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, June 23.—Discussing the sinking of the German warships in Scapa Flow, the Zeitung Ammitag exulted to-day that "England shall not have them." The Tageblatt expressed the belief that the sinking will meet with approval and admiration from the Allies rather than anger.

(Special to The Examiner.)

THURSO, Scotland, June 23. — Many of the German sailors who escaped after sinking practically the entire interned German fleet Saturday in Scapa Flow, were reported to-day to be still at liberty. British marines and soldiers were searching the Orkney Islands for them.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT HAS FORMALLY ANNOUNCED ITS INTENTION SIGNING UNCONDITIONALLY THE PEACE TREATY

STREET CARS ARE RUNNING IN WINNIPEG ACCORDING TO REPORTS

WINNIPEG, June 23.—There was no sign to-day of a repetition of Saturday's rioting, and the street cars were running freely on many lines. Negotiations looking towards a settlement were continuing at the City Hall and Alexander Hotel.

Mayor Gray to-day issued another proclamation asking all the citizens to remain quiet. Parades, open-air meetings, and other demonstrations, he said, would not be tolerated until further notice. The police have control of the situation at all points.

WILL APPEAL TO RAILWAY BOARD

THOUSANDS WALK IN TORONTO—EFFORT MADE TO GET CARS MOVING AGAIN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 23.—It took the Board of Control just five minutes this morning to decide on applying to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board for an order to compel the Toronto Railway Company to operate their cars under the agreement.

At a private meeting of the Board of Control this morning it was decided that a telegram be sent to the Dominion Government asking that the instructions to the Conciliation Board be changed. The Government is asked to instruct the Board to only go into the question of wages and not to consider at all how the wages are to be paid.

THOUSANDS WALKED.

TORONTO, June 23.—While Toronto's thousands walked, jitneyed, or cycled to work this morning, the Board of Control and other civic authorities met to endeavour to put on the streets again the trolley cars, which have been stalled in the car barns since the strike vote of the street railway employees fate on Saturday night.

In the meantime no attempt is being made to run the street cars, although the Mayor has expressed the opinion that they should be run, even if the military is called out to keep order.

The demand of the striking employees is for 55 cents an hour, straight eight-hour day, and other concessions.

(Special to The Examiner.)

Waiting For Order.

TORONTO, June 23.—R. J. Fleming announced at noon that the Street Railway Company are anxious to give a service and are only awaiting the order of the Ontario Railway Board to put their cars into operation.

RAILWAY TRAIN KILLED FIVE PERSONS

Train Crashes Into Automobile Near Quebec—The Casualties.

(Special to The Examiner.)

QUEBEC, June 23.—Five prominent residents of Manseau, Nicolet County, were killed yesterday in the destruction of their automobile by the Canadian Government Railways train at a level crossing one mile east of that place. They were Father Richard, parish priest of Manseau, Miss Marquis, Matron of the Rectory, Mrs. Anne Marchelosse, Napoleon Taillon, railway section foreman and his wife. Dr. Marchelosse, summoned to the scene, was stunned on learning that his wife was one of the victims.

FARMERS' DAY, JUNE 25TH

Large Crowd Expected at Annual Picnic at Keene.

A big crowd from all over Peterborough County is expected at the Farmers' Annual Picnic, which will be held this year on Wednesday, the 25th inst. at Keene, under the auspices of the Farmers' Clubs.

This event was a most enjoyable one last year and the committee are looking forward to another real good day. Everyone is cordially invited to come and bring their baskets.

The programme of sports will consist of a football match and other athletic events, for which prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Messrs. J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., Toronto, H. B. Cowan, E. N. McDonald, the farmers' candidate, and G. A. Brethen, also Mrs. Brody of Newmarket, will be present to address the gathering.

A very cordial invitation is extended to the public generally to come and spend the day. 1d

Potatoes are fattening, therefore they are sometimes a good diet for thin persons.

RUSSIANS ARE IN RETICENT MOOD

ADJUTANT BUNTIN VISITED THE MEN THIS AFTERNOON.

Tom Konek is very sick. The five Russians seen this afternoon are in an unusually reticent mood. They are well separated two upstairs and three downstairs. Tom Konek before the Magistrate this morning was perspiring from every pore and this afternoon told Adjutant Buntin of the Salvation Army that he was sick. Asked if he wanted a doctor he replied that a doctor would do him no good but seemed very anxious to know whether they had engaged the best lawyer possible. Alex Martynuk and Mike Bahri two young men are taking things quietly and protest their innocence. They state they were drawn into the affair through ignorance. Sam Zaluski and Philip Rotynsky two of the quintet are also reticent and refused to say a word. Konek is a big six-footer with long arms and a shifty pair of slanting eyes, with a bulletshaped head like that seen in pictures of von Hindenburg.

COMPANY MUST OPERATE THE CARS

STRIKEBREAKERS WILL BE USED ON TORONTO STREET RAILWAY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 23.— The Ontario Railway Board at noon issued an order to the Toronto Street Railway to commence running cars on its lines forthwith, and operate and continue to operate an adequate service. This order means that the full authority of the Provincial Government will be exercised to keep the cars in operation.

"Since the Railway Board has issued the order the company may run the cars with the use of strike-breakers," said Joseph Gibbons, of the Railway Men's Union this afternoon. "We have an appointment with the Board of Conciliation this afternoon, and if they have the right proposition to submit we may accept it. However, the men will not go back to work until their demands are satisfied.

THE DAY AND HOUR FOR THE FORMAL SIGNING OF THE TREATY IS UNCERTAIN.

NOTE RECEIVED

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 23.— The German government has formally communicated to the Allies' Council its willingness to sign the Peace Treaty unconditionally, it is announced by the French government this afternoon.

The day and hour for the formal signing of the treaty is uncertain. The signing possibly may take place on Tuesday, but more likely on Wednesday.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 23. — German answer regarding Peace Treaty was received by the Peace Conference this afternoon. Its contents had not been revealed up to 3.45 o'clock.

THE FULL TEXT.

PARIS, June 23.—The full text of the German note shows that while but two reservations were made, the Germans asked for the insertion in the Treaty of a clause providing that within two years the document should be submitted to a Council of the League of Nations for reconsideration of that portion of the treaty which, as the Germans phrase, "impair the right to self-determination of the German people." Similar reconsideration of that portion, whereby free economic development of Germany on a footing of equal rights is denied, was also provided for in this suggested clause.

(Special to Examiner.)

WEIMAR, June 23. — It is officially announced that Germany will sign the Treaty of Peace.

PARIS, June 23. — The allies promptly refused a request for a 48-hour extension of the time limit of the acceptance of the peace terms, received from the Germans this morning. The seven days time limit expires at 7 o'clock this evening (two p.m., Peterboro time).

Previously the allies had received a note from Gustav Adolph Bauer, the new German Chancellor, saying Germany would sign the treaty, because she is forced to do so, but making certain reservations.

To this note the allies replied that the time for discussion had passed, and that Germany must accept the terms without qualifications or reservation.

Bauer's note, which was directed to Premier Clemenceau as chairman of the allied peace commission, declined responsibility for what might happen in Poland, and "what is bound to happen when the impossibility of carrying out the conditions comes up. It adds however that Germany will sign as she "is imposed by force."

The note refuses to admit that Germany was the author of the war, declared she would not accept the article compelling her to give up persons charged with war crimes, and requested that the treaty be re-examined within two years.

Clemenceau replied: "There remains less than twenty-four hours. The allies are constrained to say the time for discussion has passed. Germany must accept the terms without qualification or reservation. We shall require from the representatives of Germany an unequivocal decision of their purpose to sign and accept, or not, the whole of the finally formulated treaty. Germany is responsible for the execution of every stipulation after her signature."

The big three met at Premier Lloyd George's residence at nine o'clock this morning and remained in session for half an hour.

Announcement of the rejection of the request for an extension of the time limit was made after the group had adjourned.

READY TO SIGN.

(Special to Examiner.)

ZURICH, June 23. — A despatch from Weimar to-day reported that Chancellor Bauer had promoted Herr Von Hanel from Secretary to President of the German Peace Delegation, giving him full power to complete negotiations and sign the treaty. Von Hanel is in Versailles.

THE GERMAN NOTE.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 23.—The German note, in which Germany agrees to sign the Treaty, with two reservations, was received by the President and the Peace Conference. The reply of the Allies through the Council of Four was transmitted to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles.

The German note, dated Versailles, 22nd June, and addressed to Clemenceau, says:

"Far-reaching counter-proposals of German delegation have only in certain points received any acceptance. The concessions made only reduced the severity of the conditions in a

OUR MONEY ACROSS THE LINE

The difficulty experienced by Mr. Goodfellow in exchanging Canadian bank notes in the United States is not an isolated case, judging by the number of people who have commented upon Mr. Goodfellow's letter in the Examiner on Saturday. Other Peterborough citizens report similar instances during recent visits across the border, and as the writer puts it, "there must be something wrong with the banking system that will allow such conditions to exist between such closely related countries." As a matter of fact, United States paper money is accepted generally in Canada at its face value; an American bill being passed as readily as a Canadian issue. And yet when Canadians cross the border they have much difficulty in getting their notes cashed even with a discount. Is the American reluctance to accept our Canadian money at its face value an indication of lack of confidence in our financial condition and a condemnation of our methods? Or is it just another example of that kind of Americanism which considers that nothing foreign, whether money or anything else, can come up to the United States standard? At all events the present situation is decidedly inconvenient to Canadians who have to visit their American cousins; and if there is any step that the Department of Finance can take to improve the conditions, such action would be pleasing to those who have occasion to cross the border.

MR. PRESTON'S CHARGES

The startling indictment of the election methods of the Union Government as given by Mr. W. T. C. Preston, in his forcible address before the Liberal Convention on Saturday will prove a revelation even to those who had some previous knowledge of the way in which the soldier vote was handled. Mr. Preston was explicit and definite in his charges. He omitted neither names nor dates and the story he told was one that amazed his hearers. The charge that Lieut.-Col. F. A. Reid was recommended by Sir Robert Borden for a C. M. G. as a reward for his political services in connection with the election was a new and most serious feature of Mr. Preston's indictment of the Government. It was the first time that publicity has been given to this charge which Mr. Preston made in detail at Saturday's meeting. A full report of Mr. Preston's address appears elsewhere in to-day's issue of the Examiner and readers should not fail to read his startling story of his experience as the overseas representatives of the Liberal party in the election of 1917.

TRUE TO TYPE.

The exploit of the German sailors, on the interned battleships in the Scapa Flow, in opening the seacocks of the ships and sending them to the bottom, is a characteristic piece of Hunnish business. The feat seems to have been a complete success, as practically the whole fleet, including the big battleships and battle cruisers, except the Baden, were sunk. The destruction of the fleet is of course a breach of the armistice, and typical of the German record throughout the war, showing that absolutely no reliance is to be placed on the German race. The Hun is remaining true to type. The conditions agreed upon in connection with the armistice meant nothing to the German sailors in charge of the ships. They would be turned over to the allies when peace was signed. It would be better from a German standpoint to destroy them, and so the seacocks were opened, and down to the bottom went the German navy. The question of the ultimate disposition of the enemy ships has been settled without any deliberation by the allies.

SATURDAY'S RIOT

The riot in Winnipeg on Saturday afternoon culminating in the death of one man and the wounding of a number of others will be deeply regretted. The affair was precipitated by the action of those of the returned soldiers who are sympathetic towards the strikers in holding a parade despite the orders issued by Mayor Gray that all such demonstrations were forbidden. There was no excuse for this action. The paraders must have known that in violating the chief magistrate's orders they would undoubtedly cause trouble. They chose to ignore the orders and organized a parade with a result that they must have foreseen. It is fortunate indeed that under the circumstances, with the Northwest Mounted Police being called upon to charge the mob, revovers being fired, and the air filled with missiles of all kinds that the casualties as a result of the folly of the strikers in attempting a demonstration that had been forbidden, were not far more serious than they were. Nothing can possibly be gained by attempting to flout the authorities and Saturday's clash it is hoped will be the last in the Winnipeg trouble.

AT THE GRAND TO-DAY, TUESDAY, AND WEDNESDAY

GERALDINE FARRAR in THE STRONGER VOW' Goldwyn Pictures

APACHE DEN SCENE OF MANY THRILLS IN GERALDINE FARRAR'S NEW PICTURE

An Apache den is the scene of many thrilling incidents in Geraldine Farrar's newest Goldwyn Picture, "The Stronger Vow." Once again Hugo Ballin, Goldwyn's art director, won the commendation of the diva for the realistic setting, the duplication of the Parisian outlaws' meeting place equalling his splendid achievement in the erection of a counterfeit Monte Carlo for Miss Farrar's first Goldwyn production, "the Turn of the Wheel."

The set represents a large basement room in the Montmartre quarter of Paris, serving as a meeting place for a desperate band of exiled Spanish anarchists of which Pedro Toral (Tom Santuchi) is the leader. Toral has a double purpose in surrounding himself with men who ask no questions when charged with the task of killing those who stand in Toral's way. He has followed to Paris Dolores de Cordova (Geraldine Farrar) a distant cousin, whom he covets. Before leaving Spain Toral stabbed to death Dolores' brother, Jose, a slim youth, who resents Toral's slurs on his sister, the result of her infatuation for Juan Estudillo (Milton Sills), a stranger, whom she met at a gala Easter festival at Seville.

Toral manufactures evidence to prove that the murder of Jose is the work of the handsome stranger — a member of the Estudillo family, which has been at war with de Cordovas for almost a century. So convincing is Toral's story that Dolores takes the blood vow and sets out to find the murderer of her brother. The day of the murder Juan leaves Seville by order of the Spanish minister of Justice to resume his post at the embassy in Parish. The shock of Jose's death proves fatal to his mother and Dolores leaves on her expedition to avenge the murder.

Again she meets the handsome stranger, who has become the Marquis de Valera. He resumes his suit for her hand and a month later they are married. Toral, shocked by the news of the wedding, seeks out Dolores to inform her that she is the bride of the man—an Estudillo—who murdered her brother. Dolores feigns that she believes his story, but when she takes no action in accordance with her blood vow, she is seized by members of Toral's band, and dragged to their den. How she frees herself and her husband, who has come to her rescue, furnishes one of the big moments of "The Stronger Vow."

A BIG SEASON AT STONEY LAKE

Already Stoney Lake is as fully populated as in any previous year in the middle of the season and the pavillion is enjoying considerable popularity. At Burleigh the girls' camp of the Y.W.C.A. is livening things up and the gay Japanese parasols effected by the girls in their boats and canoes form an entrancing picture. Each night bonfires at one or other of the cottages form a rendezvous for parties of campers.

Week End Visitors.

Each week sees numbers of the city and Toronto people borrowing a few days from their work to enjoy the unusually fine weather, and each Monday morning boat sees a regretful load of city dwellers returning, promising to "get back as soon as it is possible." A few of those who went up this week end, most of whom returned to-day, were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rogers, Mr. Dela Fosse, Mr. W. H. Dunsford and Mr. Harold Morrow, who stayed with Mr. George Morrow, Mrs. Mairs, Mr. Ernest Mairs and Mr. Maurice Mairs, Toronto, who opened up their cottage for a week, Mr. Villeneuve and Mr. Keith Lech, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Lech, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mr. Howson, Lieut.-Col. Cooper Coles, Toronto, who recently returned from overseas, Mr. B. J. Shortly, Mr. and Mrs. Callendar, Peterborough; Professor Michael MacKenzie, Miss Eileen MacKenzie, and Cadet H. MacKenzie, Toronto, who opened up "Lock End," and Rev. A. W. MacKenzie and Miss Winnifred MacKenzie, and Mr. Archibald Lampman, Toronto, Mrs. Carey, of Peterborough, Mrs. Clifford Harstone and Mrs. Brayley, of Toronto, and Cadets Hal Crane and Beaufort Belcher.

Heroic Rescue.

The first narrow escape from drowning and heroic rescue was staged at Professor L. Stuart's island, when his little son swam out alone beyond his depth and only by chance succeeded in attracting the attention of Mrs. Philip Greene, of Toronto, who was visiting at the island and who jumped in after the boy, bringing him safely to shore, at considerable risk to herself, she being fully dressed.

At McCracken's Landing.

A considerable gloom was cast over the lake on Sunday when the cottagers familiar with MacCracken's Landing, learned that Mr. R. MacCracken was seriously ill, and last evening his life practically despaired of.

ITALIAN DELEGATES INSTRUCTED TO SIGN

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, June 23.—German accepts. The Italian delegates at present in Paris have been authorized to sign the treaty on behalf of Italy. This announcement removed one question which it was feared might delay the signing. The German note of acceptance, it is said, is couched in such language that it maintains German position that the peace conditions are "a peace of violence."

A Geneva despatch to the Journal Debats this afternoon stated the German National Assembly had invited Secretary Von Hancl to sign the peace treaty at once, and had conferred full powers upon him.

The note announcing the Germans will sign, characterizes the peace as one of "violence." It did not state whether the treaty will be signed by Secretary Von Hancl, or by a new delegation. Col. Henry, French Liaison Officer, was en route from Versailles to the place where the Big Four was sitting at 4.55. He had the German note with him.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE.

George Cohen's Greatest Comedy.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE.

An announcement that will create tremendous interest for Chautauqua Week will be the fact that we have secured the above play for the 5th day's programme. Everybody knows that it is recorded as Mr. Cohen's greatest success. It was presented at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto, and was brought back in response to a unanimous demand. The Evening Telegram quoted it "the most popular comedy ever produced in Toronto." The Evening Star called it "The most continuous Laughing Carnival of the Season." It presents two-and-one-half hours of Mystery, Thrills and Laughter." It is a Master Mystery and stands at the very head of the Farce Comedies.

Mr. Percival Vivian, who was at the head of the Ben Greet Players last year, has been secured as Manager of this play and will present the leading role. He has played in leading plays and theatres in New York and Chicago. The past season he spent playing with Macklyn, Arbuckle, and DeWolfe Hopper in Captain Bairsfather's delightful comedy "The Better 'Ole." The fact that he is in this play assures its complete success.

GENERAL PLUMER NEW FIELD MARSHAL

It is understood that the King proposes to return to the former practice of creating one new Field-Marshal upon the occasion of the Royal Birthday (June 3rd) each year. This year it is anticipated that the choice of the King will rest between Sir Ian Hamilton and Sir Herbert Plumer. The former is much the senior officer, and had it not been for the war it is certain that he would have received the baton of a Field-Marshal two or three years ago. General Plumer, however, rendered such distinguished service during the war on both the Western front and in Italy that his claims to promotion to the highest rank in the Army are very strong. In face of this fact, it is possible that His Majesty may ultimately decide that both these Generals shall become Field-Marshals in June. There is a precedent for this, as Sir Evelyn Wood and the late Sir George White were promoted Field-Marshals on the same day by the late King Edward. Sir Douglas Haig is the only Field-Marshal created during the war, while three have died since 1914—Earl Roberts, Lord Kitchener and Lord Nicholson. The present list of Field-Marshalls is thus smaller than has been the case for many years past.

TWO COMETS ARE DUE THIS SUMMER.

Opera glass amateur astronomers may be treated to the sight of two small comets during the late summer or early autumn. The Temple-Swift comet is due to pay a visit about August or September and the Holmes comet is down on the programme for December and January.

Mr. Frank Blake, the astronomer at the Observatory, Toronto, stated that these comets are small ones and will not be spectacular unless observed through a good field glass or telescope, and that as soon as they come into view with the larger instruments announcement will be made of their position in the sky. Mr. Blake thinks they might be visible under good conditions with the unaided eye.

Unless some unknown comet flashes into view there is nothing spectacular promised from the comet world until 1955, when an immense long period visitor is due from the far reaches of space.

A QUESTION OF CONSCIENCE

(BY H. F. GADSBY)

By this time the Budget has been chewed to rags—analysed to its last molecule, but one phase of the debate may have escaped the curious observer—I mean the operations of conscience in the members of Parliament. Conscience has been much glorified by Mr. Calder and others. It may even be said that conscience is coming into its own. Shakespeare in a moment of loose thinking said, "Conscience doth make cowards of us all." He was quite wrong. The latest view, as put forward by certain Cabinet Ministers and others is that Conscience doth make heroes of us all.

Take the Western members, for example. Conscience has made heroes of them collectively and individually. Out on the prairies, with the free air of heaven ventilating their souls, they never knew they had a conscience. It functioned, as all healthy consciences should, without making itself felt. It was only when they came to Ottawa that conscience began to act like a hobnailed liver or a boil on the neck. For the first time in their lives conscience made them uncomfortable. Hitherto their conscience had thrived on the simple food of right or wrong. At Ottawa the diet was complicated by a third disturbing factor—expediency.

Expediency is always an upsetting dish for conscience, even when a party government is in office, but it becomes absolutely nauseating when a Union Government is on the job. And for this reason—a party government, whether it does right or wrong always finds it expedient to do something, but a Union Government never finds its expedient to do anything. It is this new and negative aspect of expediency which has given the Western conscience a stomach ache. The Eastern conscience is not affected the same way because the Eastern conscience is sophisticated—it waxes fat on a ten-course table d'hote of fiscal policies, a little bit of everything from soup to nuts, but the Western conscience has indigestion if it indulges in anything but plain, home-cooked free-trade and direct taxation. The Western conscience keeps itself fit on a few simple principles, but the Eastern conscience can swallow almost anything and not have a dark brown taste next morning.

All through the session the Western conscience has been torn between love and duty—love of a quiet life as a surcease from the cares of war, and duty to its clamorous constituents. For a long time the Western conscience suffered in silence, but silent suffering didn't please the voters back home. They sent night lettergrams saying, "Why in blazes don't you let conscience speak? Get busy." So there were rhetorical outbursts from time to time but not many—not enough to flutter a Union Government whose chief occupation was sitting on the lid. In vain did the Western member explain that conscience was supposed to be a still small voice and that it was in bad taste to megaphone it so it could be heard two thousand miles away. The voters telegraphed back "Let her roar. That's what you're there for."

In some cases they sent sharper messages "Come home at once and we'll repair your conscience for you Something seems to have gone wrong with the works," I understand that Maharg, whose conscience is supposed to be one of the most vocal in Saskatchewan, obeyed this summons and came back with a conscience as good as new—the motor jacked up, the ballbearings replaced, and the record running sweet and true with no rasping. Dr. Michael Clark also decided some time ago to let conscience have its fling and moved over to the cross benches where the United Farmers of Alberta could hear it buzz.

But the budget was the one grand chance for the long suffering Western conscience to cut loose and this it did; but in various ways according to personal temperature and individual idiosyncrasy. With some—not many—conscience took the form of speech; with others it assumed the guise of silent contempt for the government's milk and water proposals. With others again a vague unrest—like a bar-room fly looking for something better than two-and-a-half per cent. But most of all the Western conscience declared itself on the vote. Some sonsciences voted for the McMaster amendment on the principle that a half loaf is better than no bread; other consciences voted for the Government on the plea that here was an implied promise in the tariff changes; and quite a few consciences did not vote at all, thereby registering disapproval of everything in sight.

Broadly speaking, the Western conscience found expression one way or another. Conscience, as I said before, makes heroes of us all, voluntary or involuntary. It rests with the voters to say which. I have a idea that the muter the conscience, the less chance it has of getting the nomination. This applies to the West. In the East we understand that a well-disciplined conscience bides its hour or spills only one bean at a time.

Conscience, like death—oh, ominous analogy—loves a shining mark, so we naturally turn to the Cabinet ministers to see how it affected them. It made them brave. Mr. Crerar it emboldened to resign his portfolio and to tell why he did it. Curiously enough it acted on Mr. Calder in the directly opposite way. It fortified him in the resolution to keep his job until he had some place else to go.

Mr. Calder gave every credit to Mr. Crerar's conscience which bade him go out and make a hero of himself all through the West but he pointed with pride to his own conscience which gave him the moral courage to remain where he was and bear the ills that he had rather than fly to others that he wotted not of. Mr. Calder has developed a conscience that would make Lancelot Gobbo look like a piece of cheese. It will be a great surprise to the "Black Cavalry" of Saskatchewan. They will wonder where Jim got it.

The fact remains, nevertheless, that Mr. Calder has it and that he is proud of its behaviour. He would love to yield to his principles and be a popular Western idol like Mr. Crerar but his conscience is of a sterner mould. It bids him fling away ambition and the affection of the masses and endure the flouts that patient merit of the unworthy takes. No weak compromises for Mr. Calder's conscience which tells him that this is a war year and that this country demands of him the sacrifice which a Cabinet position entrails, as long as Union Government holds together.

Yes, he will stick to the ship until it goes down. Cassabianca Calder's Conscience stands on the burning deck, whence only one, not he, has fled, and there it remains until it sees a raft or a floating spar or a bar of soap or something else that will wash him ashore. Such a spar Calder's Conscience thought it saw not long ago in Premier Gouin, but it turned out to be only foam on the wave. Mr. Calder's Conscience surveys the battle wreck with a proud but careful look. He will wait to see what he can get out of it.

Another surprising conscience is Mr. Rowell's. Trained in the Eastern school it is, of course, flexible and elastic. It can be stretched to fit almost anything. Nominally a Liberal conscience, it can still see many virtues in high tariff. In emergency it might, indeed, become the Arch-Protectionist of Canada, but meanwhile it soars above economic considerations and tells us that all this unrest is due to conscience, which is ever dedicated to Uplift, raise this Budget debate to a plane where only psychological arguments are effective. Away with the noise and strife of plangent profiteers and striking workmen. Away with the crass materialism of our political problems and wing our way upwards with Mr. Rowell to the domain of pure—Mr. Rowell is nothing if not pure—reason where the matter can be discussed without interfering with Sir Joseph Flavelle's dividends. All the shouting and the tumult and the discontent and the high cost of living are due to what? Mr. Rowell says to nervousness. This is an explanation that only Mr. Rowell's conscience could give. It covers the high cost of living because of course when princes get nervous they always go up in the air. When Mr. Rowell's friend, Sir Joseph Flavelle, gets that jumpy feeling he jacks bacon up five cent's a pound and so cures his nervousness until its time for another spasm. In such manner does nervousness act on calm, dispassionate consciences like Mr. Rowell's and Sir Joseph's. Nervousness! Can you beat it?

EDWARD DE VALERA ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 23—Announcement was made here that Prof. Edward de Valera, president of the Irish Sinn Fein Republic, had landed in America and would be in New York city on Sunday. Apartments have been engaged for the Sinn Fein leader at the Waldorf-Astoria by De Valera's secretary.

De Valera left the British Isles sixteen days ago, according to Harry J. Boland, his secretary, and is now in seclusion in this country.

"COURAGE FOR TWO"

This is the Interesting Title of Entertaining New Blackwell-Greeley Picture.

"Courage for Two" is the interesting title of the entertaining new Carlyle Blackwell-Evelyn Greeley World Picture. Furthermore, it is one of the most unusual motion pictures imaginable. It is a distinct, decided departure from the ordinary run of pictures, and will show these two very popular stars in congenial, happy roles, where their ability is given the greatest possible opportunities.

"Courage for Two" is the story of two young men—one rich, the other poor. They are cousins. One of the young men is a fighter, the other anything but a fighter. Under strange circumstances their positions are reversed, with the result that there is a tremendous amount of action and fun.

"Courage for Two" is a mighty good picture. It has speed, interest, entertainment, two famous and popular stars and splendid settings. From every angle it is a top-notch entertainment, and it will appeal to all film fans who are seeking the best in screen entertainment. See it.

As an added feature, Geraldine Farrar will be seen in the "Strange Vow."

HAVELOCK MAN DROPPED DEAD

Sanford Hubbell Succumbs to Attack of Heart Trouble.

Sanford Hubbell, a well known farmer at Havelock, dropped dead suddenly yesterday morning at his home. He had been out in the barn attending to his usual duties and returned to the house complaining of feeling faint and asked his wife for a glass of whiskey to take as a stimulant. Mistaking the request for water, Mrs. Hubbell returned with it and found her husband had passed away. He had been suffering with heart trouble, but death was quite unexpected.

DEFAULTER WALLPAPERED HIMSELF UP TO ESCAPE THE MILITARY POLICE

YOUNG FARMER FROM SPOOKEY HOLLOW BECOMES A HIDDEN JEWEL—NOT SO EFFEMINATE AFTER ALL.

TORONTO, June 23.—Inspector McClinton, of the Dominion Police, has had many queer stories to tell about young service dodgers, but the one he had to tell this morning was a regular Jewell—a Leslie Jewell. When the inspector wrote "finis" to his narration, Magistrate Cohen applauded by clapping on a fine of $500 and costs or one year. Jewell is a husky young farmer from Spookey Hollow, Charlotteville, Norfolk county, and aptly enough, Jewell might be described as a pearl whose lot was cast before his father's swine. He had long been suspected of hiding from the order to report for military duty and successfully dodged his obligations until his home was searched from cellar to roof. The house has 16 rooms, and during the search the officers found a bedroom door tightly locked.

"You can't go in there," said someone, with a show of embarrassment. "A young lady is in bed."

"Then," answered the investigators, with Chesterfieldian politeness, "kindly ask the lady to put on her clothes and come out."

Forced the Door

After waiting in a nearby room, the searchers began to think the fair one was either making an exceptionally beautiful coiffure, or putting on many more clothes than most young ladies wear. Wearying of waiting, the men knocked, jiggled the door knob, then shouted, "Heave ho! In she goes."

Instead of seeing things not intended for the eye of man, they found nothing but the furnishings of wood and crockery peculiar to a bedroom. They even looked under the bed but saw there nothing but what might be expected. Then they tapped the walls, and at one point were rewarded by a hollow sound. For see the scene was laid in Spookey Hollow. After more spookey tapping they decided to tear off the wallpaper. Behind the wall covering they found a cupboard door, and inside the cupboard, which was very small, they discovered the missing Jewell, red, confused, and perspiring.

Saturday morning the hidden treasure appeared before Magistrate Cohen pleaded guilty to the charge of disobeying an order to report for duty, and was promptly assessed $500 and costs, or one year at Burwash.

FIVE FOREIGNERS WHO PARTICIPATED

the money has been recovered. The prisoners had a major portion of it on their persons and other sums were found hidden along the railway track. One hundred dollars had been hidden by one of the robbers in a corner of a bunk where the robbery took place, he apparently intending to come back and recover it after the hue and cry had somewhat subsided.

HAVELOCK STORY.

HAVELOCK, June 23.—Murdered for his money, about $600, which he carried in a belt about his body, Philip Yannoff, an Austrian, is dead here, and five foreigners are held in Peterborough Jail in connection with the crime. Although the police investigation has not yet proceeded very far, it points to a cold-blooded murder hatched in Toronto, with a possible connection with the shooting of foreigners in the hold-up near Hamilton not long ago, and upon which Inspector John Miller is at work. Already one of the prisoners has made a statement, in which he says he was engaged in Toronto to pilot the other four men to the scene of the crime, he having worked there, and knew the surroundings well. Important developments are expected to follow the murder and arrests, police officers now believing that there has been an organised armed gang going about the province bent on robbery with murder, if necessary.

Murder at Daylight.

It was between three and four o'clock yesterday morning that the five men went to a mining camp, two miles east of here, and entered a building in which slept Philip Yannoff upstairs. The robbers were searching the place for the man's money when he awakened, and immediately a shot rang out, the bullet taking effect, Yannoff dying instantly. Getting possession of their victim's money belt containing $600, the five men made off towards this place. Meanwhile the whole camp had been aroused and the alarm given, the murder being immediately reported to Constables Williams here and Puffer at Norwood.

Messages were sent in all directions telling police and railwaymen to keep a sharp lookout for the gang. The railway operator at Indian River, John Riceborough, got his message and summoned Constable Whibbs, who arrived in time to meet one man, who asked for a drink of water.

Charging the man with trespassing on the railway tracks, he placed him in the station waiting-room in charge of RiceboroughA short time elapsed, and the four others arrived, being also placed under arrest on the charge of trespassing. Assured that they were being held on a minor charge they were taken to Peterborough Jail.

Revolvers Found.

After they had left Indian River Station a careful search was made, revolvers being found behind a heater and a picture. Money was also found secreted in a crack of a bench.

Chief Thompson, of Peterborough, had a long talk with the prisoners today, and gathered from one of them some important evidence. The man claimed he had been engaged in Toronto to pilot the other four to the camp, he having worked there previously. A third revolver with an empty cartridge in it, believed to have been the weapon used to murder Yannoff, has also been found.

Evidence has also been secured which may link this crime up with the recent hold-up of foreigners near Hamilton, and other crimes in Ontario in the past few months.

Inspector John Miller, of the Provincial Police, is expected to take up the further investigation of the murder of Yannoff.

REV. WM. ROCHESTER AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

SPOKE IN THE INTEREST OF THE DOMINION ALLIANCE.

Last evening the Rev. William Rochester occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, in the interests of the Dominion Alliance, with which he is associated. The speaker gave a lucid account of the activities of the Alliance and some of the present day problems, closing with an appeal for a larger measure of public support and co-operation.

In the morning, Rev. Mr. Rochester addressed a large congregation in Trinity church.

JUDGMENT DELIVERED IN KING VS. LINDSAY TO-DAY

Judgment was handed down this morning by Judge Huycke in the partnership action of Samuel King vs. H. P. Lindsay. The plaintiff claimed a further sum of $105 for the issuance of automobile licenses and an unstated sum for the use of his automobile. Both these claims were dismissed. There was also a claim of $76 for a horse, and on this item the plaintiff was allowed $38. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for $61.61. The defendant had paid into court the sum of $67.46. Costs of both parties were to be paid out of the partnership assets. Mr. S. T. Medd was the plaintiff's solicitor and Mr. J. F. Strickland for the defendant.

paper they are printed on. They also are convinced that the movement is assisted, or even directed, from Germany, and that money is being forwarded to Canada, through German-American banks. Germany hoped that the Socialist or Bolshevist movement would have made such headway that she would have been spared the humiliation of signing a severe peace treaty, and she still hopes that the movement will continue until the whole world is under Soviet rule, war debts repudiated, and the financial and other burdens placed on the German people removed.

TRIAL OPENS WEDNESDAY.

Needless to say if evidence of this sort can be brought out at Wednesday's preliminary hearing or during the trial of the six labor leaders released on bail, Canada is in for a genuine sensation, and all will be wondering what possessed the authorities to release such dangerous men.

WILL BE INTERNED.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, June 23.—Registered aliens in Winnipeg who break their parole and take part in forbidden meetings and commit any acts of disorderly nature are being arrested and placed in an internment camp in Ontario.

So far more than twenty have been rounded up by the Federal and city police, and other arrests are likely to be made, it was officially announced last night.

In two days last week, thirteen were gathered in.

Saturday's Riot.

WINNIPEG, June 23.— Following the ugly clash between the Mounted Police and the military and a mass gathering of strike sympathizers—in which one man was killed, half a dozen seriously injured, and over a score hurt— Sunday passed without incident in Winnipeg. The trouble arose through the insistence of returned soldiers in sympathy with the strikers on holding a parade despite standing orders of the Mayor that there should be no parade.

The strikers became disorderly, and when a street car was attacked and set on fire the Riot Act was read.

Reading the Riot Act.

Mayor Gray was attacked on two occasions, while reading the Riot Act, but his assailants were beaten off by officers with revolvers. A detachment of Royal Northwest Mounted Police swung into action as the Riot Act had been read and charged the crowd. Attempts to dismount them or to knock them out with stones, bricks and bottles failed, but the crowd refused to disperse.

It was then that the order to use their guns was given, and a volley rang out. The bullets went over the heads of the crowd and there was a general bolting into the side streets. Some of the more adventurous of the mob persisted in their attacks on the police, and it was during this fighting that the casualties occurred. The dead man is an Austrian. He was shot through the heart while heaving a brick at a policeman.

Police Secure Order.

The Mounted Police had things pretty well in hand when the special policemen on foot marched through the streets and the rioting came to an end. Later nearly a thousand infantrymen paraded the streets with fixed bayonets. All southward traffice was halted at the C.P.R. subway cutting the north end of the city off from the south.

The soldiers were withdrawn today. Many people were under the impression that the city was under martial law, but this was a misinterpretation of the reading of the Riot Act.

Mayor Gray stated to-day that the first shooting yesterday was done by the strikers. The order to the Mounted Police to use their guns was given only after they had been fired upon, the Mayor said. One mounted man was hit by a bullet fired by a striker on a nearby roof.

Newton Expresses Regret.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, June 23.— "Everyone must regret that life has been lost and severe casualties sustained, but I am sure members of the House will agree and thoughtful people of the country will agree that law and order in this country must be maintained," declared Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Council, after explaining in the House to-day the part played by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in the riots in Winnipeg. Cheers from the Government benches answered his declaration, "It is the duty of the Municipal Provincial and Federal governments to maintain law and order."

SERMONETTES BY KENNEDY

Distinction is never gained in either church or state by following the crowd.

Never lose your individuality in the popular sentiment.

We are all alike in one particular. We differ.

It's not necessary to be in a great place to be great.

To every man God has given a work—a destiny.

Happiness depends on your finding your place and work.

What have you given the world it did not possess before you came? Don't be a sandpile—be a garden.

The key to success is B natural.

It's all right for a monkey or parrot to imitate, but men should be themselves.

If Samson had had a sword and not a jawbone of an ass he might never have lived long enough to get his hair cut.

A lot of church services to-day are like a merry-go-round; when you get off you are just where you were when you started, and you have not gotten anywhere.

A man who buys on credit and won't pay, is as bad as the man who steals.

You can tell a good girl by the way she speaks to a servant.

No girl should have a secret from her mother.

The girl who is chummy with her father and brothers has not much to fear from other men.

God has never been able to do much with the fool or the stingy man.

It takes a lot of grace sometimes as well as a lot of grease to run an automobile.

No man is respectable if he uses bad means to a good end.

A man is only as good as he is when he is in a strange city.

Try and chase a truth out of sight and you only bring it into public notice.

An ignorant man may be brutish, but it takes an educated man to be devilish.

Few men are better than their wives.

The subject for Monday night will be "An Overcrowded Hotel." On Tuesday night, "A Second Chance."

Prayer is communication between God and His Allies in the enemies' country.

Prayer is God and man joining hands to secure some high end.

God always thinks first of a man for his own sake, then for his probable use in winning others.

Man's willingness to pray is God's channel to the earth.

Prayer is insisting in Jesus having victory.

In the Lord's prayer, He only made one comment and that had reference to forgiveness.

God loves working people. The angels' message came not to the lazy priests, but to the watching shepherds.

God cannot use a conceited man, He resisteth the proud.

There is a good deal of cheap cheering in some churches to-day—rejoicing over mere appearances.

When there is no family altar to God in a home, there is usually one to Baal.

Some men would rather be deserters all their lives than a corpse for five minutes.

If you get your breakfast without asking God's blessing, you dishonour God.

You cannot have success in an army if every man is giving orders.

If you want milk and honey, you will have to get into the land, where the giants are.

DISCUSSED THE BRIDGE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

A bridge conference at the City Hall on Saturday night, which ended just twenty minutes short of midnight, was attended by Mr. Frank Barber, Ald. Phelan and City Engineer Parsons, also Mr. Robt. Stuart, of the Quaker Oats Company and Mr. Hadsall, engineer with the Leonard Construction Company. The session was reported to have been entirely informal, and it is understood that the bridge plans were fully considered. Another meeting of the Board of Works is slated for to-night.

QUART EACH IN ALBERTA.

Allowance Per Person Not Amended And Still Stands.

CALGARY, June 20.—The decision of the Canadian Senate on prohibition puts an entirely new phase upon the administration of the liquor act in the Province of Alberta.

The provincial liquor act provides that a person may keep not in excess of one quart of spirituous liquor or one gallon of malt liquor in his residence. In the various amendments this section was not touched and stands at present.

FARM COLONY SEQUEL TO SOLDIERS' COMPACT IN GERMAN PRISON CAMP.

VANDERHOOF, B.C., June 21.—An interesting story has been unfolded as a result of land selections just made in the Nechako Valley. While prisoners in the hands of the Germans at Geisen ten Canadian boys conceived the idea that they would locate on land together in Central British Columbia when their release was accomplished. It was further agreed that should one or more of them escape he, or they, should act in the capacity of advance agents and find desirable locations for the party.

A soldier named Corker escaped from the prison camp in the summer of 1918 and made his way to England, thence to Canada, proceeding to his home in British Columbia. After examining the various lands open for settlement he made a selection for his brothers-in-arms in the vicinity of Vanderhoof, and is now being joined by the other soldier-farmers. One of the parties to the compact was Mr Geo. Scott, a nephew of Professor J. M. Macoun, of the Biological Division, Geological Survey of the Canadian Government, Ottawa. Professor Macoun is keenly interested in this section of British Columbia, which presents a wide field for the collection and study of native flora.

The ground in which rose bushes are to be planted should be fertile and well drained.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN REWARDED OFFICER FOR ELECTION FRAUDS BY RECOMMENDING A TITLE FOR HIM

HONOUR AND DIGNITY OF CROWN TRAILED THROUGH THE CORRUPTION BY WHICH THE 1917 ELECTION WAS MANIPULATED OVERSEAS, MR. T. R. PRESTON DECLARED, AND SAYS HE HAS THE EVIDENCE TO PROVE HIS STATEMENTS—A WELTER OF DEBAUCHERY IS HIS OPEN ACCUSATION AGAINST GOVERNMENT.

Supplementing the exposure made in an address at Orono last February of the fraudulent practices employed by members and overseas representatives of the Union Government in the election in December, 1917, Mr. W. T. R. Preston of Port Hope, speaking at the Liberal meeting in Victoria Hall on Saturday afternoon, declared that Sir Robert Borden had recommended the Governor-General to bestow the title and honour of C.M.G. (Commander of St. Michael and St. George) upon Lieutenant-Colonel Frank A. Reid, of London, for "satisfactory and creditable services," while, as a matter af fact the recommendation was made by the Premier for purpose of silencing Reid and "rewarding him for his share in the frauds which had been imposed upon Canadian soldiers in England and France.

Mr. Preston stated that the dignity and honour of the Crown had thus been trailed through the corruption of that election, unknown to the Governor-General and the King, but with the full knowledge of Sir Robert Borden.

"Up to this hour the Governor-General and the King don't know it," said Mr. Preston, "but if the Governor-General has any doubt of what I am saying, I will prove it to him in twenty-four hours. In this way I propose to direct the attention of the Governor-General to what has been done in this matter."

The honour and dignity of the Crown had been trailed through the corruption of that election by Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Preston added, and the accumulated evidence demanded the fullest inquiry.

Mr. Preston was in England when the elections were announced, and at the request of Sir Wilfrid Laurier he accepted the duty of acting in th interests of the Liberal party in the voting overseas.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield was chairman on Saturday afternoon in the absence of Mr. J. J. Hartley, who was ill. Mr. Preston's address developed into an enumeration of illegal and dishonest methods adopted by agents of the Government in the military camps. He asserted that he had the evidence to prove his statements, and courted an investigation by a Royal Commission. In fact, Mr. Preston urged that the people of this country should demand the widest inquiry, and judging by the results of the investigations of the Gallipoli, Antwerp, and Mesopotamian campaigns, he said that "Sir Robert Borden wouldn't last five minutes."

Resolution Defeated.

With a passing reference to the serious period through which Canada was struggling in its reaction to war-time conditions, Mr. Preston launched into the recital of his experiences as the overseas representative of the Liberal party in the elections of December, 1917. When Mr. A. B. Copp submitted the statement of facts upon which he moved a resolution in the House of Commons for an investigation into the conduct of that election, his address lengthened into four and one-half hours. That resolution was defeated, Mr. Preston said.

"We had evidence at that time of wrong-doing, but since then there have been further revelations of an appalling character. In the course of elections, wherever there is responsible government, improper practices creep in that after all are largely immaterial things, but one thing has always been held sacred. That is the ballot box. It has been regarded as the ark of the covenant—too sacred to be handled by unclean hands."

Equal Privileges Promised.

With this preface, Mr. Preston said that he had interviewed Gen. Turner in regard to the privileges that would be extended to him in the pursuance of his duties, and was informed that he would have the same privileges as the representatives of the Union Government, except in matters forbidden by the King's regulations, such as holding political meetings among the troops. He received a letter from General Turner advising him that he could mail letters to the soldiers.

"I mailed literature and a personal note to many of the men. It was very mild, but every single letter which I sent out in November and in the early part of December to ten or fifteen thousand soldiers was held up in the Canadian post office until after the elections. Mr. Burrell said that it was in the British post office, but he didn't tell the House that the letters were sent from the British post office to the Canadian Army post office in the west-end of London, where they were kept. The literature was actually taken out of envelopes, and they were sent back empty. If that had occurred in this country, there is not a respectable man in either party but would see that the persons responsible for such an act would be punished as they ought to be punished."

Mr. Preston declared that letters from an officer at Argyle House had been sent to headquarters in behalf of the Government, and were distributed under General Turner's instructions. They were distributed in all the messrooms in France.

Threatened With Trenches.

"I can prove that man after man who wanted to vote for the Liberal party was threatened with the trenches, and they were sent in. There are Canadian boys lying in France to-day for no other reason than that they voted for the Liberal party. They are not few and isolated cases. There are scores of them.

"I know a man from my own town who had been through the hell of the front trenches twice and was back in the hospital the second time. He was told that if he didn't vote for the Government he would go back to the front all the quicker; and man after man told me that ony one who said he wanted to go back to the front was a liar. And at the time of that incident there were 20,000 or 30,000 troops who had never smelt powder, playing the battle of Vimy Ridge on the Surrey Cliffs for a cinematograph concern, so that some person whom I shall name yet could make money. While that was going on, you could see men passing through Victoria Station on their way back to France, men with three and four wound stripes on their coat sleeves.

"Talk about Prussianism! Prussianism wasn't in it for what Canadian boys had to suffer simply for claiming the right to vote as they wished, and that was the liberty and the principle they believed they were fighting for."

Threatened to Cancel Leave.

Mr. Preston told the story of a soldier named Mallory. His brother had been blown to atoms by a big shell, and his father died at home, leaving an invalid sister alone. Representations were made to the authorities, and he was returning to Canada. At a base in England he was asked if he desired to vote, and he replied that he did. He was further asked how he intended to vote, and when he mentioned the Liberal party, he was advised that unless he was prepared to sacrifice his leave he had better vote for the Government.

"There are hundreds of such cases," Mr. Preston declared. "I have heard them everywhere. Men have come to me on the street with their stories, but I have told them not to speak until they put off the uniform; and they are stories that would make strong men break down."

Enforced Perjury on Soldiers.

Touching upon the War Time Election Act, Mr. Preston said he soon got wind of what was going on. The Act could have been administered fairly to everybody, but men came to him with complaints that they were being forced by their commanding officers to vote where they had no right to vote. In consequence, it was necessary for them to commit perjury by declaring that they were of constituencies in which they did not live. But they had to follow the instructions of the C. O. or take the consequences.

Story of a Sergt.-Major.

"There was a sergeant-major who was told to canvass certain men for the Government," Mr. Preston related. "He refused, stating that he was an Englishman and that the King's regulations forbade it. He was gradually degraded until he was a private and then he was put at such menial work that his health broke down, and to-day he is dying in an English hospital.

"The degrading was started by Lieutenant-Colonel Woodhouse," Mr. Preston averred, "who was one of the greatest scoundrels that ever stood in shoe leather. He is the man who got twenty-three charwomen to vote as Canadian nurses."

Wholesale Manipulation of Votes.

Mr. Preston told off a list of booths at which votes were fraudulently switched from constituencies for which the men were entitled to vote to other constituencies, and by this method, he stated, twenty-five counties were taken from the Liberal party. In Lieut.-Col. Grossmith's, 105 out of 220 votes were fraudulent, as were 49 per cent. of Major Harris'. At Capt. Taylor's, 505 votes out of 800 were put in another county; of Lieut.-Col. Simpson's, 436 out of 575 were fraudulently switched; and Lt.-Col. McPherson had 99½ per cent. Lieut.-Col. Hayden had an Ontario regiment, and 1,200 of his 1,242 men were turned p,f uto thm arf htmard were registered as voting in Quebec. Another officer had 573 out of 609 votes switched to a county to which they did not belong, and the votes of Major McKenzie's entire regiment were switched to a constituency to which not one man belonged.

Cutting short his enumeration, Mr. Preston asked whether there was one man who could defend such practice as that.

Dealing with another phase of what he alleged to have been a carefully concocted scheme, he said that there were 200,000 votes registered in France and England. A short time ago he had examined the vouchers for the printing of these ballots, and found that thousands were of an entirely different colour from the rest, prepared for the purpose of being used for stuffing the boxes from time to time.

Evidence of Stuffing.

Out of three hundred bags of ballots opened in London not more than fifteen envelopes were properly folded. Each envelope, to be inserted through the apertures, had to be closely folded; but bundles of them were found folded together. Mr. Preston said that Lieut.-Col. Birnie had to acknowledge that these envelopes were never inserted through the apertures.

W. H. Graham, of West Hastings, was officially shown to have received only eight votes, but he was satisfied that most of his two hundred Sunday School boys had voted for him. He had received letters from forty-five of them, who told him they had actually voted for him. "And I leave it with you whether these boys are not to be believed," remarked Mr. Preston.

Two hundred men from Ontario and the West were made to swear residence in Cumberland, the seat of Speaker Rhodes. The same happened for Brockville, and also against Laurier in the Ottawa riding. Mr. Preston stated that many envelopes were found all sealed and inscribed except the blank space for the soldier's name.

Dead Men Tell No Tales.

"They had a special committee at Witley arranging these things, but a happened to have a friend there who kept me informed of what was going on twenty-four hours after things happened. When some one questioned the plans and spoke of a possible inquiry afterwards, a Lieut.-Colonel from Western Ontario said: "Don't get frightened. The men who are voting this way will be buried in Flanders before an investigation takes place."

"When it is all summed up, is there any wonder we say there was a conspiracy? When we got the evidence, it was worse than we could possibly have conceived. I have defied them to bring action against me in the law courts and to prosecute me for libel."

Names Hon. Dr. Reid.

Mr. Preston said there had been no denial of the statements, and as originators of the whole scheme for the purpose of defrauding the honest electors of this country, he named Hector McInnes, K.C., of Halifax, and the Hon. Dr. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals. McInnes was sent to London to carry out the plans, and his account ran into hundreds of thousands.

"By chance," Mr. Preston said, "he had met an officer who was looking for the official in charge of this campaign. He said he had three hundred American soldiers whom he could get to vote for fifty pounds." When Mr. Preston questioned the honesty of this act, the officer replied that "the boys would swallow it."

"Think of it," said the speaker; "three hundred cases of perjury, and a Major calling himself a gentleman and an officer of the King. And we are asked to shut our eyes and say nothing lest the honour of Canada be smirched by it."

Voted 30,000 British Soldiers.

According to his own statement, Lieut.-Colonel Frank A. Reid, who was one of the principal actors in carrying on the election frauds in France, had been instrumental in securing the votes of 30,000 British soldiers as Canadians.

"He got his instructions from Hector McInnes," Mr. Preston said. "I have the letters and photographs, and I intend to bring this down to Sir Robert Borden himself, and I can prove if they will give me a Royal Commission."

Mr. Preston also alleged that Government scrutineers were sworn in as scrutineers for the Opposition, and although Hon. Mr. Burrell had pledged his honour that this was impossible, Mr. Preston said he had evidence to show that this had been done by Major Phillip Burnett.

Col. Reid Importunate.

After the elections Col. Reid concluded that he had done enough for the Government to entitle him to a good job, Mr. Preston continued. He was not very warmly received when he returned to Canada, so he showed certain papers to Sir George Gibbons of London, and also to Major Hume Cronyn. These papers revealed that he had received instructions as to the number of votes that were to be put into certain constituencies, and one letter was to the effect that double the number were to be put into the Prime Minister's constituency.

"Col. Reid wrote out a statement of the frauds he had practiced, in France, and sent it to the Prime Minister. On 30th May last year, Sir Robert Borden called his colleagues together to discuss this, and some of them proposed that drastic measures should be taken, but Sir Robert suggested that this was not advisable. He wrote to Col. Reid, expostulating with him that he shouldn't have written in that way. Up to June there was no reward; so Reid announced his intention of giving the documents to me. He received a telegram from Hector McInnes to go to Halifax and was promised a C.M.G., a Brigadier-Generalship, and a position in the Canadian Army at a thousand or twelve hundred pounds a year. He was ordered to report at General Headquarters in London, but when he got over there, General Mewburn, who was Minister of Militia, refused to be a party to the rewards that were proposed to Reid. But he got the C.M.G. by Sir Robert Borden's personal recommendation to the Governor-General. On Borden's recommendation Reid got this title for "satisfactory and creditable military services," and those papers are in the office of the Governor-General at Ottawa."

Mr. Preston affirmed that Sir Robert Borden knew of the frauds that had been perpetrated, and in this knowledge had recommended an honour of the Crown as a reward.

Duke of Devonshire Unaware.

"Up to this hour the Governor-General and the King don't know it, but if the Governor-General has any doubts of what I am saying, I'll prove it to him in twenty-four hours. I'll prove that by his recommendation Borden rewarded Lieut.-Col. Reid for his fraudulent work in the election with a title, dignity and honour from the Crown when the Minister at Ottawa would not give Reid any recognition whatever. In this way I propose to direct the attention of the Governor-General to what has been done in this matter."

Referring briefly to the Government's extravagance during the war, Mr. Preston stated that 30,000 fraudulent names had been kept on the pay sheets of the Army for two years before they were discovered in the pay office. Shortly after the war broke out, the British War Office offered to take over the Canadian transport and ordnance without cost to Canada, but this assistance was refused at Ottawa. It cost the country $25,000 a day, or a total exceeding $30,000,000.

Honesty Must Reign.

Mr. Preston concluded his address with an appeal to the people to determine that they would make Canada the country they desired it to be, to see that honesty reigned in high places.

"There are Liberals and Conservatives who want to see this brought about, that Canada attains the place her sons have earned for her. But this can't be done without your assistance and mine. And for God's sake let us try to do it."

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie explained the purpose of the Provincial convention. It had been called for the object of formulating a policy for the province and of either choosing a new leader or confirming Mr. Proudfoot, who had been appointed after Mr. Rowell's retirement to join the Union Government.

"We believe that the changed conditions will bring a change in the provincial and Dominion Houses," Mr. Gillespie remarked, "and we feel that the Liberal party commands the respect and is worthy of the votes of the electors of the province. We have got to blaze a trail ahead for the reconstruction that must follow upon the war. There is a feeling of unrest that should be removed if we are to make this province and this country worthy of the places they should occupy. It is an opportune time for the Liberal party to decide upon a policy that will appeal to all reasonable men among the various groups of the people, the reasonable farmers, the labour men, and the reasonable manufacturers, too.

Mr. R. R. Hall.

Mr. Hall said that many Canadians knew that the country was being robbed and its resources wasted by the Borden Government. They had forfeited the confidence of the people, and their administration had been years of disunion, and of stirring up strife that might lead to disaster. There seemed to be an apathy toward public affairs that was not wholesome or reassuring. It seemed that a vast number of the people had been paralysed by the strain of the war. One thing that would awaken them was the tax collector, although only eleven per cent. of the Dominion tax was applied directly.

Referring to the Dominion convention in August, Mr. Hall suggested that the Liberal party should decide upon a policy that would re-establish amity and harmony in Canada, that would let working men feel that they were getting a just and fair reward for their labour, that would develop the natural resources, encourage the production of live stock and cereals, and force down the cost of living.

Mr. George Ball.

Mr. Ball threw out the reminder that the Liberal party was and should continue to be a democratic party. Its principle was separate from questions of nationality and religion. Liberals who had left the party had gone back on their democratic principles.

"When farmers tell me that they want a party of their own," Mr. Ball said, "and when labour men say they want a Labour party, I tell them that there is no occasion for such parties; that they should unite in the Liberal party and make it the democratic party of the producers. Let the Liberal party get back to true democratic principles."

Other speakers were Messrs. J. S. Mason, W. G. Telford, and Eugene Maloney.

For the Conventions.

The delegates named for the Dominion Convention were R. R. Hall, Dr. J. Malcolm McCullough, G. N. Gordon, and Eugene Maloney.

Messrs. C. R. Widdifield, J. J. Duffus, Joseph Wearing, Ald. Robert Morrison, and Wm. Telford were appointed a committee, with power to select the delegates for the Provincial Convention at Toronto.

ELECTROCUTED A LEOPARD

A leopard used by a motion-picture concern recently took to sulking, which made him a disagreeable companion for the actors in the jungle scenes. Shooting him with a high-powered rifle was first considered, but was objected to, as it would disfigure the valuable pelt. To avoid this electrocution was decided upon, using power from a nearby station.

DECORATION DAY

Former Oddfellows of the two local lodges who have passed into the Great Beyond, were fittingly remembered yesterday by their comrades who paraded to the Little Lake Cemetery, 220 strong, to decorate the graves of their departed brethren.

The Great War Veterans' band led the long parade, and Colonel J. W. Miller, of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, marshalled the lodges to the cemetery.

The fine weather rendered the occasion auspicious, and visitors from Port Hope, Cobourg and Lakefield, besides a large number of city people, listened with bowed heads as the prayer for brother Oddfellows buried in France, was recited.

The Veterans' Band played "Nearer My God to Thee," "Abide with Me," and "Rock of Ages," before the ritual of the two lodges was read by Mr. Henry Turner, Past Grand of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13. Mr. M. L. Campbell, of Otonabee Lodge, acted as chaplain. The address feelingly spoke of the departed brethren, their deeds, and what they had accomplished before being called yonder. Although a large number of local Oddfellows were wounded in the war, very few were killed and those who died in the service and who were buried in the family plat at the cemetery, had their graves fittingly decorated, together with the rest of the family plot.

The brethen then divided into their various sections and proceeded to decorate the numerous graves with festoons and wreaths of flowers.

The Return Trip.

Sergt. Major Sam Thomas marshalled the parade back to the hall, where a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. William James, Superintendent of the cemetery for his courtesy and attention, to the G.W.V.A. Band, to the two Marshals, Col. Miller and Sergt. Thomas, to the committee in charge of the arrangements, and to the brethren who loaned their automobiles for the use of the aged brethren.

Section Captains.

The Section Captains were Bros. Gould, Frank Wise, R. Ford, R. Martin and Wm. Barrie.

JOHNSON DECLARES HE WASTED $1,200

SOUGHT VAINLY FOR RELIEF FROM HIS TROUBLES—GAINS 27 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

"The best proof I can give that Tanlac was the right thing for me is the way it has relieved my suffering and built me up," said James M. Johnson, a well known employee of the Ind Hotel, who lives at 305 Persimon street, Peoria, Ill., recently.

"I had fallen off as a result of my troubles," he continued, "until I was almost a skeleton. At the time I started on Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and fifteen pounds, but I now balance the scales at one hundred and forty-two, making an actual gain of twenty-seven pounds, and have been relieved entirely of stomach and liver troubles and kidney disorders that had followed me for sixteen years. I have often seen the time that my back hurt so bad I could hardly stand it. It was all I could do to lean over and lace my shoes; and nobody will ever know how I suffered with my stomach because I just can't fully describe it. I couldn't eat a thing without bloating up and the gas would cause such terrible cramping pains through my stomach that I just thought I could not stand it any longer. At this time I was firing on the C. and O. railroad and I got so weak and played out that I could hardly lift a shovel of coal. During those sixteen years I spent over twelve hundred dollars for medicines, and I might as well have thrown it into the creek, for I never even so much as got one day's relief.

"I had just about come to the conclusion that there was no medicine that could help me but I have certainly found out different since I got hold of Tanlac. One day I met up with an old friend, one I hadn't seen for ten years. Well, of course we had a long talk, but we hadn't talked long before I got to telling him how I had suffered so long, just couldn't keep my mind off my condition. Then he told me how Tanlac had made a well man of his brother, who had suffered from troubles like mine for years. So that very afternoon I got me a bottle of Tanlac and I could not help but notice a big difference in my condition before I had finished taking that bottle. When I saw that it was helping me I stuck right to it, and have improved until anyone who knows me could tell you I look like a different man. I could not ask for a better appetite—never had a bigger one—and my stomach never bothers me any more no matter what I eat. I am not one bit afraid now to eat all kinds of meat and vegetables or anything else I want. My kidneys never bother me any more, either, and the pains have disappeared from my back entirely. I am feeling as strong and well as I ever did in my life, so you see I have something to boost Tanlac for."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by the Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE CONFINED TO HIS ROOM.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, June 21.—Premier Lloyd George is confined to his room with a most severe sore throat. His indisposition prevented his attendance yesterday at the meeting of the Supreme Allied Council. His place at the conference was taken by Arthur J. Balfour, British Foreign Secretary.

A handy thing in the kitchen is a box of small change with which to pay the milkman, etc.

THE PLAYGROUNDS ASSOCIATION

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir:—Allow me through your columns to make an appeal to my fellow citizens that they will enable the Playgrounds Association to continue its good work by giving generously to its funds. Your paper has kindly undertaken to accept donations and I shall be only to glad to acknowledge donations sent directly to me.

During the terrible war which is now past, we were all trained in the art of giving. Now that we have acquired the art do not let us lose it.

There is no more deserving object for your generosity than the Playgrounds Association. It is wholly dependant upon the citizens whether it shall continue its work or not. Six supervisors will start their work on the 1st of July and we must have funds with which to pay their salaries which will run into a sum of nine hundred dollars for the two months. We must also have a little wherewith to buy loose equipment such as baseballs, bats, gloves, basket balls, etc. We decided therefore to ask for the sum of $1000.00 which ought to be quickly raised by the city of Peterborough.

There are ever one thousand kiddies in Peterborough who will not be able to get out into the country for a holiday this summer and if the Playgrounds Association is not an active concern they will be playing on the dusty streets or in the backlots without somebody to keep them out of danger, some may even have the misfortune to get drowned in the river. Two little kiddies have had close shaves already this summer.

Our supervisors will look after them every day from 9 in the morning to 5 in the evening and save mothers a great deal of worry. They will be on the school playgrounds and off the streets. They will be provided with swings, sandboxes and other fast equipment, which is supplied by the schoolboard, and loose equipment as mentioned above. They are taught organized games and the spirit of fair play, to be courteous to one another and their elders and are also taken to the bathing beach every day to be taught the rudiments of the art of swimming. In short they are given a healthy good time and the supervisors help their parents to teach them what is necessary to be sportloving, fair minded Britons.

I have no doubt that this resume of the activities of the Association will influence a great many who were formerly ignorant as to its objects.

We have already received donations as the appended list will show but the thousand dollars should be in sight before the 1st of July to encourage the Association to go ahead with its work.

The newspaper offices are in the heart of the city and are undoubtedly passed by most citizens several times a day and it ought to be an easy matter to drop in and give a little to the fund.

Now let everyone get busy and secure the kiddies of the Association help this year also.

Yours truly,
J. W. Worth.

P.S.—It would be very gratifying if a worker in each local factory would start a list amongst the employees as has already been done in one factory.

small degree. The Allied and Associated Governments have, in an ultimatum which expires on 23rd June, confronted the government of the German Republic with the decision either to sign the Treaty of Peace presented by them or refuse to sign. In the latter case, a completely defensive people has been threatened with forcible imposition of conditions of peace already presented, and with the increase of heavy burdens.

"The German people does not wish for a resumption of the bloody war. It honestly wishes for a lasting peace. In view of the attitude of the Allied and Associated Governments, the German people has no other force in its hands save to appeal to the eternally inalienable right to an independent life, which belongs to the German people as to all peoples.

"If the Government of Germany is nevertheless ready to sign the conditions of the Allies, with the abovementioned reserration, yet it is not done of its free will.

"Representatives of the German Republic solemnly declare that its attitude is to be understood in the sense that it yields to force, being resolved to spare the German people, who are suffering the unspeakable agony of a new war, the shattering of its national unity by further occupation of German territories, terrible famine for women and children, and the mercilessly-prolonged retention of prisoners of war."

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, June 23. — News of Germany's unconditional aceptance of the peace terms came to Wall street by way of London around 1.30 p.m., ten to twelve minutes later than the Associated Press flashed the news from Paris. The stock markets hardened immediately though with little show of activity. Some important stocks arose above the high prices of the opening after their several reactions.

DOMINION TIRES

WILL GIVE YOU THE EXTRA MILEAGE TO PROVE THEIR SOUND ECONOMY

DOMINION TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

WHEN you go out for an evening's pleasure or start on a long motor tour, you don't care about "tire guarantees". What you want on your cars are tires that will not give you any trouble.

Guarantees are all right; but tires that need no guarantee are better.

The trademark of the Dominion Rubber System is your warranty of faithful service, long wear and the extra mileage that proves their economy.

It's the one guarantee that satisfies most motorists. They know that DOMINION TIRES have proved their quality, their easy comfort and their freedom from ordinary tire troubles, on every automobile road in the Dominion.

DOMINION TIRES give you a choice of six distinct treads:

"ROYAL CORD" "NOBBY" "CHAIN"
"DOMINION" "GROOVED" "PLAIN"

with the right Inner Tube to give you a perfectly balanced tire. DOMINION INNER TUBES are built with the same care as DOMINION TIRES, yet cost no more than ordinary tubes.

DOMINION TIRES and ACCESSORIES are distributed through DOMINION RUBBER SYSTEM BRANCHES and sold by the Best Dealers throughout Canada.

PETES HAMMER WIN OFF SCOTT; LINDSAY ARE BEATEN BY 5 TO 2

PETERBORO CLUB WINS A SECOND PLACE IN LEAGUE RACE BY BEATING GRAYBERDS IN EXCITING GAME BEFORE THE BIGGEST CROWD SINCE CANADIAN LEAGUE DAYS—KIRN FOR SECOND TIME THIS SEASON OUTPITCHED SCOTT.

OUTFIELDERS STARRED

Benching hits on Cannon Ball Ed Scott, Lindsay's elongated pitching ace, in the second and third innings of Saturday's Central Ontario League fixture at Riverside Park, the Petes hammered home enough runs to earn them the decision. The final score was 5 to 2, and the four runs in those two sessions were sufficient to turn the trick.

The biggest crowd that has seen a ball game in Peterborough since the days of the Canadian League, five year ago, watched the Petes bring home the bacon. Both stands were crowded and it was a real old time gathering, that indicated unmistakably the interest of the fans in the Central League race.

The biggest factor in the Petes' victory was the splendid pitching of Howard Kirn, aided by the all round good work of Swanston and by the timely hitting of the Peterborough crew. It was the fourth game in a week for Kirn, but the big fellow was in grand form, holding the Lindsay crew to seven scattered hits, and proving invincible in the pinches. Only once—in the seventh—did the Grey birds bunch two hits. Kirn had a curve ball that was breaking splendidly and his control was perfect, not a complimentary being handed out. It was one of his best performances of the year and he had to be good, because the Petes' infield, for some reason or other ,was miles below its usual form. They were wobbly in fielding practice and all through the game were unreliable, getting Kirn frequently into a hole, but the Petes' pitcher only grinned after each misplay and went to work on the next batter, and the visitors could not come through with a hit when it was needed. The local crew made eight errors, and yet, by one of those freakish turns which makes baseball the game it is, only one of the "boots" figured in the Lindsay run-getting, although they made Kirn's work harder than it need to have been.

At that the misplays were responsible for the most exciting moment in the game when Lindsay filled the bases in the ninth with no one out, and then failed to score ,thanks to the bone-headed base-running of Garnett and the poor coaching of "Chuck" Carew. In that innings Garnett dropped a lucky single back of third base. McMahon hit a roller to Cherrett, which the shortstop scooped up neatly, and a double play seemed certain, but to the consternation of the fans Hagerman dropped the throw. That left two on and nobody out. Scott pushed a roller at Kirn and the latter threw to Cavanah in plenty of time to retire the runner, but the Petes' third baseman made the mistake of trying to touch the runner and the ball was knocked out of his hand. No tagging was needed as it was a force play. The situation was bad then with the bases loaded, nobody out and only three runs needed to sew up the game. Then came the break that settled the issue. Stark boomed a fly to left which Clancy grabbed nicely, and Garnett, who fled for the plate as soon as the ball was hit, was easily doubled off third. Lindsay still had two men on the sacks, but Bates hit weakly to Kirn and was out at first.

The Petes found Scott's offering for eleven hits and made their count by bunching them in three innings. Swanston and Heenan were the leaders in the assault on the big fellow, Swanston having three singles and a walk in four times up, while Heenan helped himself to a double and two singles in four trips to the plate. Scott's curve was breaking well, but he did not seem to have the speed on his fast ball that he showed against Oshawa, and the Petes got the most of their hits off the fast one. At that Scott fanned ten of the local crew.

The Petes' outfield covered themselves with glory. Clancy went almost to the fence in left field and grabbed a hot liner along the left field foul line from Stark's bat in the first innings in spectacular style. A little later Jackson speared a line drive in centre with his gloved hand as it was going over his head, and Heenan went back and gathered in a long one from Hill in fine style. It was a queer feat about the game that while seven errors were made by the Petes in the infield, none of them were costly, while the one error made in the outfield, Jackson's miss of a long high one from Scott, blossomed into a run.

Lindsay confidently expected to win Saturday's game. Their clean-cut victory over Oshawa and the steady practice they have had since, led them to believe that it would be an easy task to beat the Petes, but Kirn's fine pitching and the unexpected hammering that Scott received, upset their calculations.

The umpires, Alex Kay of Peterborough at the plate, and Dick Butler of Lindsay, on the bases, gave every satisfaction, and none of their decisions were disputed.

First Innings.

Lindsay.—Clancy made a spectacular running catch of Stark's smash down the left field foul line. Bates was safe on Kirn's miss of his easy grounder. Hill cracked a grounder to Cherrett, who fumbled long enough to lose a chance for a double play. Hagerman dropped the throw and everybody was safe. Kirn then struck out Coombs and got Workman on an easy fly to Cavanah. No runs, or hits, two errors.

Peterborough.— Cherrett walked. Long and Cavanah struck out and McMahon grabbed Clancy's fly. No runs, hits or errors.

Second Innings.

Lindsay.—Carew scratched a single past Long. Garnett rolled out to Long. Jackson grabbed McMahon's liner to centre. Scott got a life on Cherrett's fumble, but Stark struck out. No runs, one hit, one error.

Peterborough.—Swanston, after hitting a dozen fouls, worked Scott for a pass. Jackson struck out. Hagerman singled to right, Heenan doubled on a line drive to centre, scoring Swanston and sending Hagerman to third. Kirn fanned. Cherrett's single to short, McMahon slipping as he went to field the ball, scored Hagerman. Cherrett stole second, but Long fanned. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Third Innings.

Lindsay. — Hagerman threw out Bates. Hill singled to centre. Heenan made a nice catch of Coombs' long fly to right, Workman fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterborough.—Cavanah struck out. Clancy doubled to right centre, Swanston singled to left, scoring Clancy, and taking second on the throw to the plate. Jackson slammed a hot single over third, scoring Swanston. Hill made a fine catch of Hagerman's liner to centre, but Coombs let the throw to double Jackson get away and the runner went to second. Heenan struck out. Two runs, three hits, one error.

Fourth Innings.

Lindsay.— Carew fanned. Garnett flied to Jackson, a great catch by the centre fielder. McMahon rolled to Hagerman. No runs, hits or errors.

Peterborough. — Workman tossed out Kirn. Cherrett died on a bunt to Scott. Workman made a fine catch of Long's hard smash. No runs, hits or errors.

Fifth Innings.

Lindsay.—Scott fanned. Stark was safe on Cavanah's fumble. Bates hit into a double play, Kirn to Hagerman to Long. No runs or hits, one error.

Peterborough.— Cavanah smashed one at Scott, which the pitcher stopped with his bare hand and threw out the runner. Workman threw out Clancy. Swanston beat out a single. Jackson grounded to Stark. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Innings.

Lindsay.—Hill flied to Jackson. Coombs grounded to Long. Workman singled past Hagerman, the ball taking a bad hop as it reached the second baseman. Workman stole second. Carew fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Peterborough.—Hagerman lined to McMahon. Heenan beat out a grounder to Coombs. Kirn fanned and Cherrett skied to Garnett. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Innings.

Lindsay.— Garnett was safe on Cherrett's bad throw, but died stealing on a perfect peg by Swanston. McMahon rolled to Kirn. Scott got a life when Jackson missed his long fly to centre. Stark doubled over Clancy's head, Scott scoring. Bates flied to Clancy. No runs, one hit, two errors.

Peterborough. — Long singled to left, stole second, and went to third on a passed ball, while Cavanah and Clancy were fanning. Swanston came through with his third hit of the game, a Texas Leaguer over short, and Long scored. Jackson forced Swanston at second. One run, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Innings.

Lindsay.—Cherrett threw out Hill. Coombs singled to left and stole second. Workman singled to left centre, scoring Coombs. Workman died stealing, Swanston to Hagerman, and Logan, pinch-hitting for Carew, fouled out to Cavanah. One run, two hits, no errors.

Peterborough.— Workman made a nice catch of Hagerman's drive. Heenan beat out a slow roller to third, but was doubled up when Kirn batted a fly to Scott, in trying to sacrifice. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Innings.

Lindsay.—Garnett singled back of third. McMahon hit to Cherrett, and the stage was set for an easy double play but Hagerman dropped the throw. Scott hit to Kirn, whose throw beat Cherrett, who had torn for the plate as soon as the ball and the bases were full. Stark lifted a fly to Clancy and Garnett, who had torn for the plate as soon as the ball was hit, was easily doubled up. Bates rolled to Kirn, and the game was over.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Kirn has certainly evened up the count with Cannon Ball Scott. Saturday's win makes the second victory for the Peterborough twirler over the former Hillcrest star. In the two games, Kirn only allowed 12 hits and did not give a base on balls, while Scott was found for 18 hits and issued 6 passes, three of them in the game in Lindsay and two here on Saturday.

Fans who do not watch the play closely may wonder why, although the Lindsay infielders made several bad throws to first base, they are only charged with one error in the official score. As a matter of fact, however, the batter in each case beat the ball to first and was therefore entitled to a hit, while as they did not advance on the bad throw, the fielders are exempt from an error. Similarly, both Carew for Lindsay and Heenan for Peterborough were given credit for a hit on a bounder to the right hand side of the first baseman which was fumbled in each case, because even if the ball had been fielded cleanly the baseman could not have beat the runner back to the bag.

The Petes' infield, which has been going great guns in all its games lately, slipped a cog on Saturday, and Cherrett, Cavanah and Hagerman each had two errors. Fortunately, not one of them was costly.

Saturday's game will go down on record as the only one in which Manager Solomon failed to have an argument with an umpire.

The Petes play in Cobourg on Saturday. The next home game is on July 1st, when the fast Oshawa team who are tied with the Petes for second place in the League race will be the enemy. It will be a great battle.

Max Swanston caught Kirn in sparkling fashion, turned back two base-stealers with perfect throws and had three timely hits. It was a great day for the Packers' back-stop.

The G. W. V. A. team will practice at the Riverside Park to-night in preparation for to-morrow night's city league game with the Orientals.

Oshawa beat Cobourg in the latter town 12 to 4 on Saturday, with the result that Oshawa, Port Hope and the Petes are all tied for second place in the league race with Belleville a game ahead. The league standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	To play.
Belleville	4	1	5
Peterboro	3	2	5
Oshawa	3	2	5
Port Hope	3	2	5
Lindsay	2	3	5
Cobourg	0	5	5

Games this week—

Belleville at Lindsay.
Port Hope at Oshawa.

The De Laval City League team toured to Woodville on Saturday and had an exciting game with the Lorneville team, losing by 8 runs to 6. Neady was on the firing line for the Separator crew. Hodgins who played for Peterboro last winter, was on the Lorneville line-up.

VETERANS AND ORIENTALS MEET

Tomorrow night's game in the City League series will bring together the Great War Veterans and Orientals in what should be a great game. The Vets have been giving all the teams a fight in every game and the Orientals need tomorrow night's game to keep in the running it should be a fight all the way. Daynard will do the twirling for the Vets while Kirn will be on the firing line for the Orientals. The game is called for 6.45 o'clock.

WELLAND LOSES ITS LARGEST STEEL PLANT

PREMIER INDUSTRY CLOSED FOREVER—PLANT IS DISMANTLED.

WELLAND, June 20—The worts industrial blow Welland has ever received was in the decision of the directors of the Canadian Steel foundries last week to dismantle the Welland plant and ship the machinery to Montreal. The work began on Monday and by the end of the week much of the equipment was on the way to Montreal, and the balance of it was loaded or being loaded on cars.

A year ago this firm was employing about eight hundred hands.

It is stated that the land and buildings will be offered for sale at once. Prospects of sale, however, are very remote. The plant was built for a specific purpose,and unless for an industry of closely allied nature it would not be likely to prove suitable.

The industry began a dozen years ago as the Ontario Iron Steel Company, financed principally by Albany interests. It was agreed at the beginning that $200,000 would be spent in plant and that 100 hands would be employed. It had some years of hard sledding and frequent changes of management before being taken over by the Canada Car and Foundry Company, the present owners. The company spent thousands of dollars in new equipment. They specialized in railway work, and their product annually was in excess of five million dollars.

The company operate many plants —at Fort William, Amherst, N.S., Longue Point, and Pointe St. Charles. It is believed that the closing of the Welland plant marks the first step in the consolidation of all the plants in Quebec.

BRITISH SHIPPING LOSSES ARE HEAVY

The British Ministry of Shipping has now given the precise figures of the distribution of tonnage losses as between the Allies in the war. They are, in gross tons:

Great Britain	7,638,020
France	696,845
Italy	743,365
Japan	120,176
United States	341,512

Great Britain presented the biggest target, but it is surprising to learn that her losses in shipping were four times those of all the Allies combined.

MINERAL OIL

For Chronic Constipation

By buying this product from us you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be continually increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, which is Constipating.

GREAT LAWN SOCIAL

Will be given on Wednesday Evening, June the 25th, at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paynes, Braley. A good programme of music and song is being arranged, and promises to be one of the best evenings of the season. The officers of the Union Sunday School, expecting a very large crowd, the motor bus will leave the S. A. Temple at 7 p.m. The S. A. Temple Band will supply the music for the evening. Public are invited.

HORSES RAN AWAY.

A series of runaway accidents occurred on Saturday and to-day. Chief among them was a horse owned by Mr. F. Rome, which made a break for liberty and succeeded in upsetting a canoe from the waggon, badly damaging it. Another horse upset a waggon near the Grand Trunk Station on Charlotte Street; while this morning a team of horses made a wild dash down Aylmer Street and collided with a drinking trough near the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Streets.

WEDDING BELLS

WATERMAN—SUNTER.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. James' church, Kingston, on Saturday, June 21st by. Rev. Mr. Savory, when Miss Sarah Sunter ,of Kingston, was united in marriage to Mr. E. J. Waterman, of Peterborough.

They were unattended. After a short honeymoon to Peterborough and other points, they will take up residence in Kingston.

ARNOLD—ATKINS.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock, at "The Home," No. 206 First Street, when Mabel Atkins, of this city, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., was united in marriage to Marshall M. Arnold, of No. 605 Pine Avenue.

The Rev. Richard Warne, pastor of the Epiphany Episcopal church officiated.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white georgette crepe. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Geraldine Montgomery of Guelph, Ont., as bridesmaid, wore peach colored georgette, and carried sweet peas.

The groom was assisted by Oliver O'Neill of this city.

During the ceremony Miss Marjorie Mitchell sang, "O Promise Me,' after which a buffet luncheon was served to fifty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold have left on a trip up the Great Lakes the bride going away in an attractive navy blue suit with becoming hat to match.

Upon their return they will reside at No. 206 First street. The groom is U. S. Emigration Inspector on the lower bridge. He formerly lived in Superior, Wis.—Niagara Falls Gazette.

ROGERS—BUTTERFIELD

The marriage took place Saturday afternoon in St. John's church, by the Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson, a friend of the bride, of Mr. Alfred Burnham Rogers, of Calgary, brother of Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Beechwood Farm Auburn, and Miss Vida Louisa Butterfield, of Norwood, daughter of the late Mr. John Buterfield.

They were attended only by friends of the bride and groom, and were entertained at Beechwood Farm, and leave to-morrow for Calgary, where they will reside. Mr. Rogers is a veteran of the Riel Rebellion and of the late war, going overseas with the Canadian railroad engineers.

McDOUGALL—AYLMER.

Quite the most charming wedding of the season was that which was solemnized this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, 848 Weller street, when their second daughter, Mary Dorothy, was united in marriage to Eric Gordon, son of the late Judge McDougall, of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting party in the drawing room, which was literally smothered in roses, peonies and spring flowers, under an arch composed of roses and peonies. The bride looked very pretty in her travelling suit of navy blue, with white vest and a navy and silver taffeta hat and bouquet of ophelia roses, came downstairs with her sister, Mrs. Frank Cross, Barrie, and was given away by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Esme Aylmer, who looked very charming in a ping Georgette dress and large tulle hat, and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. Mr. Herbert Young, nephew of the groom, acted as best man. Mrs. Aylmer, the bride's mother, looked very handsome in a gown of black charmeuse and Georgette and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

After the ceremony, while St. John's chimes rang merrily, the wedding party drove to the 11.45 C.P.R. train, where scores of the young people, amongst whom the bride was extremely popular awaited them and deluged the bride and groom with confetti as they entered the train for the east, where they will spend their honeymoon. The wedding party returned from the station to Mr. Aylmer's home for lunch.

On their arrival from the East, Mr. and Mrs. McDougall will reside in Toronto.

A few of the out-of-town guests who were in the city were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cross, Barrie; Mrs. McDougall, Toronto; Mrs. Corbett, Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Ritchie, Toronto; Mrs. Case, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McDougall, of Toronto.

A DEATH MYSTERY IN NEW ZEALAND

How New Zealand's Sheep Farms Are Being Ruined.

The New Zealand authorities are fighting one of the most remarkable birds in existence, the Kea, for unless they do so the bird threatens to kill off thousands of sheep and ruin the New Zealand sheep farmer.

The Kea is a kind of parrot, a little smaller than a rook, with an extremely long beak and claws, for its size. Between thirty and forty years ago there were very few of these birds in New Zealand, but since then it has spread until it is one of the commonest birds in the island, especially where there are sheep.

It attacks sheep day and night, and at one farm alone, these birds killed no fewer than seventy sheep in one single night. Hundreds have been shot and many of the big farmers offer rewards varying from five shilling to ten shilling for every one killed, but the more they are killed the more the birds seem to thrive.

The extraordinary thing about the bird is that the male bird cannot be distinguished from the hen, and no nest has ever been found. No one is able to say where the bird breeds or when, nor has anyone seen any young birds. The organised attack now being made on the sheep-killing parrot will probably bring to light one of the most remarkable bird mysteries in the world.

"KILOWAT HOUR" OUGHT NOT TO BE A STRANGER

EVERY USER OF ELECTRIC LIGHT IS ACQUAINTED WITH THE TERM, SO CONSPICUOUS ON THE MONTHLY BILL—HOW CURRENT IS MEASURED.

When the Peterborough citizen receives his electric light bill he will find that he has been charged for so many kilowatt hours, but it is a fair estimate to say that no one, excepting those who are in the the electrical business, has the remotest idea what sort of an animal a kilowatt hour is, or what he is paying for. He, of course, knows that he is paying for electrical current, a mysterious "something," but more than that he does not know.

In the first place, electricity, like everything else, has its scales of measurements, and electrical pressure is measured in volts, which is analogous to the pressure per square inch of water in the water mains. The amount of the "flow" of electric current is measured in amperes, which is analogous to the measure of gallons relating to water. In just the same manner that it is said water flows through a pipe at so many gallons per minute, so electricity is spoken of as flowing at the rate of so many per amperes. Now, one ampere at the rate of one volt is equal to one "watt," which is one-seven hundred and forty-sixth part of one horse-power, or, in other words, 746 watts is equal to one horse-power. The commercial unit of electricity is a "kilowatt," or one thousand watts.

"Foot Pound" Explained.

One horse-power is equivalent to 33,000 foot pounds of work done per minute. Here, perhaps, some word of explanation will be necessary to make it thoroughly clear what is meant by a foot pound. If a mass of 33,000 pounds in weight is taken and raised to the height of one foot in one minute the power necessarily exerted to do this will be equivalent to one horse-powr. On the same basis, if a mass of 550 pounds is raised the same distance in one second it will be equal to one horse-power.

The old carbon filament type of incandescent electric lamp consumes on the average about 3.1 watts per candle-power, so that a 16 candle-power lamp will consume about 50 watts. With the more up-to-date metallic filament, or what is more commonly known as the "tungsten" lamp, greater efficiency is attained, and, roughly speaking, these lamps take about only one watt per candle-power, so that for the same 16-candle-power lamp it will only consume 16 watts—that is, 80 watts one could burn a 50-candle-power lamp for the same amount of current. By this it will readily be seen that it pays to always use the better and more efficient tungsten lamp.

Keep Check on Meter.

It can be easily seen, therefore, that if a bill comes in, say, for 50 kilowatt hours and the consumer has one 50-watt lamp in circuit, he has burned this lamp for 1,000 hours. On the same reckoning he can burn two 50-watt lamps for 500 hours, and so on in proportion. As a matter of fact, the average lamp is 25 and 45 watts, so that should they be efficient, from the foregoing table the consumer will be able to see what he has been paying for, and will have a fair idea as to whether he is being fairly treated or not. It is a good plan to constantly check the lamps that are being burned on an average and, in turn, check it up with the amount charged for on the bill, as by this means it will be seen if the meter is working accurately or not.

CURED OF DYSPEPSIA
BY USING
BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

The symptoms of dyspepsia are so numerous and diversified in different individuals that probably no description could exactly represent them as they occur in any given case, but a few of the most prominent are a rising and souring of food, pain, flatulence and distention of the abdomen, a sensation of discomfort after every meal, which is sometimes followed by sickness and vomiting.

To get rid of dyspepsia a careful arrangement of the diet is necessary and due time must be given for the digestion of the meal.

You will find that Burdock Blood Bitters will help with this digestion. It does this by toning up the stomach in such a way that the dyspepsia soon disappears.

Mr. Robt. Baldwin, Winnifred, Alta., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters for curing dyspepsia, of which I have been a sufferer for years. I have tried a good many doctors and proprietary medicines, so one day I thought I would try something different. I got a bottle of B. B. B. from our local store, as it was about the only remedy he kept, and I can certainly say that I was more than pleased with the results, as I got better right away. I will always recommend it to other sufferers."

RUPTURE KILLS 7,000 ANNUALLY

Seven thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance, or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and every truss sufferer in the land is invited to make a FREE test right in the privacy of their own home. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name to-day to PLAPAO CO., Block 1788, St. Louis, Mo., for FREE trial Plapao and the information necessary.

HOW CANUCK BATTLEFIELDS LOOK TRENCHES FAST CRUMBLING AWAY

YOUNG CANADIAN SOLDIER RE-VISITS SCENES WHERE HE FOUGHT—WAR-SCARRED GROUND AND OLD LANDMARKS BRING SAD BUT PROUD MEMORIES.

LONDON.—Struggling French peasants are attempting to restore a miserable resemblance to what they formerly lived in, in the war wrecked neighborhoods of their country, according to what Major W. M. (Billy) Nickle, M.C., son of W. F. Nickle, K.C., M.P., of Kingston, says. Major Nickle has recently returned from a visit to the old battle lines in France. Having gone to France as a private in the Princess Pats, been promoted to the rank of officer, and having been wounded three times whilst bearing that rank. Major Nickle gives a vivid story of the country as one who sees it from the view of a veteran.

Viewing the scenes of warfare will be entirely different to the soldier as compared with the civilian. Neither will ever see the field with the same eyes. To the soldier each scene brings up some such thought as this:

How a Soldier Views It.

"They gave us a stiff scrap here." "We gave it to them for all they were worth here." Nothing is striking to the war-tried veteran. He may dream on the battlefield of some close friend who fell beside him at the point where he is standing, but the fact that he and his friends have had their vitals gripped with cold, agueish fear in the night, when death seemed certain, will never recur to him. The scene is too intimate to him. And yet I doubt if the person who is a stranger to the scene will be able to appreciate the passions and emotion which quickly seized those men when the nations were at strife on this ground.

"The thing which impressed me most," says Major Nickle, "in passing through the areas familiar to Canadians, from Douai to Vimy, from Lens to Loos, to La Bassee, Hazebrouck and Passchendaele, was the way the peasants came back to the shell shattered villages which they left in the dark days of 1914, only to find their homes and surroundings absolutely wrecked and ruined by enemy gunfire and other means of destruction. These peasants are coming back to such towns as La Bassee, where there is not one wall of a house standing, bringing with them a pick and shovel and a few other crude tools, intending to gather together a few whole bricks, bits of wood, etc., left behind by the advancing army, to build a roof over their heads, and once again settle in the district where they were born and raised.

La Belle France Still.

"Until you see for yourself the success that the peasant has in making a new home for himself out of the destruction of war you have no conception of how well he gets on. Being a soldier myself, and knowing the hardships of the trenches, I was able to understand the tremendous hardship and sacrifice and discomfort they must go through during the time they are constructing their meagre domiciles.

"They are a gallant people, in one instance I called to a peasant, "Vive la France," He replied, "Merci Monsieur. Vive la Belle France." The people of France indeed love their country dearly.

How Canuck Trenches Look.

"The soldier at home, who has not seen the old line for a great while, is likely wondering what it looks like now. In the sector around Kemmel and Armentieres there are large numbers of German prisoners clearing the country. About Passchendaele Chinese laborers are doing the same.

"Those who know pill boxes will appreciate how difficult it is to remove what the Germans considered their impregnable fortresses. In this sector there are no railways, few roads, and bad transport, so therefore it is hard to collect railway rails, barrels of cement and other war materials.

"The soldiers at home may be wondering how the old trenches are. Whether they have fallen in or not? Practically all of them have. The grass-hidden mouth of a dugout is occasionally to be seen, but even though they were occupied as late as last summer, they are now musty and out-of-date looking. The trenches are sliding in, and in the wet districts, like Ploegsteert and the Ypres salient, are only ditches now. Down about the chalk country some of them are standing the wear of weather fairly well. But on the whole, the old front and reserve lines promise to disappear in a few seasons of the heavy Flanders rains.

Old Familiar Landmarks.

"At St. Eloi I stood at what was once the lip of No. 3 Crater, and looked back over the country which was so familiar to us in the spring of 1916. It was beyond recognition. Dickebusch was gone. Its church spire, and even the walls of the church could not be seen. Reninghelst, where Gen. Mercer and many another Toronto man lies buried, and which nestled so easily on the plain among the poplars, was barely the skeleton so often seen in the war zone. Voormezeele, of course, was as much obliterated as St. Eloi, and such familiar points to us as Shelley Farm, White Horse Cellars, Bus House and [illegible] were washed out as [illegible] artillery can [illegible] of the laud- [illegible] delaying. One fall and one winter have placed their mark upon them, but even now they could be returned to condition as a strong line of resistance."

Major Nickle was impressed with the sadness of many scenes at the front. The flicker of hope seemed to show in the lives of the poor people returning to lands that are of no use, and will not be during their lives. Skeletons haunt every acre, and unexploded shells threaten death to the cultivator of every yard of ground.

Where Canada's Dead Sleep.

On practically every thousand yard frontage of the old line, or at least on every brigade front, there is a graveyard. Hundreds and hundreds of Canadians lie still in their last sentry duty, a peaceful duty as last, may it be said, but sad to the person who stands above their silent sentry post and ponders upon what they yielded up in order to obtain this last "cushy job."

"Those of us who remain are in honor bound," says Major Nickle, "to protect the fruits of victory that the sacrifice of gallant men made it possible for us to obtain."

LIBERALS IN DURHAM COUNTY ARE LOOKING FOR A CANDIDATE

WANT A FARMER WHO HAS BEEN OVERSEAS—WOMAN GOES TO OTTAWA AS DELEGATE—DELEGATE SAYS NEWTON WESLEY ROWELL COULD NOT BE ELECTED TO A POUND KEEPER'S JOB.

ORONO, June 21.—Two men and a woman were chosen by the Liberals of Durham County, who met here, as their delegates to the National Liberal Convention to be held in Ottawa in August. The men are W. T. R. Preston and J. A. Holgate, the woman is Mrs. George Pollard, of Orono. No Liberal candidate for the riding will be named until after the Ottawa Convention.

Some of the Durham Liberals seemed decidedly antagonistic toward Hon. N. W. Rowell, who represents Durham in the House of Commons.

"If ever there was a man since the time of Judas Iscariot of whom both parties were heartily sick," said Mr. W. S. Dunbar, "that man is Newton Wesley Rowell."

Mr. F. B. Lovekin declared that any man who could not follow N. W. Rowell and beat him and beat the bunch who put him in was not any good. Mr. Lovekin was a strong supporter of the U. F. O.

Thomas Holgate, the Reeve of Bowmanville, stated that he had been informed that "his friend Newton Wesley would not now be able to obtain the job of poundkeeper in his home town of Woodstock," and that he, Mr. Holgate, was ashamed to confess that he came from Durham.

A committee of thirty were elected to consider who was eligible for nomination as the Liberal candidate. United Farmers present declared that they would present their own candidate. "By gad," vehemently asserted one bearded individual, "we will clean up the bunch that has been cleaning us up for the past forty years." Several Liberals frankly admitted that should the United Farmers in Durham put a candidate in the field, the other parties might as well quit, and another declared that the party that did not get the support of the United Farmers would lose its deposit.

One speaker said there were now four factions in Durham—Liberals, Conservatives, United Farmers and Great War Veterans. The ideal candidate or the party, he said, was a Liberal who was a farmer, who had been overseas and earned distinction in the war. Although he did not mention his name, all those present knew apparently to whom he referred. There may also be a Conservative who may claim agricultural and military distinctions.

Mr. G. W. Jones, the defeated Laurier-Liberal, offered what he called the Canadian International Policy by which he would retain the tariff to produce revenue, but would appoint commissions to see that Canadian manufacturers did not add this tariff to the price of their goods sold in Canada. His statement that "I made just as big a fool of myself in the reciprocity election when I appeared on the platform with Sir Thomas White as you fellows did at the last election," was greeted with cheers and laughter from the farmers.

STATEMENT OF TERMS

WINNIPEG, June 21.—Ten more aliens, with foreign names, have been arrested here on sedition charges, by Royal Northwest Mounted Police, they have been taken to an Ontario penitentiary pending trial, it is stated Canadian Pacific Railway officials have been verbally notified that the striking carmen will return to work on Monday whether or not sympathetic strike is called off by that time, it was announced by prominent railway man last night, the reason given is that they consider the chief point at issue, principle of collective bargaining, has been conceded to metal trades workers. It was also announced that Canadian Pacific railway freight handlers are anxious to return. They have asked the company for a statement of terms on which they will be taken back. In reply, it is pointed out that returned soldiers who were engaged for duty when freight handlers quit their jobs will be kept on permanently if they care to stay with the company.

A huge market for Canadian farm produce exists in Great Britain where, according to the Trade Commission, our imports only amount to 1½ per cent. of the eggs consumed; 2½ per cent of the butter; and 2¼ per cent. of the beef.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

HER NAME'S SHADOW

It Melted Away Before the Bright Sun of Love.

By ESTHER BANGBORN.

If she had not been named Beryl perhaps Miss Stanhope would not have thought herself so hopelessly plain, so thoroughly and utterly unattractive. But that name—so beautiful, so poetical, sounding like an utterance in one short burning word of a womanly beauty almost divine—was as a curse to her.

It made her morbid. She shivered lest people learn it and smile at the incongruity.

Superconscious of her angles, her lack of color and dark circled eyes, reflected in every shop window, Beryl wondered why she had been named so incongruously. She almost cried when a wizened old woman with a parchment skin, in charge of a fruit stand, answered to the name of Violet. What would she, Beryl Stanhope, be like twenty-five years hence?

She could not free herself from the tormenting thought. In old age, with ugliness intensified, she must still bear the musical Beryl applied to her, a name designed for a round, milk-skinned creature, with hair like corn silk and eyes the color of a calm sea, the cool, restful blue that is more nearly green.

She was reasoning to silence her ever renewed womanly hunger for beauty of person when she tapped at the studio shared by her brother and Lindley Wood. Her brother was out, but Wood was painting feverishly, a seldom seen exultation on his serious face.

"Come in, Miss Stanhope," he called hospitably. "Dick will be back in a jiffy. We are both making hay while the sun shines this week. Miss Cuyler is kindly posing for us, and she leaves the city Monday."

Beryl had not glanced at the model throne, but at this she turned quickly and caught her breath with a little gasp. A girl with the sheen of corn silk in her hair and eyes like a lapis lazuli sea was silhouetted against a background of pale green plush.

A sharp pain that Beryl did not know was envy shot to her heart as she drank in the sumptuous coloring of the nonchalant beauty. Recovering her composure with an effort, she returned Miss Cuyler's greeting and stepped forward.

"Are you and Dick working on one theme, Mr. Wood?" she asked. "May I see?"

"Not one theme," answered Wood. "Dick is doing an Andromache, but mine is only a study, an ideal head. I'll be very glad of your criticism, Miss Stanhope. My work fails to satisfy me."

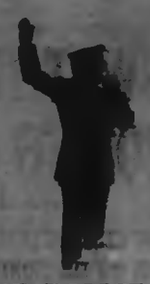
Lindley Wood's pictures usually received praise from his friend's sister, but for once there was no exclamatory remarks. After a long look she drew back a step with heightened color.

"Wherefore the name?" she asked haughtily.

"Beryl?" said Wood unconcernedly, touching up the round white throat on his canvas. "That is just a fancy of mine. Haven't you names to fit your ideal types? I would not think of painting a blond Judith or a dark Cosimond. I've always had a liking for the name of Beryl"—with boyish eagerness—"and Miss Cuyler happens to look my conception of it. Do you like the pose?"

"Very much," she replied, thankful she could say so honestly. But there was a strange inflection in her voice, despite her effort. Lindley Wood's keen ear caught it, and he responded with swift artistic intuition.

"You see something wrong with it!"



THE POLICE FORCE OF THE BODY

DAY and night—without ceasing—a struggle is going on in your body between the germs of disease and the white blood corpuscles—the police force of the human body.

If this police force weakens, disease germs gain a foothold—sickness follows.

Constipation is the most common and dangerous way of corrupting the human police force. Thod waste remains too long in the intestines—decays—poisons the blood—and opens the way for attack by the germs that cause tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia and a multitude of other ills.

The culpable habit of using salts, pills, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., to force the bowels to move, makes this condition even worse, as constipation returns almost immediately.

Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and keep your police force on the job.

Warning. Nujol is sold in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. All druggists. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

For Constipation

"Regular as Clockwork"

he exclaimed. "I want to know what it is. Be frank and tell me why you do not like my Beryl."

The living Beryl trembled foolishly as she buttoned her coat. "Seek to please the Institute committee, not me," she laughed. "My opinion is not worth that doleful expression, Mr. Wood. Tell Dick I shall expect him early." And, with a nod that included the model, she left the room.

Over their tete-a-tete dinner that night Beryl tried to question her brother about Lindley Wood's interest in Miss Cuyler. But she could not. Her brother had been strangely preoccupied of late, and table conversation was monosyllabic.

"Wood hasn't been here for some time," he remarked suddenly, and Beryl, surprised in her thoughts, was glad that the doorbell spared her a reply. When Dick returned his friend's name was not mentioned.

Beryl sat reading in the little parlor when her brother went out "to pay some calls." He said carelessly. When the door closed behind him she dropped her book and assumed ease.

Pacing up and down the rooms, she assured herself that she would go to work at something presently and forget the episode. But, try as she would, her heart was filled with bitterness that her brother's friend—her friend, too, she had once thought—should have been so heartless, so utterly contemptuous of her, as to paint an ideal Beryl. "He could not have told me my shortcomings more brutally in plain words," whispered she passionately.

Then, seeing something white on the hall rug, she stooped and picked up a card. "Edith Cuyler," she read—her brother's Andromache and Lindley Wood's Beryl! In that moment she felt almost as if she hated both artists and their model.

A chaos of thoughts danced through her brain, but through it all she always saw the pink and white face that had smiled from Wood's canvas above her name.

Unable to stay indoors, she put on her wraps and went out, but even the clear coldness of the night did not arouse her from the strange thrall put upon her by the card.

She turned into the block where some friends, the Stones, lived, but she had no intention of going in, for she knew that Edith Cuyler was staying there. Suddenly a pillar of flame shot from a building ahead. In a moment the street was a confusion of hoarse shouts and screams. Beryl stood still and watched the residents, like a stream of human ants, carrying valuables to safety. Then, as one awakening from a troubled dream, recognizes the environment, she realized she was looking at the Stones' house and that it was afire.

Attracted by a shrill scream, she raised her eyes to the third floor. The beautiful Miss Cuyler stood in a window, her blond head silhouetted against a curtain of fire.

Beryl was conscious of a commotion in the crowd. Then a man in evening dress fought his way to the burning structure and went up the ladder with eager steps. At the second floor a tongue of flame lit his features, and Beryl almost swooned with horror as she recognized her brother Dick.

The next five minutes were each a fearful, anguish laden century to the watching girl. At any instant the walls might collapse and engulf them both.

She saw the cameo-like face, pearl white against that red curtain, brighten with hope as she recognized the coming hero. Beryl saw Dick lift her from the narrow ledge and begin the perilous downward journey with her arms around his neck.

They reached the second floor in safety, though the ladder swayed unsteadily. Willing hands held it as well as inexperienced people could, but danger threatened every step. Forgetting that she stood among strangers, Beryl clutched some one near. "I can't look!" she cried despairingly. "Oh, if they should fall!"

"Why, Miss Stanhope," answered an amazed, familiar voice, "why are you here?"

She clung to Lindley Wood with a little sob of relief. "Tell me," she begged pitifully.

By the necromancy of intuition he understood. "They are safe," he said, tucking her hand under his arm. "Let me take you home. You are icy cold, Dick is all right," reassuringly.

She trembled violently. To reassure her the artist assumed a light, jesting tone.

"If Dick and Miss Cuyler were not already engaged they will be now," he went on. "How can I manage, I wonder, to make myself appear equally heroic to you, Miss Stanhope?"

"Why?" in a gentle whisper.

"Because I love you," drawing her into the shadow of a building away from the crowd. "I was coming to say it, but it is easier to say it here under the stars than it would be in your lighted rooms. I can better endure your 'No' if you cannot see its effect."

"Your ideal Beryl is a cameo blond," she reminded. "Trim picture"—

"What has my ideal Beryl to do with you?" he interrupted, looking his surprise.

"My name is Beryl," she answered. "Didn't you know?"

"No!" he cried emphatically. And instantly the memory of his words in the studio stood before him in letters of flame. "Tom always calls you Sis, and—and—I believed your initial represented Barbara. A blond Beryl may be my ideal on canvas, but the woman I love and

Yes, he reached the top first, but at the expense of his stockings.

Perhaps this was your boy and you gave him a scolding. But it really wasn't his fault, he wouldn't be normal if he wasn't hard on stockings.

Because we know boys, we designed Buster Brown Stockings. Made them to stand the strenuous use of the average boy.

We knitted them from extra-long yarn made by ourselves to ensure uniform quality. Our employees have had years of special training in knitting Buster Brown quality into hosiery.

We knitted good looks as well as durability into Buster Brown Stockings. They are made to fit—to give a dressy, gentlemanly appearance. They are suitable for any occasion.

Because of all these features, Buster Brown Stockings cost less—and they require less mending.

Sold everywhere. Ask your dealer for Buster Brown durable hosiery.

The hand on his arm tightened gently. "There is no one else," she said softly, "none but you. If you are satisfied I will never again complain or envy my—future sister—her beauty."

"Why should you?" cried he, pressing her to his heart. "Beauty of soul shines from your every lineament, my queen and wife, and—don't you know that you are a true type of dark beauty anyway?"

EGGS AND BUTTER LUXURIES; OUTLOOK FOR NEXT WINTER.

Stocks are going into Cold Storage Slowly and at High Prices, is Official Report.

OTTAWA, June 20. — The cost of living commissioner reports to the Minister of Labour, concerning goods in cold storage and in process of cure for the first of June, excluding Manitoba:

Butter stocks, 2,026,671 pounds of creamery and 146,980 pounds dairy, and increase of 167.5 per cent and 76.95 per cent, respectively, but even so these stocks are 24 per cent. less than a year ago. In other words butter is going into storage more slowly than last year and at very much higher prices. The outlook for next winter is very bad. The oleomargarine stocks are only 351,118 pounds.

Beef Stocks.

The total stocks of beef reported are 26,113,350 pounds, 27.24 per cent. less than a month ago, and 37.9 per cent. more than a year ago. These stocks include 22,563,061 pounds of beef, 2,527974 pounds of unfrozen fresh beef, 583,951 pounds of cured beef, and 439,264 pounds in process of cure.

The stocks of mutton and lamb are reported at 2,030,048 pounds. Of this 2,004,892 pounds are frozen. Comparative figures show this to be 21.82 per cent. less than a month ago and 44.34 per cent. more than a year ago.

The total stocks of poultry in storage reported are 1,950,632 pounds, 31.82 per cent. less than a month ago, and 279.48 per cent. more than a year ago.

The cheese stocks reported are 2,983,438 pounds, 1% per cent. more than last month.

GEN. V. A. S. WILLIAMS DEMOLISHED STATUE

He Would Have Nothing at Fort Henry Made by a German.

The detachment at Fort Henry now consists of about thirty men, although the strength is supposed to be 100 all ranks. It has been found impossible to get men to remain in uniform after their return from the campaign overseas. The men have very little to do in the way of guard duties, and they have the place in fine shape.

The life sized statue of Ariel that was made by the German interned prisoners of war, has been demolished. This was a nude figure in a kneeling posture on a stone pedestal representing the World. It is reported that Brig.-Gen. Williams, G. O. C., upon seeing the statue, inquired where it came from. One of the men replied that it was made by a German. The General thereupon dealt it a violent blow with a heavy rake, saying, "I'll have nothing German about here."

The System Is Poisoned

BY FAILURE OF THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS TO PURIFY THE BLOOD RELIEF OBTAINED BY USE OF DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Too much eating of heavy, highly-seasoned foods and too little outdoor exercise are the most frequent causes. The liver is upset, becomes torpid and inactive, the bowels are constipated, the kidneys are overworked in an effort to get rid of the accumulating poisons and breakdown. Headache, backache, aching limbs sound a warning note, and when this is not heeded the natural development is rheumatism, lumbago, and painful and fatal forms of kidney disease.

To best overcome this condition, Dr. Chase worked out in his private practice a prescription which has come to be known as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their combined action on these filtering organs. No treatment has ever proven so successful in awakening the action of the kidneys, liver, and bowels, and thereby cleansing the system of all impurities. For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a world-wide reputation as the most thorough cure for rheumatism, lumbago, chronic indigestion, and constipation.

Mrs. Alex. Gordon, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "A few years ago I suffered from kidney and liver trouble with pains in my back. I had heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills being good for this, so I commenced taking them. I had only taken a couple of boxes when the trouble was all removed."

Mrs. M. Nickels, 192 Milton Street, Sarnia, writes: "I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills an excellent remedy. I suffered considerably with kidney trouble and backache, but after I had taken five boxes of the Kidney-Liver Pills they gave me relief. Since then, which was about five years ago, I keep them on hand, and use them whenever I feel the need of them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Substitutes will only disappoint. Insist on getting what you ask for.

In the year before the War, Germany sold goods valued at $333,000,000 to the British Empire. Canada's opportunity to get a large share of this is waiting for Canada's action—that is the opinion of the Canadian Trade Commission.

MANITOBA'S GRAND CHAMPION STEER

A profit of $431.30, not counting the cost of labour, was the recompense secured by Jos. Donaldson's Limited, Brandon, for feeding a steer for one year. The steer in question is the grade blue steer Ruby Boy, Grand Champion at the Manitoba Winter Fair and Fat Stock Show, held in Brandon the first week in March. Dan Coughlan, Winnipeg, was the buyer, and it appears as if he obtained good value for his money as Prof. W. H. Pew, of the Agricultural College at Ravenna, Ohio, a noted judge of stock, said the steer was good enough to win the Grand Championship at the International Stock Show in Chicago. This is the premier event on this continent. The steer sold for $1,950, live weight, or 16c a pound.

The calf, a wonderful animal, was the winner at the 1918 Boys' Fat Calf Competition, in Brandon, and at the subsequent sale brought 48c a pound. Ruby Boy is a Manitoba product, sired by Glencarnock Ruple 3892, calved Feb. 27th, 1917. He was raised and fed by A. E. H. Walker, Carnegie, Man., who was twelve years of age when he exhibited this steer at the Manitoba Winter Fair, March, 1918, the late Joseph Donaldson, President of Jos. Donaldson's Limited, Brandon, was the buyer, and the price was 48c a pound, totalling $446.40.

So satisfied with his purchase was he that the late Joseph Donaldson, who handled many thousands of steers in his thirty years' stock feeding in Manitoba, placed the animal under the special care of J. Parkinson, foreman of the Donaldson stock yards with instruction to take care of him and also to keep strict account of the feed. And Parkinson, recognizing the quality of the animal, gave him his best attention. The results were astounding. The average feed per day was as follows:

	Lbs.	Cost.
Hay	3	$0.02
Boiled Barley	6	0.11
Crushed Barley	8	0.14
Crushed Oats	6	0.13
Flax	1	0.03
Turnips	8	0.04
Total	31	$0.52

Total cost of feed for 12 months $190.80

A glance at the ration shows that there is no need to go off the farm to buy the feeds that produce the highest quality steers. What the Donaldson people have done with this steer can be done by others, equally careful in feeding and with equally good animals to feed.

On this ration the steer that at twelve months weighed 930 pounds, made an average gain of fifty pounds a month, nearly two pounds a day, weighing 1,500 pounds at two years of age. The highest gain made in any single month was one hundred pounds and the lowest was twenty.

Then when it came to the sale there was not only the increased weight to display, but at the increased price. The 930 pound steer sold for 48c a pound, but the fifteen hundred pound steer brought 16c, on the hoof, and left Brandon for the new Winnipeg home by the C. P. R.

MARIE CORELLI ON FEMALE YAHOOS

Says Modern Woman Are Ruining Men and Destroying the Nation.

Not woman—not man! What, then, is the strange, uncouth, and unlovely being which, like another Frankenstein's monster, is the detestable product or type evolved from the bitter travail of war? A brainless creature, scantily clothed in fantastic garments of ridiculous cut and flaring colour, that capers aimlessly about like a monkey, swinging from tree to tree, chattering without sense or meaning and laughing loudly like a hyena on the prowl.

This is what our weary returning men from the front have to look upon as the ideal of "home and beauty" for which they faced and fought the foe!

This "new" and shameless thing despises home and parents. "So dull!" it yells—it has no sense of duty, honour, or religion—it is without care or feeling, save to minister to its own vanity—it drinks, smokes, gambles, dances indecently, and extorts money from any and every source it can—it is dead to all "old-fashioned" sentiment, while truly a primitive savage has finer notions of chastity!

"Oh! the pity of it! the pity of it, Iago!"

Time was when Britain was renowned above all other nations for the dignity, modesty, and gracious behaviour of its women; now it has gained, and is still gaining, an unenviable notoriety for the loud vulgarity, effrontery, coarse language, and deplorable manners of its "new sex," who have ceased to be women in the true sense of the word, and are simply "creatures" of unbridled lust and avarice, who openly offer themselves to the passions of men without shame and without remorse.

Girls in their teens, women in their forties, maids and matrons alike all join in the "harpy" dance of disgrace and degradation. Indecent in their dress, conversation and gestures, they resemble Swift's female "yahoos" more than any other imaginative type.

They are ugly in form and feature, and apparently, by their manner of attire and untidy hairdressing, they take a wild pleasure in their ugliness; while all the paint and powder with which they besmirch their hard faces is engendered by a daily life of stupidity and vicious man-hunting.

"A female yahoo," writes Dean Swift, "would often stand behind a bush, or a bank, to gaze on the males passing by, and then appear to them using many antic gestures and grimaces."

Antic gestures and grimaces are quite the stock-in-trade of the "new" sex, combined with raucous voices, shrill laughter, tobacco smoking, and as much bodily nudity as can be risked without intervention of the police.

"Is THIS what we have fought for?" an officer asked as he gazed in pained bewilderment at a "Jazz" dance in one of the popular restaurants and saw several of the "Yahoos" stripped bare down to the waist, and bare up to the knees.

"Where are the real women of England?"

Where, indeed! where are the sweet matrons of tender looks and graceful movement, proud of and devoted to their children? Where are the lovely maidens of dainty manners and delicate breeding, modest, chaste and refined in speech and conduct—they who were devout and pure in thought and feeling, and whose sure stand for God and home built the foundations of Britain's fame! If tears availed, one might weep for the downfall of such sacred womanhood, for it means much more than the downfall of womanhood alone—it means the ultimate ruin of our Empire. For GOD HELP THE CHILDREN BORN OF FEMALE "YAHOOS," they can only be that "generation of vipers" which Our Lord prophesied "should not escape damnation." Vipers to sting the parent nest — vipers to trail their poisonous slime over the rose of England and blight its blossom!

Is it too late to ask women to remember their womanhood, and all the privileges to which that womanhood may aspire? The privilege of loving loyally and faithfully—inspiring men to the best that is in them—of silently influencing the whole world by the spirit of goodness and beauty, by showing such a high and bright example of nobleness and purity in themselves and their lives that wherever evil exists it may shrink and wither in their presence. Is this too much to ask or to expect?

Utter disbelief in God, and the eternal working of the divine law, is at the root of all the evil, and we need to beware how we carry our heresies too far. The woman whose reckless levity and immorality are destroying the better life and aspirations of men will not escape punishment. They are sowing the wind—they will reap the whirlwind!

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DISAPPEARANCE OF RETURNED SOLDIER

MONTREAL, June 21.—The police and military authorities in Eastern Canada are making a careful search to determine what has become of a returned and invalided soldier named Claude Bailey.

After suffering from nervous prostration and pleurisy in France, Private Bailey arrived in Canada and left his home at Dalhousie, N.B., to visit relatives at Racine, Wis. While in the United States this soldier wrote his parents advising them that he was returning home fearing an approach of another breakdown in health. He left Racine on May 18th, buying a ticket to Quebec via Chicago, Port Huron and Montreal. The railway authorities report that the ticket was used from Chicago as far as Port Huron, but after that point no trace has been found of the traveller. His aged parents have been visiting the various cities along the route for some weeks past making inquiries regarding their son, but no news has been obtained of the boy. As he was of quiet and steady disposition it is believed that he has either met with foul play, or having been seized with illness, has lost his identity, and is under treatment in some hospital.

Private Bailey was 28 years old, about five feet eleven inches in height and of dark complexion. At the time he left Racine he carried his military papers and was wearing his service badge.

Any information regarding Private Bailey should be sent to the headquarters of the Great War Veterans' Association at Ottawa.

Why Can't I Get to Sleep?

Thousands of people all over the country ask this question but still continue to toss night after night on a sleepless bed and it is impossible for them to get a full night's refreshing sleep.

Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease, has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quiet ned except by the pernicious use of opiates or narcotics. Or again, you have heart palpitation, and sensation sinking, a feeling you are going to die, or perhaps you wake up in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and the only way that you can get relief is to sit up in bed.

To all who suffer in this way, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer an inestimable boon. They bring back the much needed night's rest by improving the tone of the nerves, strengthen the heart, enriching the blood and making the whole organization act in harmony—then you slee as peaceful as a child.

Mrs. James Latimer, 39 Leinste. St., St. John, N. B., writes: "At night I could not sleep. I had to sit up in bed, my heart beat so fast and when I walked up stairs I would get all out of breath. A friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I can sleep all night, and am not out of breath after walking."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of pric by The T Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Buyer Gets Rare Volume Cheap.

First editions and rare books often bring prices at sales which excite the wonder of the uninitiated, but large as the sums received sometimes are, it often happens that a volume goes for less than had been paid for it by the preceding owner. This is illustrated in the case of a Douay Bible which brought $6,250 at a New York auction sale a short time ago. It had belonged to the collection of the late John D. Crimmins, who had paid $5,565 for it 17 years before. Because of its intrinsic value as a bibliographic rarity, it had increased $685 in that time. But Augustin Daly, from whose estate Crimmins bought the Bible, had spent $20,000 on it in illustrating it with rare prints, original drawings and old engravings of Biblical events, thereby enlarging the original book to 42 volumes. However, the confirmed collector does not usually buy books as an investment, but for the pleasure of owning them, and probably Mr. Daly got $20,000 worth of entertainment in gathering the prints and in extra-illustrating the book.

Rooks in Noisy Conclave.

The ways of rooks in France, somewhere in the army zone, puzzle a correspondent who writes that their behavior at the advent of mild weather was peculiar. They congregated in immense numbers on a few trees near his billet; the trees were literally black with them; every twig and branch was crowded with a screaming mob of birds, that wheeled up and down in great excitement. Sometimes they settled on the fields, but not to feed. The writer surmises that, having on a fine day resolved to visit their old nests, as is their habit, they found that the woodcutters—busy in France as they are in England, had destroyed their nesting sites. The hurly-burly in the trees was probably then due to the rooks all giving their advice simultaneously as to what ought to be done in such untoward circumstances.

Few People Know This

Large doses of pills for the liver are not as efficient as small doses.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

THE FATAL LETTER.

An Ancient Creditor Loses a Dollar, but Mr. Timbers Sees the Ball Game.

The moon was bathing the city in pale light as Midway Timbers dropped the letter in the mail box.

He had hesitated long before taking that action, but now it was over, and he went home to try to sleep.

Several times during the night he awoke vaguely regretting his decisive step, but it was not until morning that he felt the first real pangs of remorse.

"Why did I do it?" he thought. "Why did I do it?"

He dressed feverishly, for now one thought had possession of him. He must get to the box before the early mail collection and induce the mail man to give him back the letter.

It must never be delivered!

Midway Timbers and the mail man reached the box about the same time. For awhile the mail man was obdurate.

"It's as much as my job is worth to give you anything out of that box," he said.

"Man, my life is ruined, do you hear, ruined! I'll tell you what was on it to prove it's mine. 'Madison Skathers, ⅝ Summ place.'"

"Sure enough," said the mail man, "there is one like that. Oh, well, take it. I should worry!"

Five minutes later, in the privacy of his own room, Midway Timbers had torn open the letter and extracted the dollar bill that in a weak moment he had sent to Madison Skathers in settlement of their ancient debt.

"Now I can go to the ball game this afternoon," exulted Timbers.—Pittsburgh Press.

Cause For Friction.

Young Demmons, an adjuster for a big insurance company, was just returning home from a nearby city, where he had been to adjust a loss on a building that had burned, when he met an old friend.

"How did the fire start?" inquired the friend.

"I can't say with certainty," replied the adjuster, "and nobody seemed able to tell. But it struck me it might have been the result of friction."

"Why," asked the friend, "what do you mean by that?"

"Well," said Demmond gravely, "friction sometimes comes from rubbing a $15,000 policy on a $10,000 building."—New York Times.

Temperamental Impulses.

"I guess I'll get a job," said Plodding Pete.

"Great guns!" exclaimed Meandering Mike, "you ain't going to work!"

"Not much. I jes' feel kind o' haughty and independent. I want the pleasure of gettin' one o' these taskmasters in line where I kin say what I like to him an' then resign."—Washington Star.

Must Chew the Pill.

"Is there any way you can suggest by which we can cure her of her infatuation for him?"

"Oh, yes, that's easy. Just"—

"I mean without letting her marry him?"

"Not that I know of."—Houston Post

The Best Thing.

"James got dizzy in the water, and it frightened him."

"It was the best thing which could have happened."

"How do you make that out?"

"If he wasn't dizzy wasn't his hand swimming?"—Oswego Palladium.

One Good Point.

"I'll say this for the prune," remarked the grouchy boarder.

We all listened attentively.

"You can eat it or leave it, and that ends it. You don't find it continually bobbing up as a made over."—Seattle Post Intelligencer.

His Chance.

Magistrate—Can't this case be settled out of court?

Prisoner—Sure, sure. That's what we were trying to do, your honor, when the police interfered.—Philadelphia Press.

The Only Reason.

"Are you hurt?" inquired the kindly old man.

"No; I'm just groaning to let you know I'm alive," whispered the driver from underneath the overturned truck.—Buffalo Express.

He Still Had a Chance.

Mr. Pintopp—They say that men of brains live long.

Miss Keen—Well, don't be discouraged, Mr. Pintopp; all rules have their exceptions, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Not at All.

"Is this outdoor sleeping arrangement you propose tentative?"

"Oh, no. You can take a shack if you don't like the tents."—Baltimore American.

Explained.

When he came in late he said to his waiting wife, "See the nice present I brought you."

"Where is it?"

"Here it is. A point lace handkerchief."

"Oh, ain't it beautiful!"

"Yes, it cost a dollar, marked down to 99 cents."

"My, what a horrible odor!"

"Oh, that's the scent off the dollar!"—Exchange.

Chesterfield on Dress.

"When you are once well dressed for the day," wrote Chesterfield, "think no more of it. Always and without any stiffness or fear of discomposing that dress let all your actions be as easy and natural as if you had no clothes on at all."

An Unkind Retort.

"You made a fool of me!" exclaimed the angry husband.

"Call yourself a fool if you wish, my dear," calmly rejoined his tantalizing placid wife, "but remember that you have always claimed to be a self made man."

Honest, Anyhow.

"So you are marrying the man of your choice?"

"Not exactly the man of my choice; rather the man I could get."

TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL

This Woman Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.

McLean, Neb.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance, as it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since taking it I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise your medicine to all suffering women."—Mrs. JOHN KOPPELMANN, R. No. 1, McLean, Nebraska.

This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been restoring women of America to health for more than forty years and it will well pay any woman who suffers from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" to give this successful remedy a trial.

For special suggestions in regard to your ailment write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

WATERLOO CO. JUDGE FOREGOES COURT GOWNS

Ukrainian Admits Assault but furnishes Bonds and is Let Go.

KITCHENER, June 19. — At the County Criminal Court yesterday His Honor Judge Hearn announced that during the hot weather the court would forego the formality of court gowns in favor of comfort.

Nick Marchuck, who pleaded guilty to assault, and who was brought up for sentence, was allowed to go on suspended sentence after he had furnished bonds for $200 to keep the peace for one year. Marchuck and his wife, both Ukrainians, assaulted a fellow countryman who lives near them in Hespeler. Marchuck and his wife spent a week in jail, and as a result made up their minds that if they got off this time there would be no further assaults. The defendant was represented by McBride and Mackenzie of Waterloo.

Held a Re-union.

The Soldiers' News Club held a reunion at the home of Miss Graham on Friday evening. A pleasant evening was spent and the girls decided that they would rather not disband but would begin work again in the autumn for the relief work which will be very much needed. This little band of girls began in October, 1915, in a small way by making news from home budgets for the Lakefield soldiers overseas. In 1916 the society, with an increased membership formally organized and in the winter of 1917 presented the patriotic play entitled, "The Making of Canada's Flag" and raised sufficient money to purchase and send seventy-four parcels of maple sugar to Lakefield men overseas. The following winter, 1918, the Club presented another patriotic play, "Britannia's Daughters" and sufficient money was received to send ninety-four parcels of maple sugar overseas. The numerous letters of thanks from Lakefield men proved the worth of the undertaking, as maple sugar was a coveted luxury in both France and England, where sweets were scarce. The girls had begun practising a new play, "The Wooing of Miss Canada," to be given in February, 1919, but the burning of the town hall and the difficulty of procuring a suitable hall prevented the concert being given. No patriotic society deserves more credit than these young girls who cheerfully denied themselves pleasure in order to work for the soldiers.

CATTLE MARKET

Packers took advantage of an unsatisfactorily large run of cattle yesterday [illegible] compared with last week. The decline chiefly affected the heavier butcher steers and heifers, the light handy butcher stuff holding more nearly steady, but inclined easier. The fact that H. P. Kennedy was again operating for the choicest heavy loads for export helped the market, as otherwise the decline would doubtless have been more pronounced.

Fat cows about steady.

Calves, choice, steady.

Spring lambs steady. Sheep dull.

Hog market looks easier for this week, though contract hogs in to-day sold at last week's closing prices. Packers are bidding a dollar lower for to-day's market.

Specks Floating Before His Eyes

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything turns black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you may rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of a medicine that will clear away all the waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent as well as cure all the troubles arising from this accumulated mass which has collected in the system.

Keep the bowels open by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no liver trouble of any kind. They will clear away all the waste and effette matter which has collected and make the liver active and working properly.

Mr. John R. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N.S., writes: "Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach, and had specks floating before my eyes. I took five vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which cured and cleaned my blood before any [illegible] of them. I told my friends [illegible] and they [illegible] since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Every Wage Earner An Investor

Every wage earner can be an investor in gilt-edged securities bearing a high rate of interest without sacrifice or worry.

The plan is so simple and secure that it commends itself to everybody.

All of us spend a portion of our earnings thoughtlessly. It is human nature. Yet most of us would be glad if someone would take the money we frittter away and save it for us, because we find it difficult to save it ourselves.

Make your employer do it by means of War Savings Stamps. Say to him: "I want you to take five per cent. of the money in my pay envelope each week and buy me Thrift Stamps. Then with each $4.00 worth of Thrift Stamps buy me a War Savings Stamp. When you have bought each War Savings Stamp, put it in my envelope. Go on doing that for a year."

That is all. Your mind is free. You will not miss that 75 cents or that dollar which you have hitherto squandered on trifles.

But at the end of the year you will have a little package of War Savings Stamps, each bearing the $5.00 mark, but which have cost you but a few cents over $4.00 each. These Canada will redeem in 1924.

DIVERS SALVAGE BODIES FROM STR. PRINCESS SOPHIA.

Canadian Press:

JUNEAU, Alaska, June 19.—Three divers who returned here from the wreck of the C.P.R. steamer Princess Sophia, believed they could raise the vessel this summer. The Sophia went down last fall in Lynn Canal, north of here, with all on board, 342 persons.

The divers brought back sixteen bodies they found aboard. Among the identified were: G. L. Sholseth, Skagway, Alaska; T. N. Turner, Oditaroad, Alaska; Claude O. Farris, W. McLennan, Thomas Legaz, all of the Sophia's crew.

Thomas McMahon, Flat Creek, Alaska; Robert M. McLachlan, Dawson; Sunny Smith, Atlin; M. Colver, Forty Mile Creek; R. H. Davis, Orville, Calif.

About half a dozen other bodies were found by the divers. They will be brought here soon.

EPSOM OUT OF BOUNDS.

Inquiry to be Held Into Recent Canadian Riots.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, June 20. — The order made Wednesday closing all Epsom public houses has been revoked, the Magistrates being assured that the military now have the situation thoroughly in hand. Epsom is now out of bounds for Canadians, and civilians are also forbidden near the camp, a double guard being posted in the outskirts.

Colonel Guest, the Camp Commandant, told The Daily Mail "there will be a Court of Inquiry immediately."

The newspaper comments express regret at the splendid Canadian record being tarnished by untoward incidents like that of Epsom. The Daily Chronicle says blindly that the outrages are intolerable.

AERIAL POLICE SOON

Not many years from now every well-equipped police department will have its airplane patrol. At Atlantic City the other day, New York's aerial police made a demonstration in which a man stole an automobile from a "park" near the grand stand and a police patrol in an aeroplane located and caught the thief out in the country within a very few minutes. Airplane patrols will be absolutely essential in big cities because thieves and outlaws will soon be employing airplanes to further their nefarious work.

LUXURY IN EGYPT.

Lavish Display of Wealth During the Tour of the Khedive.

The Khedive's tour through the Delta, which his highness recently completed, has shown in a remarkable manner the wealth of the landowners in the provinces of the Nile.

In many places private individuals decorated the roads over which the khedive motored for distances of several miles.

Coffee was served in cups worth £600; the chair in which the khedive sat during brief visits to country houses had in many cases cost from £100 to £200.

One pasha who entertained the khedive for half an hour is alleged to have spent £10,000 on the preparations, while another borrowed cannon from the Egyptian army and fired a salute as his highness arrived.

In many places the crowds were so great that the khedival motorcar was unable to proceed. Frequently the fellaheen (peasants) kissed the car to demonstrate their loyalty.

Altogether the Delta has not witnessed such celebrations for a generation, since the time of Ismail.—London Standard.

Unkind Reflection.

Second Soldier—Well, personally, I think the one of you in the gas mask is the best.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Treatment of Burns.

Don't thrust a burned foot or hand into cold water—it relieves for a moment, only to be followed by an increase of pain, peeling off of the cuticle and very frequently by ulceration of the wound. Don't tie up in a dry cloth; all woven material is porous and admits air. Don't drag off the clothing. If it must be removed, carefully cut it off. If that can be done without tearing the skin. Don't rub or cut off the hanging skin. Your object when called upon to treat a burn is at once to exclude air. For this purpose nothing is better than oil of some sort. Paraffin is not a bad thing, or vaseline, or common olive oil, or lard and butter, if both be entirely without salt.

BARBERRY CAUSES RUST

Provincial Campaign Advocated to Destroy This Shrub.

Currant and Gooseberry Worms Causes Great Losses.—How to Identify It—Simple Measures of Control—Spraying With Arsenate of Lead Solution Most Effective.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE Barberry should not be tolerated by the farmers of Ontario. It is a thief in their midst, which every year takes money from their pockets, by increasing the amount of rust upon their grain, and thus reducing their crops.

The Barberry Increases the Amount and Severity of Rust.

It is not necessary to go into the complicated life-history of the fungus which causes stem rust of grain. Scientists have known for many years that one phase of its life-cycle is passed on the Barberry, and all who have made a study of this matter agree that the amount and severity of stem rust is very much increased by the presence of the Barberry in the neighborhood of grain fields. While scientists do not expect to see rust entirely disappear if the Barberry is destroyed, the general consensus of opinion is that if it were completely exterminated the chances of severe epidemics of stem rust occurring would be greatly reduced.

Enforce the Law Regarding the Barberry.

In Ontario legislation has been passed regarding the destruction of this shrub. Let all concerned realize that the Barberry does increase the amount and severity of stem rust and a sentiment will be created for the enforcement of the present act. This act should be enforced. The Barberry in Ontario should be destroyed. There is strong evidence to show that Barberry bushes are centres of infection which in wet seasons may give rise to severe epidemics of rust.

The Common Barberry and Its Purple-leaved Variety the Culprits.

The Common Barberry and its purple-leaved variety harbor grain rust. The average man does not know this shrub when he sees it. It is a spiny shrub from six to nine feet high, with yellow woody arching branches and gray twigs. The leaves are bright green, smooth, somewhat oval, from one to three inches long, the margins with bristly teeth. The flowers are small, yellow and borne in long, drooping clusters. The berries are oblong, red and sour. The purple-leaved variety is similar except for the color of the leaves, which are purple. Unfortunately, the Barberry has been much planted in some sections of Ontario for ornamental purposes and has become wild in many localities.

The Japanese Barberry Harmless.

If Barberries are required for ornamental shrubs the low growing, small leaved Japanese Barberry (Berberis thunbergii, D.C.) may be planted, as this species does not harbor the rust.—Prof. J. E. Howitt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Currant and Gooseberry Worm.

The most common insect enemy of currants and gooseberries is the Currant and Gooseberry Worm. The larva is a greenish caterpillar, about two-thirds of an inch long when full grown, with a black head and numerous black spots over the body. The larvae attack the foliage of gooseberries and of red and white currants but seldom injure that of black currants. At first they work chiefly in the central part of the bush, stripping the leaves nearly all off there, and doing much damage before they are observed. Later they may devour the foliage any place. It is common to see nearly all the leaves eaten off numerous bushes.

The life history of the insect is as follows:—The adults,—which are known as Sawflies—are small four-winged flies, about a quarter of an inch in length. The female has the abdomen yellowish and the rest of the body blackish in color. The male is for the most part blackish or black. The flies appear in spring very soon after the leaves have expanded. Eggs are laid on the under surface of the leaves in chains along the main veins. The young larvae on hatching feed upon the foliage and become full grown in two or three weeks. Then they drop to the ground and form little cases in which they pupate. A new brood of flies emerge, lay their eggs and from these there comes a second brood of larvae, which may be seen on the plants at the time when the currants are ripe. When these larvae are full grown they enter the soil, form little cases or cocoons, and remain there till the next year, when they pupate and emerge as adults.

Method of Control.—These are easy insects to kill. All currant bushes and gooseberries should be sprayed with from two to three pounds arsenate of lead paste or half that amount of the powder form in forty gallons of water as soon as the leaves have become well expanded. Particular care should be taken to spray thoroughly the inner parts of the bush. This will kill all the first brood. If a second brood appears hellebore should be used instead of arsenate of lead, in the proportion of one ounce to one gallon of water. Arsenate of lead would be dangerous on the ripe fruit. The insect occurs everywhere in the province, and everyone should prevent his plants being weakened and seriously injured by it, especially as it is so easy to control.

Three Great Batters.

There are a number of fanciers who can hit almost any style of pitching. Christy Mathewson says that Hans Wagner's only weakness is a base on balls; that giving him his base usually prevents him from hitting a double, triple or a home run. And in this connection, Eddie Plank, the Athletics' great left hander recently made a most novel comparison in discussing the relative merits of those two great batters, Larry Lajoie and Ty Cobb. "Ty makes you put them over, and then hits them safe," said Eddie, "while Lajoie hits them a mile whether they are over or not."—Billy Evans in St. Nicholas.

Washing With Ozone.

Ozone water, for washing machinery used in making foods and drinks, is a new idea for sterilizing, so as to avoid any traces of poisonous or objectionable disinfectants. The ozone will kill all the bacteria, but will completely disappear on airing, and the knowledge that it is used adds to the attraction of the food product.

One of its good points is that it will not injure rubber; therefore it may be used to sterilize hose. Ozone, in the form of gas, is also coming into use abroad to keep cold storage plants sweet.—Saturday Evening Post.

HERE'S a welcome to the returned soldier and his bride. May their wedded life be a long and happy one.

If she is a "British Bride" she will be very fond of tea—and good tea, at that.

She will first be attracted to Red Rose Tea by the name which will remind her of the "Red Rose" of "Old England".

And when she tries it she will again be reminded of the "Homeland", for she will find Red Rose Tea the same kind of Tea that she has used at home—a rich, full-flavored blend, consisting chiefly of ASSAM teas grown in British-owned plantations in northern India.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Some Private Inquiries

A Hunt For a Cause For Divorce.

By MARIE BELLOCQFF.

There were compliments, congratulations and showers of rice and slippers when Livingston Perry and Marjory Manners were wed. Some people actually said it was a love match and that the honeymoon would last for years. Only some people said that, however. Others knew it to be simply a fashionable wedding.

In this case the skeptical ones soon had reason to say, "I told you so!" There were various little things that brought it about, but the principal one was that after three months of extremely conventional politeness Mr. and Mrs. Perry discovered that they were not suited to each other.

Both were full of opinion, and both were stubborn. Both were extravagant. Both felt the loss of personal freedom. Feeling thus, it was easy to find fault, and fault finding soon led to more serious things.

They declared an armed truce for another three months, and then each decided that separation was inevitable. Still, husbands and wives cannot very well separate without some reasonable excuse, to give to their friends.

Marjory couldn't think of one, and Livingston was in the same predicament.

On the same day and almost at the same hour a bright thought struck this unhappy couple simultaneously it was to hire somebody to investigate and find the valid excuses that were needed.

They had known each other for a year and a half previous to marriage, but, after all, that was nothing. For reality had prevented each one from even knowing what relatives the other had outside of Marjory's matchmaking mamma and Livingston's rather ill different father. Her hand had been kissed, a declaration of love made, the engagement announced and that was the whole story of their lovemaking.

There must have been something in the life of each to give the other the advantage sought for. The—way to discover it was through a private inquiry agency—"inquiries made, the past investigated; secret, honorable, experienced agents, terms reasonable."

"Why, of course," thought Marjory. "Easiest thing in the world." thought Livingston. It didn't so happen that both husband and wife called for the services of the same agency, but the investigators began to work at about the same time. And while they were investigating there was a continuation of the truce between husband and wife.

It was the calm before the storm. They were so placid and pliable that at times, many times during each day, they seemed to have reached the point where they appreciated each other.

Some of their dearest friends almost feared that the couple wouldn't separate after all, and thus another choice subject for brilliant conversation would be lost to society.

After about four weeks an official looking letter was delivered to the husband at his club. He had been waiting for just such a letter, and he was so anxious to see its contents that he glanced only carelessly at the superscription.

His first surprise came a moment later when he saw the words "Dear Madam" swimming before his eyes. Now, he was not a "dear madam." Yet he went right on and read that private inquiry report to the end.

"We find that your husband was known to have a very bad temper as far back as twenty years ago," wrote the investigator. "People who know him best are a unit in agreeing that he is very selfish by nature and hopelessly tenacious of his opinions.

"His overbearing disposition," continued the report, "has alienated many friends and several relatives. In one instance, during his bachelorhood days, he nearly threw a dish at his cook and would have inflicted serious injury had he made good his threat, as there is every reason to believe he might have done.

"We have it from his ex-valet that he arose several times at midnight to wander around his room or smoke cigarettes, as if greatly worried. This should be a strong point for a good lawyer to work up."

Livingston Perry felt rather flat when he had read so far. It struck him that, as seen by others, he was hardly what could be called an exciting character.

"Smokes fifteen cent cigars, drinks the most expensive wines, pays his club dues, owes no cab hire and unfortunately has not even a tailor bill over six months old. Still, this might be shown to prove extravagance," was the next thrilling remark. Then he whistled. He had at last struck an exciting paragraph. It was: "A few weeks ago he was seen in his club poring earnestly over a work on toxicology. We are sure that in this discovery we have furnished you with a terribly strong point. Your lawyer will know at once what to do with this."

Livingston Perry did not know whether to laugh or swear when he remembered that he had tried to read the book to oblige the author, his college friend, Dr. Grayson.

"We have, dear madam," ended the find it dull then, but since I've been leading the life of a soldier I see things differently.

"Of course I'll be glad to stick around years—ten years, the rest of my life—if I thought in that way I could win you eventually. But I know you have made up your mind. Well, I was making plans; and I was thinking that as soon as war is over I'll sell out what interest I have in property here and make for the West. I spent a little time on a sheep ranch in Wyoming once, and I know a fellow out there that could help me buy in to advantage. So I'm going to make for the wilds as soon as ever peace comes, whether it is next week or next year. I wanted to tell you—and ask if you thought I wasn't right.

"I hope you don't think I was a brute for feeling that spirit of regret," he asked penitently. "I can't understand it exactly, but until I thought of this western scheme I was as blue as indigo. After all, in spite of the hell we have to go through, it appeals to some of us more than we realize. I want to go on fighting—and there is more chance to fight in the life out there than there is here."

Doris had listened intently, and her breathing, fast and irregular, betrayed the intense interest she was taking in her companion's disjointed explanations.

"Would you need—need to wear woolen socks?" she asked.

"Woolen socks? Why, of course. Catch me ever going back to those silk things with thin shoes after I've known what it is to dress like a regular man."

"And out there—I suppose you'd live in a little cabin at first and you'd have to have your baking done right there and a lot of canning and everything and there would be lots of work to do for some one."

"Well, there's that, of course," and the captain's face registered a slight look of unhappiness. "Perhaps I could get some old couple to do the work for me—it wouldn't be like having a home, but perhaps I could get used to it."

"There would be all sorts of work for the—the woman you married, wouldn't there?" faltered Doris.

"Don't worry," and the captain did not conceal the fact of his annoyance at this question. "I have no idea of asking any woman to share that life with me—you are kind to show concern for my possible wife, I assure you, but it isn't at all necessary."

"But Robert—well, you see I was thinking this very morning that, although I was so happy that the war is going to be over, yet I'd be so miserable when I didn't have to make socks and work hard and can fruit and things. I have really been happy doing what I have done—and, if you'd forgive me for changing my mind—and if you really haven't made any other arrangements, well—I know that I've always really loved you."

A cheaper truck is Foolish Economy—a heavier truck Extravagance

ANALYSE the work your truck must do and you'll invest in the Maxwell. Because the Maxwell is the economical buy—from every angle.

Heavier trucks than the Maxwell there are. They cost more to buy—from 100 to 400 per cent more. They cost more to operate.

Yet they can do only 10 to 20 per cent more work. Obviously they do not give the same value as the Maxwell.

For the Maxwell is a ton-and-a-half job—will carry four out of every five loads conveyed by horse or motor. Ten foot loading space—big enough for a ton-and-a-half of sewer pipe, fifty bushels of wheat, or an overload of hay.

Lighter trucks than the Maxwell there are—trucks that take more time, more fuel to handle the same load as the Maxwell. And they lack the complete equipment of the Maxwell.

Even trucks that have the same capacity as the Maxwell cost several hundred dollars more. And specification data will prove to you that the Maxwell is through and through a better job.

The best scientific engineering brains on the continent have developed the Maxwell. It is not a mere assembled job. Quantity production on a sound manufacturing basis has kept its cost amazingly low.

Orchid Vandals.

Much value in little space is found in rare orchids. One sold in London the other day for $7,500. A dispatch describing the orchid show at which this sale took place says: "Most of the valuable orchids were exhibited behind a grille the doors of which were securely padlocked. In former years it has been found that the zeal of collectors often dulls their sense of absolute honesty and valuable orchids have frequently been returned to their owners robbed of their pollen."

"No More Pyrenees."

News comes that the international Pyrenean tunnel between France and Spain is finished. When France and Spain agreed thirty-seven years ago, that two railway routes should be carried over the mountain wall, one by way of an international tunnel, the War Minister of each country protested against the proposal.

This new undertaking will open up communication between the valley of the great Spanish River Ebro and the French Midi and part of Central France. At the French terminus the line through the tunnel will connect with the railway of the Ariege Valley, from Ax to Toulouse. A station upon this line is Tarascon, the home of Alphonse Daudet's delightful Tartarin. As a tributary of the Garonne, the Ariege gives access to the valley of that river at the head of whose sea-like estuary stands the great port of Bordeaux.

Perhaps since "there are no more Pyrenees," we may be able to add, "there are no more Dover Straits,' and Londoners may take train at Charing Cross and roll into the valley of the Spanish Ebro without change of cars.

Prefer Tigers to Pigs.

A curious instance of the bad result often obtained by tampering with nature's balance is contained in a recent communication by an Indian official to the effect that the campaign against tigers in several places in India has resulted in the enormous increase of wild pigs, which are doing great damage to crops. The native farmers are forced to watch their fields carefully at an increased expense. This damage and increased expense must be taken into consideration in fixing the new land tax, and thus the strange situation exists that by the destruction of the tigers the farmers may be out of pocket.—Cornhill Reader.

MANITOBA METHODIST CONFERENCE EXPELLS LABOR LEADER FROM THE MINISTRY.

(By W. R. Plewman.

Winnipeg, June 19. — The Manitoba Methodist Conference expelled Rev. William Ivens from the Methodist Church and required him to relinquish immediately his parchment and insignia of office as a minister of the Gospel. The expulsion takes effect at once.

The conference held over the case of Rev. A. E. Smith, of Brandon. He requested a year's leave of absence to take charge of the Labor Church at Brandon, and was refused.

Mr. Ivens is no longer entitled to use "Reverend" before his name. The process by which he was expelled is known as "Locating," a delegate explained. When for some reason a Methodist minister ceases to be fit for stationing, he is placed on "location"—that means that the conference refused to station him, and demands that he sever his connections as an active member of the ministry.

If Mr. Ivens should desire in future to return to the ministry he will have to pass the regular examination of the divinity student. He would be considered as a new candidate, some of the delegates said.

The motion that Ivens be "located" was carried by a large majority. The official reason for "location" was that Ivens is unwilling to accept a station in Manitoba. He was granted a year's leave of absence in 1918 to take over the Labor Church in Winnipeg.

That $1000 be made as a special grant to the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition.

That the Clerk be authorized to prepare a by-law to borrow $14,000, at 5½, by debenture issue, said debentures to be twenty equal annual payments for permanent work.

The committee recommended the following:

That the sum of $50 be granted to Smith to be expended on the road in front of House of Refuge.

That $150 be granted to Harvey to improve North Buckhorn road, on condition Harvey expended $150 and the Provincial Government $300, on said road.

That Messrs. Darling and Nichols have Douglas' bridge, (Dummer,) repaired.

That 50% of the contruction of Clements' bridge, (Warsaw,) be borne by the country.

That the Electric Light Company, Havelock, be requested to refrain from keeping stop logs other than necessary at Burnt Mill Bridge, (Belmont.)

That Messrs. Nichols, Darling and Brown be authorized to have Girven's bridge rebuilt.

That Messrs. Nichols, Eason, Brown and Squire, have Birdsall bridge, (Asphodel), rebuilt.

That the county bear 50% of the cost of rebuilding Freeman's bridge, (Belmont.)

That Messrs. Warden, Nichols, Brown and Squire, have Alma street Bridge, Norwood, rebuilt.

That the county bear 50% of the cost of repairs to Cedar Lake bridge, (Burleigh.)

That the chairman have Salmon Creek bridge inspected and report at the fall session unless immediate repairs are necessary. Also inspect Molyneaux bridge at the same time.

That at the time Hynes and Apsley bridges are being inspected the committee inspect depot bridge and report at the fall session.

That Havelock be granted $150 to be expended on street improvement.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, cold; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficent to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not disturb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

MANY WOMEN SAW JOE BECKETT WIN.

He Knocked Frank Goddard Out in Two Rounds in London.

LONDON, June 19.—Twelve thousand men and women say Joe Beckett win the British heavyweight championship by knocking out Frank Goddard in the second round of a twenty-round bout at the Olympia Athletic Club. They fought for a purse of $25,000.

Beckett, who was stopped by Goddard several months ago, was immediately matched to meet Georges Carpentier for the European title, September 2.

Included in the spectators were several members of the nobility. Captain Alcock and Lieut Brown, the trans-Atlantic aviators, also were present. Thousands of men and women, unable to gain admittance to the crowded hall, waited in the streets outside for news of the result.

It Took Years To Learn

That in Dr. Chase's Ointment There Is Positive Cure for Piles or Hemorrhoids.

Reports come to us almost daily from persons who have suffered 10, 20, 30 years or more from piles or hemorrhoids before finding out that Dr. Chase's Ointment affords immediate relief and ultimate cure for this annoying and distressing ailment.

This is not a trouble about which people care to speak, but if you ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Ointment, you will be surprised to hear how many have been cured of piles by its use. It is the one treatment for piles on which you can depend absolutely for prompt relief.

Mr. B. F. Tracy, Minesing, Ont., writes: "For about thirty-five years I was troubled with itching piles, which kept me from sleep until I was completely worn out. Then at length I would drop off to sleep and rub myself raw. I tried every kind of ointment made, without any permanent good. I also tried a homeopathic doctor, but only had momentary relief from his treatments. Three years ago I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and about half a box completely cured me. I have never been troubled with piles since, and can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to anyone suffering from this terrible agony or from any other skin disease."

("This is to certify that the above statement is correct in every particular."—Rev. H. Berry, pastor, Methodist Church.)

Mr. H. B. MacDonald, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "Having suffered from piles for some time, I finally tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, which afforded almost instant relief, and in time, cure. I have great faith in Dr. Chase's Ointment, and think it superior to any ointment on the market. I would advise anyone suffering from piles to give it a trial."

Many continue to suffer from piles in the belief that a surgical operation is the only cure. Fortunately, Dr. Chase's Ointment is available, and has saved many thousands from the risk and expense of the doctor's knife. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or by mail postpaid, from Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

DEATH PENALTY FOR CHILD SLAYER

Murdered His Five Children at Moose Jaw.

Walter Edward Bromley, who murdered his five children at Moose Jaw on September 17 last, was on May 15 sentenced to be hanged by Justice Lamont, the death sentence to be carried out on August 21st next. Justice Lamont's words to the accused were: "Bromley, stand up. You have been found guilty by the jury, of the charge of the murder on September 17th last, of your five little children. Have you anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be passed upon you?"

"Nothing," replied Bromley, in a clear, firm voice.

"The crime you have committed," continued Justice Lamont, "is a most atrocious one, and the evidence satisfies me as it has satisfied the jury that you are guilty. There was no evidence to justify a verdict that you were insane, and I have no option and cannot deal with the jury's recommendation for mercy, the code compelling the judge to pass sentence of death. Any clemency that may be extended to you will have to come from the Department of Justice, Ottawa.

"The sentence of the court, therefore, is that you shall be taken from here to the Regina jail, and there imprisoned until the 21st day of August, when you shall be taken forth and hanged by the neck until dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

With but one gasp of horror, the accused sank to his seat, and was shortly afterward led away.

Bromley's Confession.

"About 6.30 on the evening of the 17th of September, 1918, my wife put all the children to bed except Norman and went down town to a picture show. I was sitting in the kitchen reading. The boy was annoying me as he would not go to bed. He was upstairs, and I was afraid he would waken the other children. I shouted to him several times to be quiet, but he still kept on. Then before I realized what I was doing I grabbed my razor which was in the kitchen (you have got it here) and rushed upstairs and took hold of my boy while he was in the centre bedroom and cut his throat and then covered him up with the bedclothes. I felt then I could not leave my other four children with my wife, so I took the twins and placed them on top of the boy and cut their throats. I then went into the other bedroom and did the same with the other two children. I intended to destroy myself, but I got sick and had to leave the room. I then went to meet my wife and told her."

The unanimous verdict of the jury was "Guilty," with a recommendation for mercy, and their consideration of the evidence took but one hour and forty minutes.

HAY FEVER SUFFERER

Tells How He Found Relief. It Might Pay Others to Try the Remedy.

Milville, N. J.—"I was run down could not sleep at night and entirely wornout with Hay Fever. I have charge of Golf Links, but had to lay off for weeks at a time. My druggist asked me to try Vinol. Three bottles entirely cured me and I am healthier and stronger than I have been for twenty years. Every person who suffers from Hay Fever should try Vinol."—Sam'l Flickinger.

WHAT RELEASED MURDERERS DO

Some Write Their Life Stories and Make Money.

Horace Rayner, who has just been released after serving twelve years' penal servitude for the murder of William Whiteley, is going to emigrate and start life afresh, away from the scenes which have left such an indelible impression on his life.

According to the Rev. John Pitkin, who was the prison chaplain at the time, John Lee, the man whom the authorities tried three time unsuccessfully to hang, became a barman after his release from prison in 1907. Many people used to go to the public house where he was serving, just to be served by a released murderer!

He added to his income by writing an account of his experiences after being released. His example has been followed by several released murderers.

Everybody knows the famous pair of murderers Burke and Hare, who killed people for the sake of the amount which their bodies would fetch. Burke was hanged and Hare released. Many and many a time afterwards he must have wished that he had been fortunate enough to be hanged.

After his release he obtained work under a false name at a lime burner's. By some means his true identity became known to his fellow-workers, who promptly set upon him and threw him into one of the kilns.

He was rescued in time to preserve his wretched life, but the lime had destroyed the sight of both of his eyes. Eventually he wandered through London streets for many years as a blind beggar, and eventually died to the utmost poverty and misery.

Most readers will remember the famous Penge mystery in which the Stautons were tried and condemned to death for starving to death Mrs. Louis Stauton. One of the Stautons died in prison not long after his conviction, but his wife, who had been condemned with him, lived to make a successful living. Louis Stauton himself, after his release, married again was given £100 by the Counsel who defended him, and started in a prosperous business, trying to forget the terrible times he had been through.

Most released murderers, in fact, promptly change their names and do all within their power to retrieve the past, and make up for their lost years in prison.

CAN'T PAY ALL LOSSES.

French Budget Head Says Huns Can't Cover Damage.

Canadian Press:

PARIS, June 21.—In discussing the proposed budget for the coming year in the Chamber of Deputies, Raoul Peret, head of the Budget Committee, said that it was impossible to expect Germany to meet the cost of rehabilitating regions devastated during the war.

"We don't know, and shall not know for a long time, the exact sum the enemy must pay to victorious France," he said. "The treaty of peace gives no precise information on that point. As it is, the Reparations Commission has the right to remit part or all of Germany's debt."

AFFECT IN CANADA

EACH DOMINION IS A SIGNATORY TO THE PEACE TREATY.

TRADE RESUMED

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, June 24.—The question of the signing of the peace terms and the ratification thereof, is liable to have an important effect upon the sessional programme of the Canadian Parliament. Under the old condition of affairs Great Britain's ratification would have been good for the whole of the Empire, but these conditions are changed, and each Dominion is a signatory to the treaty. Just as soon as the peace terms are signed by Germany, the French government will despatch copies to each of the countries involved for their ratification. Such ratification is to be made by parliament, and until each individual part of the empire engaged in the war so ratifies the treaty, the anomalous position will exist of one part of the empire still being in a state of war with Germany, while other parts are at peace. The latter would be able to participate in the trade which would ensue, the former would not. It will probably be six or eight weeks after the signing of peace before Australia can ratify the treaty. Canada might wait until the sister Dominion approves, in which case it would not be necessary to delay prorogation of the present session of Parliament since an early fall session could be called for the purpose, but on the other hand the United States will undoubtedly secure ratification of the terms at the earliest possible date so that the channels of trade with the enemy countries may be opened, so that the anomalous position would arise whereby Canada would be able to participate in trade, while the United States would be at peace, and in active participation. It is possible therefore that if there is an immediate signing of the peace by Germany, the present session may continue until such time as Canada can ratify the treaty.

FUNERAL ORATION

ASSEMBLY WEEPS OVER REMAINS OF DEAR DEPARTED GERMANY.

WILL ACCEPT

By Carl D. Groat.
(United Press.)

WEIMAR, June 24.—The National Assembly to-day voted overwhelmingly in favour of signing the peace treaty, after Chancellor Bauer had announced the Cabinet's intention to accept terms without reserve. The decision was arrived at in a meeting of the Assembly, which resembled a funeral more than anything else, although a strain of something approaching the heroic ran through the proceedings. Bauer, clad in a black suit and wearing a black necktie, struggled through a speech which constituted a funeral oration over Germany's grandiose plans of 1914. He declared that even out of dark hours which he pictured ahead, a better future might grow through a world revolution. But even a world revolution could not better Germany's plight, he said, unless the treaty was revised.

Other speakers followed Bauer's cue, and an air of gloom pervaded the meeting.

News of the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow arrived during the session and met with startling differences of opinion. Many delegates hailed it as a heroic exemplification of the German spirit, but others regarded it as a useless demonstration that would add to Germany's financial burden. An orchestra in a beer garden across the street played doleful airs that were wafted into the hall, adding to the funeral setting. Philip Scheidemann, whom Bauer succeeded as German Chancellor, was absent, but other members of the old regime were seated on the stage. Townsfolk crowded the galleries. Rumours were circulated to-day that the Bauer Cabinet had been overthrown, but these proved to be untrue.

STREET CARS STILL IDLE IN TORONTO

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 24.—Indications are that the Toronto Railway Company is in no hurry to begin the operation—or partial operation—of the car service. There were no signs this morning of any attempt to run the cars, unless it was the absence from headquarters of some of the main officials of the company. It is currently reported that the company has between 150 and 200 men who are willing to take a chance and operate the cars. Of course this is less than a tenth of the number of men necessary to operate the service, and the service provided by such a small force would be pitifully inadequate. The Lansdowne car barns to-day present the appearance of a fort, with every window barred and boarded up on the outside. Ten policemen are on duty around the premises. The activities of the strike breakers, said to number 100, inside the barns, are being watched with interest by about 150 of the striking members of the union. The strike breakers do not leave the barns, and they are fed and housed on the premises. There was a feeling among the strikers that an effort might be made to get cars out some time during the day.

"THE PROMOTER'S WIFE" WILL START IN EXAMINER TO-MORROW

To-morrow The Examiner will start another Serial Story by Jane Phelps, "The Promoter's Wife." It tells the story of Neil Forbes, self-styled promoter, who marries Barbara Hill, a very charming girl, who has no business ideas. Barbara, or "Bab," thinks her husband a very wonderful business man, but the story tells how this promoter's business was run. It tells of their luxurious home, run on millionaire lines, and then finally the crash which is inevitable. Barbara engineers the wreck and makes a new life for them founded upon very different lines, and which ultimately brings happiness. The story is in the form of an autobiography with Barbara telling her own story.

"I'VE BEEN WAITING FORTY YEARS FOR THIS," SAID PREMIER CLEMENCEAU

CELEBRATIONS OVER GERMANY'S ACCEPTANCE OF PEACE CONDITIONS WERE HELD THROUGHOUT THE CITY LAST NIGHT—PREMIER DIRECTED THE FIRING OF THE FIRST GUN.

(By Fred S. Ferguson, United Press.)

PARIS, June 24.—The formal signing of the Peace Treaty will take place on Thursday or Friday in Versailles, it was indicated in official circles to-day.

Secretary Dutasta, of the Peace Conference, suggested to Herr Von Iersner that the ceremony take place on Thursday, but it was later said that the ceremony might be deferred until Friday.

Herr Dunker, a member of the German Peace delegation in Versailles, said that while Secretary Von Hanel had been empowered to sign, he believed that Mathias Erzberger, chairman of the German Armistice Commission, and Vice-Chancellor in the new Bauer Cabinet, would come to Versailles for that purpose. In either case, it appeared that Germany would be represented by a single signatory.

Celebrations over Germany's acceptance of the Peace conditions, were held throughout the city last night, assuming the proportions of the Armistice Day demonstrations. Premier Clemenceau directed the firing of the first gun announcing Germany's acceptance remarking, "I've been waiting forty years for this."

SETTLEMENT IN WINNIPEG STRIKE EXPECTED TO-DAY

PREMIER CLEMENCEAU INTENDS TO RESIGN

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 24. — Premier Clemenceau has expressed his intention to resign from office as soon as the Treaty is promulgated, feeling that he has accomplished the task for which he assumed Premiership, says Marcel Hutin in the "Echo de Paris." It is expected that Parliament will ratify the treaty late in July.

"LABOUR NEWS" HAS BEEN SUPPRESSED AND EDITOR ARRESTED —STAMPEDE BACK TO WORK.

STRIKE NEWS

(By J. J. Conklin.)

WINNIPEG, June 24.—To-day is to be considered the last day in which the large body of strikers will hold out. The stampede back to work will continue. Certain negotiations are in progress to-day, and those out will await the outcome before going back.

The Street railwaymen will not go back until the telephone operators are back in their positions. They went out in sympathy for the street railwaymen over a year ago. With their best leaders silenced and coming up for trial to-morrow, all public meetings in the parks under the bann, with their paper suppressed and editor arrested, the outlook for all except the die-hards is not cheerful.

Stage hands went back to the theatres yesterday, as did the engineers in the large office buildings, and elevator operators.

No steps will be taken by the Dominion Government to negotiate a settlement of the strike until the sympathetic strike is called off, reiterated Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labour. "After what happened on Saturday, the Government is through," he said, "so far as negotiating a settlement is concerned." The Senator said that James Winning, President of the Trades Council, intimated to him yesterday that a settlement was near. It was learned that the Strike Committee sent out a circular letter to every employer in Winnipeg, asking for his definition of collective bargaining in respect to their employees.

WANT JOBS BACK.

The postal workers want their jobs back, and a delegation representing them left Winnipeg yesterday to negotiate with the Government at Ottawa to this end.

Mike Sokolowski, the Austrian who was shot dead in the riot on Saturday afternoon, carried in his pocket a City Health Officer's badge. This badge gave him practically the power of a constable, and by showing it he was entitled to ride free on the street cars and have access to all premises.

John Grant, the returned soldier, who addressed the veterans in Victoria Park, and who was arrested on a charge of sedition on information laid by Chief Newton, appeared before a special court in the Central Police Station yesterday and was remanded until 30th June for trial.

Grant, it is claimed, was one of the most energetic speakers at the Victoria Park meeting, hurling abuse at the special police particularly. One of his utterances was: "Let them come and arrest me. I don't care."

Special precautions to prevent the strikers or strike sympathisers from occupying the roofs and shooting down into the streets as they did on Saturday were taken.

ROOFS CLEARED.

All the roofs in the district were cleared and special policemen were left on guard. A delegation of the strikers called on Mayor Gray yesterday and asked permission to hold meetings in Victoria Park, but the Mayor refused. Warrants for the arrest of E. Farnell and Comrade Martin, who have taken active parts as leaders of the soldier-strikers, have been issued. Farnell is said to be at Bird's Hill; Martin is believed to be in the city.

Adolph Berrol and W. J. Lowery, alleged by the police to have aided in setting fire to a street car on Main Street, in front of the City Hall, on Saturday, were arrested yesterday.

Allie Sparling, chairman of the Police Commission, said the policemen were willing to make concessions, but he intimated that the Police Commission would probably insist on the agreement being signed. He said that the agreement which had been put up to the police was similar to that signed by the firemen, and was not in the nature of an ultimatum.

The police announced last night that a warrant is out for Fred Dixon, member of the Legislature, and twelve others in connection with the suppression of the "Labour News."

PLAN ADOPTED IN AUSTRALIA

VOCATIONAL TRAINING SYSTEM IS MORE ALL-EMBRACING THAN CANADIAN.

(Special to Examiner.)

TORONTO, June 24. — Provincial Secretary Turley of the Great War Veterans' Association has received a cable from the Australian Government in reply to a cable sent by him, asking if it it true, as contended by the supporters of the resolution of the Calgary Association for $2000 gratuity, that the Australian Government is paying a cash gratuity to returned men.

Australia pays no cash gratuity, the cable states. Instead of a gratuity, each returned man is given state unemployment insurance, varying from two pounds two shillings and upwards, according to the size of his family.

The Australian system of vocational training is more all-embracing than the Canadian, inasmuch as it is extended to men who were undergoing apprenticeship at the time of enlistment, and more important still, to men who enlisted under the age of 20, as against the Canadian age qualification of 18.

In other important respects the Australian provision is more adequate than the Canadian, and the idea of re-establishment is more pronounced. If a man has not suffered in position owing to the war he received nothing, but if his business has been ruined or his ability to carry on impaired, he may be advanced up to 250 pounds for setting himself up again. Above all, discharged and married soldiers in search of homes are given very substantial assistance.

It will be apparent therefore, that the Australian system, while involving probably a smaller outlay in the form of direct cash gifts than the Canadian attains the desirable end of affording greater and a more prudent form of help to those who most sorely need help. It stresses also the idea of education.

FUNERAL TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

The funeral of the late Amos W. Jones took place to Little Lake Cemetery on Monday morning at ten o'clock, and was attended by a great number of friends in the city, also his eldest son, Victor, from Indian Head, Sask., Mr. John Coop, Fenelon Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and son Victor, from Campbellcroft, Ont., Rev. W. W. Jones, Shannonville, Mr. George Jones, Port Hope, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Moffatt Toronto.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR CEREMONY ARE BEING RUSHED TO COMPLETION—MAY SIGN ON THURSDAY.

NEW DELEGATES

The signing of the Peace Treaty with Germany probably will take place on Thursday, it is indicated in Paris advices to-day. There is some doubt about the date as yet, however, because of lack of word from Germany regarding her new representation at Versailles. Dr Daniel Von Heimhausen, who was named as plenipotentiary to sign the treaty, has telegraphed his resignation to Weimar.

Final arrangements for the ceremony of signing the Treaty are being made at Versailles by Premier Clemenceau, President of the Peace Conference, who has announced his intention to resign the Premiership as soon as the Treaty is ratified. Cablegrams from London tell of rumours current there to the effect that the Bauer Cabinet, which took office in Weimar on Sunday, has been forced to resign under pressure from reactionary elements. These rumours, however, have not been confirmed, and despatches filed at Weimar as late as 8.16 o'clock Monday afternoon do not reflect any critical situation as to the Cabinet. Tommaso Tittoni, the new Foreign Minister of Italy, will be the leading Italian delegate at the Peace Conference, according to [illegible]

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 24.—Herman Mueller, new German Foreign Secretary, will head the German delegation to sign the peace treaty. La Liberte says the Germans probably will arrive at Versailles Wednesday morning.

Were Speechless.

(Canadian Press.)

WEIMAR, Germany, June 24.—Before the National Assembly voted today to sign the peace terms unconditionally, fiery appeals in opposition were made by Democrats of Conservatives, but they apparently had little effect. When the vote was called, all but a few members rose to signify their affirmation of the government's decision to sign. Once the vote was taken, gloom appeared to descend upon the Assembly. Most vigorous opponents of signing were speechless and seemed to accept the inevitable with resignation. The delegates to the National Assembly seem disheartened.

This was empassioned when even those opposed to signing made their protests in an apparently hopeless effort, as though it was a matter of course, rather than a deep-rooted feeling. The Assembly listened with apathy to the announcement that it had been decided to sign without conditions. President Fehrenbach made a desperate attempt to inspire hope in the future, but failed to stir a single degree of applause. The members stood automatically when the question of taking a recess was put and walked from the hall like sheep following their leader.

Many wild rumours of what would happen when it became known that the Assembly had voted almost unanimously to accept the terms, gained currency. One that appeared to get the most support was that all officers of the German army would resign if the Government did not refuse to surrender German leaders, especially Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, and defy the Allies to seize the former Emperor. In military and semi-military circles strong insistence has developed that the former Emperor is innocent and that under no circumstances must he be placed on trial except in a neutral court.

ASLEEP ON TRACKS, KILLED

Cornwall Tot Wanders From Home — Struck Down By Train.

CORNWALL, June 23—Jean Coulas, three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. V. Coulas of Kilhloe, strayed away from home and went to the rail way tracks nearly two miles away before she was missed. Evidently becoming tired she lay down on the track and fell asleep. The engineer of No. 52 express saw the child on the track, but mistaking the form for a bundle of paper, did not stop, and the child was instantly killed when struck by the locomotive. The train was stopped when the engineer noticed a child's hat flying in the whirl of dust.

MR. F. BARBER CHALLENGED MAYOR TO PUT HIM OUT AT BOARD OF WORKS MEET

COMMITTEE AGAIN DELAY DECISION TO GIVE THE LEONARD CONSTRUCTION COMPANY A CHANCE TO SUBMIT A BID BEFORE NEXT FRIDAY—FOUR HOUR SESSION LAST NIGHT.

BACK TO ALPHA AGAIN

A brief, sharp altercation between Mr. Frank Barber and Mayor Duncan was easily the outstanding incident of nearly four hours' discussion at last night's meeting of the Board of Works during which nearly every phase of the Hunter street bridge problem was hashed up and warmed over, and finally just as the clocks were striking twelve a resolution was passed on a motion by Ald. Hamilton seconded by Ald. McIntyre that the City Clerk telegraph the Leonard Construction Company asking them whether they would submit before noon next Friday a tender on the Barber plans, the Council reserving the right to build the main central span of steel, and requesting the company to reply at once whether they were prepared to consider a tender on this basis.

Preceding this concluding action, there were several resolutions before the committee. Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar that a contract be awarded to the Russell-Townsend Company on a cost plus basis for the construction of steel arch over the river, Mr. Barber to receive a fee of $1,000 for this extra work, and that upon the receipt of his report the Council decide whether they would build the main arch of steel or concrete.

Ald. McIntyre presented a similar motion except that the Canadian Engineering company was designated for the contract instead of the Russell-Townsend company, and Ald. Gainey and Crowe had another resolution that the construction of the approaches be done by day labour in charge of Mr. Charles Townsend.

The Mayor's Intervention

At that stage Mayor Duncan announced that he would not vote for these proposed resolutions because of the fact that Mr. Cormack of the Quaker Oats Company had told him at noon yesterday that the Leonard Construction company proposed to submit a definite bid for the work.

Ald. Crowe—"If that's the case I'd wait a few days until we heard from the Leonard Construction company.

"There's no call for this "Mr. Barber remarked apparently referring to the proposed postponement.

"Sit down", said Mayor Duncan, raising his voice above the tone of friendly discussion. "You're not asked for an opinion."

Addressing Ald. Phelan, Mr. Barber began—"Mr. Chairman I was—", "Sit down" repeated the Mayor, "you've been butting in all night."

The atmosphere had become suddenly tense. Mr. Barber again addressed the chair for the privilege of making an explanation of his interjection, and above a background of talk he appealed to the Committee. Of his words that were heard he said, "Gentlemen is it your wish that I may make an explanation."

"If I was the chairman I'd put you out" the Mayor broke in.

"I was talking privately to Ald. Crowe", Mr. Barber continued. "I simply wished to explain a question he asked me."

"You've no right to get up here unless you're asked", Mayor Duncan declared. "I'd put you out if I was in the chair."

ATTRACTIONS FOR DOMINION DAY

ONE OF THE BEST HOLIDAY PROGRAMMES EVER SECURED BY EXHIBITION BOARD.

The biggest and best programme ever arranged for a Dominion Day celebration has been provided for Tuesday next by the directors of the Exhibition Board. No expense or effort has been spared to make this one of the big events of the year, and it remains for the public generally to show its appreciation of the Board's efforts by turning out in large numbers. The Anglo-Canadian Leather Company's Band of Huntsville, will be one of the premier attractions. The management of the band has secured as an added attraction James Leonora Kennedy, the well known soprano solist, who sang with the band at the Toronto exhibition last year.

BEACON BIG SHOWS.

The Beacon Big Shows will be here for one week commencing Monday next. This is one of the best Carnival Shows on the road, and includes a full complement of Oriental dancers, trained dogs and other attractions.

In engaging this show the Peterboro Exhibition Board has secured the biggest carnival organization on the road, as the attractions [illegible] a big free outdoor attraction. Johnnie Ray's famous troop of Oriental dancers, Nat. Butler's noted troop of wrestlers and gladiators, Prof. Grico's wonderful trained doves, Jack Velarev, Madam Grico, and her 20 leaping and trained doves, Professor Morris and his famous Troupe of Shetland Ponies, and Eph. the trick Mule, and twenty other big novelties, making this the strongest organization now before the public. The Board have an offering of a $50 Victory Bond to the person winning its contest.

The Peterboro Boy Scouts have the sale of the Contest Books and as their share of the same goes towards their securing funds for a company outfit, it is well for our citizens to help them out.

SNAPPY SHORTS ON "THE STRONGER VOW"

Geraldine Farrar ventures from the romantic and dramatic atmosphere of the Pyrenees in Spain down to the dregs of civilzation —an Apache den in Paris—in "The Stronger Vow," her latest Goldwyn Picture, surroundings vastly different from her recent success, "Shadows," which revealed her as a dance hall girl of Alaska as well as a society leader in the East.

No other role has held so great an appeal for Geraldine Farrar than her Dolores de Cordova in "The Stronger Vow." The story by Isola Forrester won not only the high praise of Goldwyn executives, but marked commendation from the star herself. "The Stronger Vow" deals with the blood feud of two old Spanish families and its happy conclusion through the union by marriage of the last members of each house.

The Stronger Vow", Geraldine Farrar's new Goldwyn Picture, has for its opening locale Lerida, Spain, at the height of its annual Easter carnival. Boonton, N.J., where many incidents in Rev Beach's "Laughing Bill Hyde" were photographed, was the scene of the gala celebration. The star herself superintended the erection of the brilliant setting.

PEACE AT LAST.

Although it may be several days before the formal signatures are appended to the peace documents, the end has come at last. Germany has officially consented to accept the Allies' terms; her last ditch efforts to obtain further concessions have failed. The enemy realize that a refusal to sign now would only mean a further invasion of German territory, more suffering for the German people, and a more rigorous peace treaty that would eventually have to be signed in Berlin. In acknowledging that there is no other course open to them but to accept the present terms, the Germans prate of "peace by force." "Our power of resistance is broken and there is no means of averting this treaty," Herr Bauer, the new Premier, told the National Assembly before that body decided in favour of accepting the terms. And so the Germans have realized at last that they are hopelessly beaten, and that there is nothing left for them but to pay the price that the mad ambition of their leaders have rendered them liable to; the bill for all the suffering they have caused to humanity must be settled. The end has come; formalities may cause a delay of a day or two, but before this week is through the great war will have officially terminated.

THE PREMIER STOCK.

The cost of living inquiry is uncovering some interesting things. The latest revelation, that Sir Robert Borden holds $9,800 worth of stock in the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, which earned a profit of fifty per cent. last year, is one that will occasion considerable comment. There is nothing illegal, apparently, in the Premier's connection with this company, but it certainly does not lead to a feeling of confidence in the country to realize that the head of the government holds stock in a concern that has made big profits out of foodstuffs. The high cost of living is the subject of universal complaint throughout the country. People are firm in their conviction that they are being compelled by profiteering on somebody's part to pay much more than they should have to for the necessities of life. The cold storage plants, or rather the manner in which they have been manipulated, have been held responsible for some of the inflation in prices. And now comes the announcement that the Premier himself is connected with one of these cold storage concerns, a plant that, according to one witness, contained at the time of the strike in Winnipeg, no less than two and a half million pounds of foodstuffs. Most of this has been held on order for export since the armistice. Sir Robert Borden's connection with such concerns should be terminated, if the people are to have any faith whatever in the cost of living inquiry, or of the willingness of the authorities to take action to end the present conditions.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

Rural officers of the law are oftentimes caricatured by the daily press and the comic papers, and made the butt of stage jokes. Everyone knows the picture that is frequently drawn of the country guardian of the peace with his chin whisker and his [illegible] badge pinned securely to his suspender. Constable George Whibbs, of Indian River, is not an officer of that type and the shrewdness and presence of mind he showed in effecting the arrest of the five foreigners implicated in the murder of an Austrian at Havelock, stamps him as a capable official. Mr. Whibbs knew that the quintette of foreigners were armed; the affair at Havelock had demonstrated that they would have no hesitation in shooting if they thought there was any danger of them being apprehended in connection with the affair. So Officer Whibbs lulled their suspicions by a clever stratagem. Pretending that he had stopped the men because they were trespassing on the railway he persuaded them to come over into the waiting room of the station to talk the matter over, and once safely inside he succeeded in locking the doors and keeping the men prisoners until assistance arrived. The capture of the five was a clever piece of work, upon which the Indian River officer is being congratulated on all sides. Had he not kept his wits about him, further shooting would undoubtedly have taken place, and the men might have succeeded in making good their escape.

MARRIAGES, WAGERS, AND WOMEN.

From Hamilton comes the rather interesting report that a Mr. David P. Rockmaker of that city who a year ago wagered $500 that he would not be married within fifteen years, has already succumbed to the seductive charms of a Miss Henriette Stein of that place, and is to be married within a very few days—to be specific, on July 10. As a consequence, while Mr. Rockmaker will be the richer by one wife he will be the poorer by $500—but like all young men who have suffered from a similar attack at this blooming season of the year, Mr. Rockmaker is more willing to forego his hard earned $500 than his best girl. What is money, forsooth, as compared with Love, with a capital L—Love, too, with a Stein which in itself, German-sounding thought it be, suggests something at once seductive and appetising.

To be sure, we have no doubt some disgruntled married men—that is, if there are any such, which Heaven forbid!—and, if not these, then some cynical bachelors and misogynists may scoff at Mr. Rockmaker's easy downfall and may even venture to remind him that the 10th day of the month is always supposed to be unlucky, and that the selection of this date for his marriage is at once suggestive and symptomatic. But we feel sure that Mr. Rockmaker will be as adamant as his name suggests, and will not give heed to any such talk or to the gentle hints that may be obtruded upon him as to early disillusionment. These scoffers, these cynics, these unhappily married—they do not realize the one incontrovertible fact which has been driven home to Mr. Rockmaker by the little archer, Cupid, that he is getting "the finest girl in the world." Of course other men have thought the same things in their time — to discover their mistake later on—but in this case if you ask Mr. Rockmaker we have no doubt you will find there is no chance of a mistake. He knows.

And thus, as we see, the old world wags on much as it has wagged ever since that painful episode in the Garden of Eden when Adam and Eve and the Apple collaborated, with results too numerous to mention. Nor, as we further see, does even a little side wager of $500 prevent the inevitable results. The "female of the species" is a sure winner every time.—Kingston Standard.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL IN A DOUBLE ROLE

He has Two Remarkable Characters to Portray in New World Picture, "Courage for Two"

Carlyle Blackwell, the famous and popular motion picture star, has a double role in the new World Picture, "Courage for Two," which on today and tomorrow will be shown at the Grand Theatre. Mr. Blackwell has two remarkable characters to portray in this production— the one that of Anthony Hopkins, a young millionaire, who was born apparently without a spine, and the other that of Calvin Douglas, who lives on the East Side, is the head of a rough neck gang, and is always spoiling for a fight.

Evelyn Greely, who is co-starred with Mr. Blackwell in this production, appears in the fascinating role of Mesion Westervelt, who lives on the East Side of New York, but who longs for the better things of life.

Also seen in the company appearing in "Courage for Two" are George Macfarlane, Rosina Hanley and Jack Drumier.

"Courage for Two" deals with the manner in which Cal Douglas gets even with the man who double-crossed his father, and also of the way in which courage comes to young Hopkins when love arouses his real manhood.

"Courage for Two" is utterly different from the ordinary photoplay. The story it tells is decidedly unusual, and the method in which the story is presented is fascinating. From start to finish this is a delightful, interesting and entertaining subject, and all those who wish to see the best in motion pictures should see this production by all means.

TRUSTS IN CONTROL OF BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIES

Commission Urges Investigation of Combines Perfected During the War.

LONDON, June 20. — Business rings combines and trusts, perfected during the war, are controlling Great Britain's industries, according to the findings of a Government commission appointed by Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of Reconstruction. The commission does not suggest what the Government's attitude towards trusts should be, the only practical mode in the report for dealing with the situation being that the Board of Trade should set up a tribunal to investigate cases of abuse caused by combines and report to the president of that body.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said

"After all, what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to invest it than in Life Insurance."

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man, sixteen years of age, took out a 15-year Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years, and he has now through that investment, an immediate estate of $1,275.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15% COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR HE PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said (and he might have added, No better place than the Sun Life of Canada), "There is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

AND THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA GIVES THIS RESULT.

MR. F. BARBER CHALLENGED THE MAYOR TO PUT HIM OUT, ETC.

With that Mr. Barber sprang out of his chair and quickly approached Mayor Duncan. "Put me out if you can", he challenged.

The Mayor, who had been sitting beside Ald. Phelan had risen to his feet, and at the same time Aldermen Phelan and several others of the committee intervened and the rumblings began to subside as the principals resumed their places.

Remaining standing Mr. Barber explained that he was not aware that a motion was before the committee but that h had wished to reply to Ald. Crowe. He asked Ald. Phelan if he had not been correct in his understanding.

"Mr. Barber there was a motion before the chair," replied Ald. Phelan "and I don't think you were justified in making any comment."

Apologized to Committee

Mr. Barber offered a humble apology to the Committee. "Gentlemen I humbly apologize to you, but I didn't think that I was intruding. You invited me here tonight to give my advise and I simply intended to mak ean explanation."

"I'd put you out quick" the Mayor broke in. "I'd call the police for you."

"I don't think this is at all fair to Mr. Barber" observed Alderman Edgar. "He was asked to come here to-night to give certain advice He is our engineer I think he has a right to give his opinion."

"When he's asked for it" replied Mayor Duncan.

The incident faded out in a milder conflict of opinion between Ald. Edgar and the Mayor, and was ended by Ald. Morrison moving an adjournment. Ald. Crowe seconded it but Ald. Hamiltor enunciated the resolution as worded above which was supported, after the amendments were defeated, by Aldermen Turner. Hamilton, McIntyre, Crowe, Turner and Morrison.

It was a rather weird and seemingly an abortive meeting. Mr. Barber had been invited by Ald. Phelan to report to the committee on the proposals Mr. H. H. Hadsall, engineer of the Leonard Construction company, had made at Saturday night's conference in the City Hall. Mr. Barber dealt in detail with the statements of Mr. Hadsall, and for several hours the Committee was traversing the identical ground it had covered in many meetings of the past months They were harking back to questions of comparative costs of steel and concrete from 1912 to the present year, the durability of concrete and steel bridges, the practicability of the single span across the river.

At length Ald. Phelan asked the engineer for an estimate cost of a steel arch replacing the concrete span as designed.

Mr. Barber hesitated to name an approximate price without an opportunity of calculating it. He suggested $50,000 for the steel work and stated he would prepare plans for the steel work for a fee of two percent. of the lowest tender.

Ald. Phelan replied that the Dominion Bridge company had offered to provide plans for a steel bridge without charging the city anything for them.

"It costs the bridge companies just as much for their engineering work as it does me", Mr. Barber replied. "You can't get something for nothing. If they prepare plans for you they are charged for in the work. Besides such plans would be designed from the viewpoint of the contractor."

There was an evident desire shown by most of the members to obtain an estimate or tenders for a steel arch with a concrete floor and railings. and while the discussion was revolving on this point Ald. Morrison intervened.

"Do you know Mr. Chairman, what we are going to build", he asked. "Here we are and we're getting nowhere. On Friday night we listened to the Quaker Oats people's engineer tonight we hear Mr. Barber."

Ald. Phelan slightly nettled replied that the Committee was considering the question of a steel or a concrete bridge.

"But we've been over that," said Ald. Morrison.

"We never talked steel as much as we have done tonight", the Chairman replied.

Ald. Morrison—"Mr. E. G. Patterson and Mr. Sheehy discussed it,. and we had the Dominion Bridge company's tender. One man comes along at the last minute and upsets everything.

Ald. Phelan—"It's a question of the people's dollars and cents.

Ald. Morrison—"Well, I move that we continue the concrete bridge.

Ald. Gainey—"I'm satisfied with concrete approaches. It is only a question of the arch with me."

Mr. Barber stated that he could not see any reason why the Committee should not go ahead with the bridge and if a steel arch was desired he would prepare the plans.

By Day Labour.

Ald. McIntyre moved that work on the approaches be begun by day labour.

Ald. Turner to Ald. Morrison—"Amend your motion to give the contract to the Russell-Townsend Company and I'll second it.

Ald. Crowe—"If there was no question of liability about it.

Ald. Turner—"I'll take my chance on it.

Ald. Crowe—"I won't.

Ald. Turner stated that the Canadian Engineering and Contracting company's tender could be accepted if Labour would agree to work nine hours a day. If they would not cooperate to that extent he wouldn't vote for anything.

Ald. Crowe—"Eight hours are going to constitute a day's work.

Ald. Turner—"Let's work nine hours until eight is constituted."

Ald. Gainey—"Won't you favour day labour?"

Ald. Turner—"No. We couldn't get the work done as cheaply."

Ald. Gainey—"The money will be spent here."

Ald. Turner—"I won't throw money away because it will be spent here."

Ald. Gainey—"You'll have to keep them next winter if we don't start something.

Ald. Turner—"I'll vote to award the contract for the approaches to the Russell-Townsend company.

Mr. Barber offered the opinion that from what he had learned of the Leonard Construction company he considered them entirely competent to build the bridge.

Mayor Duncan—"The Dominion Bridge company said they would not charge us for plans whether we accepted their tender or not."

Day Labour Rejected

Ald. McIntyre moved seconded by Ald. Crowe that the Council proceed to construct the approaches by day labour and that plans and specifications for a steel arch over the river be obtained in the meantime.

Ald. McIntyre—"If we get different plans we have all this year for them to be approved.

Only Aldermen McIntyre, Crowe and Gainey supported the motion.

Ald. Hamilton—"I don't want it done by day labour. If we are not going to save a lot of money I'm not in favour of steel. Remember that after you get the steel up you've got to put on a concrete floor and railings.

Ald. Morrison—"I feel like giving it to the Canadian Engineering and Contracting company because we have a guaranteed bid of $286,800.

Motion Piled up.

Motions began to rain upon City Clerk Armstrong. Aldermen Taylor and Morrison proposed that the contract be let to the Canadian Engineering and Contracting company on their cost plus figures with a guaranteed limit of $286,000. ? ?.

The Russell-Townsend company's cost plus bid was also submitted and Ald. Hamilton suggested that action be deferred until the Leonard Construction company were heard from.

Ald. Turner favored letting a contract for the approaches to Russell-Townsend, and that Mr. Barber prepare alternate plans for a steel arch The work could be proceeded with at once, and there certainly would be sufficient money to complete the structure with an arch of steel or cement.

Ald. Crowe—"There's not much difference between that and by day labour.

Ald. Turner—"I want to put the responsibility in the hands of some one. I don't want men coming to me to try to get them positions, pulling for jobs.

Mr. Barber—"You have more than sufficient money for the work. I'll take the responsibility for that.

Mr. Barber stated that the Council had sufficient money for the concrete bridge. At Mayor Duncans' suggestion he promised to provide the Council with a written copy of his estimate. His solicitor had advised him that it was nonsense that an individual alderman could be held responsible for an act of the Council.

TEN CENT CAR FARES FOR LETHBRIDGE NOW

Also Higher Electric Light Rates to Pay Higher Civic Wages.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., June 21. — As a result of the award of the Government Arbbitration Board on the dispute between the city of Lethbridge and its employes whereby a general 16 per cent. increase in wages was granted, the City Council proposes drastic measures to meet the $25,000 addition to the pay sheet. Street car fares are to be increased to four tickets for a quarter, or a ten-cent cash fare; electric light rates will jump 11 to 12 cents per kilowatt hour; water rates will be increased 10 per cent., the fourth such increase. in two years; and an increase in the tax rate to 42 mills is likely.
